MR. JOHN A. SEXSMITH'S MASS MEETING LAST NIGHT

A Strong Trio of Speakers Discuss the Issues of the Day.

THE CANDIDATE IS ENTHUSIASTICALLY RECEIVED

The Meeting was an Exceptionally Orderly one—Dr. Ford, of Norwood, was in Fine Fettle—The Candidate is Confident of Victory.

Stirring speeches and responsive enthusiasm characterized the mass meeting in the Town Hall, Ashburnham, last night, held in the interests of JOHN A. Sexsmith, East Peterborough's Conservative candidate.

The large hall was fairly well filled, and general interest was centered in the speeches of the several speakers, whose utterances elicited frequent and prolonged applause.

Mr. E. A. Peck acceptably fulfilled the duties of Chairman. Upon calling the meeting to order, he courteously invited Mr. Lang, if present, or anyone who wished to speak in his behalf, to be seated on the platform, but no one responded to the invitation. "Mr. Sexsmith," said the Chairman, "is perhaps not as well known as he ought to be in this part of the riding, but I can assure you that he is well known and very highly esteemed in the eastern part. I have been associated with him in municipal matters, and can bear testimony to his ability and integrity." Though so young a man he had received from the people of his own municipality the highest office in their gift, and there was reason to hope that after the 7th of November, he would hold a still higher office. [Applause.]

Dr. Ford, of Norwood, was then introduced and spoke for a short time with much force and clearness. He was glad of the opportunity—the first opportunity he had since 1896—to thank the people of Ashburnham for the support given him when he was a candidate. It was not Ashburnham's fault that he had failed of election, and he considered his defeat half a victory, inasmuch as the majority of his opponent, a man of 25 years' standing in public life, had been cut in half by a few weeks' canvass. He had known Mr. Sexsmith ever since he was a little boy. Mr. Sexsmith comes of a pioneer family; the name in the eastern part of the riding is a synonym for honesty, uprightness and integrity. The Liberal majority in East Peterborough of 615 had been a bugaboo for the last four years, but that was not a normal majority. He predicted an unprecedented vote in favor of Mr. Sexsmith in the township of Belmont and the village of Havelock. The doctor called attention to the baptismal name of the candidate—"John A."—on which the audience burst into applause. After an eulogy of the chieftain, Dr. Ford proceeded to attack the Government. A crisis, he said, had been defined as a combination of grand opportunity and great responsibility, and the present was a political crisis. The people had to decide whether corrupt "machine" methods, borrowed from the most corruptly ruled of countries, the United States, should prevail in the Government of Canada. "I was in the audience in the skating rink in 1896," said Dr. Ford, "when John Lang said that if the Liberal party could not run the Government on three or four millions less per year than the Conservatives had done, he would not seek re-election." Mr. Lang was seeking re-election, but the people should see that he did not obtain it. The doctor dealt vigorously with the prohibition plebiscite fraud, and the collapse of the Liberal promises of Senate reform.

Taking up the emergency rations scandal, he said it was a matter in which as a medical man, he was much interested. Any Government, he said, might be imposed upon, as the present Government was in that matter, but after being warned, they had paid Dr. Devlin, who sold the worthless ration, they had shielded him, and he ought to be in penitentiary. The doctor also dealt with the Yukon deal, and there were cries of "go on" from the audience, when he announced that the time he had allowed himself had expired.

JOHN A. SEXSMITH

The candidate was next introduced, and was given a very hearty reception. Mr. Sexsmith said he was very well pleased to see ladies present, which he regarded as an omen of success. He had always been successful in municipal contests when the ladies were with him. He felt somewhat embarrassed at the compliments showered upon him by the Chairman and the preceding speaker. He did not pose as a politician, but just as a plain farmer. When favored with the unanimous choice at the nominating convention, he did not look at the 615 bugaboo. "I looked at the actions of the Government for the past four years—at their broken pledges. I considered that the people of East Peterborough are intelligent, good-thinking people. I considered it my duty to go into the field and fight till the 7th of November and abide by the result, whatever it may be." He had not a word to say against Mr. Lang; his opposition was all directed against the Government supported by Mr. Lang. The Liberals had preached economy for eighteen years, and they practiced it when in power by increasing the public debt and the annual expenditure by leaps and bounds. What would the people think of a municipal council that so conducted itself? Would they accept as an excuse that the Council of last year did the same sort of thing? The money expended at Ottawa is your own money, just as that expended by the Council of Ashburnham; the people should watch the Ottawa expenditure as closely. The franchise is a sacred thing. The boy should be taught from 16 years of age to take an interest in public affairs. The man, when he hears of some public matter he does not fully understand, should make a research until he finds out.

Mr. Sexsmith then took up the matter of binder twine. At his meeting in Lakefield he had spoken on this subject, and an old friend objected to his criticism of the way in which the Government had handled this staple. This gentleman had $10 invested in the Farmers' Binder Twine Company, and the company had paid him 100 per cent., or the whole amount of his investment, for one year's dividend. No wonder he thought it was a good thing. Mr. Sexsmith then charged the Government with selling twine to favorites, who controlled the market, at from $4 to $5 per hundred pounds for which the farmers had to pay $11, $12 $13. And yet the Government claimed to legislate in the interests of the farmers. Continuing, Mr. Sexsmith said Laurier should have insisted on the admission of barley to the United States free of duty, in return for the free admission of corn into Canada. If duty had been paid on the corn imported into Canada from across the border during Laurier's administration, it would have amounted to $300,000. Turning to the Liberals' cry of "prosperity," he had quoted Mr. Lang as admitting that the Government had not been solely instrumental in producing such a happy state of affairs; the prosperity of to-day, the speaker argued, was world wide, and Canada's in particular the result of circumstances, over which the Government has had no control; take for instance the increase in price and export of cheese—this was in a large measure due to our having to supply the several Canadian contingents in South Africa, with this commodity, together with the increased demand in Great Britain by reason of better times among the working classes there. The speaker next reviewed the increase in our cattle trade, which he attributed mainly to a development of the great Canadian Pacific Railway under the good old Sir John A.'s government, by which growing calves are conveyed to the North-Western praries, and there fattened and then sent back again over what is termed by Liberals the great Pacific Scandal, to the markets of the world. After briefly touching the embargo question, he denounced his opponent, Mr. Lang, for taking a stand against monopolies, and eventually supporting a measure which fastened the hands of the Standard Oil Company at the throats of Canadians. This Company has stamped out every Canadian concern, in consequence of which oil now costs the consumer 25 or 30 cents a gallon as against 15 cents under a Conservative administration. Then Mr. Lang had condemned the Barnardo Home institution as a means of bringing outcast children into competition with our own; yet to-day we have the worst riff-raff of all Europe shipped here as very desirable immigrants with which to build up the Dominion, and for whom much greater privileges are secured than for your sons and daughters or mine. Mr. Sexsmith concluded a very creditable speech for a young politician by urging his hearers to let the welfare of Canada, irrespective of party be their first object; vote out any Government which does not keep its pledges, no matter whether Grit or Tory. As an after-thought, he remarked that oats had never in his memory been sold at 15 cents under Conservative rule; all coarse grain, in fact, has under the Laurier administration, excepting perhaps the year just passed been sold at exceptionally low prices. The speaker resumed his seat amid a perfect storm of applause.

J. H. BURNHAM

This popular speaker and indefatigable worker in the interest of his part, delivered an exceedingly eloquent and lengthy address, in the course of which he severely scored the Government on the grounds of "broken promises." He condemned their franchise act, which gave to property owners of Quebec a right to vote in each constituency in which they own real estate, while Ontario is denied a like privilege. Many just-minded Liberals, he continued, would not believe this to be a fact; he had therefore telegraphed Mr. R. White, editor of the Montreal Gazette, for definite information on the subject. Mr. Burnham here read a telegram he had just received from Mr. White, which read—"A man can vote in every constituency in which his name appears on the voters' list, providing he holds property in that constituency." Touching briefly on the well discussed plebiscite question, the speaker next turned his attention to the claimed increase of Canada's trade, and ascertained that with the exception of butter, all trade this year is on the decline; we are on the down grade, and yet the Government is spending in every conceivable manner on public works every dollar upon which they can lay their hands. He next claimed a heavy in-

BOERS STILL CAUSING TROUBLE

Bloemfontein, Friday, Oct. 26.—The telegraph lines are still interrupted and mails delayed, owing to the Boers derailing a train ten miles south of Edenburg. All Boers over 14 years old living outside a radius of ten miles from Bloemfontein are being surrounded by British troops, and brought here to prevent their rejoining the commandos.

16 ITALIANS SURROUNDED

Pao Ting Fu, China, Oct. 24.—The International committee which is inquiring into the massacre of the foreigners here, has ordered the arrest of three Chinese.

An Italian Lieutenant while reconnoitering in the hills with 16 men, was surrounded by Boxers. A rescue force composed of 150 British and 60 Italian cavalrymen will leave to-night to drive off the Chinese.

BALLOONS WILL NEVER NAVIGATE THE AIR

New York, Oct. 30.—A special to The Herald from London says.

Professor Alexander Graham Bell leaves for Canada to-day. He will go at once to his laboratory in Nova Scotia, where he will continue his experiments in aerial navigation. Prof. Bell said yesterday that he had been greatly interested in Zeppelin's balloon experiments.

"I do not believe, though," said Bell "that the great problem of aerial navigation will ever be solved by balloons. While you may successfully navigate a balloon in light currents it is obvious that any floating body lighter than air is at the mercy of the winds.

"Such a body cannot carry the motive machinery of great power. It is little more than a toy. I have been experimenting many years at my laboratory, although I never actually carried my theories into practice. The theoretic results I reach will be in time published in book form. I believe the problem of aerial navigation will be solved, but not by the use of balloons."

HOW ALVORD WAS CAUGHT

Called Himself 'Smith' and had His Head quarters in a Boarding House

Boston, Oct. 30.—When the officers who arrested the $700,000 New York embezzler here yesterday addressed him as Mr. Alvord, the man smiled. He did not trouble to get into the house, but turned and accompanied the officers to police headquarters. On the way thither the prisoner admitted to the officers that he was the New York bank man.

TOOK HIS ARREST COOLY.

Alvord took his arrest very quietly. It is learned that he arrived in Boston last week and went to the Hotel Touraine, but did not register. On Wednesday he engaged a bank room on the second floor of a boarding-house on Huntington avenue, where he went under the name of Mr. Smith of New York.

Chief Inspector Watts and Inspector Morrissey, having heard several times that a man answering Alvord's description had been seen around the Touraine and the New Music Hall kept a shark lookout, Having secured a number of clues, they traced Alvord from the Touraine to his lodging-house, and he was arrested as he was entering the house at 2.15 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Washington, Oct. 30.—The official announcement of the total population of the United States for 1900 is 76,295,220, of which 74,627,907 are contained in the 45 States representing approximately the population to be used for apportionment purposes. There is a total of 134,158 Indians not taxed. The total population in 1890, with which the aggregate population of the present census should be compared, was 63,069,756. Taking the 1890 population as a basis, there has been a gain in population of 13,225,464 during the past ten years, representing an increase of nearly 21 per cent.

AT WORK IN VALLEYFIELD

Strikers Return to Business When the Soldiers Withdraw

Valleyfield, Que., Oct. 30.—The strikers will at once return to work, if the militia are withdrawn. Mr. W. L. King, Deputy Minister of Labour, visited Valleyfield yesterday and held a conference with the strikers in the Town Hall. Mr. King also had a conference with the company's officials, with the result that things will be satisfactorily adjusted and peace reign again in the town.

A later despatch says a number of the employes are again at work to-day.

ONE BODY RECOVERED FROM NEW YORK RUINS

Number of the Dead Not Expected to Exceed Thirty.

New York, Oct. 30.—All night long a gang of several hundred laborers was at work among the ruins caused by the explosions in the building occupied by Tarrant & Comapny. At 9 this morning about 1,000 men were at work. The body of a woman were recovered from the wreckage. The list of missing numbered 39. It is not believed that the list of dead will exceed 30, and some estimates place the total dead below 20. One hundred and twnety-seven injured persons were received at the hospitals and most of them were discharged after their wounds had been dressed.

The property loss is variously estimated at $1,500,000 to $2,000,000.

Scores of anxious persons thronged the Leonard street police station all night enquiring for lost friends and relatives. Many woman came weeping, only to learn that the names of their loved ones were not in the list of dead or injured prepared by clerks from reports sent in by hospitals and the police.

BIGGEST OF GOLD NUGGETS.

New York, Oct. 30.—The biggest nugget of gold ever received at the assay office in Wall street, according to Superintendent Mason, arrived to-day from a mining company in British Columbia. It was consigned to the New York agents of the Bank of Montreal. The nugget contained a fraction over 753 pounds of the solid yellow metal, and is valued at $164,000. It came in a solid cone, and stood about two feet high. The cone was wrapped in canvas and fitted with an oblong box made of two inch planks and heavily bound with iron. The gold was held firmly in the box by two wooden wedges driven in from the top. Two heavy iron rings were set in the sides of the rough box, and through these were fitted wooden boxes by which the box was lifted. It required four men to remove it from the truck in the assay office to the scales.

THE CHINESE SOLRIERS STOLE IMPERIAL FOOD

Pekin, Oct. 28.—Prince Su, who accompanied the Chinese court in the flight to Tai Yuan Fu and afterward returned here disheartened by the anarchy existing among those composing the immediate advisers of the throne, gave, in course of the interview to-day, an interesting account of his journey.

"On the first day," said Prince Su. "the court travelled in carts twenty miles north, escorted by 3,000 soldiers, who pillaged, murdered and committed other outrages along the entire route. The flight was continued at the rate of twenty miles a day to Hsuan Hua Fu in the most panic striken manner. So little authority was exerted that the soldiers even stole the meals prepared for the Emperor and Empress Dowager. The execution of several for murder and pillage eventually brought them under control.

"The court remained three days at Kauan Hua Fu, and then, owing to the fear of foreign pursuit the flight was resumed to Tai Yuen Fu, with 10,000 additional troops under Gen. Tung Fu Hsiang, who added to the discord.

"The Empress Dowager did little else but weep and upbraid her advisers. The Emperor reviled everybody. The journey occupied 26 days, the longest route being taken owing to fear of pursuit.

"On arriving at Tai Yuan Fu great difficulty was experienced in forming any semblance of Government. Many edicts were ignored, and affairs reached a state of absolute chaos. The Emperor would have preferred to trust himself to the allies, but he was compelled to join in the flight.

Prince Su does not believe that the court is going to Sian Fu. He thinks the plan is to return by a circuitous route through Southern Shan Si and Northern Ho Nan.

LORD SALISBURY WINS THE FINAL ELECTION

London, Oct. 30.—Returns of the election in Orkney and Shetland districts show a Unionist gain, J. C. Wason, the candidate of the party, defeating Sir Leonard Lyell, his Liberal opponent.

Orkney and Shetland was regarded as a safe Liberal seat, and the Unionist victory there was a surprise. The position of parties now stands as follows. Ministerialists, 401: Opposition, 260. Conservative majority 181, as against 129 at the time of dissolution. Net Conservative gains, 2 seats.

MR. McCLELLAN AT FRAZERVILLE.

A Very Successful Meeting Held on Monday Night.

Mr. J. H. McClellan's meeting at Frazerville, held on Monday night, was a very great success, from a Liberal point of view.

Mr. W. A. Stratton, Q. C., delivered a stirring address, and was followed by Mr. A. P. Poussette, Q.C., for Mr. Kendry, who presented the other side of the question at issue in an able manner.

Mr. D. O'Connell followed, on behalf of the Liberal candidate, and gave some sledge-hammer blows.

Mr. J. H. McClellan, in a masterly speech of 45 minutes duration, dealt with the great political issues now before the people. He was frequently applauded, and concluded his remarks amid cheers.

EAST DURHAM.

Mr. Harry Ward Meeting With Great Encouragement.

The Times has been requested to state that the stories of a split in the Conservative party in East Durham are totally at variance with the facts. So far as this being untrue, Mr. T. Dixon Craig, present member, is doing all he can to assure the return of Mr. Ward.

Mr. Ward has already held meetings in various parts of the riding, and has been received everywhere with favor. His return by a big majority is a foregone conclusion.

PICKING BERRIES IN THE FAR WEST

Vancouver, B. C., Oct. 30.—The steamer Amur has arrived from the north to-day with the Yukon telegraph construction party. Mr. Charleston, superintendent of the work, states that there is a gap of 32 miles at the head waters of Naas River, which severe weather prevented them from completing. He, however, denies that there has been an overlap of wires.

Winter weather has set in at Dawson, and the themometer dropped to 20 degrees below zero on the night of Oct. 14th. In Northern British Columbia heavy snows have fallen during the past week, but around Vancouver and Victoria the weather has been so mild this fall that several crates of strawberries grown in the open have lately been picked, and ripe rasberries were also picked at Abbotsford, 30 miles from here, last week.

TWO FORECASTS.

One Grit and Other Tory, so You Can Take Your Choice.

STILL NO SIGN OF THE STEAMER IDAHO

CECIL RHODES IS SUFFERING FROM FEVER

Halifax, N. S., Oct. 30.—The weather is clear thirty miles southeastward, but there is no signs of the Idaho. Orders have been issued to the troops to parade to-morrow morning at 9 o'clock. Therefore, if the troopship should arrive any time to-day, the demonstration will not take place until to-morrow. The torchlight procession and banquet have been postponed till to-morrow.

The city was a blaze last night from end to end, all the business places, public buildings and many private residences being profusely decorated. Hundreds of visitors were pouring into the city from all quarters and Halifax is on the eve of the greatest demonstration in her history. The weather outside was thick and foggy last night.

Ottawa, Oct. 30.—Lieut.-Col. Otter reports that the following officers are remaining with the part of the Canadian Regiment left behind. Lieut.-Col. Otter, Capt. Macdonald, Capt. Burstall, Capt. Ogilvie, Lieuts. Lawless, Mason. Swift, Lefferty. Sample, Carpenter, Capt. Weeks (quartermaster), Surgeon-Capt. Fiset, Capt. Almond (chaplain), Capt. Dixon (historical recorder). There are also about 200 duty non-commissioned officers and men. The following officers now employed on the staff will remain for the present. Major Buchan, Lieuts. Armstrong, Hodgins, Caldwell and Royd, and about 30 non-commissioned officers and men.

Capt. Macdonald is placed in charge of the permanent corps and draft in the details of those companies which return, making a third or provisional company, to be known as "I" Company.

Capt. Stuart, who was invalided to England, has returned to Africa, and will have charge of "B" Company and proposes remaining in the country afterwards, if he can get employment.

Lieut.-Col. Otter also forwards papers containing notification of pensions awarded to his men as follows. 7.179. Pte. Craig, and 7,942, Pte. Johnston. 18 pence per day for 12 months, conditional. As the culmination of a series of publishments for misbehavior, a sentence of six mouths at hard labor has been imposed on 7,086, Pte. Elmer Rupert.

AS TO ARTILLERY.

A report from Col. Drury, commanding the artillery, and dated Pretoria Sept. 21st, says that at his request an order was published that all the men of the R. C. F. A. discharged to duty from hospitals or rest camps in Pretoria were to be attached to the brigade division staff. Up to date 14 such men of "C" and "D" Battries were in camp under this order. "C" Battery reports 39 men and "D" Battery 41 men away on account of sickness. Major Huddon was admitted into hospital on the 25th, suffering from rheumatism. His battery is still with Plumer's brigade, about 300 miles north of Pretoria. Capt. Panet has been in hospital since the 13th. He was convalescent at the time of writing.

MOUNTED INFANTRY.

The distribution of Col. Evans' mounted Infantry on Sept. 23rd was as follows. Col. Evans, medical officer, veterinary officer, chaplain, and two troops of "D" Squadron at Nooitgedacht; adjutant and remainder of headquarters staff and one troop of "D" Squadron at Middleburg; "C" Squadron at Oliphant's river. The following were reported to Col. Anderson, commanding 1st M. R. Corps, as having done good work since July 5th. Corp. T. Callaghan, valuable night scouting during the last month; Pte. D. F. Johnston, wounded on 5th inst., plucky work on outpost; Pte. Georghegan, and Pte. R. J. Northway, good work in occupying of their own accord an important kraal here on 5th inst. Out of a total strength of 367, 222 were on duty with the regiment, 77 being sick.

Lieut.-Col. Lessard's report of the 1st Battalion, R. C. D., gives the effective strength at 150; sick and wounded, 114; 74 engaged in various operations.

TRIAL OF TREASON CASES.

Cape Town. Oct. 30.—The special tribunal organized for the purpose of hearing treason cases and political offences held its first session to-day. The first case called was that of a Cape policeman named Smith, who was accused of having committed a murder in the Colesburg district last November. Smith was on patrol duty for the Boers and ordered a man in a Dutch formhouse to bring him a bridle. The man refused, and Smith shot him. Smith pleaded not guilty. The case was not decided.

Over one hundred applications for the release of political prisoners on bail will be heard on Wednesday.

QUEEN'S GRANDSON DEAD.

London. Oct. 30.—A despatch received here from Pretoria announces the death from enteric fever of Prince Christian Victor of Schleswig-Holstein a grandson of Queen Victoria. He was born in 1867, and was a major in the King's Royal Rifles.

FOUR MORE RETURN.

Toronto, Oct. 30—Four Canadian soldiers arrived in the city last night from South Africa. Their names are Trooper John D. Kelly, of the Canadian Mounted Rifles, and Privates J. C. Davidson, N. L. Morley and W. B. Butler, of the Royal Canadian Regiment. At Quebec they were given the opportunity of waiting to return to Toronto with the men from the steamer Idaho, but they longed to get home, and expressed themselves as somewhat tired of receptions and demonstrations.

At the Union station they were met at 7 o'clock by the bugle band of the Royal Grenadiers and Company 16 of the Boys' Brigade. From there they were escorted to their homes. At 190 Berkeley street, the home of Trooper Kelly, a number of bonfires were lighted and fireworks exhibited. The home was beautifully decorated. At 66 Hayden street, the home of Pte. Davidson, a similar reception was tendered.

CECIL RHODES ILL.

London, Oct. 30.—A despatch to the Central News from Cape Town says that Cecil Rhodes is suffering from fever.

MATTERS TO COME BEFORE THE UNION

Peterboro Club's Protest Will be Heard Tomorrow Night.

The following appeared in last night's Toronto Daily Star—

A meeting of the executive committee of the Ontario Rugby Union will be held at the Rossin House to-morrow night.

The business to be transacted will be of an interesting nature. Peterborough's protest against the officials in the London game will be heard. Charges of undue roughness have been laid against Gilmour, Hennessey and Kerrigan of the London team.

The charges of professionalism against Ralph Ripley and Nick Hinch will be investigated. An affidavit has been filed in the Ripley case alleging that the Argonaut captain played professional baseball in 1897, a matter which was cleared up at the time by the Canadian Amateur Athletic Union, which body completely exonerated Ripley. It looks like persecution on the part of somebody.

Tobin, a Granite man, played with the Granites on Saturday without the necessary permit, and the Argonauts may protest the game.

A SUCCESSFUL SEASON.

Jubilee Point Hotel Closes After a Very Successful Season

Jubilee Point Hotel has been closed for the season, after the most successful period in its history. The hotel was opened for the season on May 1st, and remained open until Oct. 27—almost six months. During the latter part of the season numerous shooting parties made the hotel their headquarters, and a good business was done.

This beautiful place is sure to become in the immediate future, a most attractive spot. It is so advantageously situated that people who once visit it are sure to return, while the fishing is always good.

Next season Commodore Calcutt intends to greatly improve the hotel and grounds. A small steamer will ply between the hotel and the town, and will make a trip on Saturday evenings, returning early Monday morning in time for business. It will also cross the lake to Harwood on Sunday to enable the guests to attend divine worship. Water works will be put in the hotel, and other improvements made.

PROMISED A HUSBAND WITHIN TWO WEEKS

From Toronto Evening News.

Toronto, Oct. 30.—In the Police Court this morning Mrs. Delima Marcott, 122 McCaul street, was put on trial on a charge of fortune telling. Two young ladies, at the instance of the police, had visited her.

The first of these deposed that on calling on Mrs. Marcott, she asked her first as to the condition of her health, and Mrs. Marcott told her she had stomach troubles, liver complaint and kidney disease. Then the witness paused.

"Anything else?" said the Crown Attorney.

"Then I asked her if I was to be married, and she said 'Yes, to a man of medium height, not too dark, with sharp features. The wedding was to take place within two weeks.

"When did she tell you that?" asked the Magistrate.

"On the 17th."

"That's two weeks ago to-morrow. Have you seen him yet?"

"No, sir." (Laughter.)

Witness, replying to a question, said Mrs. Marcott just sat in a chair and spun off her information.

"She told me," said the witness, "that she could see visions with spirits."

"What kind of spirits did she take in order to see visions?" asked the Colonel.

"She didn't say."

Another witness was told that she would live to be 85 or 90 and would have two husbands, the first of whom now lived southwest of 122 McCaul street. She was to have two legacies.

Each witness paid 50 cents, and both were told that if they came back in two weeks the fortune teller would go into a trance. In this condition she could puncture the future much further.

Mrs. Marcott was sent for trial before a jury. Bail was fixed at $200.

WEATHER NOTES.

Probs.—To-day East winds; rain.

It is quite probable that there will be a change to much colder weather in the Northwest Territories and Manitoba during Wednesday.

PETERBOROUGH, OCTOBER 31 1900.

THE RESURRECTED HATCHET.

The hatchet has been resurrected. Not the hatchet of truth wherewith George Washington feloniously assaulted his father's mythical cherry tree, but the hatchet of discord that the Conservative party has been fondly hoping was buried so deep that there wasn't the vestige of a handle tip in sight.

It was at Carleton Place that Sir Mackenzie Bowell drew forth the trusty and rusty, but still effective weapon from beneath the mold of forgetfulness. The ex-Premier soon demonstrated that he had not resurrected the weapon for fun, and, after a few preliminary flourishes he lodged the keen blade in the political anatomy of his former colleague, Hon. John Haggart. Having driven it in far enough the old veteran gave the weapon two or three twists and left it with the handle sticking out as a warning to the other fellows who, with Hon. John Haggart, once jarred Sir Mackenzie Bowell so severely by telling him to get out and make more room for them in the government.

This sanguinary scene was enacted at Carleton Place Thursday night. Carleton Place is in the riding of South Lanark, which Hon. John Haggart regards as his peculiar preserve, but which Dr. Preston, a Conservative also, thinks he might as well represent. Mr. Haggart is one of the ex-Conservative cabinet ministers who took part in the historic nest of traitors incident. For that reason, presumably, he has taken no part in the present campaign, though some others who were apparently as deep in the mud as he was in the mire, are not so bashful.

Mr. Haggart apparently acquiesced in being left at home throughout the campaign, but he does not relish the prospect of being left at home during the next parliament. Hence he is contesting South Lanark. So is Dr. Preston. They are both Tories, and the Grits are sitting on the fence and watching the fight.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

It cost a St. Thomas woman three years in the penitentiary for throwing hot water on a young man. The sentence is palpably unjust. Many a woman keeps her husband in hot water all the time and escapes scot free.

Dr. Leyds announces that Kruger will spend the winter in Nice as he dislikes the cold. This contradicts the very prevalent impression that Oom Paul left South Africa because the British were making it hot for him.

Sneeze and Blow.

This is what you must do when you have catarrh in the head. The way to cure this disease is to purify the blood with Hood's Sarsaparilla. This medicine soothes and heals the inflamed surfaces, rebuilds the delicate tissues and permanently cures catarrh by expelling from the blood the scrofulous taints upon which it depends. Be sure to get Hood's.

The non-irritating cathartic—Hood's Pills.

THE POLITICAL POT.

There is an effort being made to switch the labor vote from Mr. Kendry to Mr. McClellan on account of certain alleged action of Mr. Kendry in regard to the wages of employees of the Auburn Woollen Co. The Times received a letter on the subject, but as the writer withheld his name it will not appear.

* * *

Here's the way Sir Mackenzie Bowell's paper, the Belleville Intelligencer, puts it—"The Grits are making as much as possible out of the meeting at Carleton Place which is in the riding of South Lanark where Sir Mackenzie spoke against Hon. John Haggart. The political fight down there is between two Conservatives and Sir Mackenzie's simply prefers Dr. Preston. There is no split in the party whatever."

* * *

Hon. J. Israel Tarte faced his accusers in St. Thomas Saturday night, and in his speech repudiated what the World, the Mail and other ultra-Tory sheets have said about him. Amongst Mr. Tarte's faults, and apparently he has a few, cowardice is not one of them.

* * *

Hon. Thomas M. Daly, W. A. Macdonald, former leader of the local Opposition, and ex-Lieutenant-Governor Mackintosh, all of British Columbia, are giving Hugh John Macdonald a hand in Brandon this week.

* * *

Conservatives are figuring that the Government will be defeated in five out of the six ridings in Manitoba, leaving Winnipeg out of the list. It looks, however, as though the estimate would be safer if they gave the Government two seats. It is impossible to predict anything like definite figures, as both sides are doing their level best, though the stump is against the Government.

* * *

The knife which is being used on Hon. John Haggart could not be any sharper if Col. Sir Mac Bowell had been holding it against a grindstone all these years.

Canada has done more for both parties than either party has done, or ever will do, for Canada.

* * *

It looks as though Mr. Kendry is having to work overtime just now. Mr. McClellan's vigorous campaign is making things hum.

* * *

With 800 new names added to the voters' list in town, it is hardly safe figuring either way.

* * *

The Liberals claim to have had the best of it in registering the young men. This remains to be seen, however.

TAKE YOUR CHOICE.

It is little wonder that the man who reads only one party paper becomes warped and bigoted in his opinions. He can see only one side to a political issue, and is taught to believe that truth or justice cannot harmonize with the opposite political party. In the days of George Brown there was not a single newspaper in Canada that was not tied to party. The entire press of the country was enslaved and forced to do political dirty work. Of late years, however, newspapers have sprung into existence which are not fettered with party obligations. People are beginning to think and learn; the party press has lost its power; the articles which appear in these sheets carry no weight and have no longer any influence.

On Friday last Mr. McClellan, the Liberal candidate, held a meeting at Middleton's school house, Smith, and it is amusing to read what our two local contemporaries had to say about the meeting. It is a fair sample of how truthful (?) the average party paper is. Just read this from the local Grit organ—

MR. McCLELLAN AT MIDDLETON'S.

A VERY ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING HELD IN SMITH.

The Liberal Cause is Pleaded by Mr. O. Leplante, Mr. Geo. Elliott, Mr. R. R. Hall and Mr. J. H. McClellan.

Mr. McClellan received a very hearty welcome last evening at Middleton's school house, when, in spite of the inclement weather, a large number of the electors gathered to hear him. The meeting which was characterized by great enthusiasm, throughout was closed by cheers for the Queen, the Premier and Mr. McClellan.

From the Tory organ—

MR McLELLAN'S MEETING

Takes Out Half His Audience From Town.

Mr. McClellan held a meeting at Middleton's school house in Smith last night, and much was added to the discouragement that he has been meeting with in the country. With two carriage loads of speakers, office seekers and office holders he went out and found a meeting of exactly eight persons awaiting them. He brought seven with him from town, so that he supplied about half the audience and paid their livery bill to the school house. The seven who drove out from town supplied the enthusiasm for the candidate as expected.

BOXERS TO BE PUNISHED.

London, Oct. 30.—A Times special from Pekin, dated Thursday, says—

"Prince Ching and Li Hung Chang have communicated to the diplomatic body an imperial edict asking the foreign Ministers to state explicitly what Chinese officials deserve punishment and what degree of punishment they should receive.

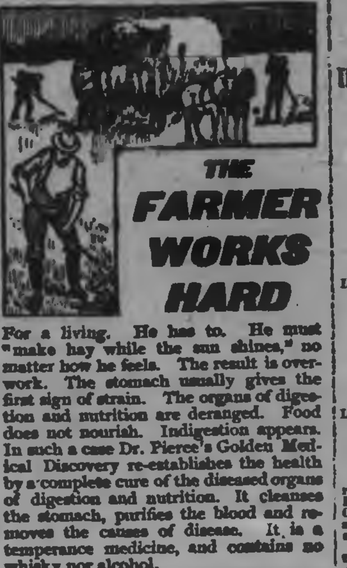
MACDONALD LEAVES PEKIN.

"Ex-Minister Sir Claude MacDonald left Pekin to-day for Tokio amid the genuine manifestations of regret of the entire community, who gratefully remember his splendid services during the recent siege, when the chief direction of the defence was in his hands. The American legation courteously provided transport wagons for the departing minister.

FARCE AT PAO-TING-FU.

"The commanders of the Pao-Ting-Fu expeditionary force acted with most mistaken clemency respecting the integrity of that city, inflicting no punishment on its officials or destroying no official buildings. They contented themselves with making an effective military promenade through the city as if invited to do so by the courtesy of the Chinese officials whose hands were stained with the blood of the martyred missionaries.

Such clemency is bound to be misinterpreted by the Chinese. The whole expedition was rendered slightly ridiculous by being forestalled by small French detachments, which occupied every gate a week before the arrival of the main force."



THE FARMER WORKS HARD

For a living. He has to. He must "make hay while the sun shines," no matter how he feels. The result is overwork. The stomach usually gives the first sign of strain. The organs of digestion and nutrition are deranged. Food does not nourish. Indigestion appears. In such a case Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery re-establishes the health by a complete cure of the diseased organs of digestion and nutrition. It cleanses the stomach, purifies the blood and removes the causes of disease. It is a temperance medicine, and contains no whisky nor alcohol.

"I was troubled with indigestion for about two years," writes Wm. Bowker, Esq., of Juliaetta, Latah Co., Idaho. "I tried different doctors and remedies but to no avail, until I wrote to Dr. Pierce and he told me what to do. I suffered with a pain in my stomach and left side and thought it would kill me. I am glad to write and let you know that I am all right. I can do my work now without pain and I don't have that tired feeling that I used to have. Five bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and two vials of his 'Pleasant Pellets' cured me."

Dear Sirs,—In accordance with your wishes I have had both the red and white wines and the champagne tested by several connoisseurs, French and English. All of these expressed surprise that an article of such merit was produced in Canada, and even manufacturers admit that the brand "L'Empereur" is of excellent quality.

This opinion from critics who are by no means easy to please should be very satisfactory to you, and it gives me pleasure to congratulate you upon it. Yours faithfully,

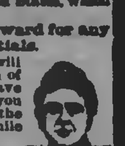
If you have this awful disease you are in danger until completely cured; the various symptoms you notice should be a warning to take immediate treatment. Don't put it off until too late, as it continually gets worse. If you have sore throat, patches on tongue or mouth, swollen glands, hair falling out, blotches on body, itching skin, or other signs of this awful disease, call on us. We give you a written guarantee to cure you by our LATEST METHOD TREATMENT without Mercury or Potassium, and You Pay When Cured. Each time you call you see Dr. Goldberg personally, who has 18 Diplomas, certificates and licenses received from the various colleges, hospitals and States, which testify to his standing and abilities.

The original testimonials can be seen at our office; $500.00 reward for any we cannot show; at request of patients we publish only the initials.



I am improving every day. I notice if I cut or scratch myself the sore will heal up. I hope you will not stop treating me as long as there is a sign of that terrible disease. I am more afraid of it than death. I believe you have the right medicine for the disease. I feel so thankful to you for the good you have done me; I was a perfect wreck when I came to you, and was on the verge of suicide. To make a sure thing I would like to continue a while longer, so that it will not return. Very respectfully yours, Mrs. L. S.

Address to the Electors

To the Free and Independent Electors of West Peterborough—

Gentlemen.—Having accepted the unanimous nomination of the Liberals of this Riding, as a candidate for its representation in the House of Commons I hereby respectfully solicit your support in securing my return at the coming general elections.

The grounds upon which I base my appeal are not so much nor chiefly by any means, my personal fitness for the position of your representation though as a citizen of Peterborough and interested in its progress in common with that of the country, I can and do promise, if elected, an intelligent support of such a public policy and such measures as will best conduce to the promotion of all the interests of Canada, the development of her great resources and the general betterment of the civil moral and material condition of the public; and my best abilities and most assiduous attention shall be devoted to the faithful discharge of my representative duties.

The strongest ground, however, of my appeal consists in the fact that I am a firm supporter of the Liberal Government led by Sir Wilfred Laurier, which is entitled to the renewed confidence of the people, both on the ground of its policy and the splendid record established by the application of that policy. The Liberal party appealed to the country in 1896 upon a clearly defined policy and the promised results followed.

The Liberal party promised a reduction of a high tariff that hampered our industrial and agricultural interests and was hostile to the Mother Country.

The tariff was materially reduced and otherwise improved and in such a way as to help instead of hinder the manufacturer and farmer, with the consequence that never before in the history of the country have our industries or our farmers enjoyed such great prosperity, our mechanics and working men such constant employment and high wages, nor our commercial and all other interests so flourished.

Our domestic and foreign trade have also greatly increased. The loyal gift of a trade preference, represented by a tariff reduction on British goods of 33 1-3 per cent., and our despatch of the Canadian Contingent, have resulted in a kindlier feeling towards Canada and greatly increased trade with the Mother Country.

With a largely reduced rate of tariff, our revenue has greatly expanded so that the Government was warranted in practicing true economy (reducing our postal rate one third, giving Imperial penny postage,) and permitting of the completion of great public works, deepening our canals, so long trifled with, pushing the work on the Trent Valley Canal which is now urged and will be urged to completion by the Liberal Government, and the application of a vigorous policy of general development and improvement of our transportation facilities, resulting and to result in easier access to the British market and better prices for all our products.

The farming interests of the country are deserving of the best services of a Government, such as the present has given. The immense impetus given the produce trade between Canada and Great Britain, through the preferential tariff, has been greatly helped by the action of the Government in providing an excellent and adequate system of cold storage, by which Canadian products can be landed in Great Britain in first-class condition, guaranteeing the highest prices. The system is of the most modern character, sufficient for all the present needs of the trade, and it will be improved and enlarged as experience suggests, and increase of the produce trade demands, and I shall, if elected, feel it my duty to support any policy that will improve our trade with the Mother Country, and strengthens the bond of British connection, of which we are so proud.

In an industrial centre like Peterborough the claims of the working classes are especially deserving of consideration. No country is well governed that does not look after the interests of all classes of the community. The Conservative Government has been, and the Conservative party declares itself to be, extremely solicitous of the interests of the capitalist classes—the manufacturers—but it left the working classes to largely shift for themselves. A Liberal Government came into power, and the attitude towards Labour was changed, and the rights of Labour to its rights recognized, and in a practical way. A Department of Labour has been established and a Minister of Labour placed over it. A Labour Gazette has been established in the interests of workingmen, published monthly; conditions have been inserted in all Government contracts compelling contractors to pay the highest current wages, which the Government guarantees the payment of; the sweating system has been abolished on Government enforced by a special officer, and in many other ways the Government has shown by deeds that the rights of the workingmen, as well as the capitalist, shall be protected. I heartily support the Government in what it has done, and shall support them in extending the benefits which they have already conferred, and which it is their policy to continue, as need arises.

The splendid achievements of Canadian soldiers in South Africa, make them worthy of the gratitude of the country. We have the best militia material in the world, and if we keep up a military establishment, let it be worthy of Canadians. Situated as Peterborough is, on the line of the Grand Trunk and Canadian Pacific Railways, and on the line of the Trent Valley Canal, begun as a military work, and now under course of completion, no other point in this Province is so well adapted for a military centre. I shall, therefore, feel it my duty to press upon the Government the advisability of constructing in Peterborough new armories and connected buildings for military stores for Ontario, and I feel that this is practicable of attainment at the hands of a Government which has shown its interest in our volunteers by placing the Militia Department, so greatly neglected by a previous administration, upon an effective basis, and will, therefore, more naturally be well disposed towards the improvement involved in making Peterborough a centre for military stores.

A town of the industrial and commercial importance of Peterborough, has certainly strong claims upon the good offices and of a Government. For the past four years the town has been represented, when it was represented in the House, by a member opposed to the Government. There is no doubt in the minds of unprejudiced observers, that the present Liberal Government will be strongly sustained in the country at the coming elections, and the question arises whether West Peterborough will have its interests better served by a member sitting in opposition and hostile to the Government and its policy, or by a member pledged to give the Government a fair support in the application of its policy. If elected I pledge myself to give my best ability and exertions to the promotion of the general good of the country, and to look especially after the interests of West Peterborough.

I cannot obviously here, enter into details of how, in other ways the Liberal Government has implemented its promises and applied its policy, but I shall have an opportunity during the campaign of more fully dealing with these and other public questions.

As a supporter of such a Government I can appeal with confidence for the support of the Electors of West Peterborough, knowing that by helping to give, as you will do, through my election, a renewal of the trust the Liberal Government has discharged with such evident and gratifying results, they will be conferring a great and lasting good upon this riding, the country at large, and securing a continuation of the great blessings of prosperity and good government we now enjoy.

Again soliciting your support, your votes, and influence in this contest,

I have the honor to be,
gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,
J. H. McCLELLAN

WE CURE STRICTURE

Thousands of young and middle-aged men are troubled with this disease—many unconsciously. They may have a smarting sensation, small, twisting stream, sharp cutting pains at times, slight discharge, difficulty in commencing, weak organs, emissions, and all the symptoms of nervous debility—they have STRICTURE. Don't let doctors experiment on you, by cutting, stretching, or tearing you. This will not cure you, as it will return. Our NEW METHOD TREATMENT absorbs the stricture tissue; hence removes the stricture permanently. It can never return. No pain, no suffering, no detention from business by our method. The sexual organs are strengthened. The nerves are invigorated, and the bliss of manhood returns.

WE CURE GLEET

Thousands of young and middle-aged men are having their sexual vigor and vitality continually sapped by this disease. They are frequently unconscious of the cause of these symptoms. General Weakness, Unnatural Discharges, Failing Manhood, Nervousness, Poor Memory, Irritability, at times Smarting Sensation, Sunken Eyes, with dark circles, Weak Back, General Depression, Lack of Ambition, Varicocele, Shrunken Parts, etc. GLEET and STRICTURE may be the cause. Don't consult family doctors, as they have no experience in these special diseases—don't allow Quacks to experiment on you. Consult Specialists, who have made a life study of Diseases of Men and Women. Our NEW METHOD TREATMENT will positively cure you. One thousand dollars for a case we accept for treatment and cannot cure. Terms moderate for a cure.

A NOVEL.

from which the snow had been carefully brushed.

From the great rows of windows which opened out upon the arched porch the shimmering curtains were looped back, and the brilliant, rosy light poured warmly out upon the cold, white snow.

She could see great throngs of gayly-dressed women, against backgrounds of great banks of roses, who seemed to laugh at the cold, the storm and the snow without.

Isetta pressed her white, wild face closer against the window-pane. No one could see her, she told herself; no one would know she was watching out there in the cold and the darkness.

Her long, dark hair, on which the white snowflakes lay thick, tossed about her face with the breeze. Her dark, sorrowful eyes, like gleaming stars, shone strangely lustrous.

She could have gazed on the scene forever, with never a thought of the cold or the storm. She quite forgot she had intended to inquire the way to Silvernook.

She was riveted to the spot by the mirth and lights within.

* * *

An hour before her guests arrived she stood before her mirror, clasping a diamond bracelet on her white, rounded arm, that gleamed and quivered with every motion with a thousand jets of flame, her proud, haughty mouth was wreathed in smiles.

Loraine was always thinking of her husband when she smiled.

He sat at a little distance from her, his head bent on his hands in a strange fit of despondency, which even she could not charm away with her witty banter and winning smile.

Suddenly she turned to him.

"Ulmont," she asked, "you are quite sure you are pleased that you married me?"

She was leaning both her elbows on his chair, her lovely eyes gazing into his own.

"It is rather late in the day for you to be asking such a question of me, Loraine."

She put back his fair hair from his forehead with her soft, white, jeweled hand, answering slowly:

"Ulmont, my husband, I can never feel quite sure of your love for me sometimes when your arms are about me, and your lips pressed to mine, I feel a strange sensation, as if a strong hand had suddenly thrust us asunder, and your kisses, while yet warm, seem to grow cold on my lips; there are times you seem so silent and abstracted—why is it?"

"There has ever been a weight on my mind since the accident which befell me; probably some trifling affair, it may be after all."

"Do you think it is the memory of some one whom you have met abroad?" she asked, anxiously.

"Jealous, Loraine," he laughed; "it is more likely some message I have promised to deliver for some friend which eludes my memory so persistently."

"You have never loved any one except me, have you, Ulmont?"

"You do not doubt that you are my first last and only love, do you Loraine?"

"No; to doubt you would be death," she answered; "yet, somehow you are not the same; you have seemed so changed since you went abroad. You are not gay and merry as before."

"How would you have it, my pretty Loraine; if a man's love does not strengthen and deepen under the influence of so peerless a wife as yourself, he may safely be labeled heartless—better have lived a bachelor forlorn."

Still Loraine was not satisfied; she would be the sharer of his every thought.

"I believe I am growing jealous," she said, with a smile; "still I am thankful I have only your thoughts for rivals."

A rival—it was the first time such an idea had crossed her mind.

"If I had ever had a rival in your affections, Ulmont," she said, "I could not have answered for myself."

She was the last daughter of the long line of Loraines; it had often been said they were never crossed in love Heaven pity the man who was weighed in the balance of their affections and was found wanting.

Loraine, with a bright glow in her heart, went down among her guests little dreaming of the terrible web fate was weaving around the husband she so madly loved.

Had her very life been asked as a ransom for his, she would cheerfully have paid it. Those who saw Loraine Ulvesford that night in the glow of her peerless beauty never forgot her, or the strange occurrence that made that Christmas Eve a memorable one.

Mirth was at its height, intoxicating the sense with rapturous bewilderment. Loraine had given the first waltz to Dr. Stafford; he regretted when it was over.

"It is not often I am favored with so graceful a partner as yourself, Mrs. Ulvesford," he said, gallantly, leading her to a seat in a bower of bending ferns that arched above one of the long, French windows that led out into the porch.

Loraine was about to make some light rejoinder, but the words died away on her lips in a piercing scream which brought the guests hurriedly about her as she pointed to the window.

The white, cold snow on the ivy vines, and the long, glistening icicles formed a weird background that struck a subtle fear to the hearts of all who gazed.

In an instant flashed across Loraine's mind that beautiful, foreign face that had haunted her so strangely in the vine-covered Alps.

The gentlemen had started out to search for the owner of face which when observed, had instantly disappeared.

Loraine looked around for Ulmont; he was not among them. She heard

A WONDERFUL
KIDNEY and Bladder CURE

The Honorable Chairman of the Board of County Commissioners, Ellsworth, Kansas, tells how ALKAVIS cured him after Doctors and all other Remedies had Failed.

BRIGHT'S DISEASE, GRAVEL, DROPSY,
And Rheumatism Mastered at Last.

One of the most remarkable medical discoveries of the century is the Kava-Kava Shrub, found on the Ganges River, East India, which has a wonderful action on the kidneys and bladder. Since its introduction into this country its fame has quickly spread, because of its seemingly impossible cures. Prominent men and women have testified to its great curative powers, and hospital tests prove its infallibility even in advanced stages of Bright's Disease. Among the more recent recoveries is that of Hon. I. A. Hopkins, Chairman Board of County Commissioners, Ellsworth, Kansas, who says:

GENTLEMEN:—I will say that I believe and know that I owe my life to Alkavis. I had been troubled with Kidney and Bladder Trouble for years. Two years ago I was sick for six weeks with Malarial Fever which left me in a bad condition. My limbs were swollen with Rheumatism so that I could hardly walk; I was troubled with Indigestion from taking Medicine for my Urinary troubles which had become very much worse. I had to get up every hour of the night to urinate. I passed great quantities of blood on account of hemorrhage of the Kidneys and Bladder. I tried and had been trying everything in the shape of Medicine for Kidney Trouble that I could think of or that the Doctors recommended, but nothing helped me for I kept getting worse. I suffered great pain continually in my Kidneys. I made up my mind unless I could get relief that I only had a short time to live. About this time my attention was called to an advertisement of Alkavis. As a drowning man will grasp at a straw, I was ready to try anything for relief. I sent to you for three bottles. I began to take it, and before I had taken it one week I began to feel the good effects of Alkavis. My Kidney Trouble and Rheumatism were soon gone, my digestion became all right, I found myself in better health than for ten years and I am in good health now. I know that Alkavis saved my life. What more can anyone say for a medicine? Unlike most medicines it is good for indigestion. It gives the person taking it a good appetite. I have recommended Alkavis to a great many people and all have been benefited by its use. I am 53 years of age, and am very grateful for what Alkavis has done for me.
Respectfully yours, I. A. HOPKINS.

Rev. W. B. Moore, D. D., Washington, D. C., Editor Religious World, writes that after trying all known medicines for kidney and rheumatic diseases he was permanently cured by Alkavis. Mrs. Wm. H. Hardy, East Rush, Pa., writes that Alkavis cured her after six doctors failed. Rev. J. W. Hickman, Collyer, Trego Co., Kansas, cured of liver, kidney and bladder trouble, of many years' standing, from which he could only get temporary relief and had given up all hope of a cure. Thus the grand work goes on. A new book, entitled "A Thousand Living Witnesses," sent with the free case of medicine, tells of the wonderful cures performed in every state.

Not only does this great discovery—Alkavis (the Kava-Kava Compound)—cure all forms of kidney and bladder diseases, but by expelling from the blood all poisonous deposits, excess of lime, uric acid, urates and lithiates, it banishes gravel, torpid liver, rheumatism, pains in back, difficult and too frequent urination, etc. The cure is complete. No phase is neglected, and the stomach, heart and nerves are toned and invigorated. No other medicine in the world will perform the work of Alkavis. To enable sufferers to get well and spread the glad tidings we have arranged to send a Large Case of Alkavis FREE by mail to all who write us. The case goes entirely FREE.

If you are a sufferer, write to-day and secure at once a Free Case of Alkavis and Book of "A Thousand Living Witnesses." Address The Church Kidney Cure Co., No. 403 Fourth Ave., New York. Please mention this paper.

THE COLORADO COPPER MINING COMPANY

LOCATION OF OUR MINES

THE COLORADO COPPER MINING COMPANY is fortunate in being the possessor of five splendid showing properties in the great Salida copper belt, the principal copper producing region of this portion of the rockies. All of our claims have been more or less developed and it is our purpose to put the same on a paying basis at once.

Our Company owns, clear of incumbrances the following claims,—The Sedalia Extension, the Sedalia Extension No. 2, which property adjoins the great Sedalia mine, which has been a big producer for upwards of seventeen years; the Copper King of Colorado, which immediately adjoins the above; the Copper Queen of Salida, a very promising property, only a few steps from the depot in Salida. This claim occupies an imposing position on a mountain just north of the city; and last, but by no means least, the Sunshine, located two miles east of Salida at Cleora station, on the main Trunk line of the great Denver and Rio Grande Railroad, also on the Arkansas river, which in length is one of America's greatest streams.

There is some talk that out street railway will change hands, and will be completed as soon as spring opens up. It is to be hoped that this may be so. There is no reason why the railway should not be a paying enterprise if properly managed.

From Natural Causes

Rose Henderson, the Peterborough girl who died so mysteriously at the Maternity Hospital in Toronto a short time ago, was found by the Coroner's Jury to have come to her death through natural causes. Dr. W. H. Ellis, the Government analyist, presented the result of his analysis of the deceased's stomach. He said he had found no trace of poison nor ergot. He was unable to discover the cause of death from an examination of the organs submitted to him. Death might have been caused by kidney trouble, and there would not necessarily be any trace of it in the gastric organs. The verdict of the jury was that death was due to a natural cause.

On South Africa

Norwood Register.—Dr. Fred Brennan, late of Johannesburg, South Africa, delivered a most interesting and instructive address to the pupils and teachers of the High and Model school on Tuesday last. The doctor gave an excellent summary of the war in the Transvaal, the events leading up to it, the character and habits of the Boers, and an account of the physical characteristics of the country. He showed clearly that both justice and necessity compelled Great Britain to take the stand she did in the war, and the great advantages that Canada will derive from taking part in it both from a patriotic and material standpoint. The doctor is an able speaker, and his address was listened to with marked attention by an appreciative audience.

—John McKinzie, of Kirkfield, had his thumb so badly bitten by a horse that he went to Toronto general hospital for treatment.

—The Girl's Guild of St. John's Church met last night, and made arrangements for the congregational reception to be held on Friday evening.

—At the police court yesterday morning L. V. Letellier was fined $2 for riding on the sidewalk. For a like offence Willie Fox was given the same dose.

—Bob. Ind.—These are the bright and golden days, when the pumpkin is gathered from the sun's warm rays, and the joyful farmer his subscription pays. Note—This poetic gem is original, but for the general good of the profesh our esteemed contemporaries are at liberty to work it off as their own.

—Mr. E. B. Stone, who addressed a mass meeting of electors in Trenton on Saturday night in the interests of the Liberal candidate, returned on Monday night. He reports a very successful meeting. Yesterday he received a telegram asking him to take several other meetings in the east, one of which is the nomination meeting in Napanee today. He left for Toronto yesterday and will leave for Napanee to-night, addressing the meeting there tomorrow and returning to-morrow evening to Peterborough.

Died at Lake Ketchekum

Philip Macdonald, a lumberman in the employ of the Dickson Co., died suddenly Monday evening at Lake Ketchakum. The body was brought to Peterborough in charge of Mr. Giles Stone and is now at Mr. D. Belleghem's undertaking establishment. Deceased was a man about 70 years of age, unmarried and was well known in Peterborough and vicinity. He had been at his brother's, Mr. Bernard Macdonald's Queen st., recently, and appeared then in good health. It is thought death was due to an attack of heart failure. The interment will take place here.

A GERM CATECHISM.

The Manner in Which Powley's Liquified Ozone Kills the Germ of Disease.

Q. What is disease?

A. Disease is an unnatural condition of the body or organs of the body.

Q. What causes disease?

A. Germs cause disease.

Q. How are germs formed?

A. Germs are formed from decaying vegetable or animal matter.

Q. In what way do germs cause disease?

A. The germs enter the body and form a chemical combination with the animal cells. A chemical combination is peculiar to each disease. Thus a certain germ forms cholera, another consumption, another typhoid fever, another kidney disease, another indigestion and so on.

Q. How can we cure disease?

A. What is required is an antiseptic; something that will kill the germs and restore the diseased portion of the body to health.

Q. What will do that?

A. Powley's Liquified Ozone is the only preparation which will accomplish this.

Q What is Powley's Liquified Ozone?

A. It is liquified oxygen; nature's cure for disease. It treats disease under a new system. It is simply infallible in its treatment. It has been demonstrated that no germ can live in oxygen or ozone. Powley's Liquified Ozone kills microbes instantly, and in this war cures such terrible diseases as consumption, impure blood, eczema, typhoid fever, tumors, Bright's disease of the kidneys, liver troubles, female weaknesses, etc.

Stop old-fashioned medicine methods. Powley's Liquified Ozone is liquified oxygen. It kills germs of every description. Testimonials prove this. Send for pamphlet on general troubles and female diseases. Powley's Liquified Ozone is sold in two sizes, large size $1.00, small size, 50c. at all druggists, or by mail from the Ozone Co., of Toronto, Limited, 48 Colborne St., Toronto, also by Wm. Madill.

MR. JOHN A. SEXSMITH'S MEETING LAST NIGHT

crease in the country's debt, together with a corresponding increase in public expenditure, together with liabilities to the tune of $35,000 for subsidies, etc., in the face of which, he urged, the administration should lay up for a rainy day. He deplored the letting of contracts without tender, which is the open door to a specie of corruption. Under this pernicious system a contract of $35,000 for dredging was placed, while one gent received $425 a day for the use of a tug. Then, under Conservative rule, oil for the Intercolonial Railway used to be tendered for; it is not done so under the Laurier-Tarte government. Mr. Burnham next spoke of the export trade, and quoted from statistics, showing a heavy decline for 1899 in the export of horses, cattle, sheep, cheese, wheat, flour and hay, as compared with the years 1893-4-5-6. The administration's so called increase in these directions is naturally erroneous and a profound myth. The apex of prosperity has been reached, and it is high time the apex of our debt was arrived at, and provision made for its decrease. He next reviewed the Liberals' different policies—Commercial Union, Unrestricted Reciprocity and Free Trade, and wanted to know what Mr. Lang thought of the money expended in tips, cigars, etc., spent in a fruitless effort to secure Unrestricted Reciprocity with the United States; $34,000 was expended in this direction, and the whole thing went up in smoke. After many long years wandering in the wilderness under Sir Richard Cartwright, they were obliged on gaining power to adopt the grand old N.P. of Sir John A. Macdonald after all.

The speaker next scathingly criticised Laurier's administration for not keeping their pledge regarding agricultural implements. They did, it is true, he said, reduce the tariff, but it was on the raw material only, and which farmers do not use. This was catering to the nabobs of monopolies, such as the Massey-Harris Company, to whom tariff benefits has been handed out as a piece of pap, and the burdens of farmers has increased accordingly. Passing lightly over the question, he characterized the Registration act as one of injustice to farmers, is bestowing franchise benefits upon the towns and cities, while ignoring villages and rural communities. He next went on to show that the so-called forgery of the Globe was nothing of the kind, as the campaign sheet issued by the Star of Montreal, was simply a compilation of articles appearing in the Toronto Globe for a number of years past. Continuing, Mr. Burnham condemned the admission of liquor to the Yukon, the Crow's Nest and other subsidies, the Postal system under Hon. Wm. Mulock, by which letter carriers had been reduced to miserable wages, and the falsifying of the accounts of the Intercolonial Railway. He next turned his attention to the Drummond Railway deal manoeuvered by Mr. Tarte, by which a worthless railway, previously offered the Conservative Government for $434,000, was sold to the Laurier administration for $1,600,000. In conclusion, he urged that pledge after pledge had been broken by the party in power—the superannuation and pension lists had been increased instead of decreased as promised, while their immigration policy had increased ten per cent.—and he eulogised the candidate, Mr. Sexsmith, as an honest, capable and upright man, who would redeem in the House of Commons every pledge made to his supporters. The speaker resumed his seat amid great enthusiasm.

After giving three rousing cheers for the Queen, Sir Charles Tupper, the candidate and Dr. Ford, the meeting, which had been an exceptionally orderly one, quietly dispersed.

RELIGIOUS BIGOTRY.

An Earnest Protest Against it by Eminent Divines.

Rev. Dr. B. D. Thomas.—It is very unfortunate that as election time approaches such characteristics as a man's creed or race should be magnified and presented to the classes, who are likely to be prejudiced in an unfavorable a light as possible. Such action I consider utterly contemptible. There is absolutely not the slightest excuse for any such attack being made on a man of the moral breadth of character of Sir Wilfrid Laurier. The confidence I feel in him as a political leader and as a man has already been made public in the Toronto Star.

Rev. Dr. George M. Milligan.—No enlightened Protestant will mix up religion and politics. Regarding Sir Wilfrid Laurier, he is an honor to Canada and I hope and pray Canadians may appreciate him, not when it is too late.

Rev. Prof. Clarke.—I admire the personality of Sir Wilfrid Laurier very much. As to his being a Roman Catholic how could that be used against him! Sir John Thompson was a Roman Catholic on the opposite side of politics and he became Premier. These creed cries are not to be commended, for how can we live with each other unless we exercise mutual toleration?

Dr. G. R. Parkin.—A French Canadian Premier the other day made the noblest speech ever delivered by a colonial minister.—Speech at banquet in Toronto, March 14th, 1900.

Rev. Dr. Dewart.—In the case of Sir Wilfrid Laurier we have a fine example of a liberal-minded Roman Catholic statesman who rises above sectarian issues, and regards the interests of the whole Canadian people as the supreme consideration. Because of this he is trusted as fully by the Protestants of Ontario as by the French Canadian Catholics of the Province of Quebec.

MR. KENDRY AT ENNISMORE

A Good Meeting in the Town Hall on Monday Evening

There was a large attendance at the Town Hall, Ennismore, on Monday evening, at Mr. Kendry's meeting. Mr. Paul Costello was in the Chair. The night was the darkest in years. Mr. Jas. Stevenson, ex-M.P., Mr. W. H. Moore and Mr. J. H. Burnham went out with the Conservative candidate.

Mr. Moore opened the meeting with an able address, in which he exposed the Government's dealings with the Standard Oil Trust monopoly. They have, he said, delivered Canada into the hands of the trust, and Canadians have to pay the large increase in the price of oil, which amounts to an extra burden to meet of $3,000,000 a year.

Mr. Stevenson spoke of his kindly relations with the people of Ennismore, and gave some practical illustrations of the Liberal policy. He was well received.

Mr. R. R. Hall appeared for the Opposition, and spoke fluently and ably for an hour, claiming that the prosperity of the country was due to the Laurier administration.

Mr. Kendry followed in a well-delivered speech, in which he explained for Mr. Hall's benefit, the origin of the Chemong bridge question—"I myself," said Mr. Kendry, "on this very platform was the first to advocate and I think to suggest the new bridge." He also dealt with the other issues of the campaign.

Mr. Burnham closed the meeting in a half-hour's address, during which he showed how the Postmaster-General got his surplus at the expense of the Department of the Interior, and that the Drummond County purchase was wholly unnecessary and unexcusable. The meeting closed with the usual cheers.

"He That Stays Does the Business."

All the world admires "staying power." On this quality success depends. The blood is the best friend the heart has, and "faint heart" never won anything. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the best friend the blood ever had; it cleanses the blood of everything.

If you would be strong in the race of life and "do the business," you must "stay." Hood's Sarsaparilla makes the struggle easy. It gives clear, strong blood; hence perfect health ensues. It never disappoints.

Stomach Trouble—"I had pains in my sides and kidneys. Stomach and liver troubles caused my distress. I had doctored without avail and used many medicines unsuccessfully. My sister advised Hood's Sarsaparilla and in a short time it cured me. I am now stronger and sleep better. I shall never be without Hood's Sarsaparilla in the house." MRS. FRANCES, 309 Ossington Avenue, Toronto, Ont.

No Strength—"My whole system was run down. I was weak and could hardly get around to do my work. I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla and after using five bottles I found that my strength had returned and appetite much improved." MRS. KELLEY, 318 Dufferin St., Toronto, Ont.

ATTACK of ROYAL CANADIANS at Paardeberg

The present is a time when war pictures are in greater demand than ever. The conduct of the British soldiers on the battlefield has won the plaudits of admiring nations. We have at great expense published four large, beautiful pictures, size 20x28, on heavy, superfine calendered paper. A picture that will commend itself and send a thrill to the heart of every true Canadian is the one called Attack of Royal Canadians at Paardeberg, there are literally hundreds of figures on this picture, the mountains or kopjes stretching out into the distance are swarming with men, while here and there a prostrate figure speaks only too well of the Boer rifleman. It was on this battlefield the gallant Major Arnold met death unflinchingly. Indeed, it is only too true that many of those gallant hearts that beat so high when the cheering thousands bade them Godspeed as they sailed from Canada's shores now lie still forever in lonely graves on the other side of the world under African skies. To every Canadian heart, to every Canadian home, the deeds of their brave soldier boys speak with an irresistible thrill of patriotism and pride. Gordon Highlanders at the Battle of Belmont, Charging the Boer Guns at Elandslaagte and the Charge of Gen. French's Cavalry on the Retreating Gen. Cronje's Army. These are all stirring pictures and cannot fail to commend themselves to anyone who will examine them. They are RED HOT SELLERS! Agents coin money. Big profits. Enormous success. One agent sold 68 in one day. Sample and terms 25 cts (none free); four for 80 cts; $1.75 per dozen; 25 for $3.25; 50 for $6.00; 100 for $11.00. Write to-day for a dozen and make money. Home Novelty Mfg. Refused Even to Receive Flag of Truce--Botha Declined to Treat.

BARTON SCATTERS A BODY OF DE WET'S MEN

Remaining Force of Canadians in South Africa will Leave About November 3rd—Private Weaver Missing.

London, Oct. 31.—A belated despatch from Pretoria tells of the failure of British negotiations wth Gen. Botha for the surrender of the Boers. Botha received Gen. Paget's flag of truce courteously and admitted his defeat, but said it was impossible to treat for surrender as long as any burghers wished to continue the war.

President Steyn was more irreconcilable. He refused to even see the bearer of a flag of truce.

HOW MANY ARE IN AFRICA.

Toronto, Oct. 30.—The Board of Control ordered the City Treasurer this morning to report how many of the soldiers whose lives were insured by the city are remaining in South Africa, and also notify those who have returned home that their policies have expired, and can be renewed within a certain time.

SIMPLY OBEYED ORDES.

Cape Town, Oct. 30.—The special tribunal organized for the trial of persons accused of treason and political offences rendered a decision of not guilty to-day in the case of the Cape Policeman Smith, who was accused of murder, he having shot an inmate of a Dutch farmhouse at Colesburg who refused to bring a bridle to him. The defence was that Smith simply obeyed the orders of his superior officer, who admitted his responsibility.

BURIED THIRTY BOERS.

Pretoria, via Norval's Pont, Cape Colony, Oct. 30.—Gen Barton has had considerable success in fighting the Boers at Frederickstad. He had been harassed by Gen. De Wet's men for some time, when he made a sudden attack with the Scots' Guards and the Welsh Fusiliers, and scattered the Boers with severe loss. The British buried over thirty Boers on the field. Several of these had been killed by bayonets, the fighting having been at close quarters.

MORE CANADIANS COMING HOME.

London, Wednesday, Oct. 31—A despatch to The Standard from Pretoria says that owing to unexpected difficulty in obtaining recruits for General Baden-Powell's new Transvaal police it has been found impossible to disband several of the colonial volunteer corps, though the volunteers were told a few days ago that they would shortly be allowed to return to their homes.

The despatch adds that the Household Cavalry and headquarters of the Royal Canadian Regiment will start for home November 3.

Lieut.-Col. Itter, in his report dated at Eerste Fabriken, September 22, stated that remaining with the headquarters of the regiment were. Lieut.-Col. Otter, Capt. Macdonald, Captain Burstall, aCpt. Ogilvie, Lieuts. Lawless, Mason, Swift, Lafferty. Semple. Carpenter, Capt. weeks (quartermaster, Surg.-Capt. Fiset, Capt. Almond (chaplain), Capt. Dixon "historical recorder", and about 200 duty non-commissioned officers and men.

Pretoria, Oct. 31.—No intelligence has reached here that Commandant General Botha is marching with a strong force to invade Cape Colony, near Kenhardt, where it is said the irreconcilable Boers are ready to join him.

London, Oct. 31.—Another long casualty list has been received by the War Office. Lord George Gresvenor was wounded in the right thigh during the fighting at Bethelem.

Durban, Natal, Oct. [illegible]—The Gordon Highlanders and the Devonshire regiment have been ordered to be ready to sail for China in a few days.

BURIED IN AFRIOA.

London, Oct. 30.—A despatch from Pretoria says Prince Christian Victor, a grandson of the Queen, who died yesterday of enteric fever, will probably be interred at Pretoria.

TO HONOR FATHER O'LEARY.

Quebec, Oct. 31.—The sub-committee of the Father O'Leary testimonial fund has decided last night that if the SS. Cambroman, on which Father O'Leary is a passenger, arrives at Levis on Sunday morning he would be met by the committee and escorted on board the Druid, where he would remain until the afternoon, when he would be driven to the City Hall, when an address of welcome would be read and a purse presented to the distinguished clergyman. The invalided soldiers will be asked to form a guard of honor on this occasion.

Lieut.-Col. Pelletier, on his arrival from South Africa, will be presented with a very handsome cabinet of cutlery on behalf of the citizens of Quebec.

Secretary Rugby Club, Peterborough, Ont.

Boyce, of Petrolia, played with London under the name of Bice and has played with us against London. We will corroborate this if necessary.

C. S. FREEMAN.

Upon receiving the above message the Peterborough men forwarded it, together with the protest, to Secretary McMurrich, and it will be pushed for all it is worth."

Word was received late last night that the Peterborough Rugby men won in their protest against the London Rugby Club. The game is to be played off at London, November 10th. This will be good news to the boys, and all lovers of Rugby.

Crisis in Newfoundland

Quebec, Nov. 1.—On the day after the general election in Canada, one week from to-day, general elections will be held in Newfoundland, and be the most important and far reaching that have ever occurred in that colony. On the one side are arrayed all the forces that can be marshalled by the Government of the day, led by Premier Bond and Mr. Morris, while opposed to them are the tremendous influences wielded by the multi-millionaire, R. G. Reid, popularly known as the Czar of Newfoundland, and reputed to be the largest landholder on earth. The international importance of the contest is found in the fact that Mr. Morine, the leader of the opposition, is a Canadian who is understood as favoring the annexation of Newfoundland to the Dominion of Canada, while his opponent, Mr. Bond, who recently succeeded Sir James Winter as Prime Minister, is an advocate of closer relations between the island colony and the United States.

DESERTED, HE DIED ON BARREN ISLAND

Sad Fate of a Fisherman and Hunter Revealed by His Dairy.

Chicago, Oct. 31.—A special to the Tribune from San Francisco says.

On Unimak Island, which guards one of the entrances to the Bering Sea, Charles William Anderson, sailor, fisherman, and hunter, starved to death waiting for friends who deserted him.

He died on June 19, 1890, and his skeleton in his bunk and his diary beside it were found by two hunters who were driving on the island during a storm.

Several vessels passed by his island prison, the pathetic record reads, but none saw Anderson's flag of distress. Once a vessel was becalmed close to the shore, and he tried to reach it, but he had not the strength left to launch his little boat. His legs failed him, and he could only pull himself along by his elbows.

He deliberated on shooting his dog—Dempsey, but he could not gather the courage. "He brought seals to me through the breakers," he wrote, "and I fed him as long as I could." Eventually the dog disappeared. The diary records the terrible sufferings of Anderson from thirst and his expeditions after fresh water. The last entry says.

"June 19—Now, I must go for water again. I am more afraid this time than before. But with God's help I may come back again. I would not like to die outside. But God's will be done."

He had his wish, for he returned and died in his bunk.

BETTING ON M'KINLEY.

Republican Money Forced to Give Larger Odds to Obtain Wagers

New York, Oct. 31.—There was a renewal of betting activity in Wall street, to-day. The prevailing odds for small bets were 4 to 1. W. C. Moore offered to bet $1,000 to $5,000 that Bryan will be elected. One bet of $1,200 to $400 was made on New York State.

Cleveland, O., Oct. 29.—(Special)—Betting offers at odds that Cuyahoga will go Republican were posted for the first time during the campaign to-day. The odds offered are as follows—100 to 80, 200 to 160, 50 to 40. Even 100 was offered that McKinley carries New York, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, and Michigan.

Baltimore, Md., Oct. 29.—(Special)—George Leimbach of this city bet $50 even a few days ago that Illinois will give McKinley 50,000 plurality. Becoming uneasy afterward, Mr. Leimbach wrote to a business friend in Illinois asking his advice. He received a reply to-day stating that his bet was perfectly safe; that the writer had himself bet $75 to $50 on $75,000 plurality; that even bets were being made on 100,000 plurality, and that the writer himself looked for over 100,000 plurality.

NOMINATION AT NORWOOD

Considerable Trouble over the Making of Speeches

There was a big crowd at the nominations at Norwood yesterday, leaders of both political parties being out in force. Mr. B. Morrow, Returning Officer, presided, but considerable wrangling took place over the order in which the speeches were to be made.

There were present, besides the two candidates, Hon. J. R. Stratton, Thos. Blezard, M.P.P., T. J. Drain, Reeve of Norwood; G. J. Sherry, John Finlay, Conservative Organizer Leavitt; J. B. Pearce and others.

Mr. Lang was the first speaker, and delivered a splendid address. He was followed by Mr. Saxsmith, who was accorded a good hearing. Other speakers followed until train time, when the meeting broke up with the usual cheers.

PUT A LEGAL CHECK ON COUNT BONI

French Courts Appoint George Gould Trustee of his Sister's Fortune

Paris, Oct. 31.—The civil tribunal has appointed Mr. George J. Gould trustee for the Countess of Castellane, his sister.

According to the pleadings in the case, her husband, Count Boni of Castellane, spent 23,000,000 francs in four years, whereas his income from his wife's fortune is only 3,000,000 francs.

Paris, Oct. 31.—The action in the case was the result of a suit brought by Mr. Gould against his sister. The court granted his request and appointed him trustee. The proceedings were conducted in secret session, only the bare decision being announced.

OFF FOR THE HUNT.

Hunters Leaving for the Woods in Large Numbers.

Notwithstanding the elections, many hunters are leaving for the woods. The second detachment of the Gold Lake Hunting Club left yesterday, to join their fellows up north. They are Dr. Pentland, Tom. Rutherford, A. Blade, W. Hartshorn, and Charlie Gladman. They will remain until after the 15th.

The first contingent of the Morrow-Winch party left yesterday for Ketchecum lake. They are Messrs. H. C. Winch, R. G. Kingan, D. W. Dumble, R. Neill, S. Ritchie and J. D. Collins. The rest of the party will join them after the 7th.

The Wills-Head hunting party, consisting of ten members, left yesterday morning for three weeks' hunt at Eagle Lake.

The following hunting party leaves to-day for Gull Lake to play havoc among the deer—Messrs. T. C. Westlake, G. Fitzgerald, C. Gunsolus, H. Evans, R. Sheehy, C. James, J. Cottingham and others.

Troops in China Preparing for Winter

Taku, Nov. 1.—The northern portion of the Gulf of Chi Li is freezing over and the troops of the allies are now dependant for their menus upon the stores their commissary departments had the forethought to lay in stock. As the American army is pretty well on its way to Manila its need here is not so great as that of the troops sent here by the other foreign nations. The soldiers' fare here has been greatly mitigated by the great variety of luxuries the commissaries have brought along for sale to officers and men.

THE NOMINATIONS

They took Place Yesterday Without Ceremony or Noise

Nominations of candidates to contest the riding of West Peterborough took place at the Court House yesterday. It had been decided beforehand that there would be no speeches made and in consequence the proceedings took the form of merely filing the necessary papers with Sheriff Hall. There were only two nominations—Mr. James Kendry, woollen manufacturer, and Mr. J. H. McClellan, coal merchant.

Mr. Kendry's nominators were Joseph Forster, R. E. Layfield, T. F. Matthews, Robert Fair, Charles Dunn, W. S. Robinson, Chris Clemence, J. A. Hawkins, W. A. Smith, F. C. Miller, A. P. Poussette, Joseph Jones, Martin Doran, John Moloney, Richard Sheehy, Alex. Scott, Thomas Milburn, John Harper, E. Preston, H. C. Garbutt, John Carnegie, Joseph Barnard, W. Fair, S. Thompson, A. King, J. Lynch, G. W. Fitzgerald, H. LeBrun, R. Revington, G. L. McBurney, W. Langford, H. T. Evans, J. W. Miller, C. N. Brown, J. D. Craig, Jos. H. Metheral, J. Stevenson, J. Gosselin, W. H. Bradburn, T. E. Bradburn, W. H. Moore.

Mr. McClellan was nominated by Thomas M. Hunter, George E. Elliott, W. A. Graham, W. J. Simpson, James Middleton, David Tully, W. J. Tully, Wm. Rutherford, Wm. Graham, Wm. Crough, Adam Hall, A. J. Gough, W. G. Ferguson, Peter Hamilton, R. S. Davidson, Wm. Davidson, S. D. Hall, A. H. Stratton, M. O'Brien, W. H. G. Armstrong, W. G. Morrow, Wm. Yelland, S. W. English, Macfarlane Wilson, C. B. Routley, M. H. Quinlan, W. J. Killen, Wm. Hamilton, jr., A. McFarlane, D. O'Connell, Chas. Stanley, Peter Connal.

THREE SUICIDES.

Father, Brooding Over the Self Destruction of Daughters, Dies.

La Salle, Ill., Oct. 31—Dundas Simpson of Oglesby, Ill., across the river from La Salle, committed suicide on acount of brooding over the death of his two daughters, who recently took their own lives. It is also reported by neighbors that Mrs. Simpson attempted suicide a few weeks ago. Simpson was employed by the Oglesby Coal Company and belonged to the La Salle Knights of Pythias.

STEAMER IDAHO STILL OUT AT SEA

Halifax Celebration Has Been Declared off For Another Day.

Halifax, N. S., Oct. 31.—Still no sign of the Idaho, though hundreds of people stand all day long on the Citadel looking for her, and the signalmen at Camperdown, ten miles below the city, at the entrance to the harbor, are vigilant. The weather is clear and bright, a great change from yesterday, and the crowds of visitors are having a pretty good time of it. There is lots for them to do. The decorations and arches are a constant source of admiration, and groups of returned khaki heroes gathered from various parts of the provinces, who from time to time have been invalided home, add to the interest of the scene. Two steamers from the east were signalled this forenoon and anticipation was high, but in both cases they were merely passing craft bound to other ports. At noon the celebration was declared off for to-day, no matter whether the Idaho arrives or not. These postponements will be the rule daily; unless the steamer comes early in the forenoon there will be no landing of the troops till the following morning.

Literary Note

Just at this time of the year the readers of magazines are considering what periodicals shall be ordered for 1901, and most magazines are publishing their next year's programme. At the head of every list, patriotic citizens should place The Canadian Magazine. It is the only high-class publication in this country to which our literary men and publicists may contribute. It is distinctly national in the sense that it circulates in every part of Canada and deals with such topics as interest every citizen, no matter whether he lives by the Gulf of St. Lawrence or among the mountains of British Columbia. The Canadian Magazine has a considerable circulation in Great Britain and the United States and also in the following countries—India, Japan, Phillipines, Australia, New Zealand, Zanzibar, British North Borneo, Jamiaca, Barbadoes, British Guiana, Brazil, Chili, Mexico, Hawaii, Russia, Germany and Hungary. A magazine which is received with such favor abroad should be well supported at home so that it may be enabled to do its work well. The November number, just to hand, contains some valuable articles, including 'A Visit to a Round-up," illustrated by John Innes, and "The Story of Eight General Elections" by Arthur H. U. Colquoun.

U. S. IN FULL SYMPATHY

Reply of the McKinley Government to Anglo-German Agreement.

Berlin, Oct. 31.—The formal reply of Japan; unreservedly acceding to the terms of the Anglo German agreement has been received at the German foreign officers. Emperor Williams' long conversation yesterday with the British ambassador deals with a number of interesting topics. His majesty expresseed satisfaction at the favorable reception given the Anglo German agreement given by all the powers, which he called, a "good sign of the speedy solution of the Chinese trouble."

Washington, Oct. 31.—The State Department to-day made public the British-German agreement respecting the maintenance of the "open door" and territorial integrity of China, with the answer of the United States Government, sent in duplicate to each of the principals to the agreement.

Mr. Hay to Lord Pauncefote—

Department of State, Washington, Oct. 29, 1900.

Excellency—I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your note of the 23rd of October, enclosing the text of an agreement between Great Britain and Germany relation to affairs in China, which was signed in London on the 16th instant by the Marquis of Salisbury and the German ambassador, on behalf of their respective Governments, and inviting the acceptance by the United States of principles recorded in that agreement.

The principles are—

1. It is a matter of joint and permanent international interest that the ports on the rivers and Littoral of China should remain free and open to trade and to every other legitimate form of economic activity for the nationals of all countries without distinction, and the two Governments agree on their part to uphold the same for all Chinese territory so far as they can exercise influence.

2. Her Britannic Majesty's Government and the Imperial German Government will not, on their part, make use of the present complication to obtain for themselves any territorial advantages in Chinese dominions, and will direct their policy toward maintaining undiminished the territorial condition of the Chinese Empire.

The United States has heretofore made known their adoption of both these principles. During the last year this Government invited the powers interested in China to join in an expression of views and purposes in the direction of impartial trade with that country, and received satisfactory assurances to that effect from all of them. When the recent troubles were at their height this Government, on the 3rd of July, once more made an announcement of its policy regarding impartial trade and the integrity of the Chinese Empire, and had the gratification of hearing that all the powers held similar views. And since that time the most gratifying harmony has existed among all the nations concerned as to the ends to be pursued, and there has been little divergence of opinion as to the details of the course to be followed. It is, therefore, with much satisfaction that the President directs me to inform you of the full sympathy of this Government with these objects.

The third clause of the agreement provides—

3. In case of another power making use of the complications in China in order to obtain under any form whatever such territorial advantages, the two contracting parties reserve to themselves to come to a preliminary understanding as to the eventual steps to be taken for the protection of their own interests in China.

As this clause refers to a reciprocal arrangement between the two high contracting powers the Government of the United States does not regard itself as called upon to express an opinion in respect to it.

I have, etc.,
JOHN HAY.

(A similar note, Matatis Mutandis, was addressed on the same day by the Secretary of State to the Imperial German Charge d'Affaires.)

KAISER AND VON BUELOW.

Berlin, Oct. 30.—On absolutely reliable authority it is ascertained that Emperor William and Count Von Buelow alone negotiated the agreement to the entire exclusion of Prince Hohenlohe, whose policy had as its pivotal point closer relations with Russia and France. It was mainly for this reason that Prince Hohenlohe tendered his resignation. It also appears that in addition to a number of reason of earlier date, Emperor William considered Russia's behavior in connection with the appointment of Count Von Waldersee and the withdrawal of the troops from Pekin to be distinctly unfriendly actions.

CHINESE TREASURER DEAD.

Washington, Oct. 30.—The Japanese legation received a despatch to-day reporting the death of Wung Wen Shao, Imperial Treasurer of China, in addition to those high officials whose deaths already have been announced. Wung Wen Shao was one of the most loyal adherents of the Imperial family, and when they took flight from Pekin he insisted on following, despite his advanced age. His death came from natural causes, probably from old age and the fatigues of the flight.

RUSSIA'S REPLY.

London, Oct. 30.—Russia's reply to the Anglo-German agreement was received at the Foreign Office this evening. It is generally as heretofore outlined. The officials of the British Foreign Office do not regard the Russian note as adequate treatment of the points raised in the Anglo-German agreement note. They say the Russian reply "lacks the definitiveness so desired by Lord Salisbury."

TO EVACUATE NIUCHWANG.

Shanghai, Oct. 30.—It is reported here that the Russians will evacuate Niuchwang next Thursday.

THE POLITICAL POT

In a week's time something will drop.

•• • ••

Even betting a hat on the election result is a way of talking through it.

•• • ••

Col. Sam Hughes says he will capture the kopjes of North Victoria as easily as rolling off a log.

•• • ••

A subscriber asks the Times if there is a number on the ballots for Dominion elections. There is no number, and the ballot is perfectly secret.

•• • ••

Four years in opposition has developed in the Conservative party a hunger and thirst which eliminates all minor points of difference.

•• • ••

The people must decide. When the speeches are all over and the froth is off the cup, the issue is in their hands. They are the sovereign power and if the facts of history go for anything, in the long run they are in the right. No one can drive or coerce them. The ballot is secret. They are their own masters at the polls and the verdict can be left in their hands without a fear and without a regret.

•• • ••

That "bogus Globe" of which so much complaint is made by Liberal journals is probably the cleverest campaign sheet ever issued in Canada. It is a six page paper in newspaper form, made up to imitate the Globe, and full of very lively and piquant campaign matter, even the advertisements being made to do duty. But to charge that the intention is to palm it off upon unsuspecting people as a genuine Globe is nonsense. Any body who can read cannot possibly be deceived by it.

•• • ••

In answer to a question as to what lists would be used in the province of Ontario, Mr. Alexander Smith, secretary to the Liberal party, said whatever lists were certified on or before September 1, 1900, will be used, this means that in almost all the municipalities in Ontario the 1899 lists will be used. Some 1900 lists were certified to on or before September 1, and in these municipalities such lists will be used. The lists to be used here will be those of 1900.

•• • ••

Mr. Cook must produce the evidence which will justify his extraordinary statement that Sir Wilfrid Laurier, through an agent, demanded ten thousand dollars as the price of a senatorial seat. The Premier has indignantly denied that he either demanded or caused to be demanded, any sum whatever in the connection, or that any of his colleagues had the remotest relation to the matter in any shape or form. Mr. Cook says that at the proper time he can produce proof. The onus is upon him to do so. He should not delay a moment. It is incredible that Mr. Cook should have furthered any statement without some foundation for it. Until he does so, the denial of the Premier must be accepted without reserve. Mr. Cook says he will have something to say about this matter later on. This is altogether unsatisfactory. If Mr. Cook desires to be taken seriously, he should not lose a moment in producing the evidence to support his charge. Certainly it would be dishonorable in the extreme to spring the charge during the heat of an election, and permit it to work its malicious effect without attempting to substantiate it. It need not be doubted that there are men in the Senate to-day who have paid for their seats, either directly or indirectly. This charge was frequently made during the Conservative regime. If the Liberals have been carrying on the same game the country should know it.

WEATHER NOTES.

Probs—To-day—Strong southeast and south winds, continued mild with occasional rain.

Rain has been pretty general in Ontario, and from present indications unsettled weather is likely to continue in this Province and to the westward.

Lansdowne is Promoted and Great Britain Is Astounded

His Elevation to the Foreign Office Takes England's Breath Away and only the Assurance that Lord Salisbnry will Influence Him Prevents Serious Alarm.

"We understand that, after mature consideration, Lord Salisbury has decided to resign the Foreign Secretaryship, which will be transferred to the Marquis of Lansdowne. Although the health of the Prime Minister gives no cause for anxiety, we believe that he is largely influenced by the counsels of his medical advisers."

Referring editorially to the appointment of the Marquis of Lansdowne to the Foreign Office, the Daily Telegraph approves of it, "especially in view of the fact that Lord Salisbury's influence will still preside over the foreign policy of Great Britain."

The Times confirms the statement of the Daily Telegraph that Lord Salisbury will give up the Foreign Office portfolio, but it does not name his successor.

The Marquis of Lansdowne's elevation to the Foreign Secretaryship has taken the country's breath away. It was as unexpected as it was unwelcome. Even the staunchest Ministerial mouthpieces among the afternoon newspapers openly condemn it.

The Globe declares the appointment only shows Lord Salisbury is completely out of touch with the feelings and wishes of the electorate and the Conservative party, while the Liberal Westminister Gazette, crowing over the discomfiture of the Ministerial newspapers, which have been so loudly demanding the retirement of Lord Lansdowne from the War Office, expressing relief at the fact that Mr. Joseph Chamberlain was not given the post, saying—

"The latter's appointment would have filled thoughtful people with dismay, and it is something to have escaped this serious danger."

Lord Salisbury apparently arranged matters with the Queen at Balmoral a week ago. His Lordship's own inclination was to resign the Premiership and devote himself exclusively to the Foreign Office. He wrote Her Majesty to this effect, but she declined to accept the suggestion. Lord Salisbury then went to Balmoral to discuss the question, with the result that the Queen carried her point.

Public anxiety is to some extent relieved by the conviction that Lord Salisbury's experience will be still available to direct the broad lines of policy of the prospective Foreign Minister.

PETERBOROUGH, NOVEMBER 1 1900.

THE GREAT JURY.

As usual the organs of each party express great confidence in the result of the elections being favorable to friends. That the voting will differ very considerably from the last election is, however, the only certainty. Whether the change will be fatal to the Laurier Government, or give it a new lease of power, we shall know when the verdict of the country has been declared. Ontario will give a less divided vote than in 1896, as the discord which then disturbed the Conservative has been resolved into perfect harmony. At the same time there is running through the Ontario constituencies a strong current against the Government because of its having enormously increased the public expenditure. The old Liberal cry, "Retrenchment and economy," is most popular with farmers, as it is also with those in the towns whose political principles are democratic. Whether the prevalence of prosperity will render voters indifferent to the enlarged outlays of the Government can only be guessed. But it seems to us an insult to the intelligence of the electors who demanded "Retrenchment and Economy" to be the policy of the Government, to regard them as indifferent to the increase in the public expenditure because their private affairs are prosperous. If the Government is sustained the economy and retrenchment cry should be formally relegated to the realm where dwell the shades of dead issues.

The Government is in a highly peculiar position in regard to their Free Trade declarations prior to assuming office. It is the rankest buncombe to claim that the present tariff is to any extent, or in any feature consistent with Free Trade. Even the concession to British exporters of a preferential reduction in duties is in no sense in accordance with Free Trade principles. It is indeed a distinct violation of them as a tariff which favors one class of imports only emphasizes the more that the general nature of the duties is protective. When the manager of a theatre grants a free pass to a friend he makes the favoured person realize that the doors of the theatre are barred to the public who have not bought admission tickets. The policy of a Government is not judged by any exceptions it makes in favour of some privileged person, but by its general tenour and intention. The Canadian tariff, as re-arranged by the present Government, is quite as anti-Free Trade as the first one which was adopted to give effect to the "National Policy" in 1879. The "exception" it makes in favour of British imports only "proves the rule," according to the old saying. The Government will stand more firmly in the confidence of the country, if it is returned to power, if it abandoned its profession of being influenced by Free Trade principles while continuing a tariff which is essentially protective. The people will forgive any Government which frankly admits that it has discovered its one-time ideas to have been erroneous, or impracticable, or inexpedient. But it cannot respect those who proclaim their adherence to Free Trade principles, while maintaining a fiscal policy which is utterly irreconcilable with such professions.

The indiscreet speeches of Mr. Tarte [illegible] in Ontario and the west. [illegible] man, were to be frequently proclaiming his nationality were now and again found to be hinting plainly that the day was coming when those of his race would be in the ascendant, as Mr. Tarte has been doing, he would excite the ridicule or animosity of all sensible Canadians. It is high time the race and nationality cries ceased in Canada. Whoever indulges in them is an enemy to this Dominion. Our progress, our developement, our strength as a nation are obstructed and antagonized by sectional prejudices and divisions. Whoever is not satisfied, whoever is not proud to be a Canadian first, last and all the time, should migrate to the land he prefers above that which finds him a home and a living. If the Government is defeated they will have to thank Mr. Tarte for alienating many Liberals who are indignant at his everlasting swagger over the glories and the coming power of those of his race and nationality.

The Conservative policy of British reciprocity is attractive; but it is rather a question for the electors in England than Canada. It is for the British people and only for them, to decide whether a duty be placed on all, or any foreign food products imported into England, save those from Canada, and other colonies. We find the manufacturers of Ontario are hoping that the preference given to British imports will be abolished, or much reduced, as it is declared to be injurious to native enterprises.

The main issue is the financial management of the Laurier Government, more especially the very large increase it has made in the public expenditure for the ordinary public services. This is its chief danger, as the plea that, more has been spent because more was received from taxation will not "go" with a large body of the Government's own party. Another source of danger to the Government is their promises before the election, as the violation of most of them cannot, honestly, be denied. But politicians out of office and in office are under such different influences and conditions that perfect consistency is almost impossible. The counsel on both sides have said their say; the summing up is now proceeding; the jury is about to consider the verdict; which we trust will not be interfered with by any infamous machinists, but be the free, intelligent, patriotic judgment of the people of Canada, a people who enjoy the widest liberty known to civilized man, a people who, proud of their self-governing powers, are also proud of having proven their worthiness to be an integral part of the British Empire by sacrificing blood and treasure in its defence.

THE STORY DENIED

The Auburn Employes Speak for Themselves.

Editor Morning Times,

Sir,—The report having been circulated in parts of the riding that the employees of the Auburn Woolen Company intended voting against Mr. Kendry in the present election, we, the undersigned employees of the mill and voters of the town, desire to deny such report, and in order to do so, we hereby subscribe our names, thereby giving the report an emphatic denial.

We would also state that Mr. Kendry has not in this election, and never has in any election, asked us to vote for him, or questioned us as to how we proposed to vote when he was a candidate, leaving us free to do as we saw fit. But when such a false and unfair report is in circulation to do him injury, we desire to show where we are, and we are with him to a man, having the fullest confidence in him as an employer and as a representative.

Every Movement Hurts

When you have rheumatism. Muscles feel stiff and sore and joints are painful. It does not pay to suffer long from this disease when it may be cured so promptly and perfectly by Hood's Sarsaparilla. This medicine goes right to the spot, neutralizes the acidity of the blood, which causes rheumatism, and puts an end to the pain and stiffness.

Biliousness is cured by Hood's Pills. 25c.

A Narrow Escape

When returning from Ennismore on Monday night a carriage containing Mr. J. H. Burnham, Mr. W. H. Moore and Mr. Jas. Stevenson was thrown from the embankment of the bridge on the Smith side of the lake. The drop was about eight feet, but luckily, the traces broke and the horses were not dragged down upon the occupants of the carriage. Fortunately all escaped with little or no injury.

For a living. He has to. He must "make hay while the sun shines," no matter how he feels. The result is overwork. The stomach usually gives the first sign of strain. The organs of digestion and nutrition are deranged. Food does not nourish. Indigestion appears. In such a case Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery re-establishes the health by a complete cure of the diseased organs of digestion and nutrition. It cleanses the stomach, purifies the blood and removes the causes of disease. It is a temperance medicine, and contains no whisky nor alcohol.

"I was troubled with indigestion for about two years," writes Wm. Bowker, Esq., of Juliaetta, Latah Co., Idaho. "I tried different doctors and remedies but to no avail, until I wrote to Dr. Pierce and he told me what to do. I suffered with a pain in my stomach and left side and thought it would kill me. I am glad to write and let you know that I am all right. I can do my work now without pain and I don't have that tired feeling that I used to have. Five bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and two vials of his 'Pleasant Pellets' cured me."

Address to the Electors

To the Free and Independent Electors of West Peterborough—

Gentlemen. —Having accepted the unanimous nomination of the Liberals of this Riding, as a candidate for its representation in the House of Commons I hereby respectfully solicit your support in securing my return at the coming general elections.

The grounds upon which I base my appeal are not so much nor chiefly by any means, my personal fitness for the position of your representation though as a citizen of Peterborough and interested in its progress in common with that of the country, I can and do promise, if elected, an intelligent support of such a public policy and such measures as will best conduce to the promotion of all the interests of Canada, the developement of her great resources and the general betterment of the civil moral and material condition of the public; and my best abilities and most assiduous attention shall be devoted to the faithful discharge of my representative duties.

The strongest ground, however, of my appeal consists in the fact that I am a firm supporter of the Liberal Government led by Sir Wilfred Laurier, which is entitled to the renewed confidence of the people, both on the ground of its policy and the splendid record established by the application of that policy. The Liberal party appealed to the country in 1896 upon a clearly defined policy and the promised results followed.

The Liberal party promised a reduction of a high tariff that hampered our industrial and agricultural interests and was hostile to the Mother Country.

The tariff was materially reduced and otherwise improved and in such a way as to help instead of hinder the manufacturer and farmer, with the consequence that never before in the history of the country have our industries or our farmers enjoyed such great prosperity, our mechanics and working men such constant employment and high wages, nor our commercial and all other interests so flourished.

Our domestic and foreign trade have also greatly increased. The loyal gift of a trade preference, represented by a tariff reduction on British goods of 33 1-3 per cent., and our despatch of the Canadian Contingent, have resulted in a kindlier feeling towards Canada and greatly increased trade with the Mother Country.

With a largely reduced rate of tariff, our revenue has greatly expanded so that the Government was warranted in practising true economy (reducing our postal rate one third, giving Imperial penny postage,) and permitting of the completion of great public works, deepening our canals, so long trifled with, pushing the work on the Trent Valley Canal which is now urged and will be urged to completion by the Liberal Government, and the application of a vigorous policy of general development and improvement of our transportation facilities, resulting and to result in easier access to the British market and better prices for all our products.

The farming interests of the country are deserving of the best services of a Government, such as the present has given. The immense impetus given the produce trade between Canada and Great Britain, through the preferential tariff, has been greatly helped by the action of the Government in providing an excellent and adequate system of cold storage, by which Canadian products can be landed in Great Britain in first-class condition, guaranteeing the highest prices. The system is of the most modern character, sufficient for all the present needs of the trade, and it will be improved and enlarged as experience suggests, and increase of the produce trade demands, and I shall, if elected, feel it my duty to support any policy that will improve our trade with the Mother Country, and strengthens the bond of British connection, of which we are so proud.

In an industrial centre like Peterborough the claims of the working classes are especially deserving of consideration. No country is well governed that does not look after the interests of all classes of the community. The Conservative Government has been, and the Conservative party declares itself to be, extremely solicitous of the interests of the capitalist classes—the manufacturers—but it left the working classes to largely shift for themselves. A Liberal Government came into power, and the attitude towards Labour was changed, and the rights of Labour to its rights recognised, and in a practical way. A Department of Labour has been established and a Minister of Labour placed over it. A Labour Gazette has been established in the interests of workingmen, published monthly; conditions have been inserted in all Government contracts compelling contractors to pay the highest current wages, which the Government guarantees the payment of; the sweating system has been abolished on Government enforced by a special officer, and in many other ways the Government has shown by deeds that the rights of the workingmen, as well as the capitalist, shall be protected. I heartily support the Government in what it has done, and shall support them in extending the benefits which they have already conferred, and which it is their policy to continue, as need arises.

The splendid achievements of Canadian soldiers in South Africa, make them worthy of the gratitude of the country. We have the best militia material in the world, and if we keep up a military establishment, let it be worthy of Canadians. Situated as Peterborough is, on the line of the Grand Trunk and Canadian Pacific Railways, and on the line of the Trent Valley Canal, begun as a military work, and now under course of completion, no other point in this Province is so well adapted for a military centre. I shall, therefore, feel it my duty to press upon the Government the advisability of constructing in Peterborough new armories and connected buildings for military stores for Ontario, and I feel that this is practicable of attainment at the hands of a Government which has shown its interest in our volunteers by placing the Militia Department, so greatly neglected by a previous administration, upon an effective basis, and will, therefore, more naturally be well disposed towards the improvement involved in making Peterborough a centre for military stores.

A town of the industrial and commercial importance of Peterborough, has certainly strong claims upon the good offices and of a Government. For the past four years the town has been represented, when it was represented in the House, by a member opposed to the Government. There is no doubt in the minds of unprejudiced observers, that the present Liberal Government will be strongly sustained in the country at the coming elections, and the question arises whether West Peterborough will have its interests better served by a member sitting in opposition and hostile to the Government and its policy, or by a member pledged to give the Government a fair support in the application of its policy. If elected I pledge myself to give my best ability and exertions to the promotion of the general good of the country, and to look especially after the interests of West Peterborough.

I cannot obviously here, enter into details of how, in other ways the Liberal Government has implemented its promises and applied its policy, but I shall have an opportunity during the campaign of more fully dealing with these and other public questions.

As a supporter of such a Government I can appeal with confidence for the support of the Electors of West Peterborough, knowing that by helping to give, as you will do, through my election, a renewal of the trust the Liberal Government has discharged with such evident and gratifying results, they will be conferring a great and lasting good upon this riding, the country at large, and securing a continuation of the great blessings of prosperity and good government we now enjoy.

Again soliciting your support, your votes, and influence in this contest,

I have the honor to be,
gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,
J. H. McCLELLAN

WE CURE STRICTURE

Thousands of young and middle-aged men are troubled with this disease—many unconsciously. They may have a smarting sensation, small, twisting stream, sharp cutting pains at times, slight discharge, difficulty in commencing, weak organs, emissions, and all the symptoms of nervous debility—they have STRICTURE. Don't let doctors experiment on you, by cutting, stretching, or tearing you. This will not cure you, as it will return. Our NEW METHOD TREATMENT absorbs the stricture tissue; hence removes the stricture permanently. It can never return. No pain, no suffering, no detention from business by our method. The sexual organs are strengthened. The nerves are invigorated, and the bliss of manhood returns.

WE CURE GLEET

Thousands of young and middle-aged men are having their sexual vigor and vitality continually sapped by this disease. They are frequently unconscious of the cause of these symptoms. General Weakness, Unnatural Discharges, Failing Manhood, Nervousness, Poor Memory, Irritability, at times Smarting Sensation, Sunken Eyes, with dark circles, Weak Back, General Depression, Lack of Ambition, Varicocele, Shrunken Parts, etc. GLEET and STRICTURE may be the cause. Don't consult family doctors, as they have no experience in these special diseases—don't allow Quacks to experiment on you. Consult Specialists, who have made a life study of Diseases of Men and Women. Our NEW METHOD TREATMENT will positively cure you. One thousand dollars for a case we accept for treatment and cannot cure. Terms moderate for a cure.

Love Won - and - Lost.

A NOVEL.

strange murmurs from the people without.

"Keep the ladies back," the gentlemen were saying; but the ladies would not be kept back; they would know all about the disturbance.

Loraine, heedless of shawl or wrap made her way out to the group hovering around some dark object lying upon the snow.

"You will catch your death of cold, Mrs. Ulvesford," they urged "see, you are shivering now."

As Loraine persisted in seeing what was the matter, the group silently made way for her.

There was something in the still beauty of the white, upturned face lying there that touched a deep chord in Loraine's heart as she knelt down in the snow beside her.

In after life people often spoke who witnessed that sight, of the strange contrast they made. Loraine in her robe of velvet, the flashing lights quivering on her flaming jewels and on her golden hair, and the slight, delicate figure lying there wrapped in the dark, snow-covered cloak, the sweet face, perfect as if carved in marble, on which the dark silken lashes lay, seemed the face of a child; there was a pitiful expression about the mouth, hard to see on one so young.

"Where is Dr. Stafford?" called Loraine.

"I am here," he responded, promptly; "I have forced some wine down the poor creature's throat; she will soon recover, Mrs. Ulvesford."

"Why is she not brought into the house?" asked Loraine.

"I have ordered a carriage to have her removed to the hospital," replied the doctor; "little good comes of harboring people of this kind in one's home."

There was something appealing in the still, white face that made the heart of Ulmont Ulvesford's wife warm unconsciously toward her.

It was a strange fate which led these two women together, these two who so passionately loved the same husband— the bitterest of rivals.

"The child must be brought into the house, for the present, at least," responded Loraine, resolutely.

The long cloak, which had hitherto quite concealed the silent figure lying there, was suddenly tossed back by the driving wind.

"Merciful heaven!" cried Loraine, as she gazed in startled awe upon the white, marble face; "she is no child; she is——"

"Hush!" commanded the doctor, who hastily replaced the cloak about the quiet form, and bore her tenderly within. "Shall she be sent to the hospital, Mrs. Ulvesford?" he asked, anxiously.

"No," answered Loraine, simply; "I could not have the heart to turn the poor creature from the sheltering walls of Ulvesford Mansion."

How little she knew who it was whom she harbored; she knew not that she, who had been borne into that home so helplessly, should by rights have reigned there, its mistress, the loved and honored wife of its master.

CHAPTER XXIII.

In The Gray Dawn.

The mirth and revelry, which had been momentarily suspended, flowed on again with redoubled zest, little heeding the strange occurrence which was taking place in another part of of the building.

The doctor had been quickly and secretly summoned.

"I am sorry for making a pleasure visit one of business," said Mrs. Lorrimer, apologetically; "but there may be occasion for your services before morning, doctor."

"I shall be only too pleased to render what assistance lies in my power."

"If anything out of the usual order transpires, you will please inform me at once," said Mrs. Lorrimer.

"Certainly."

It was a strange, unnatural sight; Doctor Stafford in full ball- room costume, sprays of white heather in the lapel of his coat, watching gravely the flickering shadows that crossed the most beautiful face upon which he had ever gazed.

He felt a strange thrill of interest in the friendless young outcast.

Once the dark eyes opened wide, and a sweet voice whispered:

"Alderic, darling, is that you?"

"You wished to be notified if anything unusual occurred;" there was a kindly smile on his care- worn face as he continued: "I am happy to inform you of the presence of a handsome male child."

"Oh, Dr. Stafford!"

"It is very true, madam," he replied, leading the way to the apartment he had lately quitted.

"See," whispered Mrs. Lorrimer, pointing to the white hand of the young mother as it lay beside the infant; "she wears a marriage- ring. Poor thing! where is her husband, I wonder?"

"That is not an easy question to answer, madam."

Suddenly the dark eyes opened wide fixing themselves upon the elegantly-attired lady and gentleman bending over her.

"Where am I?" asked Izetta, in a weak voice.

The doctor took up a little bundle which lay beside her; the wee, piping voice of a little babe fell upon her ear; those two standing at that bedside never forgot the glorious light that broke over the young mother's face when she heard the voice of her little babe.

Tears sprang to Mrs. Lorrimer's eyes, cold proud woman though she was, and the doctor, quite used to such sights, turned away his head.

"You are not to talk, my dear," commanded the doctor, placing the little bundle in her arms. "You are to lie still and keep very quiet."

As the sun rose on that well- remembered Christmas morning, and the chiming church bells kept time to the merry sleigh bells' jingle and the merry laugh of sportive children, a great sense of security and peace fell over Izetta as she closed her eyes in a dreamless sleep.

Loraine was almost incredulous when she heard the news.

Ulmont had been quite indignant when he heard of the affair.

Loraine, who was sitting beside him when the intelligence was

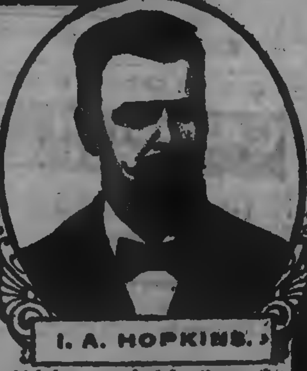
A WONDERFUL
KIDNEY and Bladder CURE

The Honorable Chairman of the Board of County Commissioners, Ellsworth, Kansas, tells how ALKAVIS cured him after Doctors and all other Remedies had Failed.



BRIGHT'S DISEASE, GRAVEL, DROPSY,
And Rheumatism Mastered at Last.

One of the most remarkable medical discoveries of the century is the Kava-Kava Shrub, found on the Ganges River, East India, which has a wonderful action on the kidneys and bladder. Since its introduction into this country its fame has quickly spread, because of its seemingly impossible cures. Prominent men and women have testified to its great curative powers, and hospital tests prove its infallibility even in advanced stages of Bright's Disease. Among the more recent recoveries is that of Hon. I. A. Hopkins, Chairman Board of County Commissioners, Ellsworth, Kansas, who says:—

GENTLEMEN:—I will say that I believe and know that I owe my life to Alkavis. I had been troubled with Kidney and Bladder Trouble for years. Two years ago I was sick for six weeks with Malarial Fever which left me in a bad condition. My limbs were swollen with Rheumatism so that I could hardly walk; I was troubled with Indigestion from taking Medicine for my Urinary troubles which had become very much worse. I had to get up every hour of the night to urinate. I passed great quantities of blood on account of hemorrhage of the Kidneys and Bladder. I tried and had been trying everything in the shape of Medicine for Kidney Trouble that I could think of or that the Doctors recommended, but nothing helped me for I kept getting worse. I suffered great pain continually in my Kidneys. I made up my mind unless I could get relief that I only had a short time to live. About this time my attention was called to an advertisement of Alkavis. As a drowning man will grasp at a straw, I was ready to try anything for relief. I sent to you for three bottles. I began to take it, and before I had taken it one week I began to feel the good effects of Alkavis. My Kidney Trouble and Rheumatism were soon gone, my digestion became all right, I found myself in better health than for ten years and I am in good health now. I know that Alkavis saved my life. What more can anyone say for a medicine? Unlike most medicines it is good for indigestion. It gives the person taking it a good appetite. I have recommended Alkavis to a great many people and all have been benefited by its use. I am 53 years of age, and am very grateful for what Alkavis has done for me.

Respectfully yours, I. A. HOPKINS.

Rev. W. B. Moore, D. D., Washington, D. C., Editor Religious World, writes that after trying all known medicines for kidney and rheumatic diseases he was permanently cured by Alkavis. Mrs. Wm. H. Hardy, East Rush, Pa., writes that Alkavis cured her after six doctors failed. Rev. J. W. Hickman, Collyer, Trego Co., Kansas, cured of liver, kidney and bladder trouble, of many years' standing, from which he could only get temporary relief and had given up all hope of a cure. Thus the grand work goes on. A new book, entitled "A Thousand Living Witnesses," sent with the free case of medicine, tells of the wonderful cures performed in every state.

Not only does this great discovery—Alkavis (the Kava-Kava Compound)—cure all forms of kidney and bladder diseases, but by expelling from the blood all poisonous deposits, excess of lime, uric acid, urates and lithiates, it banishes gravel, torpid liver, rheumatism, pains in back, difficult and too frequent urination, etc. The cure is complete. No phase is neglected, and the stomach, heart and nerves are toned and invigorated. No other medicine in the world will perform the work of Alkavis. To enable sufferers to get well and spread the glad tidings we have arranged to send a Large Case of Alkavis FREE by mail to all who write us. The case goes entirely FREE.

If you are a sufferer, write to-day and secure at once a Free Case of Alkavis and Book of "A Thousand Living Witnesses" Address The Church Kidney Cure Co., No. 508 Fourth Ave., New York. Please mention this paper.

THE COLORADO COPPER MINING COMPANY

LOCATION OF OUR MINES

THE COLORADO COPPER MINING COMPANY is fortunate in being the possessor of five splendid showing properties in the great Salida copper belt, the principal copper producing region of this portion of the rockies. All of our claims have been more or less developed and it is our purpose to put the same on a paying basis at once.

Our Company owns, clear of incumbrances the following claims,—The Sedalia Extension, the Sedalia Extension No. 2, which property adjoins the great Sedalia mine, which has been a big producer for upwards of seventeen years; the Copper King of Colorado, which immediately adjoins the above; the Copper Queen of Salida, a very promising property, only a few steps from the depot in Salida. This claim occupies an imposing position on a mountain just north of the city; and last, but by no means least, the Sunshine, located two miles east of Salida at Cleora station, on the main Trunk line of the great Denver and Rio Grande Railroad, also on the Arkansas river, which in length is one of America's greatest streams.

TOWN AND COUNTY NEWS

Dog Lost

A black dog, short hair, answers to name of "Rover," wearing nickle-plated collar, bearing owner's name. Finder will be suitably rewarded by leaving word at the City Hotel, Peterborough. A. D. TOWLE.

Hallowe'en Pranks

Last night was hallow'een, and the boys were out in force. In many cases gates were lifted off their hinges and carried away, and similar degredations committed. In most cases the missing articles will be recovered. A wagon adorned the top of the shed of a west-ender.

Fine Horses

Messrs. W. J. Pearson and son spent yesterday in town purchasing horses, and received 21 fine animals. They purchased three very fine carriage animals, from a resident of Port Hope, at a fancy figure. They are matched bays, and are very fine. The animals will be shipped to Montreal to-morrow evening.

Work of the Beaver

The Victoria Museum has received through Mr. S. McCabe, a portion of a whitewood tree, cut down by a beaver, showing the marks of the animal's teeth. This specimen was secured many years ago by the late Alex. Dennistoun, grand uncle of Mr. R. M. Dennistoun, town, who lumbered extensively in this district half a century ago.

Ready for Navigation

Water is now being put into the Canal between the Warsaw road and Nassau. On account of the large area to be filled, it is estimated that it will take a couple of days. There is a wide basin about half way between Nassau and the Warsaw road, that will form a small lake, and which will require a lot of water.

A Railway Wreck

A wreck occurred on the Grand Junction this side of Keene station Monday afternoon. A double-header in charge of Conductor McCrae parted in the middle, and the rear end collided with the front. One box car filled with corn was reduced to kindling wood and 800 bushels of corn was scattered along the track. Seven other cars were damaged, but the wreck did not delay traffic long. None of the train hands were injured.

The Late Mrs John Watson

The death occurred yesterday morning, at the family residence, No. 394 Aylmer street, of Bridget Callahan, wife of Mr. John H. Watson. Deceased, who was 36 years of age, had been suffering from an attack of typhoid fever, to which she finally succumbed. The late Mrs. Watson was a daughter of the late John Callahan, sr., and has lived in Peterborough all her life. She leaves to mourn her demise, besides her husband, a family of four—two boys and two girls. The funeral will take place at 2.30 o'clock this afternoon to St. Peter's cathedral, and thence to the Roman Catholic cemetery for interment.

POLITICAL MEETINGS

Mr. McClellan has arranged the following meetings.

Nov. 1st—Bensfort. Hon. J. R. Stratton will speak.

Nov. 2nd—Bridgenorth. Hon. J. R. Stratton will speak.

Nov. 3rd—Town Hall. North Monaghan. Hon. J. R. Stratton will speak

Nov. 5—At Brealey's school house, North Monaghan.

Nov. 6—At Baillieboro. Hon. J. R. Stratton will speak.

A meeting in Mr. Lang's interests will be held in Ashburnham Town Hall on Nov. 5th.

Nov. 6—At Ennismore [illegible] Hall.

FOOD SAVES.

Doctor Knew the Value of Grape-Nuts.

A breakfast food that a baby can handle is a pretty safe proposition for grown people with weak stomachs. Dr. Wm. Hall, 156 State St., Boston, has tried Grape-Nuts food in his own case, as a result of which he says—"I have been relieved from that distressing form of indigestion caused by the non-assimilation of starchy foods, and since making Grape-Nuts a part of my dietary scale, I have had no trouble, and find my power of concentration markedly increased.

"I have frequently prescribed Grape-Nuts food in my practice, with most excellent results. The notes of one case I enclose herewith. July 10th, '99, called to see M—— B—— two years and three months old; found the child ill-nourished, with waxen skin, enlarged joints, beaded ribs, enlargement of the abdomen, furred tongue, constant vomiting, and diarrhoea; in short, a typical case of rachitis. The child weighed fourteen pounds and was daily losing flesh.

"Inquiring into the dietary, I found oat meal, macaroni, rice, white bread, and milk had formed the chief articles of food, and lately all had been rejected. I at once stopped all other foods and placed her on a diet of Grape-Nuts, which was retained on the stomach from the first.

"On my next visit, July 17, I found the child bright and cheerful, vomiting all stopped, stools formed and natural in appearance, weight 14 3-4 pounds. From then, for the next three months, the child made a regular and even improvement, gaining from eight to ten ounces each week. She is now quite recovered. In my opinion, this girl has been saved from an early grave by the use of Grape-Nuts food."

MORE PESKY PEDLERS.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—The police can follow a man through the length and breadth of the town who has a dog that is not licensed, but dozens of pedlers, who neithr pay taxes nor license fees, do business with our merchants and citizens every day without being molested. Surely, sir, there should be some effort made to put a stop to this work.

MERCHANT.

THE APSLEY RAILWAY.

Editor Morning Times

Sir,—I was much pleased to notice that the Times had again taken up the question of a railway to the north. There should be action taken at once in regard to it, or it will be too late.

We should be careful to select a strong Mayor and Council next year, as the matter will have to be decided once for all. If the road is built from Norwood, as proposed, it will be a death blow to Peterborough.

I think action should be taken quickly. Senator Cox, who has large interests in Peterborough, will, I am told, take a hand, and will do everything in his power to have Peterborough made the starting point.

As suggested by the Times, I think action should be taken as soon as the elections are over.

VERITAS.

MAKING BEGGARS.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—The practice pursued by some organizations, and particularly by persons, of begging gifts from merchants for public events, is equally as pernicious and annoying as the ticket-peddling customs. Games and prize lists are on, and many a merchant was asked to give articles for competition in races and other events. Very many of those asked to do so did, but at the same time were indignant because they were practically held up. Some will ask why does the merchant buy tickets and hand out part of his stock in trade when asked to do so? The answer is a simple one. He does so, fearing a boycott. He well knows that it is dangerous to refuse, for, if he does, it means a loss in trade, and naturally a loss in revenue. It lowers the dignity of even the smallest child to send it out with a bunch of tickets to call from door to door in an effort to sell them. What, then, of the olde rpeople who call on the merchants with whom they deal and solicit a gift for some church or society as the purchase of tickets? Merchants have been compelled to buy and have then thrown away the tickets because they were absolutely of no use to them. If there was a strong merchant union, they might, as a body, decide to put a stop to the practice by refusing to further purchase. This same step was taken in Toronto. It would be but self-protection.

A VICTIM.

MAKE IT HUMOROUS

Editor Morning Times.

The humorous side of the campaign has not yet received development. Our life has hitherto been too strenuous to admit of the faculty of humor in any noticeable degree. Both parties are terribly in earnest.. We hear the fall of the oratorical sledge hammer; we see men striking right and left with all their might. We miss the badinage which puts the mass in good humor; we do not hear the wit which, in more polished political circles, gives a fillip to the campaign. A brilliant repartee would be a God send. A little persiflage would save the situation from lugubriousness. We have speeches by the column, but we do not note the rippling laughter which should puncuate them at regular intervals. And yet it is essential that there be laughter, for the farcical element can never be lacking in a political struggle, which is largely a game of make-believe. We have seen what has come of the professions of the party of purity made nearly five years ago. This will not prevent the same party from going before the electors with unabashed foreheads, making all the old promises over again, and expecting to be believed The electorate ought to be able to regard the affair as a diversion in which it is invited to participate. There is, indeed, the serious consideration that whichever of the two parties wins, unlimited power will be exerted for five years to the helping or the retardment of the country, but we had better laugh a little at the vehemence of the hustings. Let the cartoonists make us laugh. Let the speakers seize the humor of the moment. Let the pasquinade make a relish. One of the subtlest things in connection with a political campaign in England is the manner in which the electors heckle the candidates. The interrogator will be humorous, sarcastic, ironical, by turns. He will be historical, poetic, personal. He will with great art, endeavor to catch the candidate in a verbal trap. The entertainment is a regular feature of almost every election contest, and relieves the tension of public feeling. It is the antidote to the strenuousness which would become intolerable were it not lightened by farcical incidents.

AN ALIEN.

THE STREET FAIR.

Editor Morning Times,

Sir.—Politics have supplented everything else just for the moment, and it may be out of place to touch on other matters while the elections are on. Notwithstanding this, however, I venture to refer to the street fair matter, which was discussed in your columns some months ago. Mr. Macfarlane Wilson, the popular manager of China Hall, I understand, wrote strongly in favour of a street fair, but it seems to end there.

The Americans are acknowledged to be more enterprising than the average Canadian, because they will take more chances in investing their money. Canadians are regarded as more set in their opinions, and they generally "look before they leap." That is correct in more ways than one, and certainly is the safest way. It is seldom that one in Canada hears of failures that daily occur across the line because of too hasty action. But the American has solved a problem in the "street fair." It was a doubtful venture at first, but it became a success, and as it grew it did not by any means interfere with the "fall fair," at which pumpkins, squashes and draught horses, combined with the village band, are the drawing cards. The people of Ontario seemed to fight shy of this venture and there were none held in the Province till a few weeks ago, when the town of Brighton took the initative. Its street fair was a huge success, and brought money to all parties concerned. The proper time to hold one is in the middle of summer, and Peterborough, situated as it is, is an ideal spot. The tourists that flock to the lakes would be attracted in large numbers; other towns would send their quota, and the surrounding district would add hundreds to the mulititude. The merchants could make a street display and sell to those wishing to buy, and the number would be large. There is money in it for all parties and the wonder is that there has been so much lethargy in regard to this matter. Wake up and consider the profits, and next year let Peterborough have a "street fair."

I hope The Times will take the matter up in good time, and the thing will assuredly be a "go."

RELIGIOUS BIGOTRY.

An Earnest Protest Against It By Eminent Divines

Rev. Dr. B. D. Thomas.—It is very unfortunate that as election time approaches such charistics as a man's creed or race should be magnified and presented to the classes, who are likely to be prejudiced in as unfavorable a light as possible. Such action I consider utterly contemptible. There is absolutely not the slightest excuse for any such attack being made on a man of the moral breadth of character of Sir Wilfrid Laurier. The confidence I feel in him as a political leader and as a man has already been made public in the Toronto Star.

Rev. Dr. George M. Milligan.—No enlightened Protestant will mix up religion and politics. Regarding Sir Wilfrid Laurier, he is an honor to Canada and I hope and pray Canadians may appreciate him, not when it is too late.

Rev. Prof. Clarke.—I admire the personality of Sir Wilfrid Laurier very much. As to his being a Roman Catholic how could that be used against him! Sir John Thompson was a Roman Catholic on the opposite side of politics and he became Premier. These creed cries are not to be commended, for how can we live with each other unless we exercise mutual toleration?

Dr. G. R. Parkin.—A French Canadian Premier the other day made the noblest speech ever delivered by a colonial minister.—Speech at banquet in Toronto, March 16th, 1900.

Rev. Dr. Dewart.—In the case of Sir Wilfrid Laurier we have a fine example of a liberal-minded Roman Catholic statesman who rises above sectarian issues, and regards the interests of the whole Canadian people as the supreme consideration. Because of this he is trusted as fully by the Protestants of Ontario as by the French Canadian Catholics of the Province of Quebec. ad 4 dy

ATTACK of ROYAL CANADIANS at Paardeberg

The present is a time when war pictures are in greater demand than ever. The conduct of the British soldiers on the battlefield has won the plaudits of admiring nations. We have at great expense published four large, beautiful pictures, size 20x24, on heavy, superfine calendered paper. A picture that will commend itself and send a thrill to the heart of every true Canadian is the one called Attack of Royal Canadians at Paardeberg, there are literally hundreds of figures on this picture, the mountains or kopjes stretching out into the distance are swarming with men, while here and there a prostrate figure speaks only too well of the Boer rifleman. It was on this battlefield the gallant Major Arnold met death unflinchingly. Indeed, it is only too true that many of those gallant hearts that beat so high when the cheering thousands bade them Godspeed as they sailed from Canada's shores now lie still forever in lonely graves on the other side of the world under African skies. To every Canadian heart, to every Canadian home, the deeds of their brave soldier boys speak with an irresistible thrill of patriotism and pride. Gordon Highlanders at the Battle of Belmont, Charging the Boer Guns at Elandslaagte and the Charge of Gen. French's Cavalry on the Retreating Gen. Cronje's Army. These are all stirring pictures and cannot fail to commend themselves to anyone who will examine them. They are RED HOT SELLERS! Agents coin money. Big profits. Enormous success. One agent sold 68 in one day. Sample and terms 10 cts (none free); four for 30 cts; $1.35 per dozen; 25 for $2.25; 50 for $4.00; 100 for $11.00. Write to-day for a dozen and make money. BRITISH OUTPOST OF NINETY MEN CAPTURED

By the Boers at Geneva but Were Compelled to Release Prisoners on the Approach of an Armored Train.

PASSENGERS AND CARRIAGES WERE LOOTED

Cecil Rhodes will Welcome Boers to Rhodesia, if They Wish to Settle There—Big Consignment of Boer Gold Seized in Hamburg.

Cape Town, Nov. 1.—It transpired today that a Boer Commando captured a British outpost of ninety men in the vicinity of Geneva October 28, and afterwards held up a Cape Town mail train, looted the carriages and passengers, destroyed the mails, set fire to the train, and decamped on the approach of an armored train. Not wishing to be hampered, the Boers later released the prisoners they had captured.

BOER GOLD IS SEIZED.

Hamburg, Nov. 1.—The provincial court has laid an embargo upon bar gold of the value of 2,500,000 marks, which arrived at Cuxhaven yesterday on the Imperial mail steamer Bundesrath from Delagoa Bay. This step was taken, it is alleged, for the sole purpose of reimbursing insurance companies here for gold withheld by the Transvaal Government during the war.

The Hamburgische Boersenhalle, however, denies a rumor that this gold was shipped by Mr. Kruger.

RHODES WELCOMES BOERS.

London, Nov. 1.—"Mr. Cecil Rhodes," says the Pretoria correspondent of The Daily Mail, "will oppose the statement of Boers in Damaraland, but he will welcome them to Rhodesia and will grant favorable terms after the war to induce them to settle there."

FREE TELEGRAPH MESSAGES.

The C.P.R. Company's telegraph has extended to the members of the Canadian contingent returning from South Africa the courtesy of free transmission of messages to their friends announcing their safe arrival.

BOTHA HAS 6,000 MEN.

Pretoria, via De Aar, Cape Colony, Oct, 31, 6 a.m.—It is estimated that Generals Botha, Grobler and Erasums have 6,000 men and three guns, one of the latter being a 40-pounder.

A despatch from Pretoria says. Intelligence has reached here that Commandant-General Botha is marching, with a strong force, to invade Cape Colony, near Kenhardt, where, it is said, the irreconcilable Boers are ready to join him.

There are evidences that the Boers are running short of ammunition. The bandoliers of some burghers recently captured are only half filled with cartridges.

Sniping by the Boers continues at various points. The other day a railroad pioneer was shot within three miles of Johannesburg.

Col. Pilkington, of the West Australians, has been appointed to the command of the Cape Police, to succeed Colonel Masel.

There is to be a grand review of the troops here on Thursday, Nov. 1. The Guards' Brigade will return from Wonderboven to take part in the ceremonies.

Ottawa, Nov. 1.—A cable message from the High Commissioner's office received at the Militia Department yesterday afternoon announces that the following Canadians have sailed from Liverpool for home.

Sergt. Cawarine, G. G. F., Ottawa; Pte. Fisher, Pte. McLeod, 3rd Victoria Rifles, Montreal; Pte. Campbell, Fredericton; Pte, Neill, 5th Regiment, Victoria; Pte. Barclay, D. Y. Hussars, Montreal; Pte. Flaming, 3rd Dragoons, Cobourg; Pte. Roche Jacquelin, formerly of the State of Ohio, but enrolled in Toronto; Pte. Spreadbury, N. W. M. P.

HIS OPINION SOON CHANGED.

Montreal, Nov. 1.— Rev. Father O'Leary, chaplain of the first Canadian contingent, made the following statement to The Presse correspondent in London. "I sympathized with the Boers at first, but all this changed as soon as I saw their deception, the abuse they made of the white flag and the cruelty of Cronje."

POLICEMEN FIGHT BOERS.

Cape Town, Oct. 31.—A force of two hundred Boers attacked the Cape Police pickets at Palmietfontein yesterday afternoon. After two hours' fighting the Boers retired, but maintained a running fight for some distance along the north bank of the Orange River. One policeman was wounded. The Boer casualties are not known.

HUNTER ATTACKED BOERS.

CANADIAN RED CROSS SOCIETY.

At the last meeting of the Council in Canada of the Red Cross Society, held in the office of the president, Dr. Ryerson, Commissioner to South Africa, presented his financial statement, showing his receipts and expenditures; also a tabulated list of comforts and supplies furnished to over 30 hospitals, both field and general. The doctor also explained the difficulties that must necessarily attend the collecting and distribution of such an enormous quantity of stores as were furnished by the Red Cross Society, the expenditure alone of the British society being close £5,000 per week. Many explanations were forthcoming as to the distribution of the supplies, which had been shipped from all parts of Canada, and which the Commissioner had bestowed almost exclusively on our Canadian sick and wounded.

The hon. treasurer, Dr. J. George Hodgins, presented the audited balance sheet, which shows that the total receipts of the society have been over $37,000. Reports were received from Lieut.-Col. Biggar, the society's representative in South Africa, showing that work of the society is still actively going on.

ONTARIO IS CONSERVATIVE

The Province Has Always Given a Conservative Majority in the Past.

In Dominion general elections Ontario generally was strongly Conservative until Sir John Macdonald died, except in his last fight, 1891, when he received but a small majority. The record of Ontario in Dominion general elections since the Mackenzie regime has been as follows,—

Conservatives	59
Liberals	29
Conservative majority	30
1882.
Conservatives	54
Liberals	38
Conservative majority	16
1887
Conservatives	52
Liberals	38
Conservative majority	14
1891
Conservatives	48
Liberals	44
Conservative majority	4
1896.
Conservatives	43
Liberals	43
Patrons	4
Independents	2

In the 1896 list the four Patrons were Rogers, Tolmie, Petit and Graham, all of whom later drifted practically into the Liberal ranks. Had a Conservative Government continued, they would probably have become Conservatives. The Independents were D'Alton McCarthy and his ally, Stubbs, of Cardwell.

From the foregoing record, it will be seen that Ontario never in any general election after 1874 gave a Liberal majority, and generally went very much the other way.

TOD SLOAN RECEIVES A SERIOUS SET-BACK

New York, Nov. 1.—Tod Sloan's temper is seriously ruffled by the loss of his engagement with the Prince of Wales, says a London despatch to The World.

"Have you been notified that you will not be retained by the Prince of Wales?" the jockey was asked.

"No, but I guess it is true all the same," was Sloan's reply. "The feeling that has been stirred up against American jockeys here by some of the swells and the sporting papers is the worst I ever knew. The Prince could not stand against it, I suppose, and I say nothing against him."

"I don't intend to do anything of the kind. I have still as many others to ride from the best owners as I want. I ride fair, do my best every time, and am not beaten yet. You can tell them that in New York."

Marsh, the Prince of Wales' trainer, furnished information before it was communicated to Sloan, and the Prince, it is said, has rebuked him for it. Despite Sloan's confidence in himself, this cancelling of the Prince of Wales' engagment is considered the worst blow he has received, as other owners will surely follow suit.

THE PECULIAR DEATH OF MARY McWILLIAMS

Inquest Opened in Toronto Yesterday Condition of the Body Puzzles Physicians.

Toronto Telegram—"An inquest on the body of Mary McWilliams, was held under the direction of Coroner J. M. Cotton, at No. 3 Police Station, last night. Mary McWilliams, an Ashburnham girl, employed as a servant by Mrs. Lewis Howard of Ontario street. was found in an upstair room unconscious on Friday afternoon, and died early the following morning in Grace Hospital without regaining her senses.

Several witnesses were examined last night, the medical evidence given by Drs. Anderson, Campbell and Hastings, being the most important. The postmortem revealed evidences of hemorrhage all over the brain and spinal cord — something which these doctors had never found before. There were also evidences of diabetes and kidney trouble; which, taken altogether and aggravated by pregnancy, might cause convulsions and death. The hemorrhage would be consistent with the other conditions. The bleeding into the brain and cord might, according to Dr. Anderson, cause irritability, which induced the girl, when approached by Dr. Hastings, who first saw her, to murmur, "stop," and to appear terror-stricken. What evidences of poison were found were in all probability, due to the condition of the kidneys. The contents of the stomach has not been analysed.

William Parson, of 132 Munro street, who had kept company with the girl, denied positively being the cause of her condition, or of knowing of it.

Jennie Cann, a friend of the dead girl, living on Pembroke street, told the jury about one Tom Hodgins of Ravenshoe, who paid attentions to Mary McWilliams while the Howard family were summering at Roach's point.

A letter was produced, written by the dead girl, in which she told an aunt that she had a dude at Roach's Point, and was out driving with him every night. Mary McWilliams had previously had a child and given it to the Children's Aid Society.

Mr. Lewis Howard and Joseph Parker of 130 River street, the latter an uncle of the McWilliams girl also gave evidence bearing upon the finding of some kidney pills, Epsom salts and tartaric or oxalic acid in the dead girl's room. These things had been carried off by Mrs. Parker, before the police had a chance to investigate, and Coroner Cotton expressed the disapproval of such a proceeding. There was also found under the mattress of the girl's bed a whiskey flask, which had evidently contained catsup.

According to all the witnesses who saw Mary McWilliams immediately prior to her death, she was in fair health, and good spirits.

Mr. H. W. Maw appeared for the County Crown Attorney's Department.

The jury was not satisfied with the medical evidence, and want the stomach's contents analysed between this and the 10th."

Court of Revision.

The Court of Revision will meet this morning at 10.00 o'clock at the Town Clerk's office, "to further consider the local improvement assessments for sidewalks, and whether the cost of grading, removing old sidewalks, etc., should be charged to the property or to the town."

Birthday of the Emperor of Japan.

Tokio., Japan, November 3—This city is en fete to-day. The celebration of the forty-eighth birthday of the Emperor Mutsu, and the streets and houses are decorated, and the people are radient with happiness. Throughout the empire the holiday is observed universally.

Invited to Port Hope.

Rev. E. L. Lanceley, pastor of Sydenham street Methodist church, Kingston, has been invited to become pastor of the Methodist church at Port Hope, to succeed Rev. Dr. Young, whose term expires in June. Mr. Lanceley is a brother of the late Rev. J. E. Lanceley, Kingston, and is well known in Toronto. Before going to Kingston he was stationed at London.

Canada Will Act With Us

Washington, Nov. 2.—The Canadian Commissioners say that Canada, at the coming session of parliament, will pass a Chinese exclusion act which, in conjunction with the exclusion act now operative in the United States, will keep the Chinese out of North America, except as they enter Mexico.

Large Shipments of Grain.

Chicago, Nov. 2.—The movement of cereals is now at its height on the all-rail lines, with higher rates. The Lake competition is now almost out of the way. There are no protests, and very little grumbling over the alleged manipulations. The advance in rates is effective, and the railroads are making money.

Torpedo Boats at Boston.

Boston, Nov. 3—The twin torpedo boats Blakely and De Long, the first vessels of their kind, are nearing completion, and will be launched some time this month. They cost the Government $150,500 each, and are 175 feet over all and 18 feet beam. They will carry a commander, six petty officers and a crew of thirty-five, and will be armed with 3-pound rapid fire guns and three Whitehead torpedoes.

Socialist Colony Winding Up

Columbus, Ga., Nov. 2.—The drying up of Commonwealth Colony of Socialists is proceeding steadily, and the Muscogee Superior Court will soon wind up its affairs. In the petition filed by Leon de Brabant, one of its members it was stated that the liabilities of the colonies were $3,7000 or $3,800. The crop of 1899 was declared to have been almost a total failure, and that the membership had dwindled from fifty to three. The printing outfit was sold to Florida parties.

Paving Blocks for Toronto.

Campbellford Herald—Mr. D. VanVlack, of Toronto, spent nearly three weeks in Campbellford cutting up cedar posts into paving blocks for laying on the streets of that city. During this time he employed fourteen men, and cut 14,646 paving posts which he obtained from the Rathbun Co., the entire lot amounting to twenty-seven carloads, having been shipped at this station. Some time previous to coming here he was engaged on the Rathbun Co's property at Lindsay, where he cut 25,000 posts. He left here about ten days ago for Deseronto, to do more of the same kind of business.

THINKS BOERS REINFORCED.

Cape Town Greatly Alarmed at Renewed Activity.

London, Nov. 2.—The Cape Town correspondent of the Daily Mail comments upon "the astonishing outburst of Boer activity," and points to the possibility of the Boers having been reinforced. Complaints are being heard in Cape Town, he asserts, regarding the "premature disbanding and dispensing with the services of the various volunteer forces."

The report that Lord Salisbury has notified the United States Ambassador Mr. Joseph H. Choate, that the British authorities will release all the American prisoners in Ceylon, South Africa, and St. Helena, is incorrect. Mr. Choate has not been notified of their approaching release nor have any representations been made to that end by the United States Embassy here. All that has been done consists in an exchange of communications regarding the identity and destination of American civilians deported from the Transvaal and sent home at the expense of the British government.

Cape Town, Oct. 30.—General Brabant, who has been appointed to superintend the recruiting of the Cape irregular forces, appeals to the men to come forward, alleging that under present conditions anything like a general return of refugees is impossible.

Cradock, Cape Colony, Oct. 30.—The Dutch Church is the only building left standing in Bothaville, owing, it is erported, to the strong British measures. More Boer women have been deported from Jagersfontein. They are sent to Bloemfontein, where they are imprisoned with others a few miles outside of the city.

THE LUMBER TRADE.

The Conditions Affecting It Are Not Likely to Remain.

Albany, Nov. 2.—The lumber trade, which has been so buoyant during the past few years, is likely to undergo another period of stagnation. This is partly due to the large operations of the past season, and also to the fact that iron, steel and cement are being extensively used in buildings, thus practically driving pine timber out. A fall of from 30 to 50 per cent. in prices may reasonably be looked for in the near future.

Toronto, Nov. 2.—The reports regarding the outlook of the lumber trade is anything but satisfactory to the Canadian trade. That a prolonged period of stagnation is in store for the lumber manufacturers of Canada, there is every reason to believe. The present season's operations in the woods, and next summer's cut, which will probably be the largest on record, will still further embarrass the trade.

KRUGER TO VISIT AMERICA.

The Late President Intends to Continue to Agitate.

Paris, Nov. 2.—President Kruger will go to the United States and throw himself upon the generosity of the American people and ask intervention in behalf of the independence of the Transvaal."

This news came to-day direct from a high and authorized official source. The month of December, it is added, is set for the voyage to America.

Dr. Leyds Tells of Plans.

When this was learned a personal interview was obtained with Dr. Leyds.

"I have not the right to tell you yes or no on the subject of the voyage to America," said Dr. Leyds. "I must leave the reply to President Kruger himself. He will not make known his definite plans in regard to the United States until after the elections there, but President Kruger will certainly visit the foreign powers officially or unofficially and will personally to see the chiefs of the foreign governments to try and obtain substantial help.

England's Policy Unchanged.

"We consider the recent elections in England a personal defeat for Chamberlain, but the English policy will remain the same towards us. But, I do not think the government or the Queen dare officially to announce to the foreign powers that the Republic of South Africa is now a direct colony of the crown.

"It was President Kruger's personal desire to come to France. He will stop a day at Marseilles, a day at Lyons, and a few days in Paris.

Gelderland is Delayed.

"My cable advices are that the Gelderland was stopped by the English censor boat and cannot now arrive before the 13th or 14th, and the English coaling stations in the Red Sea have refused to allow the Gelderland to coal, and its pace has been slackened on account of a lack of fuel. The boat is also forbidden to sail in English waters."

Dr. Leyds is full of hope and enthusiasm and seemed assured of some powerful backing.

A Masonic Event.

Peterborough Lodge, A. F. & A. M., No. 155, will meet in regular monthly communication this evening at 7.30 sharp. This being Pastmasters' night, all the offices will be filled by Pastmasters of the Lodge, and a large attendance is requested. Arrangements are being made with Mr. R. M. Roy for a photograph of all the Pastmasters present.

Sultan Not Relenting.

Constantinople, Nov. 2.—The Sultan of Turkey continues to oppress the Armenians in the most heartless manner, according to a report of Bishop Mush to the Armenian Patriarch at Constantinople. He says everything in the way of crops, sheep, cattle, and furniture have been carried off by the Kurds and that many Armenians have died of starvation. The report concludes that the despair of all Armenians in these districts is such that they have come to wish that a general massacre might terminate their sufferings.

Lord Wolseley's Term Ends

London, Oct. 31.—Lord Wolseley's term as commander-in-chief of the British army expires to-day. He will retire from the command he has held so long as soon as Lord Roberts, or "Bobs," as the soldiers and the people love to call him, reaches London. The change will be very popular with the British people, who dislike Lord Wolseley as much as they like Lord Roberts. With Wolseley's retirement a general cleaning out of the headquarters of the British army will take place. It is full of dead timber which nearly made a failure of the campaign in South Africa.

IDAHO LANDS VETERANS MID CHEERS AT HALIFAX

"Royal Time-Expired Details" Reach Canada Exactly a Year After Their Departure.

THE VOYAGE FROM CAPE TOWN WAS PLEASANT

Boom of the Citadel Guns Announced Their Arrival in the Small Hours of the Morning—Report a Fine Trip.

There are two great days in the history of Canada since Confederation. The first was the one which signalled the sailing of the first Canadian contingent from Quebec for South Africa, a year ago yesterday. The second dawned yesterday morning when the announcement flashed forth from the battlements of the citadel that the Idaho was in the offing with her splendid cargo of over four hundred infantrymen, hardened in a great Imperial war. Springing to arms in the gloomy days of October last, when British prestige seemed to be sinking into the dust, these men of the Royal Canadian regiment sailed for Africa with the burning desire to uphold the honor of the Imperial flag. Marching hundreds of miles, winning many hard fought fields, they have aided in the conquest of two republics and have seen their flag raised over two capitals and countless minor towns. By the side of historic British regiments they have faced mauser bullet and sharpnel shell on almost every foot of ground from Belmont to Bloemfontein, from Bloemfontein to Pretoria. They are the victors of Paardeberg, where the lion of the veldt Cronje was netted, and had his claws clipped. But the link in the chain of empire which they have forged will be the feature of their work which will appeal to history, and the imagination of the nation builder, for by their absence of a year they have advanced the cause of Imperial unity by half a century. Little wonder, then, that Halifax should overflow with the molten fire of patriotism, and that Canada at large should be ranging itself in heaving lines to welcome as befits the occasion those heroes of a hundred fights. Halifax is to-day the prey of an excitement that is all the more intense because it is impossible for the Anglo-Saxon to show fully what he feels in another day or two the chief towns of Canada away from the seaboard will be imitating the Haligonian, and expressing as freely as human modes of expression alow the admiration and honor in which the Dominion holds those who have used their bayonets as trowels with which to cement the Imperial, and at the same time, the Dominion structure. Canada welcomes and crowns with laurel the victors of Paardeberg.

THE ARRIVAL AT HALIFAX.

Halifax, N. S., Nov. 1.—At 1 o'clock this morning the signal at Camperdown signalled a steamer coming from the southeast. They could not at first make out her lights, but an hour later the craft was made out to be the Idaho. Fifteen minutes more and the transport was at quarantine two miles below the city, and the Royal Artillery fired three guns from the citadel announcing to Halifax that the Canadian soldiers were back home again. The transport anchored to await the dawn. At 7 o'clock your correspondent boarded a tug which steamed down to the Idaho. The officers and men were all on deck, looking up to the city dressed with flags, bunting and other decorations. Already the garrison were at work trimming the great citadel flagstaffs and glad as the men who have served their country on African fields, every eye glistened with delight at the sight of Canada's loved sons. No time was lost in paying off the men and giving them their discharges. This work was completed by 9.30 o'clock, and then the anchor was weighed and the transport began to move toward the dockyard. Flotillas of many dressed steam crafts came down to meet the transport. Men whom I saw and who kindly furnished information were Capt. Barker, of Toronto; Lieut. Jones, of St. John; Sergt. Child, of Ottawa, and Sergt. Dixon, of Toronto. If there is one thing in which perfect unanimity exists it is that the men who are returning did what was perfectly right, and that those who stayed behind with Col. Otter, did so because they were forced.

TIME EXPIRED DETAILS.

"The royal time expired details under Col. Pelletiere," is how. Rev. Mr. Fullerton designated the men who return today, and "the Royal Commandeered regiment under Col. Otter," is what he called those who stayed behind. Every man on the Idaho heartily concurs in this description of the feelings of the men. Col. Otter, since the question of the staying in South Africa of the soldiers returning home again came up, has lost a great deal of the popularity he previously had.

THE VOYAGE.

The voyage from Cape Town was an exceedingly pleasant one. They had very fine weather from the beginning till the day before yesterday, when a heavy gale sprang up, and the boys had their first experience of rough weather. Still the voyage was not without serious mishap, for a couple of days after leaving Cape Verde in calm weather, two of the Idaho's propeller blades broke off, leaving her with only two. This made the motion of the vessel somewhat irregular, and cut down her speed very considerably. Had it not been for the damage to her propellers the Idaho would easily have been in port on the 30th.

MAY NOT ARRIVE TILL MONDAY.

Toronto, Nov. 1.—Chairman Leslie, of the Reception Committee, called his committee together at 12 o'clock to consider the following telegram from Capt. Barker at Halifax,—

"Try to arrange for Toronto company leave here immediately, otherwise we cannot arrive Toronto before Sunday. Company is seventy strong. All anxious to reach Toronto, Saturday.

The committee is prepared to receive the soldiers at any time, but it was thought they could not reach here from Halifax by Saturday afternoon. The question of having them arrive on Sunday was passed upon as undesirable. It was agreed to send the following telegram to Capt Barker—

"Prefer your arrival Monday 8 p.m., arranging transport from Montreal by C.P.R. Refreshment deputation will meet you probably Peterborough. Telegraph if satisfactory."

MASTER AND PUPIL FIGHT TOGETHER

A Boy Resists Punishment in a School in Toronto.

Toronto. Nov. 1.—There was no end of trouble in Mr. C. L. McMain's 4th book class in Bolton avenue school yesterday, and it was all caused by that gentleman attempting to strap 14-years-old Hugh Louis for alleed misconduct on Monday, to which the boy pleads not guilty. His father advised him not to take the strap unless he was guilty of the offence with which he was charged—shouting while the teacher was out of the room. Hugh says it was another boy, but won't disclose his name.

It was after recess yesterday morning when Mr. McMain desired to punish Hugh, who protested against the indignity, telling that teacher what his father had said. Going down to where the boy was sitting, Mr. McMain seized him and tried to force him to the place of punishment, which in this particular instance was the cloak-room. A rough and tumble fight ensued, Hugh clinging to the desks and anything he could lay his hands on, in his resistance, and the other boys showing their sympathy by throwing rulers and books at the now enraged pedagogue. Mr. McMain finally succeeded in his purpose, but while he was lathering Hugh over the legs with the strap, the boy broke away and went home crying. The scuffling so frightened the girl pupils of the class that they ran screaming out of the room. Principal Slater was told of the disturbance, and made an investigation. One boy told him that Mr. McMain had kicked Hugh, and, it is said, the teacher replied by calling the boy a liar, the youngster boldly retorting "you're another."

The only material difference between the stories told by the teacher and scholar is that Mr. McMain forced him along by pressing his knee against him, and did not kick him. Probably this is correct, for the boy was not much hurt.

WEATHER NOTES.

Probs.—To-day—West to northwest winds cooler and mostly cloudy.

The general outlook is decidedly unsettled and it is not impossible that a storm may now develop over the Southern States.

FRANCE AGREES TO ANGLO-GERMAN ALLIANCE

Berlin, Nov. 1.—Considerable impatience at the meagreness of the news from China is finding expression here. The inferance is that German censorship over such information is very strict. Letters from privates in China begin to find their way into the Social Democrat papers, showing that the German troops give no quarters. The Bremen Buerger Zeitung published a letter from a soldier in Pekin, who says he witnessed the following scene—

Sixty captives, some of them not yet audults were tied together by their pigtails, beaten bloody by the Germans, compelled to dig their own graves and then shot en masse.

The Halberstadter Volks Zeitung prints a communication from Pekin in which the writer says—"No prisoners are taken. All are shot, or, preferably, sabred to save ammunition. On Sunday afternoon we had to bayonet 74 prisoners. They had killed one of our patrolmen. An entire battalion pursued and captured 74 alive It was cruel. It was indescribable."

London, Oct. 30.—The Shanghai correspondent of the Times, wiring yesterday., says—"Li Hung Chang has wired to Chang Chih Tung, the Wu Chang Viceroy, that the peace negotiations are satisfactory, but to other leading officials he has telegraphed exactly the reverse, bidding them prepare for eventualities."

FRANCE ALSO AGREES.

Paris, Nov. 1.—The Politique Coloniale makes the following announcement,—

"The French ambassador to Great Britain (M. Paul. Sambon) has received instructions to reply to the Anglo-German agreement that France adheres to the principles of the integrity of the Chinese Empire and the 'open door,' and that with regard to article three she reserves the right to act in such a manner as to safeguard her interests."

FRANCE AND BELGIUM.

London, Oct. 31.—"I learn," says the Brussels correspondent of the Times, "that King Leopold's visit to Paris has resulted in a France-Belgian convention for the protection of the common interests of France and Belgium in China."

CATCHING A TARTAR

The experience of the Secretary of the Conservative Association for King's County, N.B., is like unto that of the conductor who woke up the wrong passenger. The Conservatives have, not unnaturally, been anxious to make as much political capital as possible in the present campaign out of the emergency ration business, and it is probable that a good many similar to the following were sent to the soldier boys in South Africa.

Kentville, N. S., Oct. 13, 1900.

Private Miller, Lawrencetown, N.S.—

Dear Sir,—Not knowing your full name, I have taken the liberty to address you as above. I believe you are one of the brave boys who fought for us in South Africa, and I wish to write you concerning a subject on which I learn you are very well informed.

I am the secretary of the Liberal-Conservative Association for King's County. I do not know what your politics are, but I am told you will not hesitate to give me all the information you possess in regard to the "emergency food" shipped by the militia department. Would you be so kind to write me just what your experience has been and what this stuff was really like? I would be very much obliged to you, and I would also like you to give me liberty to use your letter for the purpose of convincing those who are skeptical. Of course, if you object to publicity your letter will be treated as private. Hoping you may see fit to oblige me in this matter, I remain, very truly, (Signed) C. A. Tufts.

Mr. Tufts doubtless expected, if he got an answer to get one containing some decidedly uncomplimentary opinions about the emergency ration. He must have felt the need of some sort of an emergency ration himself when he received the following reply—

Mr. C. A. Tufts, Kentville, N.S.—

Lawrencetown, Oct. 13th.

Dear Sir,—Yours of the 13th to hand and contents noted. Would say in regard to emergency food used in South Africa that it was a first-class article in every respect. I had the pleasure of using several tins while away, and always found it the real thing. Hoping this will satisfy you and the minds of the people, I remain, very truly yours, (Signed) L. R. Miller.

P. S.—You may use my name and letter in print if you wish.—L. R. M.

Just how the answer got into print is a puzzler. Mr. Miller must have answered in duplicate to an enemy, for no Tory would give that letter out for publication—not if he was sober. The incident indicates that someone is lying, and that politicians occasionally, while fishing, catch a tartar.

—He trod on the corn of the belle of Slumbering echoes were aroused in the

And then—so the other girls tell—

Because of the bawl of the belle.

THE POLITICAL POT

All the provisions of the Conciliation Act should be at once applied to the painful differences now existing between those great organs of public opinion, the Bogus Globe and the Toronto Globe.

When Quebec was unanimously Tory there were no finer young fellows on earth than the French-Canadians, who are now being denounced from so many Ontario platforms.

Hon. J. R. Stratton, Provincial Secretary, is putting in good and effective work in the campaign. The past few days he has addressed meetings in Haliburton, Lakefield and Bobcaygeon. Wednesday he addressed the nomination for East Peterboro at Norwood at 10 o'clock. In the evening he speaks at Havelock in Mr. Lang's interest; on Thursday evening at Bensfort, at Bridgenorth on Friday evening for Mr. McClellan, and at Keene on Saturday night for Mr. Lang. Mr. Stratton says that Mr. Lang's election is a certainty, and that Mr. McClellan is making an energetic canvass.

Goldwin Smith says in the Weekly Sun—Nobody supposes that the offer of a Senatorship for ten thousand dollars was made to Mr. Cook by Order-in-Council or in an offical letter signed by the Prime Minister. Few doubt that an offer was made. What is the use of fiercely prosecuting the petty satellites of corruption, the men who stuff ballots or slip a five dollar bill into a voter's hand. If the great crimes, great treasons as they are under a popular Government, are to be passed over with a shrug of the shoulders as familiar incidents of party warf

Mr. John Bertram, who represented West Peterborough in the House of Commons from 1874 to 1878, is on the stump on behalf of the Government. Mr. Bertram is a fluent and impressive speaker, and would have been a cabinet minister long since had he stuck to politics.

George McHugh, the Liberal candidate in South Victoria, is a Roman Catholic, and at Bobcaygeon on Monday evening he told the audience that this fact was being used against him in certain sections of the riding by his opponents. In the course of his speech Mr. McHugh said—"From the political platform moral and social questions that affect the well-being of the nation are the only ones that should have to be discussed, but finding, as I do, that my opponents in all parts of the riding are trying to stir up religious feeling against me because I am a Catholic, then I think I should be allowed the right to protest. I was born in this riding upon a farm which was purchased by the services of my grandfather rendered to the British Crown in the British wars upon the battlefields of Spain, and am I going to be denied the rights of citizenship and be made a Uitlander in the land of my birth? I never apologise for my religious views and I never allow any other person to be condemned for theirs. Only by toleration of each other's opinions can we live together in peace, friendship and fraternity, and only in this manner can we make this a great country and a great people."

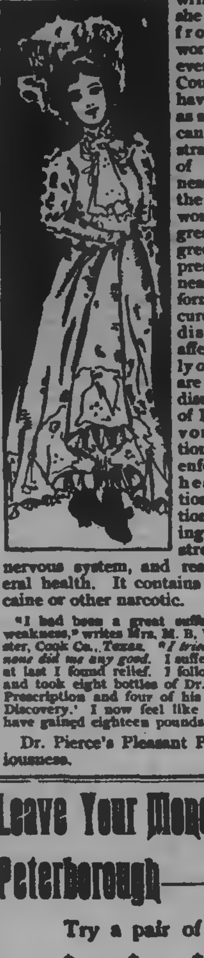
How Will She End?

Just budding into womanhood, so fresh, so fair and fine that we turn to watch her as she passes, she trips along the street a picture of health and beauty. Among the passing crowd of worn and wrinkled women, she looks a being from another world. Will she ever be like them? Could they once have been as fair as she? No beauty can last under the strain and drain of female weakness, from which the majority of women suffer in a greater or less degree. They might preserve their fairness of face and form if they would cure the disastrous diseases which affect the womanly organs. Women are cured of such diseases by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It stops the enfeebling drains, heals inflammation and ulceration, cures bearing-down pains, strengthens the nervous system, and restores the general health. It contains no opium, cocaine or other narcotic.



"I had been a great sufferer from female weakness," writes Mrs. M. B. Wallace, of Muenster, Cook Co., Texas. "I tried four doctors and none did me any good. I suffered six years, but at last I found relief. I followed your advice, and took eight bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and four of his 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I now feel like a new woman. I have gained eighteen pounds."

MESSRS. J. S. HAMILTON & CO., Brantford, Ont., Canada:

Dear Sirs,—In accordance with your wishes I have had both the red and white wines and the champagne tested by several connoisseurs, French and English. All of these expressed surprise that an article of such merit was produced in Canada, and even manufacturers admit that the brand "L'Empereur" is of excellent quality.

This opinion from critics who are by no means easy to please should be very satisfactory to you, and it gives me pleasure to congratulate you upon it. Yours faithfully,

Varicocele and Stricture.

VARICOCELE:—If you are tired of being experimented upon, you will find our Latest Method Treatment is a guaranteed cure for varicocele without use of knife or loss of time, it absorbs the wormy condition, restores the parts, thereby bringing back lost powers; if you take our treatment, you pay when cured.
STRICTURE:—Thousands of you have stricture and do not know it; if you have been indiscreet, or improperly treated, or notice a smarting sensation, unnatural discharge, weak organs, or back, nervous debility, or if you are not the man you should be, it may be the cause of stricture. If you are in doubt, call and see us, as we will examine you free of charge; our Latest Method Treatment absorbs the stricture, thereby making cutting or stretching unnecessary, and you pay when cured.

Kidneys and Bladder.

Don't neglect these important organs, as you will regret it: Have you a full feeling or pain in the back, frequent desire to urinate, deposits in urine? Our Latest Method Treatment is a guaranteed cure for such conditions.

The original sworn affidavits or testimonials can be seen at our offices, $500.00 reward for any we cannot show: at request of patients we publish only the initials.

Your Latest Method Treatment acted the way you said it would; my strictures are cured, and the varicocele entirely disappeared, and I feel stronger than ever; my bladder and kidneys do not trouble me any, I can stoop all day, do a hard day's work without my kidneys troubling me as before I took your Latest Method Treatment: it has cured me after others have failed; if I had consulted you sooner, I would have saved a great deal of money which I wasted on other doctors; I am your grateful patient. Address to the Electors

To the Free and Independent Electors of West Peterborough—

Gentlemen.—Having accepted the unanimous nomination of the Liberals of this Riding, as a candidate for its representation in the House of Commons I hereby respectfully solicit your support in securing my return at the coming general elections.

The grounds upon which I base my appeal are not so much nor chiefly by any means, my personal fitness for the position of your representation though as a citizen of Peterborough and interested in its progress in common with that of the country, I can and do promise, if elected, an intelligent support of such a public policy and such measures as will best conduce to the promotion of all the interests of Canada, the development of her great resources and the general betterment of the civil moral and material condition of the public; and my best abilities and most assiduous attention shall be devoted to the faithful discharge of my representative duties.

The strongest ground, however, of my appeal consists in the fact that I am a firm supporter of the Liberal Government led by Sir Wilfred Laurier, which is entitled to the renewed confidence of the people, both on the ground of its policy and the splendid record established by the application of that policy. The Liberal party appealed to the country in 1896 upon a clearly defined policy and the promised results followed.

The Liberal party promised a reduction of a high tariff that hampered our industrial and agricultural interests and was hostile to the Mother Country.

The tariff was materially reduced and otherwise improved and in such a way as to help instead of hinder the manufacturer and farmer, with the consequence that never before in the history of the country have our industries or our farmers enjoyed such great prosperity, our mechanics and working men such constant employment and high wages, nor our commercial and all other interests so flourished.

Our domestic and foreign trade have also greatly increased. The loyal gift of a trade preference, represented by a tariff reduction on British goods of 33 1-3 per cent., and our despatch of the Canadian Contingent, have resulted in a kindlier feeling towards Canada and greatly increased trade with the Mother Country.

With a largely reduced rate of tariff, our revenue has greatly expanded so that the Government was warranted in practicing true economy (reducing our postal rate one third, giving Imperial penny postage,) and premitting of the completion of great public works, deepening our canals, so long trifled with, pushing the work on the Trent Valley Canal which is now urged and will be urged to completion by the Liberal Government, and the application of a vigorous policy of general development and improvement of our transportation facilities, resulting and to result in easier access to the British market and better prices for all our products.

The farming interests of the country are deserving of the best services of a Government, such as the present has given. The immense impetus given the produce trade between Canada and Great Britain, through the preferential tariff, has been greatly helped by the action of the Government in providing an excellent and adequate system of cold storage, by which Canadian products can be landed in Great Britain in first-class condition, guaranteeing the highest prices. The system is of the most modern character, sufficient for all the present needs of the trade, and it will be improved and enlarged as experience suggests, and increase of the produce trade demands, and I shall, if elected, feel it my duty to support any policy that will improve our trade with the Mother Country, and strengthens the bond of British connection, of which we are so proud.

In an industrial centre like Peterborough the claims of the working classes are especially deserving of consideration. No country is well governed that does not look after the interests of all classes of the community. The Conservative Government has been, and the Conservative party declares itself to be, extremely solicitous of the interests of the capitalist classes—the manufacturers—but it left the working classes to largely shift for themselves. A Liberal Government came into power, and the attitude towards Labour was changed, and the rights of Labour to its rights recognized, and in a practical way. A Department of Labour has been established and a Minister of Labour placed over it. A Labour Gazette has been established in the interests of workingmen, published monthly; conditions have been inserted in all Government contracts compelling contractors to pay the highest current wages, which the Government guarantees the payment of; the sweating system has been abolished on Government enforced by a special officer, and in many other ways the Government has shown by deeds that the rights of the workingmen, as well as the capitalist, shall be protected. I heartily support the Government in what it has done, and shall support them in extending the benefits which they have already conferred, and which it is their policy to continue, as need arises.

The splendid achievements of Canadian soldiers in South Africa, make them worthy of the gratitude of the country. We have the best militia material in the world, and if we keep up a military establishment, let it be worthy of Canadians. Situated as Peterborough is, on the line of the Grand Trunk and Canadian Pacific Railways, and on the line of the Trent Valley Canal, begun as a military work, and now under course of completion, no other point in this Province is so well adapted for a military centre. I shall, therefore, feel it my duty to press upon the Government the advisability of constructing in Peterborough new armories and connected buildings for military stores for Ontario, and I feel that this is practicable of attainment at the hands of a Government which has shown its interest in our volunteers by placing the Militia Department, so greatly neglected by a previous administration, upon an effective basis, and will, therefore, more naturally be well disposed towards the improvement involved in making Peterborough a centre for military stores.

A town of the industrial and commercial importance of Peterborough, has certainly strong claims upon the good offices and of a Government. For the past four years the town has been represented, when it was represented in the House, by a member opposed to the Government. There is no doubt in the minds of unprejudiced observers, that the present Liberal Government will be strongly sustained in the country at the coming elections, and the question arises whether West Peterborough will have its interests better served by a member sitting in opposition and hostile to the Government and its policy, or by a member pledged to give the Government a fair support in the application of its policy. If elected I pledge myself to give my best ability and exertions to the promotion of the general good of the country, and to look especially after the interests of West Peterborough.

I cannot obviously here, enter into details of how in other ways the Liberal Government has implemented its promises and applied its policy, but I shall have an opportunity during the campaign of more fully dealing with these and other public questions.

As a supporter of such a Government I can appeal with confidence for the support of the Electors of West Peterborough, knowing that by helping to give, as you will do, through my election, a renewal of the trust the Liberal Government has discharged with such evident and gratifying results, they will be conferring a great and lasting good upon this riding, the country at large, and securing a continuation of the great blessings of prosperity and good government we now enjoy.

Again soliciting your support, your votes, and influence in this contest,

I have the honor to be,

gentlemen,

Your obedient servant,

J. H. McCLELLAN

WE CURE STRICTURE

Thousands of young and middle-aged men are troubled with this disease—many unconsciously. They may have a smarting sensation, small, twisting stream, sharp cutting pains at times, slight discharge, difficulty in commencing, weak organs, emissions, and all the symptoms of nervous debility—they have STRICTURE. Don't let doctors experiment on you, by cutting, stretching, or tearing you. This will not cure you, as it will return. Our NEW METHOD TREATMENT absorbs the stricture tissue; hence removes the stricture permanently. It can never return. No pain, no suffering, no detention from business by our method. The sexual organs are strengthened. The nerves are invigorated, and the bliss of manhood returns.

WE CURE GLEET

Thousands of young and middle-aged men are having their sexual vigor and vitality continually sapped by this disease. They are frequently unconscious of the cause of these symptoms. General Weakness, Unnatural Discharges, Failing Manhood, Nervousness, Poor Memory, Irritability, at times Smarting Sensation, Sunken Eyes, with dark circles, Weak Back, General Depression, Lack of Ambition, Varicocele, Shrunken Parts, etc. GLEET and STRICTURE may be the cause. Don't consult family doctors, as they have no experience in these special diseases—don't allow Quacks to experiment on you. Consult Specialists, who have made a life study of Diseases of Men and Women. Our NEW METHOD TREATMENT will positively cure you. One thousand dollars for a case we accept for treatment and cannot cure. Terms moderate for a cure.

Love Won—and—Lost.

A NOVEL.

brought her, looked up into her husband's face, reading instinctively his thoughts.

"Of what are you thinking, Ulmont?" she asked, timidly.

He gazed thoughtfully over the distant hills as he answered:

"Loraine, this is the first stranger ever born beneath the roof of the Ulvesfords. Every member of the family was born here," he repeated, "and here they returned to die. It is strange, the first break has been made in our time, Loraine. I had rather it had been otherwise."

"I am sure I did not know, Ulmont; I never thought."

"It was all due to your kindness of heart, Loraine; there is no help for it now. The bells of Ulvesford Mansion should not ring; it is not an heir of the Ulvesfords, whose birth should be joyously celebrated."

"You are not angry with me, Ulmont."

"Certainly not, dear," and he passed on to his library.

"I have something here to show you," she said, blushing gently.

Ulmont leaned back in his chair, and pushed the pile of letters before him into a drawer.

"Now I am all attention; what is it?"

For answer, she placed a little, wee, soft bundle she carried directly in his arms; the next instant an infant's piping wail fell upon his ear.

Two great, dark eyes were staring wonderingly up into his own, and a little, waxen hand curled confidingly around his forefinger.

Ah! who could tell what that tiny, creature that held him spellbound, causing his heart to thrill as it had never thrilled before.

Ah! who could tell what that tiny, nursing cherub had discovered.

Loraine's face grew white as death as she watched the infant lying so contentedly upon her husband's breast

She was beginning to feel heartily sorry she had brought it to him.

"Ah, Loraine," he sighed, "I would give half my fortune, and think it well spent, if this little one was the heir of Ulvesford Manor!"

The white lines of pain grew deeper about Loraine's face, as, with a forced laugh, she replied, quite carelessly:

"You will make me forget my errand, Ulmont!"

"It must have been a very important one if it could be so easily forgotten."

"Is it not important the baby should have a name? That was my errand here. The young mother held out her hands to me and said, 'Call him what you will.' I thought perhaps you could help me, dear."

"I? How?"

"By suggesting something you think appropriate."

"There's plenty of time to think of that."

"I have already thought of a name for him," declared Loraine, timidly "Somehow I thought—I did not know whether you would approve of it."

"What is the name you thought of?" he asked, curiously.

Was it the cruel irony of fate that caused Ulmont Ulvesford's guileless young wife to lay her hand trustingly upon her husband's arm as she answered, with a smile on her lips:

"Because this little stranger was born at Ulvesford Mansion, I wish him called Ulmont."

A silence, deep as death, fell between them.

The very chiming of the Christmas bells seemed echoing the strain:

"Call him Ulmont!"

CHAPTER XXIV.

The Portrait.

Which side would the scales fall?

One day, two weeks later, Loraine and Isetta sat in the drawing-room in deep conversation.

"Yours is indeed a strange story. Mrs. Rose; still, after hearing it, again repeat my former offer. You say you are searching for a situation, why not accept mine?"

"It is very different now, Mrs Ulvesford, since I have baby. I cannot expect to procure the same kind of a situation as before."

"That will not make any difference with me, Mrs. Rose."

"You are very, very kind," murmured Isetta, impulsively kneeling at Loraine's feet, her eyes filled with tears. "You have been so good to me," she sobbed, "I would give my very life for yours, if I could ever repay you."

Loraine smiled down into the dark beautiful face, little dreaming of the heroic will lying dormant in the girl's breast, or of the terrible ordeal which would try her beyond all power of human endurance.

It was a question evenly balanced, only heaven could tell on which side the scales would fall.

"How strange it is," said Loraine, "that such deep shadows have fallen upon your life while mine has been all sunshine. I can understand, poor child, how well you have loved your husband, but I cannot see how your love would live through such bitter neglect. Truly the ways of women are wonderful."

"You would not have wondered had you seen him," answered Isetta, "he was all that was good and noble. It is so hard to believe those lips I thought so true, could have uttered falsehoods while they smiled."

"Still you say," pondered Loraine, "he never once told you he loved you?"

"No, he never spoke of love; he may not have cared for me at first, but, oh, Mrs. Ulvesford, I truly believe he was learning to love me before that cruel letter came to separate us."

A doubtful expression crossed Loraine's face; she knew very little of the world, yet she felt that no husband, who truly loved, could desert his wife in that dastardly fashion.

"What makes you think that?" she asked.

A WONDERFUL

KIDNEY and Bladder CURE

The Honorable Chairman of the Board of County Commissioners, Ellsworth, Kansas, tells how ALKAVIS cured him after Doctors and all other Remedies had Failed.

BRIGHT'S DISEASE, GRAVEL, DROPSY,

And Rheumatism Mastered at Last.

One of the most remarkable medical discoveries of the century is the Kava-Kava Shrub, found on the Ganges River, East India, which has a wonderful action on the kidneys and bladder. Since its introduction into this country its fame has quickly spread, because of its seemingly impossible cures. Prominent men and women have testified to its great curative powers, and hospital tests prove its infallibility even in advanced stages of Bright's Disease. Among the more recent recoveries is that of Hon. I. A. Hopkins, Chairman Board of County Commissioners, Ellsworth, Kansas, who says:

GENTLEMEN:—I will say that I believe and know that I owe my life to Alkavis. I had been troubled with Kidney and Bladder Trouble for years. Two years ago I was sick for six weeks with Malarial Fever which left me in a bad condition. My limbs were swollen with Rheumatism so that I could hardly walk; I was troubled with Indigestion from taking Medicine for my Urinary troubles which had become very much worse. I had to get up every hour of the night to urinate. I passed great quantities of blood on account of hemorrhage of the Kidneys and Bladder. I tried and had been trying everything in the shape of Medicine for Kidney Trouble that I could think of or that the Doctors recommended, but nothing helped me for I kept getting worse. I suffered great pain continually in my Kidneys. I made up my mind unless I could get relief that I only had a short time to live. About this time my attention was called to an advertisement of Alkavis. As a drowning man will grasp at a straw, I was ready to try anything for relief. I sent to you for three bottles. I began to take it, and before I had taken it one week I began to feel the good effects of Alkavis. My Kidney Trouble and Rheumatism were soon gone, my digestion became all right, I found myself in better health than for ten years and I am in good health now. I know that Alkavis saved my life. What more can anyone say for a medicine? Unlike most medicines it is good for indigestion. It gives the person taking it a good appetite. I have recommended Alkavis to a great many people and all have been benefited by its use. I am 53 years of age, and am very grateful for what Alkavis has done for me.

Respectfully yours, I. A. HOPKINS.

Rev. W. B. Moore, D. D., Washington, D. C., Editor Religious World, writes that after trying all known medicines for kidney and rheumatic disease he was permanently cured by Alkavis. Mrs. Wm. H. Hardy, East Rush, Pa., writes that Alkavis cured her after six doctors failed. Rev. J. W. Hickman, Collyer, Trego Co., Kansas, cured of liver, kidney and bladder trouble, of many years' standing, from which he could only get temporary relief and had given up all hope of a cure. Thus the grand work goes on. A new book, entitled "A Thousand Living Witnesses," sent with the free case of medicine, tells of the wonderful cures performed in every state.

Not only does this great discovery—Alkavis (the Kava-Kava Compound)—cure all forms of kidney and bladder diseases, but by expelling from the blood all poisonous deposits, excess of lime, uric acid, urates and lithiates, it banishes gravel, torpid liver, rheumatism, pains in back, difficult and too frequent urination, etc. The cure is complete. No phase is neglected, and the stomach, heart and nerves are toned and invigorated. No other medicine in the world will perform the work of Alkavis. To enable sufferers to get well and spread the glad tidings we have arranged to send a Large Case of Alkavis FREE by mail to all who write us. The case goes entirely FREE.

If you are a sufferer, write to-day and secure at once a Free Case of Alkavis and Book of "A Thousand Living Witnesses." Address The Church Kidney Cure Co., No. 508 Fourth Ave., New York. Please mention this paper.

THE COLORADO COPPER MINING COMPANY

LOCATION OF OUR MINES

THE COLORADO COPPER MINING COMPANY is fortunate in being the possessor of five splendid showing properties in the great Salida copper belt, the principal copper producing region of this portion of the rockies. All of our claims have been more or less developed and it is our purpose to put the same on a paying basis at once.

Our Company owns, clear of incumbrances the following claims,—The Sedalia Extension, the Sedalia Extension No. 2, which property adjoins the great Sedalia mine, which has been a big producer for upwards of seventeen years; the Copper King of Colorado, which immediately adjoins the above; the Copper Queen of Salida, a very promising property, only a few steps from the depot in Salida. This claim occupies an imposing position on a mountain just north of the city; and last, but by no means least, the Sunshine, located two miles east of Salida at Cleora station, on the main Trunk line of the great Denver and Rio Grande Railroad, also on the Arkansas river, which in length is one of America's greatest streams.

TOWN AND COUNTY NEWS

For Stealing Lead

A young man named Baker was arrested yesterday, charged with stealing white lead from Mr. Joseph Yelland's shop. Baker is an old offender and it will probably go hard with him to-day when he appears before his Honor.

The Vacant Office

Mr. John Lang stated in his address at Norwood on Wednesday that Mr. Rork, of that village, had been appointed to the position rendered vacant through the death of Mr. John J. Hall, as Collector of Inland Revenue. This, we presume, settles this matter.

Paraded Last Night

The 57th Regiment paraded last night at the drill shed, preparatory to going to Toronto, where the boys will take part in the reception to be tendered the returning soldiers. There was a fair turnout. The Regiment will probably leave for Toronto to-morrow morning.

New Scow

The Government evidently means to keep the channel for steamers open in the Otonabee river. A new scow has just been launched, which will be used for dredging purposes. Mr. Hickey, who built the City of Peterborough, the North Star and the Eclipse for Commodore Calcutt, also constructed the new scow, and made a good job.

Making Good Channel

The Government steam dredge has made a splendid channel from the Locks down below Yankee Bonnet. Steamers will no longer be obliged to scrub along over the rocks and boulders. The channel is deep and sufficiently wide to allow steamers to pass without getting on the rocks, and is properly buoyed. The dredge will work in the Little Lake before the season closes, removing the pier near Burnham's Point.

A Worthy Institution

There is no local institution that puts so much money into circulation as the George Matthews Company. Besides a heavy weekly pay roll to its employees, the Company pays out hundreds of thousands of dollars to the farmers each year. Lately large shipments have been made to Liverpool for the English market. It is pleasing to note that the works have been gradually extending and increasing its capacity.

A Complimentary Concert

It has been decided by the many friends of Mrs. W. J. Morrow to tender her a benefit concert at an early date, a recognition of the assistance she has given every worthy object in the past, her services being cheerfully rendered on every occasion. Mrs. Morrow as well as her little son will assist at the entertainment, which is sufficient to attract all lovers of music to the Opera House. Further particulars will appear later.

Y. W. C. A. Classes

Vocal music, on Tuesday evenings from seven to eight.

Physical Culture, for which the gymnasium of the Y. M. C. A. will be used, on Wednesday evenings from 7 to 8, and Friday afternoons from 5 to 6.

Children's Sewing Class, on Saturday afternoon from half-past two to half-past four.

The members of the Saturday Evening Club will please meet for re-organization next Friday evening, at eight.

Young women are invited to join the Association and such classes as they prefer.

JOTTINGS ABOUT TOWN.

—The Finance Committee will meet this evening.

—Mr. H. P. Kennedy to-day shipped three cars of cattle to Ohio, per the G. T. R.

—The Methodist thanksgiving fund has reached $900,0.00 and there will be no difficulty in reaching the million mark.

—A boy in Stirling was expelled from the school, last week, because his presence was injurious to the other pupils.

—Owing to a lack of timber, work on the dam in Hastings has been discontinued for a short time.

—Four wills of deceased persons in the vicinity of Belleville, were probated last week. One estate amountd to $64,000.

—Cheese making at the factory at Westwood was stopped yesterday, and butter is being made instead.

—Mrs. C. Hill, of Bowmanville, committed suicide lately, by drinking water in which she had steeped the sulphur of matches. She stated she was tired of life.

—Typhoid fever seems to be epidemic in Cobourg, quite a number of cases being treated. Six children of one family at the Old Court House are stricken down with it.

—Campbellford Herald—Mr. H. Lambert, of Hastings, has purchased a steam yacht from a gentleman of Peterborough. There are now three steam yachts owned by gentlemen in Hastings.

—Miss Scott, who resides at the corner of Hunter and Rubidge streets, complained to the police yesterday morning that she had some fowl stolen Wednesday night.

—It is not everybody that knows there is a penalty of one hundred dollars fine and three month's imprisonment for wearing party buttons and badges until the election is over.

—The body of an infant was found in the bay at Belleville, and at the inquest which was held, the jury brought in a verdict to the effect that the child came to its death by violence at the hands of some person or persons unknown.

—A thankoffering was made in the Methodist church in Stirling, at the anniversary services on the 21st of October, and the sum of $225 was contributed. The church is now entirely free from debt. Since the union the congregation has paid off a debt of $6,000.

—At the regular communication of Peterborough Lodge No. 155, A. F. & A. M. this evening the Past Masters of the lodge will assume the offices for the evening and work the degree. Arrangements have been made with Brother R. M. Roy for a photo of the masters on that occasion.

West Peterboro Farmer's Institute

The annual winter meetings of the West Peterborough Farmers' Institute will be held on November 4th and 5th, at Peterborough, North Monaghan and Lakefield. Addresses will be delivered by John McMillan, M.P., Seaforth, and Miss Laura Rose, the lady instructor in dairying at the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, who are the delegates this year. Everyone interested should hear Miss Rose, whose services are in greater demand than any other institute speaker in Ontario.

To Tie up the Bell

A number of boys, all pupils of the Collegiate Institute, undertook to have a can load of fun on Thursday night. They formed the heroic resolution on Hallowe'en to tie up the school bell—it was even proposed to remove it altogether. They ascended the ladder and reached the roof of the building where the bell hangs, in safety, when the janitor, who was "onto" their game, removed the ladder. After keeping the boys prisoners for half an hour, the ladder was replaced, and the lads descended. As the Times was earnestly requested not to publish the names, we refrain from doing so.

THE FRANCHISE

Editor Morning Times,

Sir,—The Reform party is making a great ado over the fact that they have put into force in Ontario Manhood franchise. The Ottawa Government, which is on trial now, has nothing to do with this act, but if it is such a good thing (and they want credit for it), why didn't they make the same law in Quebec? In that province a man who has property in eight or a dozen places may have as many votes, so that it looks to me like a tricky way of trying to get credit for a law passed by another Government. Yours,

OBSERVER.

REV. DR. DEWART

Editor Morning Times,

Sir,—No one for a moment, who is possessed of any regard for fair play, would deny a minister of the gospel a right to his political opinions, when he does not endeavor to force them on others. But when a man, like Rev. Dr. Dewart, retires from the active work of the ministry on account of physical infirmities and is placed on the superannuation list for a yearly income, it is presumed that he will at least have the decency to try and behave himself. How must fair-minded men feel, Conservative and Liberal alike, when they are called upon to provide the fund from which Dr. Dewart draws his yearly allowance on account of his "physical infirmities?" Surely they will say that men who can go on the "stump" in an election campaign are able to preach. Dr. Dewart is now engaged in stumping the west in favor of the Liberal candidates. I say, in all honesty, that he should be excluded from the benefits of the superannuation fund. This fund is not for such men as he.

The church should put a veto on its ministers taking to politics. It is inconsistent with the duties of a pastor, and especially it is obnoxious in a case like that of Dr. Dewart.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, I am, etc.,

A METHODIST.

PICKING UP POTATOES

By Miss M. H. Windsor.

Now the Autumn days are back,
Harry, Tom and Joe and Jack
To the field at morning hie,
Busy they as hours flit by,
Picking up potatoes.

Picking up potatoes.
Pumpkins and tomatoes.
The farmer'll be Right glad to see
A crop of good potatoes.

Skies serene and blue o'erhead,
Maple leaves are turning red,
Must haste while calm the weather
Merry boys work together
Picking up potatoes.

Honest occupation
Working for the nation,
For don't you know
The man with hoe
Heads the whole creation?

Shadows lengthen in the sun,
Milking time has now begun,
Supper's ready, boys are too,
Hungry boys are they when through
Picking up potatoes.

Boys working well all day
Now should have some play,
Some nuts to crack,
That's just the whack,
Hallow'een's not far away.

Of the apple's rosy cheek
And the peach's bloom we speak
But we'll agree that there must be
To satisfy our country,
Homely, good potatoes.

Mission House, Hiawatha.

The Crawford Monument

The monument to the late Isabella Crawford is now erected and is much handsomer than its projectors dared hope for. It stands in that part of the cemetery opposite Ashburnham and is of Quebec granite in the form of a Celtic cross seven feet hig by two feet across the ring. The cross stands upon two blocks of the granite, and upon the upper base is carved the inscription,

ISABELLA VALANCY CRAWFORD
Poet
By the Gift of God.

Thanks are gratefully proffered to the public, through whose generosity the stone was erected.

A meeting in Mr. Lang's interests will be held in Ashburnham Town Hall on Nov. 6th.

Nov. 6—At Ennismore Town Hall.

SPORTING NOTES

RUGBY.

The London Advertiser in reporting the game in that city on Saturday says,—

"London won the intermediate championship of Ontario on Saturday afternoon by defeating Peterborough by a score of 9 to 6. The game was a magnificent exhibition of Rugby, and the brilliant playing of both sides set the crowded grand stands wild with enthusiasm. When the whistle blew at the end of the game hundreds of enthusiasts swarmed on the field, and carried off the champions shoulder high, whilst the crowd stood up and cheered itself hoarse.

From start to finish the match was desperately fought. Peterborough was by far the heavier team, but the superior condition of the home fifteen turned the tide, and in the second half the game was won. There was much open play and very little rough work, one man from each team only being sent to the fence. From a spectators standpoint the play was of the heart-breaking variety, as the ball went from one end to the other with marvellous rapidity, and there was a chance to score right up to the last second. Both teams were in perfect shape, and every man seemed to realize the importance of the game, losing little time in useless kicking."

In view of the fact that the game must be played over again, it is within the range of probabilities that London's jubilation was a little premature.

RELIGIOUS BIGOTRY.

An Earnest Protest Against It By Eminent Divines

Rev. Dr. B. D. Thomas.—It is very unfortunate that as election time approaches such charistics as a man's creed or race should be magnified and presented to the classes, who are likely to be prejudiced in as unfavorable a light as possible. Such action I consider utterly contemptible. There is absolutely not the slightest excuse for any such attack being made on a man of the moral breadth of character of Sir Wilfrid Laurier. The confidence I feel in him as a political leader and as a man has already been made public in the Toronto Star.

Rev. Dr. George M. Milligan.—No enlightened Protestant will mix up religion and politics. Regarding Sir Wilfrid Laurier, he is an honor to Canada and I hope and pray Canadians may appreciate him, not when it is too late.

Rev. Prof. Clarke.—I admire the personality of Sir Wilfrid Laurier very much. As to his being a Roman Catholic how could that be used against him! Sir John Thompson was a Roman Catholic on the opposite side of politics and he became Premier. These creed cries are not to be commended, for how can we live with each other unless we exercise mutual toleration?

Dr. G. R. Parkin.—A French Canadian Premier the other day made the noblest speech ever delivered by a colonial minister.—Speech at banquet in Toronto, March 16th, 1900.

Rev. Dr. Dewart.—In the case of Sir Wilfrid Laurier we have a fine example of a liberal-minded Roman Catholic statesman who rises above sectarian issues, and regards the interests of the whole Canadian people as the supreme consideration. Because of this he is trusted as fully by the Protestants of Ontario as by the French Canadian Catholics of the Province of Quebec. ad 4 dy

ATTACK of ROYAL CANADIANS at Paardeberg

The present is a time when war pictures are in greater demand than ever. The conduct of the British soldiers on the battlefield has won the plaudits of admiring nations. We have at great expense published four large, beautiful pictures size 20x28, on heavy, superfine calendered paper. A picture that will commend itself and send a thrill to the heart of every true Canadian is the one called Attack of Royal Canadians at Paardeberg, there are literally hundreds of figures on this picture, the mountains or kopjes stretching out into the distance are swarming with men, while here and there a prostrate figure speaks only too well of the Boer rifleman. It was on this battlefield the gallant Major Arnold met death unflinchingly. Indeed, it is only too true that many of these gallant hearts that beat so high when the cheering thousands bade them Godspeed as they sailed from Canada's shores now lie still forever in lonely graves on the other side of the world under African skies. To every Canadian heart, to every Canadian home, the deeds of their brave soldier boys speak with an irresistible thrill of patriotism and pride. Gordon Highlanders at the Battle of Belmont, Charging the Boer Guns at Elandslaagte and the Charge of Gen. French's Cavalry on the Retreating Gen. Cronje's Army. These are all stirring pictures and cannot fail to commend themselves to anyone who will examine them. They are RED HOT SELLERS! Agents coin money. Big profits. Enormous success. One agent sold 89 in one day. Sample and terms 25 cts (none free); four for 90 cts; $1.75 per dozen; 25 for $3.25; 50 for $6.00; 100 for $11.00. Write to day for a dozen and make money. ROBERTS NOT COMING HOME

Affairs in South Africa are in Such a State that He Cannot Leave that Country.

London, Nov. 2.—The departure of Gen. Roberts from South Africa, which was recently postponed from an earlier date to November 15, has now apparently been further delayed. The matter is in his own hands, and the War Office states that it has no information as to when he will leave. There is a report that one of his daughters is suffering from enteric fever at Pretoria, which, if true, is doubtless part of the reason for his remaining in South Africa, but the continued guerilla activity probably exceeds his expectations, and is causing him to hesitate to leave.

It is noteworthy that Gen. Kitchener, in a speech at Pretoria, when bidding farewell to some of the returning Australians, said that the war had lasted longer, perhaps, than most of the soldiers had expected, but there was still much work to be done before their task was completed.

COL. PILCHIER'S PROMOTION.

London, Nov. 2.—The vacant command of the 2nd Battalion Bedfordshire Regiment, the colonel of which was "removed from the service," has been given to Maj. and Brevet-Lieut.-Col. Thos. David Pilcher, who was only posted to the Bedfords as second in command a year or so ago. Col. Pilcher's name has been prominently before the public during the war, as he has done some exceedingly good work, and has lately been in command of the 3rd Corps of Mounted Infantry. It was he who seized Douglas during the trying weeks when Lord Methuen was kept stationary at the Modder. He was also in command of the Sunnyside expedition, the first in which the Canadians took part. Col. Pilcher was also the hero of another daring exploit when, with a very small force, he advanced thirty miles from the nearest supports, entered Ladybrand, and captured the Landdrost and field cornet, carrying them off in the face of a greatly superior force, and covering between 50 and 60 miles in the twenty-four hours.

DEVASTATION SOUTH OF VAAL.

Bloemfontein, Oct. 31.—A resident of Harrismith gives a gloomy description of the situation in the northeastern districts of Orange Colony.

Bands of Boers are moving about, shooting at sight at anyone coming within range, and looting and burning houses and stores belonging to Britishers or neutrals. Harrismith is stroongly garrisoned, and the hills are fortified. The patrols, who are out every day, have swept the country clear of stock for miles.

De Wet is terrorizing the residents of the small towns. Quite recently he sent word to the people of Reitz to send the women and children away, as he intended to smash the place with artillery.

Lindley is reported to be a heap of ruins, the houses having been wantonly wrecked by Boer brigands.

There is much feeling among the whites owing to the military authorities having permitted Indians to open stores in Harrismith. Before the war no Indians were allowed to trade in the Free State.

When last in occupation of Ficksburg, the Boers did great destruction. The Boers entirely cleared Mitchell's store, and commandeered clothing and goods to the extent of sever hundred pounds. They also commandeered heavily from Messrs. McBride and Myers, and one Boer woman actually went behind the counter and served out goods. What the burghers did not want they distributed among the poor Dutch and English inhabitants. They also marched to the Town Hall and tried Mr. McBride, while Mr. Ross was detained in prison for some time. Many Ficksburg burghers who had previously surrendered have again taken up arms, which they dug up from their gardens.

RUNDLE DEFEATS BOERS.

London, Nov. 1.—The War Office has received the following from Lord Roberts, dated Johannesburg, October 31—"General Rundle occupied Bethlehem October 21st, driving the Boers from two strong positions three miles south of that place. General Rundle had three killed and 17 wounded, the latter including Lord Gerald Richard Grosvenor. General Rundle's men have been engaged daily with parties of Boers, varying in number from 30 to 150. He was compelled to burn Wessels' farm, because a messenger carrying a copy of my last proclamation was fired on from the verandah by Mrs. Wessels, who is a sister of General Botha."

BOER LOSSES 9,979.

Cape Town, Nov. 2.—A reliable estimate of the losses of the Boers up to April 15, has been prepared by some of the men who served with the Boer ambulance. The estimate places the Boer losses up to that date at 2,449 killed and 6,632 wounded. This total does not include Boer losses after the British advance from Kroonstad.

INVALIDED CANADIANS.

Liverpool, Nov. 2.—The Lord Mayor of Liverpool entertained yesterday at luncheon twenty-four invalided Canadians from South Africa, who are to sail for home on the Carthaginian. He expressed his regret that he had not been earlier informed as to the date of their departure, so that he might have assembled the principal people of the city to meet them.

The Brighton Havelock Electric Road.

The Warkworth Journal says—On Friday last we received a letter from Geo. Harden, of Toledo, Ohio, who is to build the electric railway from Brighton to Havelock and through this place. Mr. Harden assured us that he will be here shortly and states that if the people all along the line will put a shoulder to the wheel and grant the aid requested in the way of bonuses, etc., the road is assured. We believe that the bonuses in Cramahe, Percy and the north end of Brighton will carry with large majorities, as we have not yet met one man who will not give the help required to ensure this much desired railroad. Everybody wants the road and it looks as much a certainty as ever.

A CONSERVATIVE MEETING

A Large and Enthusiastic Meeting on Behalf of Mr Sexsmith at Greystock

Messrs. J. Green and J. W. Garvin of town, drove to Greystock last night and held one of the best and most enthusiastic meetings of the campaign, in the interests of Mr. Sexsmith.

The Chair was ably filled by Mr. Smithson, who made some timely remarks upon the present crisis.

Mr. Green, who was the first speaker, referred to the Liberal platform formulated at Ottawa in 1893, which was supplemented by the speeches of that party in 1896, previous to the elections of that year, and shewed how every plank in that platform, as well as all their election promises and pledges had been ruthlessly broken. He particularly drew attention to their policy with regard to their retrenchment of the public expenditure. His scoring of the Reciprocity commission that went to Washington and their extravagant expenses in connection therewith, together with the futility of their efforts, shewed up their insincerity, said the speaker, most effectively. Mr. Green sat down amid applause.

Mr. Garvin who followed was well received and as usual directed a most powerful speech upon the fiscal policy of the Laurier administration, and spoke on subjects that pleased the audience. At the close of the meeting the Chairman pronounced Mr. Garvin the best political speaker in the Midland Counties.

With the usual cheers the meeting broke up at an early hour.

RETURNING SOLDIERS HERE ON MONDAY

Will Arrive on 4:56 a. m. Express and Stay Till Noon.

EVERYBODY SHOULD DECORATE

So Time to be Lost—The Returning Heroes Should be Royally Entertained While in Peterborough.

Last night the Times was informed through C.P.R. channels, that the returning Toronto soldiers will arrive here on the early C.P.R. express on Monday from Montreal, which gets in at 4.56 a.m., and they will disembark and remain until nearly noon, when they will be transported to Toronto by a special train. The object in having the soldiers stop off here is to time their arrival in the Queen city for two o'clock, where a big reception is awaiting them.

They will be met at the station here by the 57th Regiment, and taken to the drill shed, where refreshments will be served, after which they will be entertained until later in the day, when a public demonstration will take place.

A reception committee will arrive from Toronto on Sunday night, and will escort the soldiers to Toronto. They will also be accompanied by the 57th Regiment in full force, with both bands.

The citizens should see to it that every flag and piece of bunting in town is hung out. The Mayor will proclaim a public holiday on Monday, so that everybody may join in doing honor to the noble fellows who have done so much for Canada.

MR. SMIFF PLAYS GOLF.

Bobraygeon Independent. — Mr. Adolphe Smiff, the gentleman who writes our leading articles, strolled up to the golf links the other day to watch the noble game. Smiff likes watching. The laboring man for instance, Smiff can sit for hours and watch the laboring man. Well, Smiff had no sooner arrived on the ground than a sociably inclined young man stepped up and welcomed the great litterateur. After some skilful diplomatic work by the young man, the ridiculous old duffer was induced to take a ball and a cleek. The y. m. said he thought a cap would be more convenient than a white plug hat with a black band, but it wouldn't matter for a trial. Making a pyramid of sand about four inches high and setting a ball on top, the y. m. explained how the cleek should be swung from the shoulder and the ball driven towards the first hole, at the same time mentioning what was usually remarked by beginners after the first shot or two, and Mr. Smiff with overawing paternal dignity advised the y. m. that be should never repeat such things. The old un made a swing and a swipe, and instantly gave the y. m. a vivid example of the shocking effects of repeating such things. The sand pyramid exploded in his face like a shot from a pom-pom. The y. m. smiled, not too loudly. The ball was right there, hadn't moved, didn't say a word. The y. m. made a smaller pyramid, and advised striking a little higher. Swish, click, and up sprang the ball as if fired from a trap, and as Smiff looked up for it, it dropped into his mouth. The young man fell to the ground, shouted first hole in two, rolled over on his back and kicked. The antics of the y. m. rather nettled the old un, and taking off his coat and setting his plug hat a little farther back on his head, fixed the ball for himself. Ah, this time it went. It soared at least seventy feet, and jammed tight into a crotch of a beautiful elm tree. The y. m. said that was a superb shot, had never been made before, and scored a hazard, and the old boy felt tickled and observed it certainly would be a hazard for anyone to get it. Smiff took another ball, and swiped. It was a fizzer and landed with a bang into a huge stone pile. It was a corking fine shot, so the y. m. said, and as it could not possibly be got out with a stick, it was the rule to step back two paces and drop the ball over the left shoulder. Smiff did so, and there was a crash of glass. His hand flashed to his hip pocket and a look of inexpressible grief spread over his classic features. It was a bronchial lotion, prescribed by his medical adviser, so he remarked, and the young man observed that he had always understood that Camlachie was good for the throat. This little contretemps dampened the old chap's ardor somewhat, as well as his trousers, but he shouldered his cleek, and with the advice and assistance of his juvenile friend who had several times to roll on the ground and kick to give expression to his admiration, by dusk of evening he got round the nine holes in just 287 shots, a record, as his young friend assured him, that had never before been made by a first rounder.

NERVE OF THE CASTELLANES.

New York, Nov. 1—The Countess de Castellane, whose property has just been placed under the direction of her brother, George J. Gould, by a French court, was questioned relative to the matter, says a Paris despatch to the world. She said,—

"Please make light of the matter. It will only revive stories which will hurt my dear husband's feelings. He already suffers keenly the exposure of his present situation."

Count Boni, who has been away from Paris for the last three days, will return to-day. Last night he was conversing for an hour with his father over the long distant telephone and heard the news. He is indignant that the court should have appointed a foreigner to watch over the countess' fortune. He wanted his father appointed if a trustee was to be named.

"My son," said the Marquis de Castellane last night, "thought I could serve him equally well. Boni and the Gould brothers won't agree. We both feel that George Gould will administer the trust with harsh parsimony. Boni with difficulty will bear this bondage.

ASSISTANT BISHOP WAS CONSECRATED

Archdeacon Mills Duly Installed as Coadjutor to the Anglican Archbishop of Ontario and Kingston

Kingston, Nov. 2.—Archdeacon Wm. Lennox Mills was consecrated yesterday as Assistant Bishop of St. George's cathedral, being the second event of the kind in the cathedral's history of 107 years. The new incumbent was accompanied to the city by six other bishops of the Canadian Church, and Bishop Walker, of Buffalo. He was also attended by the Dean and fifteen clergymen of the Diocese of Montreal, where he has sent the larger part of his ministerial service.

After the procession from St George's hall to the church, in which many leading Episcopal dignitaries from all parts of Canada took part, the laity proceeded in and lined the aisles, where seats were provided for them outside the pews. The clergy opened out at the door, and the procession proceeded in in reverse order, the choir singing the processional hymn, "The Church's One Foundation," and the visiting bishops took places with the sanctuary. The bishop-elect was seated without the rail. The rural deans, canons, visiting clergy, Chancellor and lay guests were given seats within the chancel. The diocesan clergy were, seated in front of the pews. The galleries were reserved for visitors from other places. The chapel and every available foot of ground were occupied. Over 1,200 were seated through tickets ere the doors were opened at all, after the processional. The silk flag of St. George's Society, the black-red cross of the Patron Saint, covered the side of the organ. The introit hymn as the bishops entered was "How Bright These Glorious Spirits Shine." The Archbishop was celebrant of the communion, the Bishop of Western New York gospeller, and the Bishop of Toronto epistoller.

The sermon was preached by the text Acts xx., 28. Then the litany was read by Archbishop Bedford Jones, the choir singing the responses. The address from the clergy to the new bishop was read by Very Rev. Dean Smith, that of the laymen being read by E. J. B. Pense. Bishop Mills replied appropriately to both addresses.

THE SOLDIERS GIVE SOLEMN PRAISE

Halifax, Nov. 2.—Till 1 o'clock this morning, when a special train of 11 cars bore away the soldier laddies whose homes were further west, the reception of this loyal old city to the returned heroes waged furiously. The big procession formed as soon as the khaki-clad lads had debarked from the Idaho and had kissed their mothers and sisters and cousins who happened to be on hand, made its way through streets fairy-like in their decorations to the Commons. There was held a service of thanksgiving, the like of which the generation here has not witnessed and will likely never witness again. A devout Te Deum expressing obligation for protection from the chances of war was sung by an impromtu choir, assisted by an organ. Chaplain Fullerton read the Lord's Prayer. A thanksgiving song of victory pealed forth. Chaplain Bullock recited the Collect for the occasion, and Chaplain Lane pronounced the benediction. Souvenirs of the service in the form of the Te Deum which had been printed by order of the Mayor were enthusiastically carried off by the crowd.

THE FORMAL WELCOME.

Mayor Hamilton welcomed the soldiers home, and was followed by Lieutenant-Governor Hon. A. G. Jones, who read the message of the Queen to His Excellency the Governor-General. At night there was a banquet tendered by the 3rd Royal Canadian Regiment, and afterwards a grand torchlight procession was held, over two miles long and witnessed by 20,000 people, blocking all the streets. Capt. Stairs and Lieut. Oland were drawn in carriages. Toronto and Montreal commercial travelers occupied two four-in-hands. The large arch took fire and burned merrily while the procession was passing. The Oddfellows and other organizations turned out in force, the firemen in uniform, sailors, soldiers, college students vied with each other in making the affair a success. Bombs, rockets, fire-crackers and small cannon greeted the procession along its continuous line of march.

THE CALL ON CRONJE.

The boys reported that when the Idaho called at St. Helena, on October 8, the Boers there were very much cast down, although Cronje and some of the other kindred spirits were preparing a celebration for Paul Kruger's birthday, which occurred on the 10th. The Idaho swelled the inhabitants of the island prison by 200.

All the officers of the contingent were questioned about the reference by Col. Otter to some "ridiculous contention" by Capt. Stairs of the Halifax company, but all maintained silence. Lieut.-Col. Pelletier seemed to take the matter more to heart than anybody—than Capt. Stairs himself. One officer said that Stairs was a credit to the contingent, and that it was hard to believe that a man who had been selected for such responsible positions as magistrate in one place, commandant in another, and so on, would be guilty of great absurdities.

Many of the Halifax boys defend the captain very warmly. The only explanation they can give for Col. Otter's reference is that Capt. Stairs contended that Capt. Stairs contended that the time of service having expired, the boys were at liberty to return home if they wanted to.

A FRENCH COLUMN DESTROYS BOXER TOWNS

CHINESE TEMPLE WILL BE TOTALLY DESTROYED

Court of Inquiry Instituted by the Allies at Pao-Ting-Fu Wreaks Vengeance on Six of Them.

Pao Ting Fu, Friday, Oct. 26.— The commission of inquiry into the outrages on missionaries here have sentenced to death Tien Yang, the provincial judge; Wang Shung On, the military commandant; General Kiu, and two other officials.

The preparations are complete for destroying on October 27 the most venerated temple in the city.

DEATH-KNELL OF MISSIONS.

New York, Nov. 1.—From Shanghai, under date of Sept. 15, the American Bible Society has received a report from Rev. John R. Hykes, D. D. which says that the withdrawal of troops from Pekin means the dissemination all over China of the news that all the great powers have suffered an ignominious defeat at the hands of the Chinese, and that their valiant generals and loyal soldiers and Boxers have driven them out. The report continues.

"The people will believe and boast that they have wipped the world, and that the foreign nations were unable to inflict upon the perpetrations of nameless outrages the punishment which they deserve. It will be taken for granted that helpless foreign men, women and children may be tortured, outraged and painfully killed at pleasure.

"The effect of this will be effectually to prevent all missionaries from going back to the interior, particularly to the provinces where these atrocities occurred. Li Hung Chang was not slow to recognize this fact, and he had the impudence to suggest in my hearing that the foreign Governments ought to urged to allow no missionaries to go into the northern provinces, as the people did not want them.

"The churches to whom is committed the solemn charge to evangelize the world, may as well know that the patching up of an unsatisfactory peace means the death knell of Christian missions to China. It is not the people who are opposed to us or our work, but the monsters in high places, who instigated and encouraged the outburst of fanatical fury staggered humanity."

PURGING THE VILLAGES.

Paris, Nov. 2.—A despatch to the Havre agency from Peking, dated October 31, says.

"The foreign Ministers continued to-day the discussion of the peace propositions to be presented to the Chinese. The French proposals were accepted. Additional specifications will be discussed Monday. On account of the necessity for through accord between the different Cabinets the final note will not be present for several weeks."

"General Voyron, commander-in-chief of the French troops in China, with the allies under his command is purging the villages aroung Tien Tsin, and Pekin. Many villages infested with Boxers have been distroyed, and their inhabitants punished. A French column sent to Tuan resued the missionaries there. Another French column met with resistance at Siot Chung. The enemy's losses were considerable. The village was burned.

"News received from Pao Ting Fu indicates a movement of French and German troops upon Si Ling, where the Imperial tombs are situated. It is rumored that the army of Yang Yu Kante has resolved to defend the place.

"As the result of equiries made by the International Commission under Gen. Bailloud, second in command of the French troops in China, the allies are convinced that the Grand Treasurer and the Governor of Pao Ting Fu and a Chinese coloney were instrumental in the murder of American and English missionaries, and they have been condemned to death and will be executed soon."

POWERS IN PERFECT ACCORD.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 1.—The text of the American, French and Russian answers to the note answering the Anglo-German agreement on China are now generally known here. They are considered entirely similar in substance, showing that these powers are in perfect accord. The correspondent here of the Associated Press is authorised to say that this has produced an excellent effect both in Government and private circles in this city. The Russian Minister of Foreign Affairs, Count Lamsdorf, is expected to return to St. Petersburg in the middle of November.

PRINCE TUAN HAS FLED.

London, Nov. 2.— The Standard's Shanghai correspondent says that a Chinese official telegram from Siganfu states that Prince Tuan has fled to Mongolia, with his head shaved and disguise as a Buddhist priest. It is reported that he intends to join the Lamas.

Fine and unseasonably mild weather continues in all parts of the Dominion, and while it is likely to be a little cooler in Ontario, with frost at night, there is no indication of any pronounced change.

ALL THE GERMAN TROOPS HAVE ARRIVED IN CHINA

The Body of the Favorite Wife of Emperor Kwang Su Was Found in a Well

Berlin, Nov. 2.—A special despatch to the Hamburg Correspondent says—"In a well, situated in the Imperial palace in Pekin, was found the body of Emperor Kwang Su's favorite wife, Shen Ti, whom the Empress Dowager caused to be drowned, before the flight of the Court from the Capital. The second favorite, Shing Fi and a hundred ladies belonging to the Imperial harem are prisoners in the hands of the allies.

Berlin, Nov. 2.—Official telegrams from Count Von Waldersee show that all the German troops have now arrived in China and been distributed. The First and Second Marines, the First Infantry Brigade and a small force of cavalry and artillery are stationed at Pekin. The Second Infantry Brigade, with a corresponding force of artillery engineers and cavalry is at Pao Ting Fu. One battalion is at Shan Kwai Han.

The Third Infantry Brigade, with a company of sharpshooters, two squadrons of cavalry and several batteries is at Tien Tsin. One battery and several howitzers are at Taku, and there is a force of troops distributed along the railway from Pekin to Yang Tsin, superintending the work of construction. A special despatch from Pao Ting Fu, dated yesterday, says—Telegraphic connection has been completed with Pekin, entirely by the Germans. The railway from Pao Ting Fu to the Capital is nearly completed. French detachments are guarding the line. Health of the troops is steadily improving."

Another batch of letters from private soldiers in China appear to-day in a number of papers, among them the Hanover Courier, which editorially demands official statements with reference to the delay given by the writers of the cruelties alleged to have been committed by German troops in China. This demand is warmly supported by the Freisinnige Zeitung.

BRYAN'S CHANCES.

The New York Sun cannot see the ghost of a show for Bryan, and the Sun is one of the best posted newspapers on the American continent. The Sun takes the Hon. Nathan Bay Scott's forecast as the basis of a brief article that is calculated to give the believer in Bryan chills. Here is Mr. Scott's forecast—

Commenting on this forecast, The Sun says—

While we believe that Maryland, West Virginia and South Dakota are more likely to vote for McKinley than for Bryan, it is scarcely accurate to classify them among "sure Republican" States, it is safer to set them down among the doubtful. The same is true of Utah. Take 21 votes from the Republican column, then, and you have 263 left. Add the 21 to the Democratic list, if you choose, and make it 133. Take the votes of Idaho, Montana, Kentucky and Nebraska, 27 in all, and with them swell the Democratic side to 160. Throw to the Democrats Colorado, Nevada and Missouri with their 24 votes, thereby raising the Democratic total to 184. In a fit of generosity stick the 15 votes of Indiana and the 10 of Kansas into the Democratic pocket. Then the Democrats have 209. The Republicans have 238.

In a word the Sun does not see the remotest possibility of Bryan winning and the Wall street speculators who are offering odds of 6 to 1 on McKinley and finding no takers are of the same opinion.

AT GRANGE HALL, SMITH.

Mr. McClellan Holds a Very Successful Meeting

Mr. McClellan, the Liberal candidate, held a very successful meeting at Grange Hall, Smith, on Wednesday evening last. There was a fair attendance, and all the speakers got a good hearing.

Mr. George Elliott opened, dealing with generalities, and made special reference to the butter and fowl questions, from a farmer's standpoint.

Col. Edwards spoke in the highest terms of Sir Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and backed Mr. Tarte all through. "He is a white man," said the speaker," and has proved himself to be a capable and far-seeing Minister."

Mr. J. H. Burnham, who appeared for the Opposition, made a rattling good speech, in which he proved by the Government Year Book that the trade of the country was on the decline.

Mr. McClellan closed with a strong address, in which he appealed to those pre-

REVOLT IN SPAIN.

Present Rising Greatly Alarms the Spanish Government.

London, Nov. 3, 3 a.m.—The Carlist risings in Spain seem to be spreading so rapidly that the Daily Mail's Madrid correspondent predicts that unless drastic and prompt action is taken by the government the present revolt may lead to the most formidable outbreak since the last war.

"At first," said he, 'it was thought that the skirmish at Badalona, near Barcelona, was an isolated affair, but it is now seen to have been a part of a widespread movement, which, though the Carlist leaders at present affect to ignore, may in the event of successful spread obtain their countenance and support.

MOUNTAIN DISTRICT AFLAME

"All the mountain district north of Barcelona is ablaze and the risings are admitted to bear the genuine Carlist stamp. The revolutionists are in uniform and possess rifles, mostly of modern type, evidently arranged for abroad and secretly smuggled into Spain.

"All pursuing columns have been greatly reinforced and all soldiers on furlough and even those infirm have been recalled to the colors and ordered to be incorporated in the regiments ready to leave for Barcelona in case of need.

"The revolutionaries principally belong to Berga, Iqualada, and Manresa, and the bands must number at least 1,000, and any success will vastly increase their strength. The government is sending warships to Barcelona, and all the various garrisons in the districts thought to be disaffected are under arms. A widespread proclamation of martial law is likely. The guards have also been strengthened along the French border to stop any further importation of arms."

IN PURSUIT OF CARLIST ARMY.

Madrid, Nov. 3.—It is officially admitted that the Carlist band in the vicinity of Berga numbers 800 men. Troops are closely pursuing them. Communication between Berga and Barcelona has been severed.

Another numerous band has appeared at Figols. It has sixteen horses and is divided into three groups.

The gendarmes who searched the country house of Senor Torres Baros, brother-in-law of the Duke of Solferino (who has disappeared), where they seized several rifles, also obtained possession of documents giving the names of 126 Carlist chiefs and 600 Carlist soldiers.

RELIGIOUS BIGOTRY.

An Earnest Protest Against It By Eminent Divines

Rev. Dr. B. D. Thomas.—It is very unfortunate that as election time approaches such charistics as a man's creed or race should be magnified and presented to the classes, who are likely to be prejudiced in as unfavorable a light as possible. Such action I consider utterly contemptible. There is absolutely not the slightest excuse for any such attack being made on a man of the moral breadth of character of Sir Wilfrid Laurier. The confidence I feel in him as a political leader and as a man has already been made public in the Toronto Star.

Rev. Dr. George M. Milligan.—No enlightened Protestant will mix up religion and politics. Regarding Sir Wilfrid Laurier, he is an honor to Canada and I hope and pray Canadians may appreciate him, not when it is too late.

Rev. Prof. Clarke.—I admire the personality of Sir Wilfrid Laurier very much. As to his being a Roman Catholic how could that be used against him! Sir John Thompson was a Roman Catholic on the opposite side of politics and he became Premier. These creed cries are not to be commended, for how can we live with each other unless we exercise mutual toleration?

Dr. G. R. Parkin.—A French Canadian Premier the other day made the noblest speech ever delivered by a colonial minister.—Speech at banquet in Toronto, March 18th, 1900.

Rev. Dr. Dewart.—In the case of Sir Wilfrid Laurier we have a fine example of a liberal-minded Roman Catholic statesman who rises above sectarian issues, and regards the interests of the whole Canadian people as the supreme consideration. Because of this he is trusted as fully by the Protestants of Ontario as by the French Canadian Catholics of the Province of Quebec. ad 4 dy

To the Electors
OF EAST NORTHUMBERLAND

Gentlemen,—

Through the urgent, hearty and unanimous solicitation of the Reform party of East Northumberland, I have consented to be the Liberal candidate to contest the Riding in the coming Dominion election. Time will not allow me to visit personally, therefore I take this opportunity of asking your hearty support as far as you may deem me worthy of the same. If elected I promise you earnest and honest service. Your obedient servant,

R. R. DENIKE.

Collapse.

Caused by overwork? No, caused by undernourishment. Work rarely causes collapse. It is worry—the outcome of a low condition of the nervous system and inadequate nutrition which generally causes collapse. The collapse seems sudden, but in reality it is a slow process. The stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition are diseased, the nourishment in the food eaten is only partially extracted and imperfectly assimilated. The blood becomes impure; the very fount of life is poisoned, and some day all the faculties and functions go on a strike. That's collapse. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the organs of digestion and nutrition, purifies the blood and builds up the weak body with sound healthy flesh.

"I was cured of a very bad case of indigestion, associated with torpid liver, by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery," writes Mr. G. B. Bird, of Byrnside, Putnam Co., W. Va. "Before I began the use of 'Golden Medical Discovery' I had no appetite; could not sleep, nor work but very little, bowels constipated, and life was a misery to me. After taking four bottles I felt so well that I went to work, but soon got worse, so I used it about eight weeks longer, when I was permanently cured."

MESSRS. J. S. HAMILTON & CO., Brantford, Ont., Canada:

Dear Sirs,—In accordance with your wishes I have had both the red and white wines and the champagne tested by several connoisseurs, French and English. All of these expressed surprise that an article of such merit was produced in Canada, and even manufacturers admit that the brand "L'Empereur" is of excellent quality.

This opinion from critics who are by no means easy to please should be very satisfactory to you, and it gives me pleasure to congratulate you upon it. Yours faithfully,

BLOOD POISON.

If you have this awful disease you are in danger until completely cured; the various symptoms you notice should be a warning to take immediate treatment. Don't put it off until too late, as it continually gets worse. If you have sore throat, patches on tongue or mouth, swollen glands, hair falling out, blotches on body, itching skin, or other signs of this awful disease, call on us. We give you a written guarantee to cure you by our LATEST METHOD TREATMENT without Mercury or Potassium, and You Pay When Cured. Each time you call you see Dr. Goldberg personally, who has 18 Diplomas, certificates and licenses received from the various colleges, hospitals and States, which testify to his standing and abilities.

I am improving every day. I notice if I cut or scratch myself the sore will heal up. I hope you will not stop treating me as long as there is a sign of that terrible disease. I am more afraid of it than death. I believe you have the right medicine for the disease. I feel so thankful to you for the good you have done me; I was a perfect wreck when I came to you, and was on the verge of suicide. To make a sure thing I would like to continue a while longer, so that it will not return. Very respectfully yours, Mrs. L. S.

Address to the Electors.

To the Free and Independent Electors of West Peterborough—

Gentlemen.—Having accepted the unanimous nomination of the Liberals of this Riding, as a candidate for its representation in the House of Commons I hereby respectfully solicit your support in securing my return at the coming general elections.

The grounds upon which I base my appeal are not so much nor chiefly by any means, my personal fitness for the position of your representation though as a citizen of Peterborough and interested in its progress in common with that of the country, I can and do promise, if elected, an intelligent support of such a public policy and such measures as will best conduce to the promotion of all the interests of Canada, the development of her great resources and the general betterment of the civil moral and material condition of the public; and my best abilities and most assiduous attention shall be devoted to the faithful discharge of my representative duties.

The strongest ground, however, of my appeal consists in the fact that I am a firm supporter of the Liberal Government led by Sir Wilfred Laurier, which is entitled to the renewed confidence of the people, both on the ground of its policy and the splendid record established by the application of that policy. The Liberal party appealed to the country in 1896 upon a clearly defined policy and the promised results followed.

The Liberal party promised a reduction of a high tariff that hampered our industrial and agricultural interests and was hostile to the Mother Country.

The tariff was materially reduced and otherwise improved and in such a way as to help instead of hinder the manufacturer and farmer, with the consequence that never before in the history of the country have our industries or our farmers enjoyed such great prosperity, our mechanics and working men such constant employment and high wages, nor our commercial and all other interests so flourished.

Our domestic and foreign trade have also greatly increased. The loyal gift of a trade preference, represented by a tariff reduction on British goods of 33 1-3 per cent., and our despatch of the Canadian Contingent, have resulted in a kindlier feeling towards Canada and greatly increased trade with the Mother Country.

With a largely reduced rate of tariff, our revenue has greatly expanded so that the Government was warranted in practicing true economy (reducing our postal rate one third, giving Imperial penny postage,) and premitting of the completion of great public works, deepening our canals, so long trifled with, pushing the work on the Trent Valley Canal which is now urged and will be urged to completion by the Liberal Government, and the application of a vigorous policy of general development and improvement of our transportation facilities, resulting and to result in easier access to the British market and better prices for all our products.

The farming interests of the country are deserving of the best services of a Government, such as the present has given. The immense impetus given the produce trade between Canada and Great Britain, through the preferential tariff, has been greatly helped by the action of the Government in providing an excellent and adequate system of cold storage, by which Canadian products can be landed in Great Britain in first-class condition, guaranteeing the highest prices. The system is of the most modern character, sufficient for all the present needs of the trade, and it will be improved and enlarged as experience suggests, and increase of the produce trade demands, and I shall, if elected, feel it my duty to support any policy that will improve our trade with the Mother Country, and strengthens the bond of British connection, of which we are so proud.

In an industrial centre like Peterborough the claims of the working classes are especially deserving of consideration. No country is well governed that does not look after the interests of all classes of the community. The Conservative Government has been, and the Conservative party declares itself to be, extremely solicitous of the interests of the capitalist classes—the manufacturers—but it left the working classes to largely shift for themselves. A Liberal Government came into power, and the attitude towards Labour was changed, and the rights of Labour to its rights recognised, and in a practical way. A Department of Labour has been established and a Minister of Labour placed over it. A Labour Gazette has been established in the interests of workingmen, published monthly; conditions have been inserted in all Government contracts compelling contractors to pay the highest current wages, which the Government guarantees the payment of; the sweating system has been abolished on Government work enforced by a special officer, and in many other ways the Government has shown by deeds that the rights of the workingmen, as well as the capitalist, shall be protected. I heartily support the Government in what it has done, and shall support them in extending the benefits which they have already conferred, and which it is their policy to continue, as need arises.

The splendid achievements of Canadian soldiers in South Africa, make them worthy of the gratitude of the country. We have the best militia material in the world, and if we keep up a military establishment, let it be worthy of Canadians. Situated as Peterborough is, on the line of the Grand Trunk and Canadian Pacific Railways, and on the line of the Trent Valley Canal, begun as a military work, and now under course of completion, no other point in this Province is so well adapted for a military centre. I shall, therefore, feel it my duty to press upon the Government the advisability of constructing in Peterborough new armories and connected buildings for military stores for Ontario, and I feel that this is practicable of attainment at the hands of a Government which has shown its interest in our volunteers by placing the Militia Department, so greatly neglected by a previous administration, upon an effective basis, and will, therefore, more naturally be well disposed towards the improvement involved in making Peterborough a centre for military stores.

A town of the industrial and commercial importance of Peterborough, has certainly strong claims upon the good offices and of a Government. For the past four years the town has been represented, when it was represented in the House, by a member opposed to the Government. There is no doubt in the minds of unprejudiced observers, that the present Liberal Government will be strongly sustained in the country at the coming elections, and the question arises whether West Peterborough will have its interests better served by a member sitting in opposition and hostile to the Government and its policy, or by a member pledged to give the Government a fair support in the application of its policy. If elected I pledge myself to give my best ability and exertions to the promotion of the general good of the country, and to look especially after the interests of West Peterborough.

I cannot obviously here, enter into details of how, in other ways the Liberal Government has implemented its promises and applied its policy, but I shall have an opportunity during the campaign of more fully dealing with these and other public questions.

As a supporter of such a Government I can appeal with confidence for the support of the Electors of West Peterborough, knowing that by helping to give, as you will do, through my election, a renewal of the trust the Liberal Government has discharged with such evident and gratifying results, they will be conferring a great and lasting good upon this riding, the country at large, and securing a continuation of the great blessings of prosperity and good government we now enjoy.

Again soliciting your support, your votes, and influence, in this contest,

I have the honor to be,
gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,
J. H. McCLELLAN

Love
Won - and - Lost.
A NOVEL.

"His last farewell," responded Izetta. "It was not the parting of an indifferent husband, madam. 'My darling,' he said, 'something has happened which will necessarily part us for a few days, but it will be only for a few days at most, then I shall return to my wife.' He placed all the money he had about him in my hands, together with the address of the nurse. He never knew I was left destitute, he was not so hard as that."

"But the address," questioned Loraine, "even had you not lost it, it was useless; no one in Silverneck knew of him, you say?"

"That was the only part of it I could not understand, madam. I advertised for months in the city papers for Alderic, or any one who knew his whereabouts; it was all useless. Since that fatal morning I have never looked upon his face."

Loraine could not imagine the depths of such cruelty.

"I ought to be very happy, Mrs Ross; I have never known one wish unfulfilled. I never had a serious thought in life until I met my husband; then I said to myself, unless I gain the love of this man, life will hold no pleasure for me; he was more to me than all the world, and when I married him my happiness was complete. I would as soon think of living without the sunshine as without my husband's love," and the proud, petted beauty trembled as she spoke.

Izetta sighed, as she replied:

"My husband's love was wholly apart from my life; I had no share in it; now I shall live only for my boy alone. I loved Alderic so fondly, such a love as mine ends only in death."

There was such pathos in her voice that Loraine felt vaguely uneasy; she did not like sombre thoughts.

She was so irresistibly drawn toward Izetta that she determined not to part with her.

"You have not seen my husband Mrs. Ross; he was called suddenly away the morning after Christmas. I expect him home some time to-day."

"I shall tell him the sad story of this poor creature, then when he sees her, he will think more kindly of her," she thought.

Loraine did not quite like the idea of having the child there, and as soon as practicable she believed Izetta could be induced to part with it; she believed, too, that having it taken charge of elsewhere would be best for the child.

She had yet to learn the power of mother-love; she was sorry she had named this stranger's child after her husband.

Loraine was wondering how she could find words to tell her she must part from her child, as Izetta thanked her so gratefully for her goodness. Poor Izetta, how could she think that this fair, proud woman envied her the possession of her little child.

Deep down in Izetta's heart she had a hope that some day she would be united to Alderic through his child her faith was so steadfast.

"We must wait very patiently, you and I baby," she said; "some day we shall meet Alderic," her heart gave a great throb of joy at the thought it almost took her breath away.

Loraine had decided to say nothing of the plans she had concluded for baby's future until she conferred with Ulmont.

Quite as Loraine had expected, he was amazed; he heard his haughty wife, whom few could please, had decided to keep the benighted wanderer who had fled there for shelter beneath their roof.

A feeling of pity for the deserted young wife, whom he determined not to like, stole over him, as his golden-haired Loraine repeated her sad story.

"It seems almost incredible," he said, "that such wrongs can go unpunished. I will see this young person to-morrow; then I can better judge whether she is more sinned against than sinning; whether or not she is a fit companion for you my wife."

He was determined she should not be urged to remain, until after he had seen her.

There was but one incentive which led him to think favorably of the affair, which was a keen desire to keep the child near him.

He meant never to lose sight of the child born at Ulvesford Mansion; if he never had an heir of his own, perhaps —who could tell what he would do for the little fellow in the future.

He told himself he would think as well of the mother as he could— for the child's sake.

The next morning Izetta was summoned to the library. Loraine had sent word that her husband wished to speak with her.

Izetta was holding baby when the maid delivered the message.

"Mr. Ulvesford wishes to see me?" she asked, in dismay.

"He says you are to come at the earliest moment, please; he's a walking up and down the room, and not in a pleasant mood, either. He's a nice gentleman, but he does get most awful cross when he has those thinking spells, as we call 'em. Why, them times you could go straight past him a dozen times a minute and he would look straight over your head without seeing you. I've seen him even turn his head away from his wife, and say 'Don't trouble me now, Loraine; go away, I'm thinking.' He's always been thinking, no one but himself knows what about. If we have anything particular to say to Mr. Ulvesford we always wait till he's through with his spell o' thinking."

"Ah, baby," whispered Izetta, when alone, "perhaps Mr. Ulvesford regrets his wife has offered you and me a shelter."

Unconsciously her hand closed over the same little waxen fingers that had curled so confidingly in Ulmont's clasp; slowly she turned and descended the grand stairway.

"Come in, Mrs. Ross," called Loraine, as she passed her door.

Loraine's boudoir was a fitting casket for the jewel it held; the room was a mass of softened bloom and perfume with a great profusion of tall, white lilies, that held up their white cups to the glimmering sunlight.

Izetta never forgot Loraine as she stood there on that winter morning the memory lingered with her, half pleasure, half pain, all the years of her after life.

She wore a robe of spotless white as she bent her beautiful head over the lilies, one of her golden curls twined around the lily's stem, and mingled with its golden calyx.

A WONDERFUL
KIDNEY and Bladder CURE

The Honorable Chairman of the Board of County Commissioners, Ellsworth, Kansas, tells how ALKAVIS cured him after Doctors and all other Remedies had Failed.

BRIGHT'S DISEASE, GRAVEL, DROPSY,
And Rheumatism Mastered at Last.

One of the most remarkable medical discoveries of the century is the Kava-Kava Shrub, found on the Ganges River, East India, which has a wonderful action on the kidneys and bladder. Since its introduction into this country its fame has quickly spread, because of its seemingly impossible cures. Prominent men and women have testified to its great curative powers, and hospital tests prove its infallibility even in advanced stages of Bright's Disease. Among the more recent recoveries is that of Hon. I. A. Hopkins, Chairman Board of County Commissioners, Ellsworth, Kansas, who says:

GENTLEMEN:—I will say that I believe and know that I owe my life to Alkavis. I had been troubled with Kidney and Bladder Trouble for years. Two years ago I was sick for six weeks with Malarial Fever which left me in a bad condition. My limbs were swollen with Rheumatism so that I could hardly walk; I was troubled with Indigestion from taking Medicine for my Urinary troubles which had become very much worse. I had to get up every hour of the night to urinate. I passed great quantities of blood on account of hemorrhage of the Kidneys and Bladder. I tried and had been trying everything in the shape of Medicine for Kidney Trouble that I could think of or that the Doctors recommended, but nothing helped me for I kept getting worse. I suffered great pain continually in my Kidneys. I made up my mind unless I could get relief that I only had a short time to live. About this time my attention was called to an advertisement of Alkavis. As a drowning man will grasp at a straw, I was ready to try anything for relief. I sent to you for three bottles. I began to take it, and before I had taken it one week I began to feel the good effects of Alkavis. My Kidney Trouble and Rheumatism were soon gone, my digestion became all right, I found myself in better health than for ten years and I am in good health now. I know that Alkavis saved my life. What more can anyone say for a medicine? Unlike most medicines it is good for indigestion. It gives the person taking it a good appetite. I have recommended Alkavis to a great many people and all have been benefited by its use. I am 53 years of age, and am very grateful for what Alkavis has done for me.

Respectfully yours, I. A. HOPKINS.

Not only does this great discovery—Alkavis (the Kava-Kava Compound)—cure all forms of kidney and bladder diseases, but by expelling from the blood all poisonous deposits, deposits of lime, uric acid, urates and lithates, it banishes gravel, torpid liver, rheumatism, pains in back, difficult and too frequent urination, etc. The cure is complete. No phase is neglected, and the stomach, heart and nerves are toned and invigorated. No other medicine in the world will perform the work of Alkavis. To enable sufferers to get well and spread the glad tidings we have arranged to send a Large Case of Alkavis FREE by mail to all who write us. The case goes entirely FREE.

TOWN AND COUNTY NEWS

Election Returns

The Times on Thursday morning will publish the full returns of the elections, up to 4 a.m. We have a special wire from Toronto, and will thus be able to give the fullest details possible to obtain up to the hour of going to press.

Boys Rewarded.

Mr. J. H. McClellan, the Liberal candidate, was visited at his home, Gilmour street, on Hallowe'en, by a party of young boys, who gave him cheers. With characteristic generosity Mr. McClellan responded with cash sufficient to enable the lads to have a feast of candies and other goodies.

The Gunpowder Plot

Monday will be the anniversary of the Gunpowder Plot, and will be remembered in many places by the Orangemen. At Downer's Corners L.O.L. will give a fowl supper, with a programme of music and speeches. Busses will leave the Post Office corner at seven, to take people to the hall. After the entertainment Guy Fawkes will be burned in effigy.

Just What the People Want

We have purchased a large number of portfolios of South Africa, containing from 22 to 25 views each, the regular price of which is 25 cents, but have bought them in such a way as to be able to sell them at ten cents a copy, or sent by mail for eleven cents a copy. Order early. Times Bookstore, Market Block, Peterborough.

The Liveryman's Harvest

The local liveries are doing a good business just now, nearly every available horse being required in connection with the elections. During the past few days the returning officers have been delivering the ballot boxes and election papers to the various polling places, which means a lot of driving, especially in East Peterborough.

Leading American Papers

Below is a list of Sunday editions of American papers that are kept weekly on our counters and can be had quarterly, half-yearly or yearly or by the single copy—Herald, New York; Times, New York; Eagle, Brooklyn, N.Y.; Tribune, Chicago; Times, Chicago; Inter-Ocean, Chicago; Globe, Hartford; Express, Buffalo; Chronicle, San Francisco; Enquirer, Cincinnati. Y W C A Classes

Vocal Music, on Tuesday evenings from seven to eight, in charge of Miss L. Bellegham, graduate of Toronto Conservatory of Music.

Physical Culture, for which the gymnasium of the Y.M.C.A. will be used, on Wednesday evenings from seven to eight, and Friday afternoon from five to six. Mr. McLeod, whose reputation for excellence in this department of work is well known, is in charge.

Painting in oils and water colors, Thursday evenings from 7.30 to 9.30. Teacher, Miss Brown, who has made the lessons within the reach of all.

Children's Sewing Class, on Saturday afternoons, from half-past two to half-past four. Come children and be junior members of our Association.

Call early at the Y.W.C.A. rooms, 169 Brock street, join the Association and enter your name for the classes now, so that there will be a large number starting at once. The earlier you begin the longer the term.

JOTTINGS ABOUT TOWN.

—The Finance Committee of the Council met last night and passed some accounts.

—John Parker, of Lindsay, attempted suicide by taking two ounces of laudanum, but he will likely recover.

—The steamer Empress took a number of hunters to the head of Stony Lake on Wednesday.

—A large number of workmen are employed on the Cement Co's building at present. Big strides are being made in its construction.

—In police court yesterday morning Fred Baker was charged with purloining paint from Joseph Yelland on Thursday last. The case was remanded until Monday.

—Mrs. Jesse Martin, formerly of Havelock, has secured the sum of $1,5000.00 damages from the G.T.R. for the death of her husband in February last.

—A popular talk on the Lift Lock, accompanied by some fine lantern views of the Trent Valley was given last night in the Young Men's Bible Class room, George street church.

—Lakefield News—The family of Mr. H. R. Patterson has removed to Peterboro and will reside at 183 Stewart St. We understand Mr. Patterson will still conduct his jewelry business in the village.

Norwood Register—The oldest elector cannot recall a quieter campaign than the present campaign in East Peterborough. The riding has been the scene of many a hot fight, but up to date it is entirely devoid of ginger.

—A number of dishes, which were loaned by the ladies for the Rugby ball, are still at the opera house, as well as two table cloths. They can be claimed any time on Saturday, Monday, Tuesday or Wednesday at the opera house.

—At Port Hope on Monday afternoon Mr. Wm. Richmond Hitchins, B. A. Toronto, actuary of the Manufacturers' Life, and son of Major T. M. Hitchins, Liverpool, England, and Katherine Crawford, daughter of the late Adam Hudspeth, Q.C., Lindsay, were married.

—The George Matthews Co., have had a forty foot flag pole erected on their packing house. On the arrival of the soldiers from Africa, Mr. Joe Matthews being one, an eighteen foot Canadian ensign will be hoisted in honor of the occasion. Messrs. J. J. Turner & Sons did the trick.

—It is expected that the members of the Canadian contingent, who have disembarked from the Idaho, will arrive in Toronto on Monday about 2 p.m., per C.P.R. The reception committee from that city, together with all the Toronto soldiers who have returned to date, will meet the men at Peterborough and proceed back to the Queen City.

—For dealing in an unlawfully offensive manner with a fence at the corner of Sherbrooke and Aylmer-sts. on Hallowe'en, three boys have been summoned to appear in Police Court to explain, and if they place the fence in the condition in which they found it, the Magistrate may deal leniently in regard to the offence.

—For marrying without the consent of the executors of his father's will, Mr. John D. Hamilton, of Belleville, has been cut off without a cent. Thirty-five thousand dollars was willed to him provided he should marry under the will of the executors, Messrs. Alex. Peterson, Toronto, and Alex. Hamilton, Warkworth. He is at present living at Cleveland. He has commenced action for the recovery of the amount and the case will be tried on November 9th.

Salt Rheum, Tetter, Eczema.—These distressing skin diseases relieved by one application. Dr. Agnew's Ointment is a potent cure for all eruptions of the skin. Jas. Gaston, Wilkesbarre, says: "For nine years I was disfigured with Tetter on my hands. Dr. Agnew's Ointment cured it." 35 cents.—31

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

[The Times invites all its readers to contribute to this column items concerning the movements of well-known people, business men, and particulars of at homes, parties, etc. Telephone the Times, or send rough outline, and we will put it into shape.]

—Mr. Robert Martin, an old Peterborough boy, is in town on business.

—Rev. W. R. Young, D.D., of Port Hope, has accepted an invitation to the First Methodist church, St. Thomas.

—At Port Hope on Wednesday Miss Laura Hudson was married to Mr. Clarence Wood, of Coldstream, Ont. Mr. and Mrs. Wood arrived in Peterborough by the 6.15 train, and a reception was tendered at the home of Mrs. Tranter, a sister of the bride.

—Lindsay Post—Messrs. Brandon, McDougall & Austin, of Fenelon Falls, are making some very large shipments of stock to the Buffalo markets these days, as well as to Toronto and Peterboro. On Monday they sent 600 sheep across the border, and next week they will load eight cars of cattle, sheep and hogs.

WHITE BREAD EATERS.

Pin Their Faith to a Shadow.

"I was always a great white bread eater, together with pastry, hot biscuit, and generally used coffee.

"For some years there was no noticeable effects from this diet, but finally the inevitable happened. My strength began to fail, mind grew dull and stupid. I could eat but little food and could not digest that.

"I had always been of a happy and sunny disposition, but now became morose and miserable and very cranky to the other members of the family.

"One morning a new food called 'Grape-Nuts,' appeared on the table. I discovered it had a different taste than the usual health foods. There was a rich, pleasant flavor that seemed to satisfy me perfectly. I became fascinated with Grape-Nuts.

"I have now used this food three months, my strength has increased greatly, my mind is now as 'clear as a bell' and I can go through the wear and tear of a day without feeling at all exhausted. I sleep perfectly and have gained upwards of 10 pounds in weight.

"I have noticed that strong, healthy people enjoy Grape-Nuts as well as sick people, and it seems more nourishment than meat or any food I have ever seen. You can publish this, but please omit my name." ——, Plattsmouth, Neb., P.O. Box 881. This man's name will be given by the Postum Cereal Co., Ltd., at Battle Creek, Mich.

"Better the Feet Slip Than the Tongue."

Slips of any kind are to be deplored, but there is one slip Nature never forgives. It is the carelessness of ignoring the signal that the body is in danger of wreck. It may be that the kidneys or the stomach or the head gives the warning sign. But remember, the blood feeds every organ of the body.

Make no slip, but first tone up the system through the blood, and health will surely follow. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the best preparation man has devised to make pure, life-giving blood. It never disappoints.

Swellings—"I had a swelling on my chest. It caused me great pain and many sleepless nights. Physicians advised an operation but my daughter urged that I take Hood's Sarsaparilla instead. I did so and after using six bottles, the swelling went away and I have not had any more pains." MRS. J. W. CRONKWRIGHT, 432 Front St., Belleville, Ont.

Erysipelas—"I would strongly urge the use of Hood's Sarsaparilla for erysipelas or any scrofulous disease. I have received great benefit from Hood's Sarsaparilla for the former complaint. It is an excellent blood purifier." MRS. H. D. WEST, Church Street, Cornwallis, Nova Scotia.

Powley's Liquified Ozone

New System of Treating Disease

Cures Thos. Alison of Bright's Disease of the Kidneys

To tell of the great good done him by Powley's Liquified Ozone, is the motive which compelled Thos. Alison, Esq., the well-known importer of 11 Colborne St., Toronto, to give his testimonial for that preparation. Mr. Alison is rated in any commercial agency at hundreds of thousands of dollars; he had the very best treatment and yet he only obtained relief from the awful torture of Bright's Disease of the Kidneys through Powley's Liquified Ozone. He says—Some years ago I was taken with a bad attack of Kidney Disease. I used to suffer a great deal from pain in my back, and for a time I fancied I had a touch of sciatica. The pain would be especially bad in the morning, and I tell you it was agony to get out of bed. It seemed as though a hundred sharp knives were stabbing me.

This sort of thing went on for some time, and I tried the best physicians in the city. In the spring of this year, a friend of mine recommended me to take Ozone. I hadn't much faith in it, but resolved to give it a trial. It took three bottles to cure me. The relief was remarkable in a short time; and I have not been troubled since. Have recommended it to a number of my friends, who have also had good results. Ozone is a fine remedy for stomach or kidney disease. It never fails to produce good results.

Signed, THOS. ALISON,
11 Colborne St., Toronto.

Powley's Liquified Ozone is $1.00 a large bottle, 50c. small size. All druggists, or from the laboratories of the Ozone Co., of Toronto, Limited, 48 Colborne St., Toronto, also by Wm. Madill

A Y M C A Coffee Room

A coffee room has been opened in connection with the Y.M.C.A., and will be an acceptable innovation for many. For the present the coffee room will be open on two evenings a week—Tuesdays and Thursdays, from 8.30 to 10.30,—when coffee, cocoa, beaftea, sandwiches will be served. Tickets for same will be supplied at the office at a small cost. The social committee will have charge each evening. The room formerly used as a bicycle room has been fitted up with tables and a full equipment of dishes. The kitchen in the west corner, has a gas stove and all other necessary appliances.

Wedding Bells

On Wednesday last Park Street Church was the scene of a very pretty wedding, when Miss Emma Barrie, daughter of Mrs. George Barrie, 320 Edinburgh street, and Mr. W. A. Preston, of Toronto, were married, Rev. O. C. Elliott officiating. The bride was attractively attired in a travelling gown of grey, and carried a beautiful bouquet of chrysanthemums. Both bride and groom were unattended. Wm. Barrie, a brother, was the bride's escort and also gave her away. A sumptuous wedding dinner was served at the bride's home at the conclusion of the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Preston left upon the 4.45 train for Toronto, where they will reside. The Times extends its hearty congratulations.

THE PRIZE WINNERS

At Fairs and Exhibitions Used the

DIAMOND DYES

The Fall fairs and exhibitions held this year in Canada were a source of pleasure and satisfaction to hundreds of energetic and artistic ladies. Magnificent displays of Mats, Rugs and Carpets made from rags dyed with the Diamond Dyes, drew the special attention of thousands of visitors.

In ninety-nine cases out of every hundred, the exhibitors who use the Diamond Dyes to color the materials of which their Mats, Rugs and Carpets were made, took the best prizes. No stronger proof of the superiority of Diamond Dyes could be demanded. Women all over Canada will find it pays to use Diamond Dyes to re-color their faded and dingy looking dresses, skirts, blouses, capes, jackets, ties, ribbons, etc. One package of Diamond Dyes will do as much work as three packages of the common dyes, and give colors far more beautiful, more brilliant and more lasting.

OMEMEE.

Roots are well saved, and are an abundant yield. Never was there a more comfortable approaching winter for both men and beast.

A few cases of typhoid fever are reported, but none have proved fatal.

One of the saddest of deaths is that of Mr. John Rutherford, living most of his life three miles south of this place. Last Sunday morning he went out to feed and water the stock, and wandering into the woods was not found until Monday morning, when life was extinct. The supposed cause of death was heart trouble and weakness. Deceased was 68 years of age and had been to Peterborough on Saturday, and was a well-to do farmer and a consistent member of the Presbyterian church.

Y. W. C. A. Classes

ATTACK of ROYAL CANADIANS at Paardeberg

The present is a time when war pictures are in greater demand than ever. The conduct of the British soldiers on the battlefield has won the plaudits of admiring nations. We have at great expense published four large, beautiful pictures size 20x24, on heavy, superfine calendered paper. A picture that will commend itself and send a thrill to the heart of every true Canadian is the one called Attack of Royal Canadians at Paardeberg, there are literally hundreds of figures on this picture, the mountains or kopjes stretching out into the distance are swarming with men, while here and there a prostrate figure speaks only too well of the Boer rifleman. It was on this battlefield the gallant Major Arnold met death unflinchingly. Indeed, it is only too true that many of those gallant hearts that beat so high when the cheering thousands bade them Godspeed as they sailed from Canada's shores now lie still forever in lonely graves on the other side of the world under African skies. To every Canadian heart, to every Canadian home, the deeds of their brave soldier boys speak with an irresistible thrill of patriotism and pride. Gordon Highlanders at the Battle of Belmont, Charging the Boer Guns at Elandslaagte and the Charge of Gen. French's Cavalry on the Retreating Gen. Cronje's Army. These are all stirring pictures and cannot fail to commend themselves to anyone who will examine them. They are RED HOT SELLERS! Agents coin money. Big profits Enormous success. One agent sold 68 in one day. Sample and terms 25 cts (none free); four for 80 cts; $1.75 per dozen; 25 for $3.25; 50 for $6.00; 100 for $11.00 Write to day for a dozen and make money. ENGLAND'S SUPREMACY IN SOUTH AFRICA

Hon. Joseph Chamberlain's Great Appeal to the Nation.

BRITAIN WILL STRONGLY HOLD THE COUNTRY

The Policy of Britain Clearly Set Forth by the Colonial Secretary That Leaves No Room for Doubt.

London, Nov. 5, 3 a.m.—Hon. Joseph Chamberlain has sent the following out for publication—

We have reached the final stage in a great war, which has involved a great sacrifice of life and treasure, but has been made illustrious by the heroism of the imperial forces and the patriotism of all classes of the people of the United Kingdom, and have also enlisted, for the first time in the history of the empire, the enthusiastic support of our kinsmen in all the self-governing colonies. The war was just and inevitable, and not another instance of the policy of the greed and oppression of which our enemies accuse us. Above all, its fruits will be retained, and the glorious valor of our soldiers, the ungrudging support of our fellow-subjects in all parts of the world, and the sacrifices which we and they have sustained will not now be thrown away. The objects with which the war was undertaken are to be fully secured.

The Government of Great Britain derives its strength and influence from the people. Those who wish ill to Great Britain, whether in South Africa or nearer home, have been encouraged by the hope of a reaction in popular opinion which would waken the hands of the Executive, and snatch from us, even at the last moment, the fruits of victory.

Our opponents assert that we deliberately provoked a war for which we made no preparation.

The first statement is untrue, and the second is greatly exaggerated. The war was forced upon us by the sudden invasion and occupation of her Majesty's territories by the armed forces of the two Republics, at a time when negotiations for a peaceful settlement were still proceeding. These negotiations were conducted, on our part, from first to last in a spirit of the greatest moderation, and it is admitted, even by the best friends of the Boers, that a reasonable concession to our just demands would have been for the benefit of the South African Republic, and would have secured its independence and preserved peace. But President Kruger and the corrupt oligarcy which followed his lead were determined to concede nothing, but to maintain at all hazards the monopoly of power which they had abused for their own advantage, but to the injury of the great majority of the population who had been invited into the Transvaal on the faith of a solemn promise of equal rights and privileges. The Orange Free State entered into the contest without even the pretense of a grievance of their own, and in spite of the declaration of President Steyn that they would in no case be the aggressor.

It is true then, in a certain limited sense, that we were unprepared for an attack for which there was no just or reasonable pretext. It is also true that, forseeing as we did, the serious nature of such a contest, we desired to avoid it by all means short of a betrayal of our fellow-subjects and surrender of the rights of the Queen, and that accordingly we refrained as long as possible from a demonstration of military force which would have certainly precipitated the conflict. But we did, nevertheless, raise the garrison in South Africa from 3,000, at which it was left by our predecessors, to 22,000, at which it stood in the first week of the war—a force which we were advised by the highest authorities in this country and in South Africa would be sufficient to maintain the strategic points until an army equal to offensive operations could arrive in South Africa. This advice was justified in the result, and the successful defence of Ladysmith, Kimberley and Mafeking has confirmed the confidence which was placed in the courage and resource of the troops, who thus withstood the brunt of the enemy's attack.

The subsequent operations of the war have involved the dispatch of more than 200,000 men, with their artillery and supplies, and this great force, many times larger than has left these shores before, or has ever been sent abroad by any other country with a similar object, has been transported without a loss of a single life over 6,000 miles of sea.

It has been required, not only to beat the enemy in the field, but also to maintain the communications of the army over more than 1,500 miles in a country peculiarly adapted to surprises, every inch of which is known to the brave and active men who have resisted our advance. Under the skilful leadership of Lord Roberts all difficulties have been overcome, and the governments of the two Republics have now paid the penalty of their insolent aggression, and have ceased to exist.

It is the policy of the present government that these separate and independent governments, which have been a constant menace to her Majesty's supremacy in South Africa, shall never again be restored, but after that a period of administration, backed by military force, the length of which will depend on the readiness with which the Boer population accept the British flag, the people of the two States shall be received into the empire on the footing of self-governing colonies, in which position they will enjoy more liberty than they ever did before, and an equality of rights and privileges which they have persistently denied to the British in their midst. The success of this policy, which has been approved by all the self-governing colonies that have taken part in the war, depends upon its continuity. Any weakening of the government, any sign of change in the resolution of the people, will be the signal for intrigues which must delay, and which may defeat it.

The latest information shows that it is on the expectation of such a chance that Mr. Kruger and his supporters have relied.

HE COULD HAVE STOPPED THE WAR

Gen. Schalkburger Would have Acte Differently than Paul Kruger

If General Schalk Burger had controlled the destinies of the Transvaal Republic during the troubled period preceeding October 9, when Kruger crossed the Rubicon, there would have been no war. This, at least, is a logical assumption, bearing in mind his previous record, which is more of a political than a fighting one.

For Schalk Burger was distinctly a peace man. Besides hating war, he had strong reasons for differing with his chief. In virtue of his position as Vice-President of the Transvaal Republic, it was expected of him that he would support the President in everything he did—in every word he spoke. But though regarded by the old Boers as a dreamer of impracticable things, Burger had a mind of his own. And he was not afraid to speak it. Now that he is the Boer Vice-President in name only it is opportune to recall that speech of his delivered in the Volksraad weeks before the war broke out in order to show what manner of man he is. He was not in favour of the war. With prophetic vision he hinted at dire calamities in the future; he as good as told Kruger that the Boer attitude could not be maintained.

Kruger was wroth with him, and it was told in Pretoria that the old man made use of some epithets which are not to be found in his well-thumbed Dutch Bible.

UITLANDERS' CHAMPION.

How did Schalk Burger see different from Kruger? How was it possible that he should hold contrary views? To get answers to these questions it is necessary to hark back to that farcical commission appointed by Kruger as a result of the Jameson Raid. "These Uitlanders must have grievances," said some of the greybeards in the Volksraad, and they urged upon the President to investigate them. Schalk Burger was on that commission—was the leading man on it, in fact. It was called the Industrial Commission, and was held at Johannesburg. The sittings lasted several months; the Uitlanders had the fullest opportunities for ventilating the grievances. After taking all the evidence that it was possible to take, after hearing every complaint, Mr. Schalk Burger and his fellow commissioners drew up their report. And they come to this conclusion, that the Uitlanders' complaints, urged for years, were practically justified.

Then a dramatic thing happened, which resulted in Schalk Burger being snuffed out. The pushful young Hollander, Dr. Leyds, who was at that time scouring Europe, seeking interviews with those in high places, with a view to assisting the Boer Republic, heard of the commission's finding. He immediately ceased frequenting the back doors of European Foreign Offices, and made tracks for Pretoria. It was an all day for Schalk Burger when the Machivellian Leyds showed his face. The young Hollander had long and frequent talks with Kruger on the subject of the Commission's conclusions, and, as a result, the old President told Schalk Burger that by putting his name to such a report he had proved himself a trator. Thus were Burger's well-meant efforts to do justice to the Uitlanders, and so remove the friction between Johannesburg and Pretoria, set at naught.

Kruger disliked him ever afterwards. So did Cronje and Joubert. And their dislike was intensified by the fact that Burger had his eye on the Presidential chair. They knew that in some respects he was better fitted for the position than either of them.

Then, too, the new "President" of the Transvaal could see two sides to every question. And this, in Kruger's eyes, was a heinous offence.

POLITICAN AND FIGHTING MAN

Schalk Burger is something more than a politican. Though he does not parade his patriotism, though he never makes use of the Bible in order to justify his personal quarrels, he who had the courage to recommend that the Uitlanders should receive better treatment also showed that his patriotism, as the word is understood by the Boers, was unimpeachable. For when the war broke out, he did not make his position of Vice-President of the Republic a pretext to stay at home, but mounted his pony, shouldered his Mauser, and put himself at the head of his men.

And the politician, the dreamer, made it known to those members of the Boer Executice who were wont to deride him that he could fight. Sir George White and Sir Redvers Buller should be able to testify on this point. They will grudgingly admit that Schalk Burger had a hand in planning not a few Boer successes in Natal.—London Express.

THERE IS NO PROSPECT OF REFORM

Social Infiuence in the Way of Improving the English War Office

New York, Nov 3.—Mr. I. N. Ford, cabling from London, to the Tribune, says.—The Cabinet changes remain the chief topic of conversation, especially in the clubs and military circles. Mr. Brodrick's appointment to the War Office is extremely well received among military men and in the social sets. This may not be a particularly good sign, but Mr. Brodrick is an expirienced official, who knows the details of the military administration, is a good debater and a man of great energy. He will not be a square peg in a round hole. He is also the eldest son of Lord Middleton, and is extremely popular among the smart people of the West end.

DESPAIR OF CHANGES.

Radical reformers do not hesitate to say that he is an optimist, who cannot be depended upon to resist social influences. They despair of witnessing those sweeping changes in the system and espicially in the training and diciplining of officers, which are urgently needed, and they say that Lord Roberts will smooth over everything in trying to find the lines of least resistance, and that Mr. Brodrick will be a plausible advoca te in defence of the present system.

WHAT MAKES IT BAD.

The truth is that social influence lies at the root of the worst evils of the military service. This is what every war correspondent who witnessed the campaign in South Africa frankly admits, and the conditions of society in London justify that conclusion.

One of the best informed men about South Africa says.—"Lord Kitchener is the only man who can reform the British army, for he alone cares absolutely nothing for the opinions of titled women and smart people." Generals Buller, White, Methuen and Gatacre, and almost all the other generals, except Macdonald and Kitchener, have social backing in London. There is a strong Guards clique, and the titled and fashionable classes are bound up in defence of the military establishment, which is managed to a large extent by the men of their own class.

WHAT IS NEEDED.

What is needed more than anything else is a thorough-going reform, which will open the army, on democratic lines, to the masses of the nation. There will be many technical improvements in the artillery, cavalry and other services, and many weak points in the system of Imperial defence will be strengthened, but there will not likely to be any infusion of fresh blood in the army. Politicians assert that in place of a clean sweep of rusty functionaries, the Cabinet changes have merely strengthened the grip of Mr. Chamberlain upon the Adminstration. There are many people who see Mr. Chamberlain's fine Roman hand in everything that happens in public life.

THERE IS A CLOUD ON QUEBEC'S JOY

While Watching the Procession of Returning Soldiers, a Balcony Collapsed.

Quebec, Nov. 3.—The public demonstration in honour of our brave boys from South Africa was marred by a frightful accident, which happened at 10.30 o'clock, during the parade at the top of Mountain Hill. Five people were standing on a very old, rickety balcony at the rear of the second storey of the building occupied by the Chiandor Hotel, when it went down suddenly with a terrible crash. One of the occupants of the balcony, a young man named George Adams, had his spine broken. His death is expected every moment. Another man, named Fred. Letourneau, had his right leg broken, while a man named Pipe was also badly hurt. A young lady, named McCaskell, was standing underneath, was frightfully crushed. She had a leg broken in three places. She may also die from her injuries. Another lady, whose name is unknown, was also badly hurt, and had to be brought to her home by the ambulanse.

LORD ROBERTS SPEAKS WELL OF THE SOLDIERS

London, Nov. 3.—A Pretoria despatch says that the Boers raided Reddersburg, which is due south of Bloemfontein, in Orange River Colony, on October 26th. The garrison surrendered, but the prisoners were afterwards released.

Ventersburg, which is south-west of Kroonstad, in the same colony, has been destroyed. The Boers are very numerous west of Kroonstad and in the vicinity of Lindley, east of the same place.

ROBERTS' ADVICE.

London, Nov. 3.—Lord Roberts sends from Pretoria a striking appeal to his countrymen to refrain from turning the welcome on the home-coming of the troops into a drunken orgy. He expresses the sincere hope that the welcome will not take the form of treating to stimulants, and "thus lead to excesses that will tend to degrade those whom the nation delights to honor, and lower the soldiers of the Queen in the eyes of the world, which has watched with undisguished admiration the grand work they have performed for their sovereign and country."

He says—"I am very proud to be able to record with the most absolute truth that the conduct of this army from first to last has been exemplary. Not a single case of serious crime has been brought to my notice; indeed, nothing deserving the name of crime. I have trusted to the men's own soldierly feeling and good sense, and they have borne themselves like heroes on the battlefield, and like gentlemen on all other occasions."

Lord Roberts explains that he thus appeals because of the distressing and discreditable scenes resulting from injudicious friends speeding the parting soldiers by shoving bottles of spirits into their hands and pockets.

"BOBS" WILL SOON SAIL FOR HOME.

London, Nov. 3.—Diplomatic circles, according to a despatch from Paris, were much relieved by the receipt of official notification from Great Britain of the annexation of the South African Republics. Consequent upon this action having been taken prior to the landing of ex-President Kruger, the embarrassments resulting from manifestations by Boer sympathizers will be rendered innocuous, as Mr. Kruger will then become ipso facto, a private individual.

KITCHENER NOW CHIEF.

The report of the early departure of Gen. Roberts for England is confirmed. A special proclamation has been issued, making Gen. Kitchener chief of the army in Africa.

Lord Roberts will go to Cape Town by way of Durban, and will sail from there for England on the troopship Canada about November 30. He will be accompanied by Gen. Pole-Carew and a majority of the members of his staff.

MERCENARIES AT TRIESTE.

A number of volunteers who served with the Boers have landed at Trieste. They cheered for President Kruger and the Transvaal, and sang the Boer national hymn. The officers received £25 and the privates £6 from the Transvaal Government.

KITCHENER MOVES BRISKLY.

London, Nov. 3.—Lord Roberts, in a despatch from Johannesburg, dated November 2, reports no less than eight fights at different points, all unimportant but significant of the activity of the Boers.

General Kitchener, after a night march, surpised Schoeman's laager at Steenkampsberg, and then pushed on to Schalk-Burghers laager at Rooikrans. But the British were prevented from following up the Boers, who trekked north.

Prisoners in the hands of the British say the Boer losses in the fight with Gen. Barton October 25 were 140 killed, wounded or missing.

PETERBORO'S WELCOME TO THE SOLDIERS

There will be Seventy Boys in Khaki to Parade our Streets To-Day.

THE TOWN IS NOW IN HOLIDAY ATTIRE

The Heroes are to be Met at the Station this Morning on Their Arrival by the 57th Regiment and Citizens.

As announced in the Times on Saturday morning, the returning soldiers will arrive in Peterborough at five o'clock. They will be met at the depot by the 57th Regiment at 6.30 and will be escorted to the Oriental for breakfast. Mayor Kendry will extend to the heroes the freedom of the town.

After breakfast they will be escorted to the drill shed where an informal reception will be held. The soldiers will parade through the principal streets, and will probably be taken to see the lift lock, Peterborough's greatest attraction.

A committee from Toronto and Hamilton will arrive here from Toronto by special train, and will escort the heroes to the Queen City. They will leave here at 10.30.

Arrangements have been perfected whereby the 57th leave Peterborough for Toronto at 9.45 by special train, and the lowered rates that have been secured for this occasion are only good for the soldiers of the 57th and officers of other local corps who may attend in uniform. Civilians are to be charged the usual rates. The Peterborough soldiers will return at 10.30 Monday evening.

Mayor Kendry has proclaimed a half-holiday to-day, so that all may join in extending to the heroes a hearty welcome.

We again ask our citizens to hang out flags and bunting. Every flag in town should be out.

OFFICIAL PROGRAM

The following is the programme as arranged for the reception of the South African contingent on Monday morning: The returning volunteers will be met at the C.P.R. station at 6.37 a.m. by the 57th Regiment and Band, and escorted to the Oriental Hotel for breakfast. At 8 o'clock the troops will march to the Central Park, where a reception will take place, and at 9 o'clock they will march in procession with the 57th Regiment down George street to the C.P.R. station to entrain for Toronto. The special train of the 57th will leave the station at 9.45 and that of the contingent at 10.30.

CONTRACT FOR $5,000,000.

New York, Nov. 3.—With competition with European manufacturers, says a London despatch to The Herald, an American steel company has obtained an order for $5,000,000 worth of rolling stock for South African railways.

Wehrner Beit & Company, one of the great South African mining coroprations, asking for a bid on coal wagons to be delivered to the mines at the earliest possible date. The Pressed Steel Car Company, of Pittsburg, is the successful bidder. The American company has not only made a did a third lower than any other company, but beat the best European bidder in time by eight months.

ALLIED VICTORY OVER THE CHINESE

Force of 1,500 Men Carries a Stong Mountain Position.

London, Nov. 3.—The Pall Mall Gazette this afternoon publishes a despatch from Ichow, dated October 22, which says heavy fighting has occurred in the mountains on the Shan Si frontier. An Anglo-German force of 1,500 men, commanded by Col Von Norman, stormed Tsching Kung Pass. The Chinese occupied a strong position on the crest and stubbornly resisted. They poured a hot enfilading fire on the advance party of eight Germans, under Major Von Forrester, but the British Bengal cavalry and mounted sappers, dismounting, scaled the heights, turned the enemy's flanks, and relieved the Germans.

THE POLITICAL POT.

Two days more and then the deluge.

Sir Charles Tupper is campaigning in his own constituency.

A large number of voters are said to be absent in the deer runs.

When two voters may be assessed from one room no wonder there are lots of political roomers prevalent.

By this time the coming Wednesday lots of political predictions will be knocked into the middle of next week.

Allowing there are some who think it all right to stuff ballot boxes, how do their convictions before compare with their possible convictions afterwards?

Should not those who propose to do any ballot-box stuffing take a square look at it now instead of possibly gazing through a four-cornered cell window hereafter?

The elections by acclamation give the Liberals a three-to-1 advantage. These are:—Liberals—John Carleton, North Norfolk; John Costigan, Victoria North; L. Lavigne, Drummond and Athabasca. Conservative—Joseph E. Seagram, North Waterloo.

Political interest in the west centres on Brandon constituency, where Hon. Clifford Sifton and Hon. Hugh John Macdonald are struggling for supremacy. T. Mayne Daly, now of Rossland, B. C., W. A. Macdonald, of Nelson, B. C., and Rev. Leo Gaetz, constitute the latest importation of political talent in the Conservative interest.

CANADIAN GRAPES IN ENGLAND

They Arrive There in Excellent Condition and are Highly Spoken of

Ottawa, Nov. 3.—The following letter has been received by the Dominion Department of Agriculture at Ottawa, from Mr. Sampson Morgan, one of the leading authorities on fruit matters in Great Britain, regarding the quality and condition of the trial shipments of grapes which have been forwarded by the Dominion Department of Agriculture—

"I have this day received sample crates of the black and red Rogers grapes, put up in crates containing twelve boxes each. They were perfectly sound, with the bloom on, and in every way most satisfactory. I have brought them to the notice of several press and fruit trade men, and they have expressed a very high appreciation of them.

"The boxes, both as regards style, size and appearance could not be improved upon. The crates were highly suitable for the purpose. I am certain that this important part of the business is as near perfection for the requirements of the trade, both wholesale and retail, as could possibly be.

"With regard to the grapes, they resemble and are equal in size of berry to our black Hamburg, the leading summer grape on our market."

HE SHOT HIS WIFE WHILE SHE SLEPT

Farmer Kills His Spouse and Then Takes His Own Life.

Lambeth, Ont., Nov. 3.—Early this morning, Mr. J. J. Lewis, a farmer of this place, shot his wife in the head while she lay asleep. Two shots entered the woman's head, one just above the temple and another the cheek bone. Mrs. Lewis ran from a house to a neighbors, she heard a shot just as she left the house. Dr. Routledge was called and extracted the buttels, and has hopes of Mrs. Lewis' recovery. When County Constable Ward, of London, arrived on the scene a little later, Mr. Lewis was found dead, having shot himself through the temple. Coroner Dr. Routledge held a post-mortem explanation this morning, then adjourned until Monday next. Lewis had been mentally unhinged.

REPORT FROM COL. STEELE

Tells About the Affair at Badfontein in Which Seven Strathconas were Killed

Ottawa, Nov. 3.— Special.—The Militia Department this morning received a report from Lieut.-Col. Steele, commanding Strathcona's Horse, dated Spits Kop, September 16, as follows. I have the honor to endorse herewith a list of the casualties in my regiment to date, and to submit the following report in connection with the affair at Badfontein, in which seven non-commissioned officers and men were killed and wounded. On the 5th inst. the regiment performed the duty of protecting the right and left of the camp. "C" Squadron, under Capt. Cameron, were on the right. Lieut Leckie was sent to form an observation party on the top of the high ridge, and Sergeant Logan, with a section, to place another on the same ridge more to the front. The latter, while proceeding, became entangled with the enemy, with the result that only one of the section escaped. Lieut.

WAR OFFICE SHORT OF FUNDS

Gen Wolsely Refused Money with Which to Strengthen the Service

London, Nov. 3.— Lord Wolseley, speaking last evening in Sheffield, at the cutlers' feast touched on army reform, and said that the greatest need was that the public should be able to judge between a Commander-in-Chief who urged reforms and a Treasury which refused to supply the money to carry them out.

"During my term of office," he remarked, "when I have pointed out that the army was not strong enough or that our guns are obsolete, or have made similar criticism, I have been listened to attentively, but I have often been told that the Government had not the necessary money to make the improvements. This is the weakest point in our country's armory, and having pointed it out, I will not tread further on dangerous ground."

CONTESTING HIVES.

A despatch the other day told of an alleged offer made by some prominent Liberals to allow the Conservative candidate in a neighboring Conservative hive to be elected by acclamation providing the Conservatives returned the compliment by allowing the Liberal candidate in an adjacent Liberal hive to be returned unopposed. The offer was declined.

It is generally a difficult matter to get a candidate for the minority in a riding where there is not a fighting chance. There are dozens of ridings in Canada, where there will be contests on Nov. 7th, where the Conservative candidates have not the ghost of a show of being elected, and there are dozens of ridings where the Liberal candidates have no chance of success.

The cases of South and East Middlesex are convenient illustrations. In the former Mr. Judd enters a hopeless contest for the purpose of giving the electors of the riding who disapprove of the government's course a chance to voice their disapproval by their ballots. In the latter Mr. Gilson enters an equally hopeless contest to allow voters in the riding who approve of the government's course to say so. Neither Mr. Judd nor Mr. Gilson can have any reasonable hope of being elected.

The course pursued in these two ridings is that generally followed. Both parties usually make strong efforts to contest every hive, no matter how hopeless, and the central party organizations often furnish both candidates and funds when neither are locally forthcoming.

The reason is obvious. If the Liberals were to allow a couple of dozen Tory ridings to go by default, the Conservatives would claim the victory as already won, and if the Conservatives were to allow a couple of dozen Liberal hives to go by default the Liberals would work the moral influence for all it was worth. Hence, for the moral effect of it, if for nothing else, both parties usually strive to be represented in every riding though it often looks like spending money and energy uselessly.

Another reason for contesting every hive is that it keeps the local party men busy at home and prevents them making incursions into the political preserves of their neighbors.

It is perhaps just as well that the politicians follow this course. Election excitement is after all a healthy form of relaxation. In every constituency where there is a contest there is a keener interest in politics and political affairs than there is in the riding which is so hopelessly one-sided that nobody thinks it worth his while to wake it from its partisan slumber with a contest. No man can go through an election contest, if he has an average amount of intelligence, without picking up a certain amount of information that he would ordinarily get along without.

It is not good for a riding any more than for a man to vegetate mentally, and so it comes that while the politicians contest hives solely for party purposes, they are nevertheless in so doing rendering the people a very considerable service.

It is not in any spirit of resentment that the miners are now going to work to make it hot for some people this winter.

MUNICIPAL MUDDLE.

About Thirteen Dollars Said to Have Been Improperly Levied.

There was a meeting of the Court of Revision yesterday morning, called by order of Ald. Sawers, chairman, for the purpose of dealing with the appeals in connection with the local improvement assessments for sidewalks.

There were quite a number of leading ratepayers present. It was shown that about $1300 had been charged as frontage tax, which, it is contended, should have been put under the general assessment of the town. This sum was made up of plant, etc., including tools.

Mr. J. B. McWilliams stated that he could show a loss to the ratepayers of over $4000, on account of the engineer having acceded to the wishes of the contractors in regard to the contracts.

After a great deal of wrangling, and after the Town Solicitor had expounded law till the heads of those present became dizzy, the court adjourned without accomplishing anything.

SOLDIERS LOSE THEIR POSITION

Some of the Men who Went to Valleyfield Out of Work

Montreal, Nov. 2.—Several of the volunteers who were called to Valleyfield have found their positions filled on their return to the city. Mr. R. B. Steavenson, of the Montreal Cotton Company, is personally making a point of seeing their employers, with a view of having them reinstated. There were no less than five of the staff of one of the smaller English banks called out, and of course had to respond. This seriously crippled the work of the bank, and, the manager claims, put him to a good deal of inconvenience. Several employers refused to allow any man in their employment to go to Valleyfield, under penalty of dismissal. In such cases the men were allowed to stay at their posts.

RUGBY.

The executive committee of the Rugby club will meet this evening at 8 o'clock at the Y.M.C.A. to discuss arrangements for the trip to London on the 10 inst.

The Port Hope Rugby team it is expected will arrive here this morning, and their game in the afternoon with a local fifteen is looked forward to with pleasant anticipations.

RELIGIOUS BIGOTRY.

An Earnest Protest Against It By Eminent Divines

Rev. Dr. B. D. Thomas.—It is very unfortunate that as election time approaches such charistics as a man's creed or race should be magnified and presented to the classes, who are likely to be prejudiced in as unfavorable a light as possible. Such action I consider utterly contemptible. There is absolutely not the slightest excuse for any such attack being made on a man of the moral breadth of character of Sir Wilfrid Laurier. The confidence I feel in him as a political leader and as a man has already been made public in the Toronto Star.

Rev. Dr. George M. Milligan.—No enlightened Protestant will mix up religion and politics. Regarding Sir Wilfrid Laurier, he is an honor to Canada and I hope and pray Canadians may appreciate him, not when it is too late.

Rev. Prof. Clarke.—I admire the personality of Sir Wilfrid Laurier very much. As to his being a Roman Catholic how could that be used against him! Sir John Thompson was a Roman Catholic on the opposite side of politics and he became Premier. These creed cries are not to be commended, for how can we live with each other unless we exercise mutual toleration?

Dr. G. R. Parkin.—A French Canadian Premier the other day made the noblest speech ever delivered by a colonial minister.—Speech at banquet in Toronto, March 15th, 1900.

Dev. Dr. Dewart.—In the case of Sir Wilfrid Laurier we have a fine example of a liberal-minded Roman Catholic statesman who rises above sectarian issues, and regards the interests of the whole Canadian people as the supreme consideration. Because of this he is trusted as fully by the Protestants of Ontario as by the French Canadian Catholics of the Province of Quebec.

Y. W. C. A. Classes

Vocal music, on Tuesday evenings from seven to eight.

Nov. 5—At Baillieboro. Hon. J. R. Stratton will speak.

A meeting in Mr. Lang's interests will be held in Ashburnham Town Hall on Nov. 5th.

Nov. 6—At Ennismore [illegible] Hall.

A Positive Woman.

A woman has a right to be positive on matters which are matters of personal knowledge and experience. Every woman who has used Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for diseases of the womanly organs is positive as to its wonderful curative value, and confidently recommends it to similar sufferers.

Women who suffer from inflammation, ulceration, female weakness, or nervous diseases caused by disease of the womanly organs will find a complete cure by the use of "Favorite Prescription."

"Several years ago I suffered severely from female weakness, prolapsus, and menorrhagia, and used Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription with splendid effect," writes Fannie Shelton, of Washington, Iowa. "Glad I have not needed it for a few years past, but if I should have any return of the old trouble would surely try 'Favorite Prescription.' I have recommended it to a number of my lady friends. I always tell them to try a bottle, and if they are not benefited by it I will pay for the medicine. In every case they have spoken in praise of it."

Address to the Electors

To the Free and Independent Electors of West Peterborough—

Gentlemen.—Having accepted the unanimous nomination of the Liberals of this Riding, as a candidate for its representation in the House of Commons I hereby respectfully solicit your support in securing my return at the coming general elections.

The grounds upon which I base my appeal are not so much nor chiefly by any means, my personal fitness for the position of your representation though as a citizen of Peterborough and interested in its progress in common with that of the country, I can and do promise, if elected, an intelligent support of such a public policy and such measures as will best conduce to the promotion of all the interests of Canada, the developement of her great resources and the general betterment of the civil moral and material condition of the public; and my best abilities and most assiduous attention shall be devoted to the faithful discharge of my representative duties.

The strongest ground, however, of my appeal consists in the fact that I am a firm supporter of the Liberal Government led by Sir Wilfred Laurier, which is entitled to the renewed confidence of the people, both on the ground of its policy and the splendid record established by the application of that policy. The Liberal party appealed to the country in 1896 upon a clearly defined policy and the promised results followed.

The Liberal party promised a reduction of a high tariff that hampered our industrial and agricultural interests and was hostile to the Mother Country.

The tariff was materially reduced and otherwise improved and in such a way as to help instead of hinder the manufacturer and farmer, with the consequence that never before in the history of the country have our industries or our farmers enjoyed such great prosperity, our mechanics and working men such constant employment and high wages, nor our commercial and all other interests so flourished.

Our domestic and foreign trade have also greatly increased. The loyal gift of a trade preference, represented by a tariff reduction on British goods of 33 1-3 per cent., and our despatch of the Canadian Contingent, have resulted in a kindlier feeling towards Canada and greatly increased trade with the Mother Country.

With a largely reduced rate of tariff, our revenue has greatly expanded so that the Government was warranted in practicing true economy (reducing our postal rate one third, giving Imperial penny postage,) and permitting of the completion of great public works, deepening our canals, so long trifled with, pushing the work on the Trent Valley Canal which is now urged and will be urged to completion by the Liberal Government, and the application of a vigorous policy of general development and improvement of our transportation facilities, resulting and to result in easier access to the British market and better prices for all our products.

The farming interests of the country are deserving of the best services of a Government, such as the present has given. The immense impetus given the produce trade between Canada and Great Britain, through the preferential tariff, has been greatly helped by the action of the Government in providing an excellent and adequate system of cold storage, by which Canadian products can be landed in Great Britain in first-class condition, guaranteeing the highest prices. The system is of the most modern character, sufficient for all the present needs of the trade, and it will be improved and enlarged as experience suggests, and increase of the produce trade demands, and I shall, if elected, feel it my duty to support any policy that will improve our trade with the Mother Country, and strengthens the bond of British connection, of which we are so proud.

In an industrial centre like Peterborough the claims of the working classes are especially deserving of consideration. No country is well governed that does not look after the interests of all classes of the community. The Conservative Government has been, and the Conservative party declares itself to be, extremely solicitous of the interests of the capitalist classes—the manufacturers—but it left the working classes to largely shift for themselves. A Liberal Government came into power, and the attitude towards Labour was changed, and the rights of Labour to its rights recognized, and in a practical way. A Department of Labour has been established and a Minister of Labour placed over it. A Labour Gazette has been established in the interests of workingmen, published monthly; conditions have been inserted in all Government contracts compelling contractors to pay the highest current wages, which the Government guarantees the payment of; the sweating system has been abolished on Government enforced by a special officer, and in many other ways the Government has shown by deeds that the rights of the workingmen, as well as the capitalist, shall be protected. I heartily support the Government in what it has done, and shall support them in extending the benefits which they have already conferred, and which it is their policy to continue, as need arises.

The splendid achievements of Canadian soldiers in South Africa, make them worthy of the gratitude of the country. We have the best militia material in the world, and if we keep up a military establishment, let it be worthy of Canadians. Situated as Peterborough is, on the line of the Grand Trunk and Canadian Pacific Railways, and on the line of the Trent Valley Canal, begun as a military work, and now under course of completion, no other point in this Province is so well adapted for a military centre. I shall, therefore, feel it my duty to press upon the Government the advisability of constructing in Peterborough new armories and connected buildings for military stores for Ontario, and I feel that this is practicable of attainment at the hands of a Government which has shown its interest in our volunteers by placing the Militia Department, so greatly neglected by a previous administration, upon an effective basis, and will, therefore, more naturally be well disposed towards the improvement involved in making Peterborough a centre for military stores.

A town of the industrial and commercial importance of Peterborough, has certainly strong claims upon the good offices and of a Government. For the past four years the town has been represented, when it was represented in the House, by a member opposed to the Government. There is no doubt in the minds of unprejudiced observers, that the present Liberal Government will be strongly sustained in the country at the coming elections, and the question arises whether West Peterborough will have its interests better served by a member sitting in opposition and hostile to the Government and its policy, or by a member pledged to give the Government a fair support in the application of its policy. If elected I pledge myself to give my best ability and exertions to the promotion of the general good of the country, and to look especially after the interests of West Peterborough.

I cannot obviously here, enter into details of how, in other ways the Liberal Government has implemented its promises and applied its policy, but I shall have an opportunity during the campaign of more fully dealing with these and other public questions.

As a supporter of such a Government I can appeal with confidence for the support of the Electors of West Peterborough, knowing that by helping to give, as you will do, through my election, a renewal of the trust the Liberal Government has discharged with such evident and gratifying results, they will be conferring a great and lasting good upon this riding, the country at large, and securing a continuation of the great blessings of prosperity and good government we now enjoy.

Again soliciting your support, your votes, and influence in this contest,

I have the honor to be,
gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,
J. H. McCLELLAN

A NOVEL.

Loraine formed was certainly no new one to her; where had she seen one like it?

Quickly her mind drifted back to that morning on the beach, and to the portrait her husband had shown her; his work, he had said.

She remembered the dull pain in her heart when Alderic had carelessly admitted he liked fair women best.

Loraine never knew why a sudden faintness seized Mrs. Ross; she would have fallen to the floor had she not steadied herself against the marble mantel.

"You are nervous and agitated, Mrs. Ross," said Loraine; "I trust it is not due to this interview with Mr. Ulvesford; he has heard your story, and feels very kindly disposed toward you."

A hesitating rap at the door interrupted her.

"Well, Annette, what is it?" asked Loraine.

"If you please, ma'am," answered the maid "the artist has finished Mr Ulvesford's portrait and sent it home do you wish it brought up to you?"

"By all means," answered Loraine "let it be brought up here at once."

"Now, Mrs. Ross," she said, "you shall see my husband's portrait and judge for yourself; he is just the reverse of one to inspire fear, even in the heart of the most timid. I have told him so much of you, he has a desire to have his curiosity gratified."

There was a slight shuffling of feet without, and the next moment a servant entered bearing the portrait of Ulmont Ulvesford.

"Ah, it is true to the very life," exclaimed Loraine, delightedly.

Then she turned to Isetta, proudly as a young queen might have done, as she said:—

"Look, Mrs. Ross, this is my husband!"

CHAPTER XXV.

Face to Face.

The bright sunshine fell full upon the pictured face.

Isetta stepped forward; for a single instant only her dark eyes rested on the picture; then, with a low, piercing cry, she sank down beside it in a dead swoon.

"I wonder what could have startled her so?" pondered Loraine.

The white lips opened with a faint moan:

"Alderic —Alderic!"

Slowly the dark eyes opened.

"I—I beg your pardon, Mrs. Ulvesford," she said, while in her heart rose one great cry; "so like, ah! so like!"

"If my husband's portrait had represented a stern, forbidding face, I should say it was that which caused you to faint."

Isetta shuddered.

"May I look at the portrait again?" she asked.

Loraine was only too pleased.

"Yes," she answered, leading the way to an inner apartment; "I have had it hung where the best light will be thrown upon it."

As she spoke she parted the amber satin curtains, and Isetta was face to face with the portrait of Ulmont Ulvesford.

She did not cry out or utter a moan; her brain whirled and her breath seemed to come and go in short, convulsive gasps. At the first glance the fatal resemblance to Alderic had almost overpowered her. As she looked again she saw the portrait of a fair-haired young man, while Alderic's was a dark, glossy brown. She remembered Alderic's mouth, proud and haughty; this one was almost wholly concealed by the long, drooping mustache. The proud, uplifted head, and the dark-blue, searching eyes alone reminded her forcibly of Alderic.

She had not thought it possible for any one in the wide, wide world to look like Alderic. She was startled at the tumultuous throbbing of her own heart. The sudden warbling of a yellow canary, hanging in a gilded cage above her head, aroused her from her deep reverie.

"I am pleased that you like my husband, Mrs. Ross."

It suddenly occurred to Isetta that Mrs. Ulvesford might not be pleased but she could not turn away; the gaze she had bestowed on the portrait with the intense scrutiny and rapt dark blue eyes held an unaccountable fascination for her, the same questioning expression in their depths she had often read in Alderic's; then the heavy silken folds of the curtain fell between Isetta and the portrait, and she felt as if the darkness of night had slowly settled around her.

The words of Loraine still sounded in her ear. She could not tell why the bitterness of death seemed to fall upon her, as she gazed upon that pictured face and heard the words:

"Look, Mrs. Ross; this is my husband."

"Mr. Ulvesford awaits Mrs. Ross in the library," said the maid, again making her appearance.

"Tell him she is with me, in the morning-room, I will send her down directly. There need be no hurry," she said, turning to Isetta; "I want you to regain some of your lost color before you go down. Any one would imagine you had seen a ghost."

Ah! she little knew the young girl had stood that morning amid the shattered ruins of her dead hopes, face to face with her past.

"Why should I shrink and cower?" she asked herself. "I have done no wrong; I must be brave for baby's sake!"

The door was standing ajar, she knocked timidly once, twice, but there was no response; at the third and little louder rap, Zack, the coachman, answered the summons.

"If you please, you are to take a seat; master was called away for a moment, he will return in a very few moments," he said.

A note-book, a glove, and a riding whip lay on the desk before her. A huge mastiff lay on the hearth-rug watching her from under his shaggy eyebrows. The sound of her own name falling upon her ears from the adjacent room chained her attention.

"Are you not afraid your daughter will rue it, Mrs. Lorrimer, allowing this stranger to remain beneath her roof?" said a strange voice.

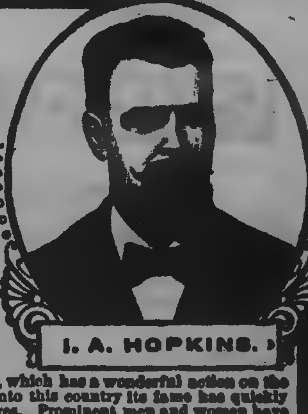
A WONDERFUL
KIDNEY and Bladder CURE

The Honorable Chairman of the Board of County Commissioners, Ellsworth, Kansas, tells how ALKAVIS cured him after Doctors and all other Remedies had Failed.



I. A. HOPKINS.

BRIGHT'S DISEASE, GRAVEL, DROPSY,
And Rheumatism Mastered at Last.

One of the most remarkable medical discoveries of the century is the Kava-Kava Shrub, found on the Ganges River, East India, which has a wonderful action on the kidneys and bladder. Since its introduction into this country its fame has quickly spread, because of its seemingly impossible cures. Prominent men and women have testified to its great curative powers, and hospital tests prove its infallibility even in advanced stages of Bright's Disease. Among the more recent recoveries is that of Hon. I. A. Hopkins, Chairman Board of County Commissioners, Ellsworth, Kansas, who says:

GENTLEMEN:—I will say that I believe and know that I owe my life to Alkavis. I had been troubled with Kidney and Bladder Trouble for years. Two years ago I was sick for six weeks with Malarial Fever which left me in a bad condition. My limbs were swollen with Rheumatism so that I could hardly walk; I was troubled with Indigestion from taking Medicine for my Urinary troubles which had become very much worse. I had to get up every hour of the night to urinate. I passed great quantities of blood on account of hemorrhage of the Kidneys and Bladder. I tried and had been trying everything in the shape of Medicine for Kidney Trouble that I could think of or that the Doctors recommended, but nothing helped me for I kept getting worse. I suffered great pain continually in my Kidneys. I made up my mind unless I could get relief that I only had a short time to live. About this time my attention was called to an advertisement of Alkavis. As a drowning man will grasp at a straw, I was ready to try anything for relief. I sent to you for three bottles. I began to take it, and before I had taken it one week I began to feel the good effects of Alkavis. My Kidney Trouble and Rheumatism were soon gone, my digestion became all right. I found myself in better health than for ten years and I am in good health now. I know that Alkavis saved my life. What more can anyone say for a medicine? Unlike most medicines it is good for indigestion. It gives the person taking it a good appetite. I have recommended Alkavis to a great many people and all have been benefited by its use. I am 53 years of age, and am very grateful for what Alkavis has done for me.
Respectfully yours, I. A. HOPKINS.

Rev. W. B. Moore, D. D., Washington, D. C., Editor Religious World, writes that after trying all known medicines for kidney and rheumatic disease he was permanently cured by Alkavis. Mrs. Wm. H. Hardy, East Rush, Pa., writes that Alkavis cured her after six doctors failed. Rev. J. W. Hickman, Collyer, Trego Co., Kansas, cured of liver, kidney and bladder trouble, of many years' standing, from which he could only get temporary relief and had given up all hope of a cure. Thus the grand work goes on. A new book, entitled "A Thousand Living Witnesses," sent with the free case of medicine, tells of the wonderful cures performed in every state.

Not only does this great discovery—Alkavis (the Kava-Kava Compound)—cure all forms of kidney and bladder disease, but by expelling from the blood all poisonous deposits, excess of lime, uric acid, urates and lithiates, it banishes gravel, torpid liver, rheumatism, pains in back, difficult and too frequent urination, etc. The cure is complete. No phase is neglected, and the stomach, heart and nerves are toned and invigorated. No other medicine in the world will perform the work of Alkavis. To enable sufferers to get well and spread the glad tidings we have arranged to send a Large Case of Alkavis FREE by mail to all who write us. The case goes entirely FREE.

If you are a sufferer, write to-day and secure at once a Free Case of Alkavis and Book of "A Thousand Living Witnesses." Address The Church Kidney Cure Co., No. 505 Fourth Ave., New York. Please mention this paper.

PETERBOROUGH, NOVEMBER 5, 1900

TOWN AND COUNTY NEWS

WELCOME TO PETERBORO

The Times extends to the returning soldiers a hearty welcome to Peterborough. We regard this visit, brief though it will be, as a great honor, and our citizens will do their utmost to make the boys feel at home while here. They are heroes of many battles, and have covered themselves with glory. Nothing is too good for them.

Broke His Collar Bone

Mr. McLeod, of the Y.M.C.A., had the misfortune on Saturday last to break his collar bone at the football match. He is doing as well as can be expected.

A Memorial Window

A memorial window was put in All Saints' Church Saturday afternoon to the memory of the late Rev. J. W. R. Beck. It is a gift from Mrs. Beck and family.

Saturday's Market.

Saturday's market was well attended by both buyers and sellers. Fowl was on sale in abundance, Turkeys for 75c. to $1.00; chickens, 40c. to 60c.; butter, 23c. to 25c. Wood is offering $6.00 a cord.

Half Holiday.

Mayor Kendry has proclaimed a half holiday on account of the returning soldiers to-day. The Chief Magistrate should have made it a full holiday. The occasion is worthy of it.

Two Sucking Pigs Lost

POLITICS IN NORTH MONAGHAN

Mr McClellan's Meeting in Town Hall Largely Attended

Mr. McClellan's meeting at the Town Hall, North Monaghan—the second last before election day—was warm and interesting. Mr. Elliott and Mr. F. D. Kerr appeared with Mr. McClellan, while Mr. Burnham represented Mr. Kendry. Both sides were loudly cheered, and the keen interest taken in the debate showed that election day was near at hand.

Mr. Elliott in a nice address, chanced to remark that it was the quality of the farmers' produce that sold them in England.

Mr. Burnham seized upon this as a text, and from it showed that the "preference" was a myth, since there was no doubt that the farmers' export trade depended solely upon the quality of the produce exported, and not upon any imaginary gratitude for an unreasonable and dangerously one-sided lowering of the Canadian tariff.

Mr. Kerr spoke with his usual fluency and wit, making the claim that the population of Canada had increased 500,000 under Liberal rule.

Mr. McClellan threw more than his accustomed energy into his remarks. He and Mr. Burnham had several differences of opinion. At one time the latter gentleman was invited to explain his objection, but the candidate hurriedly withdrew the assertion before Mr. Burnham could come to the point. Several breezy little encounters of this kind entertained the audience, which cheered the speakers lustily in turn.

The agricultural implement question was largely to the fore and caused no end of jangling, the Liberal candidate denouncing Mr. Burnham's attitude as a flank movement of an enemy, and nothing more.

JOTTINGS ABOUT TOWN.

GETTING A DIVORCE

The Princess Who Passed Through Peterborough Some Months Ago.

It now transpires that Princess Aribert Agusta, daughter of Prince Christian of Schleswig—Holstein, who visited Toronto some months ago, and who spent a couple of hours in Peterborough on her way East, is suing for a divorce from her husband. She is in the United States incog, where she will remain until the divorce is granted.

LIVED TO BE 123 YEARS OLD

Negro Who is Said to Have Belonged to Washington Dead.

Hempstead, L. I., Nov. 4.—George Washington Freeman Horner Green, a former negro slave, died in the almshouse yesterday at the reputed age of one hundred and twenty-three years. Green is said to have been born on a farm near Elizabethport, N.J., on January 1, 1777. He was sold to a Virginia planter named Horner, by whom, it is said, he was sold to Gen. Washington. In 1812 he was made a free man and then came north, and was employed by George Green, a Long Island farmer, with whom he remained for forty years.

DECEIVED HUSBAND

But He Seems to Like It.

We used to buy our coffee from an agent of a coffee house in ——, who came once a month to take our order. When we ran out we bought package coffee from a local grocer and "hubby" would always raise more or less of a row until the coffee he was used to came along.

"One time I concluded to serve some Postum Food Coffee, without his knowing it. Hubby remarked that he was glad to know the regular coffee man had got along and he was very much pleased. He had not the slightest idea it was Postum and I let this run along for about two months, serving him Postum every day. A lady guest at our table remarked that she would like to know how I made coffee, as hers always had a bitter taste. I thought it was a good time to tell the truth and remarked that I always took four heaping teaspoonsful of Postum Food Coffee—'What!' yelled hubby, 'What's that!' 'Yes, I take four heaping teaspoons of Postum to the pint of water.' (Hubby was still staring.) 'Let it stand on the stove until it really boils and then allow the actual boiling to continue thereafter for fifteen minutes.' You can imagine how he stared. Finally he remarked—'Well if the coffee I have been drinking for two months, is Postum, Food Coffee, that is the only kind we will have in the house hereafter.'

"I was brought to try Postum, for I had so much trouble with my heart for four or five years, with fainting spells and so many times a day was compelled to sit down to keep from falling, could not go up and down cellar on account of dizziness and a sick feeling at my stomach, could not eat anything greasy.

"After a thorough examination by the doctor, I was told that I had catarrh of the stomach in the worst form and he forbid the use of either tea or coffee, so I started in on Postum, leaving off the old coffee entirely, as well as tea. I immediately began to get better and now my trouble is entirely gone and I am well in every respect and able to eat anything I want, without distress. I proved to my own satisfaction that coffee was the cause of my trouble." Mrs. F. Sharts, Sistersville, W. Va.

"Cheerful looks" depend just as much upon physical well-being as upon natural disposition and temperament. If the blood is disordered, the brain is starved, and no "dish is a feast," for the reason that the vitalising elements do not reach the proper spot.

A step in the right direction is to purify the body by the use of a natural remedy. Hood's Sarsaparilla is Nature's remedy. It acts upon the blood, and whether the seat of the disorder is brain, stomach, liver or kidneys, the purifying process of this medicine is equally sure and successful. It never disappoints.

Back Ache—"My mother had severe pains in her side and back. She was obliged to give up work. A friend persuaded her to take Hood's Sarsaparilla and soon she was able to do her work, free from pain and had a good appetite." MAGGIE MORGAN, Masonworth, N. B.

Nerve Food—"My wife was stricken with nervous prostration. She suffered from headaches. She became weak, low-spirited and her appetite was poor. I am glad to state that Hood's Sarsaparilla has completely cured her of all her ailments." G. BELLAMY, 321 Hannah St., Hamilton, Ont.

COMPATRIOTS DON'T WANT HIM

Compatriots Don't Want Him and Propose to Pass Sentence of Expulsion

New York, Nov. 3.—The Post's London correspondent cabling this afternoon says—"It is quite certain that the Anglo-American trend of Lord Salisbury's policy will undergo no modification with Lord Lansdowne at the Foreign Office Indeed if Lord Lansdowne had to be shelved from the Cabinet because of War Office blunders it is probably to the Washington Embassy he would have gone by his own choice and fitness." Reaction has set in after the debauch on the return of volunteers. The War Office is circulating a vigourous appeal from Lord Roberts, in view of the early return of the regular troops from South Africa, begging the British public to refrain from tempting

"My GALLANT COMRADS,"

but, rather, to "aid them to uphold the splendid reputation they have won for the imperial army." Throughout the war, says Lord Roberts, not a single serious crime on the part of the vast British soldiery had been brought to this notice. Officers and men have borne themselves like heroes on the battlefield and gentlemen on all occasions. Englishmen at home must live up to that high record on their part, in the welcome home, and nine-tenths of the British people will. It is the one-tenth, mostly the voteless and irresponsible tenth, that does the mischief; and the prime fault lies at the doors of that official inaptitude and incompetence, other places of which brought England her dark days of last December and January. It is all part of what was once called the

"OPERA-BOX VIEW OF THE WAR."

The reconstruction of the Cabinet is sharply criticised. The rank and file, up and down the country, headed by Lord Salisbury's own favourite journal, the Standard, are plainly telling him he is sorely tempting the Providence that watches over him.

The following statement is going the rounds of London political circles to-day. It seems incredible.—"It is likely that before the Irish party meets at Westminster a resolution will be submitted for the expulsion of Tim Healy, because on various occasions he has not adhered to the conditions of membership, namely a pledge binding him to act in strict concert with his colleagues, and to take no Parliamentary steps inconsistent with such action."

Healy's action on the tithes bill, in which he advocated its acceptance after amendment, is quoted as an example of his separate and therefore hostile action.

Female Diseases

Powley's Liquified Ozone

Cures these Terrible Diseases Permanently

The peculiar construction of woman makes her liable to suffer from many disorders which are especially painful and wearing. Many a woman bears these troubles in silence, rather than consult a physician. Powley's Liquified Ozone, the new system of treatment, will give prompt relief and a permanent cure for any of these afflictions. A special booklet will give you all information. You should write for the pamphlet on woman's diseases. This is what one sufferer says—"I have much pleasure in testifying to the superior qualities of Powley's Liquified Ozone, for the troubles I was afflicted with. A few months ago I left my country home to go to the hospital, as the doctors said I must go there to get rid of my trouble, which was female kidney trouble and general run-down system. I had my doubts, and as I had tried so many (so-called) patent medicines, and they had proved of no avail. I had not used Ozone for two weeks until I knew I was on the right track. It just took four months' treatment, and in that time I used five large bottles and now I am thankful to say that I am well as I ever was in my life. The best part of it is that you have not got to keep on taking it, as I have not had occasion to take any for months. I have been the means of getting others to use Ozone and will always speak a good word for it. With great thankfulness, yours,

HOW TO TREAT BRIBERY.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I was pleased to see through the Times that Rev. Mr. Davidson has spoken plainly on the duty the citizen owes to the community and to himself in the exercise of the franchise. There are people who depreciate the value of the pulpit in these days as a moral influence, but I believe that when preachers address themselves to topics of living, practical, application and take a vigorous and consistent stand upon them they can effect a good deal.

The buying and selling of votes is a subject upon which the moral ideas of a large number of people are deplorably lax. It is in just such cases as this that the educational power of the pulpit, and the press, too, has some chance of making itself felt.

The free, uncontrolled, and secret use of the ballot is the one tangible evidence of freedom and self government which every man in this absolutely free country possesses. To sell it is not only to disfranchise one's self but to rob one's neighbor of the right to exercise his own franchise in his own way—for every bought vote countervails the ballot of one honest, free and unpurchased voter on the other side. It is one of the meanest and pettiest of thefts, and yet one of the most far-reaching.

Probably nine-tenths of the men who accept money for their votes excuse themselves to their conscience with the plea, "everybody does it—the other side is just as bad." It is the most cowardly and fallacious of arguments. It entirely begs the question of the right or wrong of the act; or rather it admits its immoral character and seeks to excuse it on the ground of circumstances. To a man of ordinary honesty, who finds his opponents seeking to win election by arguments addressed to the elector's individual purse, there is only one course open—to do his level best to convict them of such practices in the courts of law. To seek to fight them on their own ground is not only dishonest and degrading, but it brings the election down to a straight contest between the financial resources of the candidates, and the party with the deepest "bar'l" is in such a case bound to win. I would not say that it is always possible to secure conviction or disqualification for cases of bribery the evidence for which is beyond all moral doubt. Experience has unfortunately shown that it is not, whichever party happens to be in power. But bribery cannot be carried on to any extent, nor in any systematic way, without affording evidence of its workings sufficient to shock the moral sense of the community and prevent its repetition at the next election. What we need is that the work of obtaining such evidence should be taken hold of by men interested in purity for its own sake, not by blind partizans whose every effort is looked on as simply a political move.

I hope and believe that there will be no necessity for work of this kind in the coming contest. I hope also, but with a good deal less confidence, that both parties will abstain from bandying accusations with one another for which they cannot bring the smallest proof. This light treatment of charges of corruption, which ought to be more effectually covered than it is by the libel laws, is one of the most effective ways I know to demoralize the constituency.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, I am, etc.,
HONEST ELECTOR.

ATTACK of ROYAL CANADIANS at Paardeberg

The present is a time when war pictures are in greater demand than ever. The conduct of the British soldiers on the battlefield has won the plaudits of admiring nations. We have at great expense published four large, beautiful pictures size 20x24, on heavy, superfine calendered paper. A picture that will commend itself and send a thrill to the heart of every true Canadian is the one called Attack of Royal Canadians at Paardeberg, there are literally hundreds of figures on this picture, the mountains or kopjes stretching out into the distance are swarming with men, while here and there a prostrate figure speaks only too well of the Boer rifleman. It was on this battlefield the gallant Major Arnold met death unflinchingly. Indeed, it is only too true that many of those gallant hearts that beat so high when the cheering thousands bade them Godspeed as they sailed from Canada's shores now lie still forever in lonely graves on the other side of the world under African skies. To every Canadian heart, to every Canadian home, the deeds of their brave soldier boys speak with an irresistible thrill of patriotism and pride. Gordon Highlanders at the Battle of Belmont, Charging the Boer Guns at Elandslaagte and the Charge of Gen. French's Cavalry on the Retreating Gen. Cronje's Army. These are all stirring pictures and cannot fail to commend themselves to anyone who will examine them. They are RED HOT SELLERS! Agents coin money. Big profits. Enormous success. One agent sold 63 in one day. Sample and terms 25 cts (none free); four for 80 cts; $1.75 per dozen; 25 for $3.25; 50 for $6.00; 100 for $11.00 Write to-day for a dozen and make money. VOL. 26 NO 261 PETERBOROUGH ONTARIO TUESDAY NOVEMBER 6 1900 PRICE TWO CENTS

LAURIER, LANG AND CANADA'S PROSPERITY

Was the Text of Mr. Land's Mass Meeting in Ashburnham Last Night.

A VERY LARGE AND ENTHUSIASTIC GATHERING

Mr. Lang Reviews the Virtues of Liberal Rule—Mr. R. F. McWilliams Delivers a Masterly Speech—Mr. J. W. Garvin is Given a Fair Hearing.

Taking into consideration the fact that Ashburnham has always been practically a conservative unit, giving to the late Mr. John Burnham a majority of 120 and upwards, and also that hitherto Liberal stumpers had experienced great difficulty in securing a hearing, the meeting held last night in the Town Hall, in the interest of Mr. John Lang, the Liberal Candidate for Dominion Parliamentary honors must be pronounced a huge success, and toally eclipsing any previous Reform effort of this kind in the history of our enterprising village across the bridge.

Despite Ashburnham's strong inherent Conservatism, a fairly large and enthusiastic audience was present, including quite a number of the fair sex, who joined with their male escorts in applauding the utterances of the several speakers. Mr. J. W. Garvin, representing Mr. SexSmith, was given a very liberal and patient hearing, in which to champion East Peterborough's Conservative candidate and the party in general.

The addresses of Mr. R. F. McWilliams was a masterly one, being a splendid defence of the Laurier administrations. Mr. McWilliams is a young man possessing more than ordinary ability, and has a brilliant future. He has the knack of placing his points clearly before his hearers, and does it without apparent effort, and and without using superfluous language. Mr Lang, who never posed as an orator, also made a masterly speech, and showed to the best possible advantage the virtues of Liberal rull. His address was fair and honest, and dealt with the principal question of the hour in a manner that could not be otherwise than impressive.

Mr. Scote, of the firm Scote & Bogg, officiated as Chairman, and opened the meeting with a brief and approppriate speech.

MR. JOHN LANG

Was the first speaker and said he had great pleasure in returning thanks for the handsome majority of over 400 by which he was returned in 1896, a majority unprecedented in East Peterborough. The Government that had been superseded was a wrangling and quarreling Government, and the men who were in it were still wrangling and quarreling. Sir Wilfrid Laurier, one of the noblest leaders that was ever at the head of a party in Canada, went to the several Provincial Legislatures and chose the men whom he thought the ablest for seats in the Dominion Cabinet. The Liberals had made certain pledges; some of these pledges they had kept, some they had not been able to keep. On the Manitoba school question, Sir Wilfrid Laurier declared that it would be settled within six months if the Liberals were given power. It was settled within that time in a manner satisfactory to everyone except office-seekers who would never be satisfied unless they had office. Another pledge was that the Dominion Franchise Act would be abolished, and it has been abolished, at a saving of thousands of dollars yearly to the country, while the lists are fairer. During ten years that that act was in force the list was only revised three times, and at the last election some dead Tories voted. Another pledge was that the gerrymander should be done away with. In 1882 the Conservatives divided up the constituencies so that a man could hardly tell where he lived. Take East and West Peterborough to show the inequality. East Peterborough is bounded by Rice Lake on the south and by the north pole on the north. That's not so much an exaggeration as some Tory statements. East Peterborough is five times the size of West Peterborough and has a population 8,000 or 10,000 greater.. In 1882 the Conservatives took Galway off West Peterborough and added it on to North Victoria. If that township had been left where it belonged West Peterborough would be Liberal.

Another Liberal pledge was that the tariff would be reduced. It had been reduced an average of 10 per cent. on the whole, and a preference first of 12 1-2, then of 25 and finally of 33 1-3 per cent was given in favor of goods imported from the mother country. The Liberals took the duty off Indian corn, and the Conservatives claimed that that would have the effect of lowering the price of oats and peas in Canada. As a matter of fact the prices of these cereals were lower than ever before or since at the very time the duty was taken off.

Mr. Lang read statistics showing the great increase in trade between England and Canada during the last four years, a greater increase than during the whole quarter of a century of Conservative administration.

Another pledge of the Liberals was that they would abolish or reform the superannuation system and they had regulated the system so that office-holders should themselves pay for superannuation.

One pledge had not been kept—the pledge to reduce the public debt. The legacies of the present Government from its predecessors, the deepening of the canals, the sending of the contingent to South Africa, the opening of the Yukon, the establishing of the cold storage system, the bringing of the Intercolonial Railway into Montreal—all these things had cost money, and it was money well expended. It would have detracted from the prosperity of the country if the Government had reduced expenditure. On the Intercolonial railway Mr. Blair had converted an annual deficit of $713,000 into a surplus of $63,000. During 18 years of Conservative rule the debt increased at the rate of $6,500,000 a year. During the four years of Liberal rule the increase had been only $1,250,000 per year.

Mr. Lang next eulogized Mr. Mulock's administration of the P. O. Department, showing that even though postage within Canada had been reduced from 3 to 2 cents, and letters could be sent to England for two cents as against 5 cents formerly, the difference between revenue and expenditure had been diminished by Mr. Mulock's system of giving contracts by tender. In one case, in the Northwest, where $11,865.40 had been paid for mail carrying, the amount now paid was $3,806. Eight new postoffices have been opened in East Peterborough—one of them is named Lang for the very good reason that everybody in the place voted for Lang at the last election. The Conservatives had a brewer and then a doctor for Minister of Agriculture. The Liberals chose a practical farmer, Hon. Sidney Fisher, for that portfolio. His first act was to go to Washington and in 24 hours get the embargo on Canadian cattle removed. And then the Yankees came in and paid double the price they were formerly paying for Canadian cattle. Mr. Lang next complimented his opponent as an honorable man and said he did not like to blow his own trumpet, but he would state what he had done for East Peterborough during the past four years. He had got four or five officials appointed on the Trent Valley canal work, and had secured several appointments in the P. O. Department and the Inland Revenue Department. He had noticed that everything was going to West Peterborough and had corrected that in a measure by getting Mr. Rourke appointed Deputy Inland Revenue Collector. Mr. Lang also showed that he had obtained grants for the Mud Lake bridge, for a wharf at Keene, and for a wharf at Birdsall's. In closing he showed that binder twine had been cheapened by the Liberal Administration, and admitted that all the credit was not due to the Government for the prosperity of the last four years, although the Conservatives had claimed that the N.P. had done everything in previous years.

MR. J. W. GARVIN

Was then given three-quarters of an hour in which to address the meeting, and he took full time. In the course of a lengthy arraignment of the Laurier Administration, he attributed the Manitoba school trouble due to Greenway and his Government, in a desire to split the great Conservative party, and while admitting the old Franchise Act not to have been satisfactory, he still thought the Liberals' new Registration Act should embrace the rural districts and villages in order to complete its utility. He gave the Laurier Government credit for not altogether discarding the old N. P. but he claimed an increase of taxation under its administration. Mr. Garvin made light of the free importation from the U. S. of Indian corn, and asserted that no farmer could be found who fed it to his stock.

Continuing the speaker admitted that the adoption of a protective tariff had brought capital into the country, but the preference of 33 1-3 per cent. to English woollen goods was injuring our own woollen mills. He then went on to claim that the wave of prosperity had already begun to flow in Canada when the Liberals came into power, and that the increase in our exports is due to the wise policy of Sir Charles and his colleagues. He next spoke of the charges of malfeasance laid by Sir Charles against Hon. Clifford Sifton, and condemned the Crow's Nest railway deal. He claimed the average yearly deficit of the present administration to have been $120,000, and eulogized Hon. Wm. Mulock's administration of the Postoffice Department, especially in the matter of "penny postage"; this reduction in postal rates had, however, he urged, been partially made up by a tax on newspapers. He severely criticised Hon. Wilfrid Laurier for his partiality to Mr. Tarte, on whom he wished the Premier would keep a check, and concluded a lengthy address by an eloquent and touching reference to the Canadian contingent just returned from South Africa's shores.

MR. R. F. McWILLIAMS

Was the next speaker, and he received quite an enthusiastic reception. Mr. McWilliams is the son of Mr. J. B. McWilliams, a rising young barrister of the firm of Pousette & McWilliams, and one might add after his effort of last night, an exceedingly promising politician. It was, he said, with mingled feelings of pleasure and diffidence that he undertook to address so large a meeting of East Peterborough's electorate — diffidence, owing to his being so young a man, and having grown up to manhood with, and in the memory of, so large a majority of his hearers; pleasure in championing the cause of a candidate worthy of his endorsation (Mr. Lang) and a Government so deserving of support as Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his cabinet. We have reason to be proud, he urged, of this man, this French Canadian whose name stands for all that is best for the Unity and Prosperity of this Canada of ours. Continuing, the speaker welcomed the ladies present, (whose influence he felt sure would be used in support of Laurier and his Administration. We have to-day, he argued, to choose between two candidates, two parties, two policies, and two leaders, one of whom would have to be practically the ruler of this country. It is for the electors to say which party, which leader and which policy shall govern Canada the next five years. In this riding, it is quite evident that no more worthy or fitting a representative can be found than Mr. Lang, who has held many municipal offices, and has for the past eight years enjoyed the confidence of East Peterborough's electors in the Dominion House of Parliament. Ashburnham has always been considered to be practically a Conservative unit; this was largely due to a gentleman now deceased, the late Mr. Jno. Burnham. But the village's majority has been in late elections materially reduced, and this time its decrease will be still more marked (Cheers). Turning to Canada's present prosperity, the speaker said:—In 1896, when Sir Wilfrid spoke in Peterborough he remarked that he would not go into a maze of figures, but when he returned he would ask working men to put their hands down into their pockets, and see if they were not better off under his rule than under the previous Government's. Now, urged Mr. McWilliams, this is the fact both as regards farmers, working men and manufacturers. Coming into town at night, from the north one will find it illuminated by lights from the Auburn woollen mills, working night and day, whilst in the south end a further illumination of the electric works, also working night and day testifies in no uncertain manner to Canada's increased prosperity. Mr. Kendrey admits giving more work, and paying more wages than ever before, but complains not making any money out of the concern. Well, the speaker did not think Mr. Kendrey suffered very much, and he thought the Government's policy had placed the mills in a right position—that of furnishing plenty of work for the working man. (Applause), and he did not think the fact of the company's not making a rapid fortune reflected any discredit on Minister Fielding's policy. (Renewed applause).

Mr. McWilliams next spoke of the Government's tariff policy, as securing to Canadians a saving of $2,000,000; as to the preferencial deal with Great Britain, he took exception to the Opposition's claim that we should have insisted upon some privileges in return, and claimed that there is not the slightest chance of our securing mutual preference in the next fifty years. Why, Lord Salisbury, when the matter was broached in the House of Lords, positively refused to consider the question, and stated that no responsible statesman would urge its adoption. But, continued the speaker, Canada gets protection from Great Britain's army and navy, together with consul service, for which she does not pay one cent, and surely it's not too much to say that we should give her some preference in our markets in return. Then it is a noteworthy fact that since our preference has been given to the Mother Country in some lines, her purchases of Canadian products has been three times as much as we import from her.

Taking up the public debt question, the speaker claimed its increase under Laurier's administration to be due to a prompt and active policy in contrast with the Conservative policy of doing in twenty years a thing which should have been accomplished in five; even then during the past four years we have only had an annual increase of two million

A SAMPLE BALLOT.

Election of the Electoral District

EAST PETERBOROUGH

1900 Ballot Paper.

The above is a sample of the ballots that will be used all over the Dominion on Wednesday next.

As to voting, the law requires that the elector shall make a cross with a black lead pencil within the white space containing the name of the candidate for whom he intends to vote.

MARK YOUR BALLOT AS ABOVE.

GENERAL KITCHENER IN CHARGE NOW

And He is Changing British Tactics, Canadian Officer Killed.

Nov. 5.—The Queen has decorated and promoted twenty naval officers serving in South Africa. Rear admiral Sir Robert Hastings Harris has been made Adj. Commander of the Bath.

Paris, Nov. 5.—The Municipal Council has adopted a motion expressing warmest sympathy and admiration for the Boers in their heroic defence of their independance and resolving that the President and other officers of the council shall welcome Mr. Kruger at the station upon his arrival in Paris, and invite him to an official reception at the Hotel De Ville. The nationalist party in the chamber of deputies today appointed a delegation to meet Mr. Kruger at the station.

London, Nov. 5.—Lord Roberts, according to despatches from Cape Town, has taken his sick daughter to Johannesburg, and Lord Kitchener is left in command. It seems likely that he will have plenty of work.

Gen. De Wet is reported to have made his appearance near Frankfort in the northeastern corner of Orange River Colony, and small bodies of Boers continue harassing tactics.

It is asserted that Lord Kitchener intends to stop the pursuit of commandos and to try to settle the colonies by garrisoning and organizing the towns for rapid raids with mounted troops.

Col. Hamilton has been appointed military secretary to Gen Kitchener, upon whom the military command has devolved. The new headquarters staff is being rapidly installed. The mounted forces are being re-equipped.

Gen. Brabant has gone to Cape Colony to recruit men for his colonial division. He has been authorized to raise two additional regiments.

The burghers are now masters of the country in the Western Transvaal around Vryburg. They also hold all the keys to the Southern Free State, and have repeatedly attacked the main railway from Pretoria to Cape Town, above the Orange River. They have held up four trains there this week, and have taken supplies. They have also compelled the small British garrisons at Reddersburg and Ventersburg to surrender. They took the arms and supplies, but liberated those who surrendered, not wishing to have them to feed.

This list of successes has had a natural sequel in increasing the activity of all the commandoes. The net result is that Botha, De Wet and Delarey are all as strong as they were four months ago. When supplies are short they swoop down on some village which the British hold, and which they know is well filled, and help themselves, leaving cheques on the Transvaal or the Free State Government.

The War Office has received the following despatch from Lord Roberts under date of Johannesburg, November 2.

"Kitchener made a night march and surprised Ochoeman's laager at Steenkampsberg at dawn. He then pushed on for Schalkrantz, but the nature of the country prevented him from following the Boers, who were treking to the north. Kitchener had four men wounded. The Boers had five killed.

"Rundle reports that an officer was killed on Oct. 23, and a soldier on Oct. 25, by explosive bullets. Wounded Boers told Barton that their casualties on Oct. 25 were 140. Kelly-Kenny, Paget and Clements were engaged.

"There has been heavy rains lately, and it is difficult to move the guns."

CANADIAN OFFICER KILLED IN BATTLE.

London, Nov. 5.—Lord Roberts telegraphs from Johannesburg, under date of November 4, that in operations in the Belfast district on November 2, Captain Chaviers, of the Canadian Mounted Rifles, was killed and Major Sanders, of the same command, was wounded.

Gen. Roberts, before starting on his return to England, thanked his body guard for their efficient services, and presented to each of the men an autograph photograph of himself. The principal members of Gen. Roberts' old staff will leave to-night for England.

THE PLAN OF SUBJUGATION.

Pretoria, Oct. 31. via Bloemfontein, Nov. 4.—Gen. French has arrived at the Springs, a few miles from Johannesburg, after a difficult march from Barberton. He has lost 1,500 transport oxen since his advance from Machadodorp. It is believed that the plan of moving large bodies of troops about the country will now be abandoned, and that the complete subjugation of the country will attempted by means of garrisons in the district towns, which will be well stocked with provisions, and made the bases for mounted troops, who will scour the territory round the bases.

Col. Hamilton has been appointed military secretary to Gen. Kitchener, upon whom the military command has devolved. The new headquarters staff is being rapidly installed.

IN A SOLDIER'S GRAVE.

Pretoria, Oct. 31.—The funeral of Prince Christian Victor, grandson of the Queen, who died here of enteric fever, will take place to-morrow. A telegram from the Queen commanding that he be buried in a soldier's grave arrived just in time to stop the arrangements that had been made for sending the body to England.

Gen. Lord Roberts and many other officers sent wreaths. The prince was a universal favorite in the army, and deep regret is expressed over the death.

Pretoria is not in good sanitary condition, and it is feared that if a large army occupies the city during the summer months there will be many, victims of enteric fever.

A WELCOME TO THE RETURNING SOLDIERS

Peterborough Gives the Heroes of Paardeburg a Royal Welcome.

THE TOWN WAS DECKED IN GALA ATTIRE

They Arrived Early and Were Met by the 57th Battalion and Were Heartily Welcomed.

The returning soldiers from South Africa received a royal welcome yesterday in Peterborough, and a greater one when they reached Toronto. The sleepers carrying the contingent were detached on the arrival of the Montreal express at 4.56, and left on a siding. At half past six o'clock the 57th Regiment, headed by their two bands, marched to the station, and at 7 the soldiers were escorted to the Oriental Hotel, where a sumptuous breakfast was awaiting them. A half holiday had been proclaimed by Mayor Kendrey, and the whole town turned out to see the soldiers.

Much credit is due Mayor Kendrey, Alderman Denne and others, for the way the affair was handled. Mayor Kendrey ran up to Toronto on Saturday evening, and arranged everything with the Reception Committee of that city. Returning, he went to the Council Chamber, where several of the Aldermen were awaiting him, and orders were at once given to Messrs. J. J. Turner & Sons for the decorations. These were put up during the night, so that on Monday morning the town was a thing of beauty. Every where the word "welcome" stood out in front of the boys in khaki, not only in large letters on canvas, but also on the faces of the thousands who thronged the streets.

The soldiers are all handsome fellows, mostly tall and strongly built. It is no wonder that Lord Roberts and the officers under him regarded them as being a credit to the country.

After breakfast, the gallant band again formed, and headed by the local regiment marched to the drill shed, where an immense concourse of people had assembled.

Addresses of a complimentary nature were delivered by Mayor Kendry, Hon. J. R. Stratton, Lieut.-Col. H. C. Rogers, Major Millar and Revs. Davidson, Potter and Bastow.

Captain Barker, when he rose to respond, was received with prolonged cheers. On behalf of his men he thanked the speakers for their kind and generous remarks, and the citizens of Peterborough for their magnificent reception. The contingent had perhaps got a little too much reception since arriving in Halifax and were liable to belittle to a certain degree the loyal manner in which they were being received. Too much of a good thing sometimes takes away a little of the essence of it, but the gallant Captain again assured his auditors that the grand reception of Peterborough was greatly appreciated. Their welcome since arriving in Canada had been so enthusiastic that hardships to a great extent had been forgotten. The men of the contingent had been in the campaign from beginning to end. Unfortunately many had been invalided and arrived home before. The men had done good work, but all Canadians would do so if necessary. They had worked again and again with some of the best regiments of Britain and had borne comparison well. The enthusiasm of a properly selected corps in the first part of the campaign sometimes carries them beyond obedience to orders which Tommy Atkins is subject to, and though Tommy cannot be surpassed for bravery, the enthusiasm of the colonials had led them to do a little more, and that is one reason they had done so well. Another reason of their success was that being placed alongside of England's regulars they were bound to do the best they could, and they did it. In closing Captain Barker again expressed his thanks for the reception.

After hearty cheers for Captain Barker, the contingent and the Queen, the procession was again formed and proceeded to the station, where the 57th embarked for Toronto by special train, followed by the boys in khaki an hour later.

NOTES

The engine drawing the contingent was decked in flags and bunting.

The Reception Committee from Toronto arrived here about nine o'clock. The committee was composed of Ald. Cox, (chairman), Loudon, Saunders, Asher, Russell and Graham. They each carried a large Union Jack and wore their robes of office. About seventy accompanied them down, including many of the soldiers who had been invalided home earlier. Their march up George street to Central Park was one of the features of the morning's demonstration.

Private Houston, brother of Mr. A. C. Houston, of the Bank of Commerce, was with the contingent.

Private Joseph Matthews will arrive in town to-day.

Lt.-Col. Dr. Ryerson, who was in charge of the Red Cross stores in South Africa, came down yesterday morning with the Toronto Reception Committee.

THE POLITICAL POT.

Laurier, McClellan and prosperity, these three, but the greatest of these is prosperity.

* * *

Montague, like the other ague, is said to cause a great shaking up among those he attacks. And yet some say he is no great shakes himself.

* * *

Although the campaign has been a short one, men of both parties are pretty well sick of the business, and will feel better when the battle is over.

* * *

The Brandon Sun announces that Mr. Sifton will introduce a bill in the House presenting each member of the contingent with the rifle he carried in the campaign.

* * *

There is comparatively little betting on the election, the odds, so far as Peterborough is concerned, being about five to one that the Government will be sustained.

* * *

They say that one of the dodges of the campaign is to pay a man to vote for his own candidate, and then present him with the oath on election day, which he will find difficulty in swallowing gracefully.

* * *

The Ottawa Journal thinks there is not much race hatred or religious bigotry in Canada when we can point to the following record of Prime Ministers during the past ten years.—

Macdonald .... Scotch Protestant.
Abbott ... ...English Protestant.
Thompson... ... .Irish Catholic.
Bowell... ... ...Orangeman.
Tupper... ... ...American Protestant.
Laurier... ... ...French Catholic.

* * *

The electors will only have to endure the agony for a few hours more. To-morrow is the deciding day, when it will be clearly set forth who is to represent the people of this fair Dominion in the next Parliament of Canada. As a matter of fact both parties have already claimed the victory of the "honest" voter. But as there are more than the strict party men interested the result will remain in doubt until the ballots are counted.

This great family journal, according to some of its critics, has leaned to the Conservative side. It is likewise accused of being Liberal in sentiment, and even again of supporting Independent candidates. There is still an opportunity for somebody to describe us as a Patron, and meanwhile this g.f.j. will continue to give the latest and most reliable news, without regard to what people may say or do.

A HORRIBLE SUICIDE.

A Man Deliberately Places His Neck Under a Locomotive.

Corry, Nov. 5.—Yesterday afternoon Engineer Charles Palmer, of this city, witnessed a scene in Brockwayville, Elk county, which he will never forget. Mr. Palmer was running an engine as usual on the Erie Railroad, and as he was passing through the yards at the place named, sitting near the track on the ground, a man who was intently watching the locomotive.

Just as the engine came up to where the man was seated the engineer was horrified to see the unfortunate jump up and thrust his head under the wheels. His neck was across the rail, and in an instant the suicide's head was crushed off and lay on the cinders under the engine, while the headless trunk lay writhing alongside the tracks.

As quickly as possible the engine was stopped and the head and body taken away from the track. In the pockets of the suicide was found a tax receipt bearing the name of Maxwell. The paper showed that Maxwell had been a resident of Tioga county, Pa.

FRESH DEMANDS ON CHINA.

Washington, D.C., Nov. 5.—It is stated to-day in quarters well versed in Chinese affairs that outside of the questions of indemnity, punishments, etc., now under negotiation at Pekin, there are three vital and far-reaching questions to be determined, viz—

First—The removal of the Empress Dowager, personally and through the influence of her advisers, from all participation in the Chinese government.

Second—The creation of an indemnity fund by the increase of China's customs revenue, either by the payment of the duties in gold instead of depreciated silver as at present, or else by doubling the present silver duties from 5 per cent. to 10 per cent ad valorem.

Third—The establishment of a Minister of Foreign Affairs, in place of the old and cumbersome system of the Tsung-li-Yamen.

The demand for the retirement of the Empress Dowager is said to result from the conclusion now generally accepted that the imperial government of China was responsible for the Boxer uprising.

Morning Times

PETERBOROUGH, NOVEMBER 6, 1900.

WORKMEN, VOTE YOUR

Unscrupulous employers are resorting to direct and indirect intimidation in many localities to induce their workmen to vote for the candidate whose cause is espoused by the particular employer. The Times was told of a very glaring case in town. The direct form consists of a threat of discharge for those who vote contrary to the wishes of their employer. The indirect form is not quite so appaling, but it insinuates that there will be dull times, etc., should the "other side" win, and this will mean a reduction of wages, and so on.

The workingmen should treat these threats with silent contempt and vote their own honest convictions. Such methods are an insult to the workingmen and the resort to intimidation, either direct or indirect, constitutes the crowning insult. In the full dinner pail argument that politicians who have used it have assumed thatt he workingmen have no ambitions or aspirations above a full stomach, and in the threat of loss of employment they have added insult to insult by attempted coercion.

These threats are impotent and the workingmen should pay no attention to them except to resent them. The ballot will be a secret one and no workingman will endanger his chance of employment by voting his convictions. The one day in the year in which the workingman should be his own master should be election day; and, fortunately, our ballot laws, with all their defects, provide that he may exercise his right of franchise with absolute freedom and perfect safety. No workingman should pay any attention to threats intended to intimidate him at this time. He can safely vote as he pleases.

RELIGIOUS BIGOTRY.

An Earnest Protest Against It By Eminent Divines

Rev. Dr. B. D. Thomas.—It is very unfortunate that as election time approaches such charistics as a man's creed or race should be magnified and presented to the classes, who are likely to be prejudiced in as unfavorable a light as possible. Such action I consider utterly contemptible. There is absolutely not the slightest excuse for any such attack being made on a man of the moral breadth of character of Sir Wilfrid Laurier. The confidence I feel in him as a political leader and as a man has already been made public in the Toronto Star.

Rev. Dr. George M. Milligan.—No enlightened Protestant will mix up religion and politics. Regarding Sir Wilfrid Laurier, he is an honor to Canada and I hope and pray Canadians may appreciate him, not when it is too late.

Rev. Prof. Clarke.—I admire the personality of Sir Wilfrid Laurier very much. As to his being a Roman Catholic how could that be used against him! Sir John Thompson was a Roman Catholic on the opposite side of politics and he became Premier. These creed cries are not to be commended, for how can we live with each other unless we exercise mutual toleration?

Dr. G. R. Parkin.—A French Canadian Premier the other day made the noblest speech ever delivered by a colonial minister.—Speech at banquet in Toronto, March 14th, 1900.

Rev. Dr. Dewart.—In the case of Sir Wilfrid Laurier we have a fine example of a liberal-minded Roman Catholic statesman who rises above sectarian issues, and regards the interests of the whole Canadian people as the supreme consideration. Because of this he is trusted as fully by the Protestants of Ontario as by the French Canadian Catholics of the Province of Quebec. [illegible]

SOME CURIOUS VOWS

That are Made on the Eve of Battle by Men Who are to Take Part.

If I come out of the big fight to-morrow safe and sound I shall never touch another drop of spirits as long as I live.

Such was the vow uttered by a private on the eve of the battle of Ulundi during the famous Zulu war some eighteen years since. The man had been the toper of the regiment—notorious for his devotion to the joys of Bacchus—but on the night before the battle he received a letter from home saying that his father had died in a home for dipsomaniacs. Impressed by the awfulness of this incident, he recorded the vow related above—though with what precision it was kept the present chronicler is unable to state

Rather curious was the vow registered by a French soldier who took part in the Franco-German war of 1870171. A very dear comrade of his having been killed in action, he swore an oath on the eve of a certain battle that with his own hands he would kill no fewer than a dozen Prussians, or, failing this, would perish by his own hand. Sure enough, he kept his word most faithfully—for when the time came, he shot twelve of the enemy in succession, narrowly escaping with his own life after the abnormal feat in question.

During the war between North and South a Confederate officer named Hudson vowed that if he came uninjured out of the campaign he would marry the first woman he met on returning to his native town, providing that she was single and willing to accept him. The gallant but eccentric officer was spared by shot and shell to so great an extent that he emerged scatheless from the war, but the vow was never consummated, for by a strange freak of fate, the first woman whom he encountered upon his return was his own sister, so that naturally nothing came of the extraordinary oath.

In ancient days vows upon the eve of battle were far more common than is the case in modern times. Before the battle of Cressy we are informed that no fewer than six archers, serving under the English banner, registered solemn oaths that, in the event of the battle going against them, they would thrust their own arrows down their throats rather than be taken prisoners by the French soldiery.

On the night before the world-famous battle of Alma a Cossack soldier vowed that if he were fortunate enough to be spared during the fight he would consume ten gallons of ale at one sitting, directly an opportunity was afforded him of so doing. The oath, however, proved a tragic one, for the Cossack, as his companions, arguing from the utterance of it that he was possessed of considerable money, fell upon him and stripped him of the pouch containing all his worldly possessions, and in the struggle to regain his property he fell, stabbed to the heart by a treacherous comrade.

Most readers of history will remember the famous Seven Years' war, in which Frederick the Great of Prussia played so important a part. During the progress of that memorable and prolonged campaign a Bavarian corporal rejoicing in the name of Keller swore an oath that he would not cut his finger nails until the war was over. The worthy corporal's oath would doubtless have been faithfully observed had not gossip concerning it came to the ears of his commanding officer, who sent for the man, reprimanded him severely and ordered him to have his nails cut in the ordinary course—in accordance with the laws of decency.

Seeing that the campaign in question endured for six years after the registering of this remarkable vow, the action of the commandent was a useful one, for it would be hardly pleasant to ponder upon the condition of finger nails innocent of the scissors for the space of seventy-two months.

Perhaps, however, one of the most curious vows ever uttered on a battlefield was he oath recorded by an Italian soldier serving under the banner of the heroic Garibaldi. He swore that in the event of his issuing from the campaign a sound man he would at once abandon the army and take priestly orders. He kept his word, for on the close of the campaign he assumed the clerical robe and died some six years later in an odor of sanctity.

Col. Verry's Strategic.

Col. Horace B. Verry has a cat which is the terror of dogs passing the Verry domicile on Cedar street. There is a particular stone post at the gateway on which the cat likes to sit, waiting for a victim. If the dog approaches the post, as dogs sometimes will on business intent, the cat promptly drops on his back and gets a firm grip on hair or hide as the case may be. The dog lets out up the street or down the street, whichever way he was headed, or the shortest way home, as if the devil himself had got him, instead of a plain cat of feminine gender. She seems to enjoy the free ride, and finally drops off, the dog never stopping to say good day.

"Eliza, statistics show that nearly all gardeners die of consumption." "They must have been bachelors who hadn't wives to watch them and keep them from sitting down while they were overheated by exercise. Get right up and go digging, David!"—Chicago Record.

Dear Sirs,— In accordance with your wishes I have had both the red and white wines and the champagne tested by several connoisseurs, French and English. All of these expressed surprise that an article of such merit was produced in Canada, and even manufacturers admit that the brand "L'Empereur" is of excellent quality.

This opinion from critics who are by no means easy to please should be very satisfactory to you, and it gives me pleasure to congratulate you upon it. Yours faithfully,

Address to the Electors

To the Free and Independent Electors of West Peterborough—

Gentlemen. —Having accepted the unanimous nomination of the Liberals of this Riding, as a candidate for its representation in the House of Commons I hereby respectfully solicit your support in securing my return at the coming general elections.

The grounds upon which I base my appeal are not so much nor chiefly by any means, my personal fitness for the position of your representation though as a citizen of Peterborough and interested in its progress in common with that of the country, I can and do promise, if elected, an intelligent support of such a public policy and such measures as will best conduce to the promotion of all the interests of Canada, the developement of her great resources and the general betterment of the civil moral and material condition of the public; and my best abilities and most assiduous attention shall be devoted to the faithful discharge of my representative duties.

The strongest ground, however, of my appeal consists in the fact that I am a firm supporter of the Liberal Government led by Sir Wilfred Laurier, which is entitled to the renewed confidence of the people, both on the ground of its policy and the splendid record established by the application of that policy. The Liberal party appealed to the country in 1896 upon a clearly defined policy and the promised results followed.

The Liberal party promised a reduction of a high tariff that hampered our industrial and agricultural interests and was hostile to the Mother Country.

The tariff was materially reduced and otherwise improved and in such a way as to help instead of hinder the manufacturer and farmer, with the consequence that never before in the history of the country have our industries or our farmers enjoyed such great prosperity, our mechanics and working men such constant employment and high wages, nor our commercial and all other interests so flourished.

Our domestic and foreign trade have also greatly increased. The loyal gift of a trade preference, represented by a tariff reduction on British goods of 33 1-3 per cent., and our despatch of the Canadian Contingent, have resulted in a kindlier feeling towards Canada and greatly increased trade with the Mother Country.

With a largely reduced rate of tariff, our revenue has greatly expanded so that the Government was warranted in practicing true economy (reducing our postal rate one third, giving Imperial penny postage) and premitting of the completion of great public works, deepening our canals, so long trifled with, pushing the work on the Trent Valley Canal which is now urged and will be urged to completion by the Liberal Government, and the application of a vigorous policy of general development and improvement of our transportation facilities, resulting and to result in easier access to the British market and better prices for all our products.

The farming interests of the country are deserving of the best services of a Government, such as the present has given. The immense impetus given the produce trade between Canada and Great Britain, through the preferential tariff, has been greatly helped by the action of the Government in providing an excellent and adequate system of cold storage, by which Canadian products can be landed in Great Britain in first-class condition, guaranteeing the highest prices. The system is of the most modern character, sufficient for all the present needs of the trade, and it will be improved and enlarged as experience suggests, and increase of the produce trade demands, and I shall, if elected, feel it my duty to support any policy that will improve our trade with the Mother Country, and strengthens the bond of British connection, of which we are so proud.

In an industrial centre like Peterborough the claims of the working classes are especially deserving of consideration. No country is well governed that does not look after the interests of all classes of the community. The Conservative Government has been, and the Conservative party declares itself to be, extremely solicitous of the interests of the capitalist classes—the manufacturers—but it left the working classes to largely shift for themselves. A Liberal Government came into power, and the attitude towards Labour was changed, and the rights of Labour to its rights recognized, and in a practical way. A Department of Labour has been established and a Minister of Labour placed over it. A Labour Gazette has been established in the interests of workingmen, published monthly; conditions have been inserted in all Government contracts compelling contractors to pay the highest current wages, which the Government guarantees the payment of; the sweating system has been abolished on Government enforced by a special officer, and in many other ways the Government has shown by deeds that the rights of the workingmen, as well as the capitalist, shall be protected. I heartily support the Government in what it has done, and shall support them in extending the benefits which they have already conferred, and which it is their policy to continue, as need arises.

The splendid achievements of Canadian soldiers in South Africa, make them worthy of the gratitude of the country. We have the best militia material in the world, and if we keep up a military establishment, let it be worthy of Canadians. Situated as Peterborough is, on the line of the Grand Trunk and Canadian Pacific Railways, and on the line of the Trent Valley Canal, begun as a military work, and now under course of completion, no other point in this Province is so well adapted for a military centre. I shall, therefore, feel it my duty to press upon the Government the advisability of constructing in Peterborough new armories and connected buildings for military stores for Ontario, and I feel that this is practicable of attainment at the hands of a Government which has shown its interest in our volunteers by placing the Militia Department, so greatly neglected by a previous administration, upon an effective basis, and will, therefore, more naturally be well disposed towards the improvement involved in making Peterborough a centre for military stores.

A town of the industrial and commercial importance of Peterborough, has certainly strong claims upon the good offices and of a Government. For the past four years the town has been represented, when it was represented in the House, by a member opposed to the Government. There is no doubt in the minds of unprejudiced observers, that the present Liberal Government will be strongly sustained in the country at the coming elections, and the question arises whether West Peterborough will have its interests better served by a member sitting in opposition and hostile to the Government and its policy, or by a member pledged to give the Government a fair support in the application of its policy. If elected I pledge myself to give my best ability and exertions to the promotion of the general good of the country, and to look especially after the interests of West Peterborough.

I cannot obviously here, enter into details of how in other ways the Liberal Government has implemented its promises and applied its policy, but I shall have an opportunity during the campaign of more fully dealing with these and other public questions.

As a supporter of such a Government I can appeal with confidence for the support of the Electors of West Peterborough, knowing that by helping to give, as you will do, through my election, a renewal of the trust the Liberal Government has discharged with such evident and gratifying results, they will be conferring a great and lasting good upon this riding, the country at large, and securing a continuation of the great blessings of prosperity and good government we now enjoy.

Again soliciting your support, your votes, and influence in this contest,

I have the honor to be,
gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,
J. H. McCLELLAN

A NOVEL.

"I have been seriously expostulating with Loraine on this very point. I assure you I have felt a great depression ever since that woman, with the beautiful foreign face, entered this house; then there is the child. I am urging strongly that he shall be ——" at the mention of the child Isetta strove to hear what they were saying, but the voice had sunk to a low, inaudible whisper.

"I heartily agree with you" responded the stranger, "only yesterday I told your daughter: 'Take care, my dear Mrs. Ulvesford, this child does not prove a thorn in your path of roses!' Is the child pretty?"

"Decidedly so," answered Mrs. Lorrimer; "yet there is something about that child that puzzles me. I have told Loraine so, but she only laughs and replies: 'How fanciful you are, mother.' Still, I repeat it, I do not like the child."

"What does Mr. Ulvesford think of the plan you propose?"

"He has not heard of it yet, he will certainly object. I assure you he is quite interested in that child."

"That is a very startling idea," exclaimed the visitor; "it reminds me of the serious trouble a friend of mine once experienced. Her husband and she, although dearly loving children, were childless; that boon was denied them. She took a neighbor's child into her home. Husband and wife never seemed the same to each other after that; imperceptible at first, the husband turned from his wife to that child. When at last an heir of their own was born, it was too late; no power on earth could alienate the husband's affections which were lavished upon the stranger. The young wife lived to see her own child turned from its own father's door, its place usurped by a stranger's child."

"Your story quite frightens me," replied Mrs. Lorrimer; "if I anticipated such a denouement in this case, do you know what I should be tempted to do?"

"Heaven help me!" she cried, rocking herself to and fro, "surely they do not wish to separate baby and me!"

She could hear the distant rumbling of the storms which were gathering over her future. One thought only forced itself upon her —they did not want her little child.

"No!" she cried, starting with new energy to her feet; "my darling, you are all I have in this wide, wide world. No one shall take you from me. If they turn us from their door we shall still have each other; and if we find the world too cold, baby, you and I can die together."

She remembered how the dark waters looked tipped by the silvery light of the stars; those waters which gently laved the coral bed which entombed her grandfather; still she tried hard to put these dark thoughts away —for baby's sake.

Then she quite laughed aloud; she had certainly misunderstood them. How could any one mean to separate her from her little child?

She remembered they had said Mr. Ulvesford was pleased with baby; they said of him, too, that he was kind of heart.

She would tell him, a home beneath that roof would be heaven to her; but she would kneel at his feet and tell him she must keep her little son with her. Better, homeless, penniless, out in the perils of the storm again, than parted from her little child.

Suddenly the sound of a clear, ringing step was heard on the stair; the shadow of a tall, dark form fell between Isetta and the sunlight, a strong, white hand pushed back the partially opened door, and a pair of dark blue eyes flashed pleasantly about the room, observing at once the slight figure by the fireside, and a voice, whose cadence fell upon her ear like the memory of some forgotten dream, said courteously:

"Mrs. Rose, I believe?"

A deep silence fell between them.

At last Ulmont Ulvesford and Isetta had met—face to face!

CHAPTER XXVI.

The Plot Deepens.

In the library at Hampton Hall quite another scene was being enacted.

It was early morning, yet the lights remained as they had been lit the previous evening. The fire was burning low and fitfully in the grate. There was a haggard expression on the face of Heath Hampton in the flickering firelight. He strode up and down the room in deep thought.

No word had broken the deep silence for an hour or more.

He clenched the letters he held in his hand, as if they were sensible of the pain he would inflict upon the writer if he could.

"Read these letters again, Vatal," he commanded; "I say there must be some loop-hole."

Slowly the dwarf picked up the letters that had been tossed into his lap smoothing them out carefully with his hand. The first was marked "Official," post-marked, "Switzerland," and read as follows:—

"My Dear Hampton: As per agreement, I ascertained, upon close investigation, owing to the extraordinary complications which surround this uncommon case, that a warrant for the extradition papers, for the removal of Ulmont Ulvesford back to Switzerland on the charge of murder in the first degree, could be obtained if the facts in the case were clearly proven, as stated.

"True, the surgeon who officiated is dead; and the opposite parties left the ground before the extent of the injury had been declared.

"My testimony was corroborated by the finding of some poor fellow's mangled remains over the cliff, utterly unrecognizable.

"Every one at the inn admits the knowledge of a disturbance. Upon the stand, Wylmer Lee admitted that the duel had taken place on the very edge of the precipice, though he insisted that death had not taken place at the time he departed in company with Ulvesford.

"Of course, old fellow, I say now, as I said then, you were foolish in returning to America. You should have remained abroad.

"I am lost in wonder when I imagine you back in a locality where you are so well known; if you were once recognized, all our work there would be in vain.

"The officers in charge of the necessary papers sailed on the steamer White Crescent. I hope to hear in your reply of the successful issue of our enterprise.

"Yours very truly,
"De Risnar."

With a grating, sardonic laugh, Hampton took the letters from

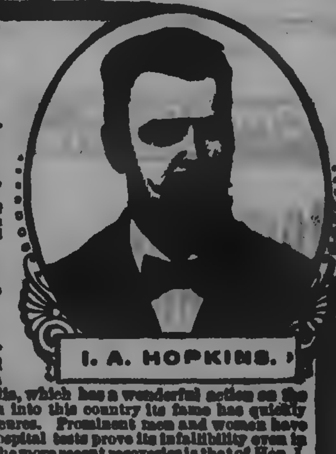
A WONDERFUL
KIDNEY and Bladder CURE

The Honorable Chairman of the Board of County Commissioners, Ellsworth, Kansas, tells how ALKAVIS cured him after Doctors and all other Remedies had Failed.



I. A. HOPKINS.

BRIGHT'S DISEASE, GRAVEL, DROPSY,
And Rheumatism Mastered at Last.

One of the most remarkable medical discoveries of the century is the Kava-Kava Shrub, found on the Ganges River, East India, which has a wonderful action on the kidneys and bladder. Since its introduction into this country its fame has quickly spread, because of its seemingly impossible cures. Prominent men and women have testified to its great curative powers, and hospital tests prove its infallibility even in advanced stages of Bright's Disease. Among the more recent recoveries is that of Hon. I. A. Hopkins, Chairman Board of County Commissioners, Ellsworth, Kansas, who says:

GENTLEMEN:—I will say that I believe and know that I owe my life to Alkavis. I had been troubled with Kidney and Bladder Trouble for years. Two years ago I was sick for six weeks with Malarial Fever which left me in a bad condition. My limbs were swollen with Rheumatism so that I could hardly walk; I was troubled with Indigestion from taking Medicine for my Urinary troubles which had become very much worse. I had to get up every hour of the night to urinate. I passed great quantities of blood on account of hemorrhage of the Kidneys and Bladder. I tried and had been trying everything in the shape of Medicine for Kidney Trouble that I could think of or that the Doctors recommended, but nothing helped me for I kept getting worse. I suffered great pain continually in my Kidneys. I made up my mind unless I could get relief that I only had a short time to live. About this time my attention was called to an advertisement of Alkavis. As a drowning man will grasp at a straw, I was ready to try anything for relief. I sent to you for three bottles. I began to take it, and before I had taken it one week I began to feel the good effects of Alkavis. My Kidney Trouble and Rheumatism were soon gone, my digestion became all right, I found myself in better health than for ten years and I am in good health now. I know that Alkavis saved my life. What more can anyone say for a medicine? Unlike most medicines it is good for indigestion. It gives the person taking it a good appetite. I have recommended Alkavis to a great many people and all have been benefited by its use. I am 58 years of age, and am very grateful for what Alkavis has done for me.
Respectfully yours,
I. A. HOPKINS.

Rev. W. B. Moore, D. D., Washington, D. C., Editor Religious World, writes that after trying all known medicines for kidney and rheumatic diseases he was permanently cured by Alkavis. Mrs. Wm. H. Hardy, East Rush, Pa., writes that Alkavis cured her after six doctors failed. Rev. J. W. Hickman, Collyer, Trego Co., Kansas, cured of liver, kidney and bladder trouble, of many years' standing, from which he could only get temporary relief and had given up all hope of a cure. Thus the grand work goes on. A new book, entitled "A Thousand Living Witnesses," sent with the free case of medicine, tells of the wonderful cures performed in every state.

Not only does this great discovery—Alkavis (the Kava-Kava Compound)—cure all forms of kidney and bladder diseases, but by expelling from the blood all poisonous deposits of uric acid, lime, uric acid, urates and lithates, it removes gravel, torpid liver, rheumatism, pains in back, difficult and too frequent urination, etc. The cure is complete. No phase is neglected, and the stomach, heart and nerves are toned and invigorated. No other medicine in the world will perform the work of Alkavis. To enable sufferers to get well and spread the glad tidings we have arranged to send a Large Case of Alkavis FREE by mail to all who write us. The case goes entirely FREE.

If you are a sufferer, write to-day and secure at once a Free Case of Alkavis and Book of "A Thousand Living Witnesses." Address The Church Kidney Cure Co., No. 398 Fourth Ave., New York. Please mention this paper.

THE COLORADO COPPER MINING COMPANY

LOCATION OF OUR MINES

THE COLORADO COPPER MINING COMPANY is fortunate in being the possessor of five splendid showing properties in the great Salida copper belt, the principal copper producing region of this portion of the rockies. All of our claims have been more or less developed and it is our purpose to put the same on a paying basis at once.

Our Company owns, clear of incumbrances the following claims,—The Sedalia Extension, the Sedalia Extension No. 2, which property adjoins the great Sedalia mine, which has been a big producer for upwards of seventeen years; the Copper King of Colorado, which immediately adjoins the above; the Copper Queen of Salida, a very promising property, only a few steps from the depot in Salida. This claim occupies an imposing position on a mountain just north of the city; and last, but by no means least, the Sunshine, located two miles east of Salida at Cleora station, on the main Trunk line of the great Denver and Rio Grande Railroad, also on the Arkansas river, which in length is one of America's greatest streams.

PRICES AND TERMS

PRESENT PRICES—We are now selling our fully paid and non-assessable TREASURY SHARES at 5 cents per share, in blocks of 100 shares and more; 100 shares, $5; 1,000 shares, $50; 5,000 shares, $250; or 10,000 shares or more at the same rate. Send your order right NOW, before the next advance, as you will soon pay a higher price. Investors are rapidly investing with us.

The company fully prepays all government revenue, postage, etc. Send also for our handsomely illustrated prospectus, which contains much valuable information. It is free for the asking.

TOWN AND COUNTY NEWS

Board of Education.

The Board of Education will meet to-night in regular monthly session.

The Canal.

The water is now in the canal at the Warsaw road to its full height. It is a delightful trip from Nassau down to the present terminus.

At the Central School.

Teacher J. C. Smith—"Tommy, what does disagree mean?"

Tommy—"I don't know."

Teacher—"Well, when two people think alike they are said to agree. Now you can guess what "disagree" means.

Tommy—"Oh, yes, it's when only one people thinks alike."

The Gunpowder Plot.

The anniversary of the Gunpowder Plot was celebrated last night at Downer's Corners by the members and friends of L.O.L. No. 321. A fowl supper was discussed, after which a programme of music and speeches was rendered, concluding with the burning of Guy Fawkes.

Mr. Hamilton's Lecture.

Mr. Hamilton delivered a very interesting lecture on the war to a very large and appreciative audience in the Opera House last night. He described with the help of stereopticon views the departure of the first contingent at Quebec, the landing at Cape Town, and many interesting places in the great South African war.

Just What the People Want

We have purchased a large number of portfolios of South Africa, containing from 20 to 25 views each, the regular price of which is 25 cents, but have bought them in such a way as to be able to sell them at ten cents a copy or sent by mail for eleven cents a copy. Order early. Times Bookstore, Market Block, Peterborough.

New Boat.

A despatch from Kingston says—"H. H. Gildersleeve has just returned from Boston, where he was looking at the steamer John Endicott, and the prospects are that the steamer will be one of the Lake Ontario and Bay of Quinte Steamboat Company boats within the next two weeks." The new boat will likely take the place of the old reliable North King, and is guaranteed to "reel" off 18 miles an hour.

A Case of Interest.

Should corporations be held fully responsible for the carelessness of men in their employ? A case (now pending) at Belleville is of interest on that account. The city has been served with a writ claiming $5,000 for damages done to a boy named Jacob Martis who had his fingers blown off by a dynamite cartridge which he procured at the city's stone quarry. The writ sets forth the claim that the city officials are careless in the way they leave explosives around.

Ouananiche for Ontario.

The Ontario Fishery Department is trying to secure from Quebec some of the famous Ouananiche or land-locked salmon, about the finest angling fish known to fishermen on the continent. The fish secured from Quebec will be placed in suitable waters of Ontario, and protected so as to become numerous enough in a few years to provide good sport to anglers. The Department at Ottawa is considering the application now, with every chance of granting the Ontario Department's request. We learn that an effort will be made to secure some of these fine fish for this section.

JOTTINGS ABOUT TOWN.

—Election day to-morrow.

—The hotels will be closed to-morrow.

—Last night was Guy Fawkes' night.

—It is prophesied that we are to have an open winter.

—The sweet sound of the party orator will be heard no more in the land.

—The wet streets did not prevent our citizens from turning out to welcome the heroes.

—The air is as crisp as a brand new five dollar bill—although some people haven't seen one since the last election.

You have read of the cures by Hood's Sarsaparilla, and you should have perfect confidence in its merit. It will do you good.

—Mr T. M. McFadden has been awarded the contract to build the power house at Young's Point for the Lakefield Cement Company.

—The C. P. R. employees in Havelock have decided to hold a grand ball and supper in the town hall in that village on the evening of November 27th.

—Our apple dealers are busily engaged taking in apples at the respective warehouses and sorting and reshipping to the old country.

—Toronto's scheme of electric railways to tap the surrounding country and make it tributary to Toronto, is not meeting with marked encouragement from the outlying municipalities. Instead of assisting the scheme by purchasing stock or by bonusing, the rural sections will more likely refuse it the use of the highways and expect the company to purchase a right of way.

—The officers from the Attorney-General's department that were sent out weeks ago, have had an easy time of it. A year ago they were kept busy for weeks handling tramps. The officers have received reports from all parts of the province to the effect that tramps have never been so scarce in years. This is attributed to the action of the department in having sent down for vagrancy any tramps that were found loitering about the country.

Sciatica put him on Crutches.—Jas. Smith, dairyman, of Grimsby, Ont., writes: "My limbs were almost useless from sciatica and rheumatism, and, notwithstanding my esteem for physicians, I must give the credit where it belongs. I am a cured man to-day, and South American Rheumatic Cure must have all the credit. It's a marvel.—34

This Is What They Say.

Those who take Hood's Sarsaparilla for scrofula, eczema, eruptions, catarrh, rheumatism or dyspepsia, say it cures promptly and permanently, even after all other preparations fail. You may take this medicine with the utmost confidence that it will do you good. What it has done for others you have every reason to believe it will do for you.

Constipation is cured by Hood's Pills. 25c.

Died in Calgary

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. James Bradley will deeply sympathize with them in the death of their daughter, wife of Mr. Samuel Warrington, which sad event occurred on Wednesday last at Calgary. Mr. Warrington was for a considerable time caretaker of the Baptist church here. He left for the west five months ago, and was followed two months later by his wife. The remains reached Peterborough at 8 o'clock last night, and will be interred from the residence of Mr. Bradley, 636 Aylmer street, at three o'clock this afternoon. The friends will please accept this intimation.

MACHINE TYPE SETTERS.

Said to Be Hard on Operators.

The work of a typesetter in a modern printing office is very exacting, particularly if he runs a linotype or typesetting machine. It requires the closest attention and rapid and sympathetic action of both brain and hand. This machine works much like a typewriter. Such workers fed on ordinary food give up because of nervous prostration, some in a short time, and some are able to stand it longer.

One of these workers says:—"I have been at the linotype three years. It has made a great change in my once robust health. About three months ago, after long expecting it, I completely collapsed, from indigestion and extreme nervousness. The daily physic I had not dared to omit for years, now and then, refused relief and a physician was consulted.

"'Change of occupation and diet' read the prescription, 'advise eating Grape-Nuts Food twice daily.' I had often set up the advertisements of the Postum Cereal Co., but somehow printers are apt to think advertisements are not intended for them to make use of. I could not well change my occupation, but did change the diet.

"Since then have used Grape-Nuts, both at breakfast and supper, daily. The results are truly remarkable. The first perceptible change was in the matter of digestion. It has been six weeks since I have had to swallow an aperient of any kind. At the beginning of my experiment with Grape-Nuts I weighed 124 pounds; last evening I tipped the beam at 137 1-2.

"My nerves, which were completely shattered three months ago, are now strong and steady, and I do not tire easily, though I go to bed an hour later on an average than formerly, and have increased my capacity at the machine fully two columns of type a day. I am convinced that Grape-Nuts Food is the food for persons of sedentary occupation, especially for those who work with brain in lieu of brawn." Chas. H. Eckhard, 177 N. Chambers street, Galesburg, Ill.

Presidential Election To-Day.

To-day the Presidential election in the United States is taking place. The result will be recorded in these columns to-morrow. Odds are everywhere in favor of McKinley.

Leading American Papers

Below is a list of Sunday editions of American papers that are kept weekly on our counters and can be had quarterly, half-yearly or yearly or by the single copy—Herald, New York; Times, New York; Eagle, Brooklyn, N.Y.; Tribune, Chicago; Times, Chicago; Inter-Ocean, Chicago; Globe, Hartford; Express, Buffalo; Chronicle, San Francisco; Enquirer, Cincinnati. New Church Opened.

His Lordship Bishop O'Connor conducted the opening ceremonies in connection with the new Roman Catholic church at Campbellford on Sunday last, and Right Reverend Bishop McEvay, of London, preached the sermon. The fine and spacious edifice is nearly completed. The workmen are now putting in the beautiful stained glass windows, of which there are nineteen, every one of which is a gift of some member of the congregation, whose name appears on the bottom. There was a large attendance and a liberal collection was made on behalf of the building fund.

Death of Mrs Robinson

The death is announced, occurring on Sunday night, of Mrs. Robinson, wife of Mr. W. S. Robinson, of 223 Murray-st. The deceased was a daughter of Mr. Irwin Marks, of town and was married 16 years ago. Her husband and two sons survive her. Death resulted from consumption, her illness lasting for seven weeks, the last four of which she was confined to her room. Many friends will sympathise with Mr. Robinson and the family in their sad affliction. The funeral will take place to-day, from No. 223 Murray-st., at 3 o'clock p.m. to the Little Lake cemetery.

Election Night

Election night promises to be a great occasion at the Bradburn Opera House. In addition to the Miss Florence Mabel Glover combination the management have arranged for the complete election returns to be read from the stage before, during and after the entertainment. This will prove a great benefit to the ladies and others who have in other years had to put up with a great deal of inconvenience in order to learn the correct returns on election night. Miss Glover, Canada's leading soprano, will be remembered for her excellent work in Peterborough some years ago. She will be assisted by Mr. W. Francis Firth, baritone, Mr. T. E. Kyle, humorist, and Mrs. W. E. Ramsay, Toronto's favorite pianist. Plan opens Tuesday afternoon at Mr. Bradburn's office.

EAST PETERBOROUGH

Mr Lang Holds two Successful Meetings Saturday Night

The Town Hall at Keene was well filled on Saturday night to hear addresses in the interests of Mr. Lang. Mr. Jas. Drummond occupied the chair.

Mr. R. F. McWilliams gave a splendid thirty-five minutes speech contrasting the Liberal and Conservative leaders.

Mr. Garvin followed with an address on behalf of Mr. Sexsmith.

Hon. J. R. Stratton closed the speaking with an impressive address on the questions of the campaign. The meeting was strongly for Lang.

A good meeting in Mr. Lang's interests was held at Warsaw Saturday night. It was addressed by Mr. John Lang, on behalf of the Government.

TRAINERS and ATHLETES

MAKE USE OF

Paine's Celery Compound

THE ONLY MEDICINE THAT GIVES NERVE FORCE, STRENGTH AND ENDURANCE.

Trainers and athletes in every department of athletics must be vigorous and healthy men if they would excel in bicycle races, football, running, jumping, skating and snowshoeing. The athlete should have a well-balanced nervous system, blood fresh and pure, and the organs of digestion should at all times be in the best condition.

For many years Paine's Celery Compound has been the chosen health restorer of our best and most prominent athletes. It has done wonderful work and kept in condition men who have made world-wide reputations.

The celebrated John Graham, who has trained athletes in Harvard and Columbia Universities, and who is now superintendent of Boston's famous gymnasium, says:—"I have used Paine's Celery Compound to my benefit, and have no doubt that any person undergoing great physical strain will find it a grand strengthener."

J. R. Watson, Boston, holding the world's championship as jumper and pole vaulter, says:—"The strongest of athletes often feel languid and drawn out. I have tried many things, but have found nothing that does me as much good as Paine's Celery Compound."

James Michael, the great bicyclist, Hjertberg, the champion steeple-chaser, and other great athletes have declared that Paine's Celery Compound is the great tonic, regulator, nerve bracer and strength-giver for all who are weak, run down or suffering from any ailment.

[illegible] half millions under a Conservative administration. As to corruption, he thought it ill became his opponents to lay that charge against Liberals, when in 1896 the corruption in Conservative ranks was a foul spot on Canada's fair name in the eyes of all nations.

He next spoke of the Drummond railway, which investigation showed to be a perfectly clean transaction' eliciting from the opposition the cry "that they had not charged any scandal in connection therewith." Regarding the Crow's Nest Railway cry it was well known that the coal lands in dispute had been awarded the railway by a British Columbia Government, whilst the Yukon railway only reached the waterways of that district, and had it been completed Lower Canada would have sold its goods to the Yukon miners instead of their commodities having to be procured from Seattle, San Francisco and other American centres. Then by the abolition of the embargo on cattle, secured by Laurier's Government, the export of cattle to the United States increased in the last three years to $3,914,431, compared with a total of $31,857 in the last three years and of the Conservative Government.

Continuing, the speaker believed that Minister Fisher was a practical farmer, and did not think his being a university graduate should in any way disqualify him. Again, for years, Prof. Robertson had begged the Conservative Administration to grant $30,000 for cold storage experiments, but to no avail, whereas the Liberals had spent $380,000 in this matter, and to good effect.

Touching lightly on the postal question, Mr. McWilliams eulogized the Government for its Labor Bureau and its Labor Conciliation Act, the value of which had recently been demonstrated at Valleyfield, where a very serious strike was amicably settled, and the clause inserted in all Government contracts, by which the appalling sweating system is practically abolished, and a fair wage insured to workingmen on all Government work.

The speaker next compared the personel of the two parties; that of the Liberals was well known to be composed of capable business men; but that of the opposition was admitted to be weak and lacking the requirements of a business-like Government. It is true, as Mr. Garvin had said, they had the privilege of following the example of Sir Wilfrid in discarding some unqualified leaders and selecting more capable and worthy men in their stead; but where are they to find them? Sir Wilfrid had such men as Sir Oliver Mowat of Ontario, Mr. Fielding of Nova Scotia, Mr. Blair of New Brunswick and Mr. Sifton of Manitoba to call into his cabinet (applause), whereas Sir Chas. Tupper has nothing but the same old incompetent crowd from which to select a cabinet.

Continuing the speaker quoted the following clipping from the Montreal Star in 1897, claiming a want of respect and confidence in the Conservative party at that time.

"Never did a political party so much deserve, never did a political party so much need, a beating as the Conservative party deserved and needed one at the time of the last Federal election. The Conservatives were distrustful of each other, disloyal to their leaders, and among them were men who were quite right to distrust each other. Before long they must be a great reconstruction of the Conservative party, and the exigencies of the situation may as well be recognised at once. Some of the old leaders can never be leaders again, and now is the time to get rid of them. If the Conservative party is to command the respect and confidence of the country it must have leaders worthy of respect and confidence. The reconstruction will involve not only the getting rid of some of the old leaders, but the selection of new ones."

Then the Mail when posing as an independent sheet had said of the Conservative leader: "The appointment of Sir Chas. Tupper as of a Government would be the signal for a disruption of the community—and a moral civil war."

Turning to Mr. Tarte, the speaker said he is willing to defend him in everything that concerns his public policy; he is not responsible for the string of lies in the Mail-Empire, and such campaign sheets the Opposition are distributing at Keene; such statements are lies (applause). Minister Tarte's action in the contingent matter was perfectly honorable and the Government had no right to appropriate $2,000,000 for any purpose, without the consent of Parliament. Australia had to await its Parliament's consent before its Government could send a contingent. He next endorsed the readiness with which Sir Wilfrid had sent the first contingent in response to Kruger's ultimatum to Great Britain, and eulogized Mr. Tarte for being the first Minister to suggest sending the second contingent.

In conclusion, Mr. McWilliams upheld Sir Wilfrid as the greatest statesman Canada has ever produced, and urged that if there is one thing we want more than another it is a cessation of racial and religious contention, under a clean and honorable Administration, such as we have enjoyed the past four years under Sir Wilfrid Laurier. The speaker resumed his seat amid prolonged applause.

The meeting closed with three cheers for the Queen, Sir Wilfrid and Mr. Lang.

ATTACK of ROYAL CANADIANS at Paardeberg

The present is a time when war pictures are in greater demand than ever. The conduct of the British soldiers on the battlefield has won the plaudits of admiring nations. We have at great expense published four large, beautiful pictures, size 20x24, on heavy, superfine calendered paper. A picture that will commend itself and send a thrill to the heart of every true Canadian is the one called Attack of Royal Canadians at Paardeberg, there are literally hundreds of figures on this picture, the mountains or kopjes stretching out into the distance are swarming with men, while here and there a prostrate figure speaks only too well of the Boer rifleman. It was on this battlefield the gallant Major Arnold met death unflinchingly. Indeed, it is only too true that many of those gallant hearts that beat so high when the cheering thousands bade them Godspeed as they sailed from Canada's shores now lie still forever in lonely graves on the other side of the world under African skies. To every Canadian heart, to every Canadian home, the deeds of their brave soldier boys speak with an irresistible thrill of patriotism and pride. Gordon Highlanders at the Battle of Belmont, Charging the Boer Guns at Elandslaagte and the Charge of Gen. French's Cavalry on the Retreating Gen. Cronje's Army. These are all stirring pictures and cannot fail to commend themselves to anyone who will examine them. They are RED HOT SELLERS! Agents coin money. Big profits. Enormous success. One agent sold 60 in one day. Sample and terms 25 cts (none free); four for 80 cts; $1.75 per dozen; 25 for $2.25; 50 for $4.00; 100 for $11.00. Write to-day for a dozen and make money. MR. KRUGER SEEKING FOR INTERVENTION

Failing Which He will "Auction Transvaal to Highest Bidder."

ALL THE CANADIAN REGIMENTS COMING HOME

Mounted Rifles and Artillery May Reach Home Before Christmas—An Offer of Ammunition.

London, Nov. 6—Lord Roberts has cabled to the War Office that former President Steyn, in a speech to Delarey's burgher's, October 22, said Mr. Kruger had gone to Europe in order to "get intervention," and that if the failed "the Transvaal would be auctioned off to the highest bidder."

The Dutch cruiser Gelderland, with ex-President Kruger on board, has arrived at Ras Jibutli. She has been directed to await instructions from The Hague at Port Said, with regard to Mr. Kruger's landing in Europe.

The Gelderland will stop three days Mr. Kruger is in excellent health. Dr. Heymans declared Mr. Kruger was going to Europe purely on a holiday.

"May they fight without remission," he exclaimed energetically, filling his pipe, referring to the Boers. "That is what we ask."

London, Nov. 6 — Special — Lord Roberts reports that while the Boers are disorganized and their ammunition and supplies scarce, ex-President Steyn is endeavoring to bolster up the cause by spreading false stories. Addressing Delarey's men recently he said that De Wet had captured Norvval's Point, and that 5,000 Cape Dutch had risen against the English.

London, Nov. 6—Lord Roberts, in a despatch dated Johannesburg, Nov. 5, reports to the War Office as follows,—

"Smith-Dorrien states that Major Saunders and Captain Chalmers (of the Canadian Mounted Rifles) behaved with great gallantry in the action of November 2nd. Saunders rode out under a heavy fire to bring in a horseless non-commissioned officer. Saunders was wounded and his horse was killed, and Chalmers went to his assistance. Saunders implored him to leave, but he refused, and the gallant Chalmers was, I grieve to say, killed.

BACK TO CANADA.

Ottawa, Nov. 6—Special—The Militia Departmentt his morning received a cablegram froam Rt. Hon. Joseph Chamberlain, which indicates that the assistance of the colonial troops now in South Arfica will be dispensed with at an early date, and that the remainder of the Canadian contingents, horse, including the Strathconas, foot and artillery will speedily be on their way to home and rest. When the Canadian contingents left there was a lack of ammunition in the Imperial stores in South Africa, and all that could be spared of various kinds was shipped from Canada's stores with the boys of the contingents. The cablegram from Mr. Chamberlain, received this morning, asks for information, as to the quantities so sent, and concludes by asking if the Canadian Government will accept ammunition shipped from the Imperial stores now at Cape Town, in repayment. The reply, it is needless to say, will be in the affirmative. The fact that the Imperial War Office is in a position to contemplate a reduction of its store of munitions of war, at the base of operations, is of itself very strong evidence that practically the war is over, and an indication that the members of Canada's contingents will probably reach home in time for Christmas. The Department expects that this enquiry will be followed by an intimation regarding the sailing of the Canadian contingents.

SPECIAL MEETING OF UNION LAST NIGHT

London Players Deny Charges Made be the Peteboro Fifteen.

Toronto, Nov. 6—The most important meeting held by the Ontario Rugby Union this year took place last night at the Rossin House.

It was originally intended to hold the gathering on Thursday night, but as there are a number of important matters to be disrussed, some of which may have a bearing on the games scheduled for Saturday, it was decided to meet this evening. Secretary McMurrich wired all the clubs yesterday morning, and, though the constitution calls for 48 hours' notice, he doesn't think that any of the clubs will press the point. This should be definitely decided, though, before any business is done.

The chief business will relate to games played. The Tobin protest will likely be sustained and the Argonaut defeat and probably the Ottawa game too, thrown out. Hamilton will insist upon the game with Ottawa City being played and, as the Capital men would not for a moment take advantage of a committee room victory, they will probably be successful.

LONDON DENIES CHARGES.

London, Nov. 6—London has prepared its reply to the charges of rough play made by the Peterborough club. The three players attacked—Gilmour, Hennessey and Kerrigan—have filed sworn declarations that they were not guilty of the tactics which their opponents charge. These declarations are backed by a score of letters from well-known citizens of London who saw the game, and failed to see the rough-house business which the Peterborough players allege.

THE SOLDIERS' RETURN

Aftremath of the Great Toronto Reception.

The Toronto papers for the past day or more have been full of the great reception given returning soldiers. It was the greatest demonstration that has ever taken place in the Queen City. Upwards of 200,000 people witnessed the procession, and the enthusiasm was unparalleled. All the papers spoke in terms of praise of the action of Peterborough in entertaining the soldiers during their short stay here on Monday morning. There were some very pathetic as well as funny incidents after the arrival of the boys in Toronto.

Captain Barker, as soon as he alighted from the train, saw his mother standing on the platform. He soon had her folded in her arms, while the tears were streaming down her cheeks. Other members of the family were standing around stroking the khaki dress of the brave fellow as he tenderly held her to his breast.

"Oh, mamma, mamma, there's Fred. See how fat he is. Hello, Fred," and the little girl heroically made for the big brother, who lifted up the little sister and kissed her as if he would make up for the long, lonely year on sandy veldt.

A Yonge street window has the following cablegram to the War Office,—"Toronto captured, city taken in great style, upwards 200,000 put up their arms and surrendered; military, Parliamentary and civic organizatons in hand; also banks and mint; inhabitants most friendly; accept congratulations. (Signed) Barker."

"Get out of my road, will you? Stop that pushing. Jack, Jack, here I am." A young woman, with a face as happy as a child's on Christmas morning, struggled hard to get at a bronzed warrior, who was making equally strenuous efforts to get at her. They finally wriggled through the crowd, and then met. That's all.

"Here, get off my feet; look where you are going." The little, old man who gave vent to this admonition was in the midst of the big crowd on the platform. Nobody seemed to hear him or see him. They were all packed together like sardines. "Here, Tom, come and punch this fellow who's walking all over me," he shouted at a smiling young fellow in khaki, who was pushing towards him, and who seemed to be the only one who had any interest in the young man. They were father and son, and the old fellow recognized a protector in the returned warrior.

"Hello, mother!" called out a khaki lad, with head and shoulders hanging out of the car window. Mother was right on the edge of the platform, and almost before she realized it, she was lifted up by a pair of strong arms and received the first kiss of many to follow.

"God bless you, Jim, my boy," said one old father, as he gathered his big son into his arms. "I give in, you're fit to lick your daddy now. Come along, your mother and May are over here." And the old man proudly led his boy away to the waiting mother and sister.

Nor were the 57th free from being lionized. One lady was so overcome with emotion that she threw her arms around Dr. Poole, as our boys were parading down Yonge street, and the story goes that Dr. Young, of the local cavalry force, was nearly being suffocated with embraces as he accidentally got into a bevy of Toronto's fair ones.

Capt. Bennet also had a similar experience, and only escaped after a hard struggle.

Our fine band was much admired in the procession.

The boys all say it was the greatest day they ever put in.

WEATHER NOTES.

Probs.—To-day—Cool and cloudy, with occasional showers. At present there is no indication of any pronounced cold, but the weather is likely to be unsettled and cool.

BRITISH GOVERNMENT TO BORROW LARGE SUMS

France Will Aid in Suppressing the Up ising in tne South.

Paris, Nov. 3.—The French authorities are watching the rebelion in the southern provinces of China very closely, as it is considered that a successful development of this uprising would seriously affect Tonquin. The recent explosion in Canton in some houses adjoining the official yamen, by which a number of persons were killed, is regarded by the French officials as evidence that the Chinese authorities are powerless to maintain order.

Under the convention of 1898 France and China guaranteed not to make any changes in the provinces adjoining Tonquin. France also lease a portion of the Kwang-tung coast, and it is therefore regarded here that it is incumbent on rance to aid the local Chinese authorities in suppressing the rebellion. Hitherto the five warships stationed at Canton were considered a sufficient precaution against any outbreaks, but now the Govenor of French Indo-China. M. Paul Doumer, has ordered all the ships of the Tonquin Navigation Company to be placed in readiness to transport troops to the disturbed district in Southern China, and 1,000 men have already embarked at Saigon for Canton.

It is expected that this movement will excite curiosity and suspicion among the powers, as it appears to be a counterpart of Russia's action in Manchuria, It is thought in some quarters that the new move has been made on account of the Anglo-German agreement.

GERMAN TROOPS ALL THERE.

Berlin, Nov. 2.—Official telegrams from Count Von Waldersee show that all the German troops have now arrived in China and been distributed. The First and Second Marines, the First Infantry Brigade and a small force of cavalry and artillery and stationed at Pekin. The Second Infantry Brigade, with a corresponding force of artillery, engineers and cavalry, is at Pao Ting Fu. One battalion is at Shan Hai Kwan. The Third Infantry Brigade, with a company of sharpshooters, two squadons of cavalry and several batteries, is at Tien Tsin. One battery and several Howitzers are at Taku, and there is a force of troops distributed along therailway from Pekin to Yang Tsung, superintending the work of construction.

A special despatch from Pao Ting Fu, dated yesterday, says,

"Telegraphic connection has been completed with Pekin, entirely by the Germans. The railway from Pao Ting Fu to the capital is nearly completed. French detachments are guarding the line. Health of the troops is steadily improving."

Another batch of letters from German soldiers in China appears to-day in a number of papers, among them The Hanover Courier, which editorially demends official statements with reference to the details given by the writers of the cruelties alleged to have been committed by German troops in China.

ABSENCE OF SECURITY.

London, Nov. 5.—"Advices from Tien Tsin," says the Shanghai correspondent of The Times, wiring yesterday, "show the confusion, disorganization and absence of security are the chief characteristies of the allied occupation."

REBELS MOVE AWAY.

Hong Kong, Nov. 6— Reports from Canton say the East River rebels have moved up the river, and boats are now running from Pak Low to Hu Chau. It is considered probable that the rebellion will shortly die out. The reformers admit that the rising was premature and that they had not a sufficient supply of arms.

The French demand the execution of the leaders in the Shek Lung riots. Placards have been posted throughoutt he town urging the people to slaughter the foreigners if the demands shall be pressed.

HEAVY FINANCIAL OPERATIONS.

New York, Nov. 5.—British financiers here are expecting a busy winter, says The Tribune's London correspondent. The continuance of heavy war expenditures in South Africa will involve the Government borrowing on a large scale. It is also expected that the indenmnities for loyalists claims in Cape Colony and Natal will need financing in some was by colonial loans with guarantees from the Home Government. The mining companies will also be forced to borrow many millions before their properties can be put in a proper state of developemnt. There is also the certainty that the China indemnity can never be paid without international credit and assistance. China's debt already exceeds $300,000,000, and the interest and sinking fund now require $18,000,000 annually. It is now believed by financiers thatt he indemnity for the massacres and attacks on the legations will be less than $200,000,000, so that at least $30,000,000 will be required in the future for interest and sinking fund service. International control of the Chinese revenues and taxes will be indispensible if these indemnities ever shall be paid.

Berlin, Nov. 5.—Regarding the present state of affairs in Pekin an official officer in the Foreign Officer made the following statements this afternoon "conferences are occurring daily between the different ministers representing the powers in Pekin, with a view of gaining a dash upon which they can proceed jointly and harmoneously for this purpose. Lively telegraphic communications are just now passing between Pekin and the different home Governments." As yet the complete accord has not been obtained which is required to take away from Li Hung Chang every vestage of hope that he can achieve successes by negotiating separately with any particular power.

THE POLITICAL POT.

The politicians have sown the wind and to-night may be expected to reap the whirlwind.

* * *

A son of the late Sir John Thompson has been stumping for Col. Sam. Hughes.

* * *

The last gun of the campaign in East Peterborough was fired last night at Grady's School House, in the interests of Mr. Lang.

* * *

Thrash Tupper! Lick Laurier! Smash Sifton! Kill Kendry! Maul McClellan! Lamm Lang! Shoot Sexsmith! and other choice election vocabulary will now pass out of use.

* * *

One of our little local contemporaries says that one vote polled before dinner is worth two later in the day. This, probably, is on the hypothesis that ballots in the morning are loaded for two.

* * *

No person who has voted at an election shall, in any legal proceeding questioning the election or return, be required to state for whom he voted." —Dominion Election Act 63-64 Vic., Chap. 12, Sec. 97.

* * *

Mr. Lang's Ashburnham meeting on Monday night demonstrated that even in Conservative strongholds, the Liberal candidate has a host of supporters. The meeting, as near as could be judged, was favorable to Mr. Lang.

* * *

A large meeting greeted Mr. Kendry at Bensfort on Monday night, the chair being occupied by Mr. Fisher. Interesting speeches were made by Messrs. Kendry, Waddell and Burnham, while Mr. Kerr represented Mr. McClellan. Mr. Kendry has been assured of a good majority in South Monaghan.

* * *

Mr. E. B. Stone returned yesterday from a trip east. He addressed large meetings in Napanee, Belleville. Morrisburg, Trenton, Picton and Demorestville, Waupoos and Tweed. Mr. Stone has done good work for the Liberal party during the present campaign.

* * *

The World remarks—Before the House adjourned, the Government sent a tried and trusted agent into Quebec to ascertain the state of political feeling there. After spending over a month in the Province, that agent returned with the statement that Quebec would send to a new Parliament 21 Conservative members out of the 65. That estimate can be banked on.

McKINLEY AGAIN ELECTED

Though His Majority is not as Large as It Was in 1896--Gov. Roosevelt Sends His Congratulations.

New York, Nov. 6.—At midnight it became evident that at a very early hour this evening that the election of McKinley and Roosevelt was assured. At half-past eight o'clock returns from nearly two-thirds of the election districts of Greater New York had been received, indicating beyond question the return of the Republicans by 25,000 or 30,000 plurality. Unless there was a landslide in the outside counties beyond all reasonable expectation, the pivotal state of New York had declared in unmistakable terms, although by a greatly reduced majority for the Republican candidates. As the night progressed it only served to confirm this judgement. The returns from Illinois betrayed a like condition The Republican plurality of 1896 was greatly reduced, but it was still far too large to be overcome. On the other hand the returns from Indiana, Michigan, the two Dakotas, Utah and Wyoming as well as Nebraska, seemed to indicate strong Republican gains over 1896. Delaware, Maryland and West Virginia had given decisive Republican pluralities.

The count in several of the far western states was naturally so delayed as to give little intimation of the outcome there, but they had ceased to have a determined effect and before 10 o'clock the Democratic leaders had given up the contest and it was announced that Mr. Bryan had gone to bed and was sound asleep.

Oyster Bay, Nov. 6 — Governor Roosevelt surrounded by his family tonight received the returns at his home. The Governor at no time during the evening seemed anxious about the results. He did not make any special arrangements to receive the news and depended on messages to be brought from the telegraph office in the railroad station nearly three miles away.

The first definite information of the Republican victory was conveyed to the Governor at about 10 o'clock. The Governor at once dictated the following despatch to President McKinley "I congratulate you and far more the nation. You have my heartfelt gratitude over the result."

To take Stock in an Enterprise Whose Success is Already Assured.

Elsewhere will be found the announcement of the formation of the Ottawa Produce Company, Limited, a new Company, with a capital of $300,000, divided into 6,000 shares of $50 each. The company has secured the Ottawa Cold Storage building on Nicholas street, perhaps the finest cold storage warehouse in Canada, and arrangements have been made for a railway siding connecting the building with the Central station, assuring the greatest facility in the shipment of the produce to foreign markets.

The success of this new enterprise is at once assured by the personnel of the board of directors, all of whom are keen and practical business men, whose achievements have given them prominence in the mercantile world. Mr. Joseph Kavangh, ex-president of the Ottawa cheese board, and so favorably known as a successful business man, is president of the company, and associated with him on the board are: Mr. Wm. Meldrum, the produce merchant, of Montreal, and the largest egg exporter in Canada; Mr. A. A. Davis, of Brockville, one of the largest Canadian exporters of cheese, and who has connection with the largest English houses; Mr. C. W. Mitchell, proprietor of the Ottawa Free Press; Mr. Frank O'Reilly, coal merchant, and director of the Ottawa Dairy company; Mr. E. W. Clarke, director of the Ottawa Dairy Company, and Mr. B. Slattery, the well known meat merchant of Ottawa. The objects of this company are to control the surplus supply of eggs, cheese and butter produced in the Ottawa Valley, the demand for which in the continental markets is becoming greater every year, it being a well known fact that these Canadian products have a large preference in the European markets, From the Ottawa Citizen we learn kets.From the Ottawa Citizen we learn that the gentlaman associated with the Ottawa Produce company have gone carefully into the matter, and have estimated that they can handle over a million dozen of eggs every season at a profit conservatively estimated at 3 cents per dozen. Eggs can be bought early in the season at 9 and 10 cents per dozen, and later the market price ranges from 15 to 25 cents per dozen. But estimating the small profit of 3 cents per dozen the company would have a yearly revenue from the egg trade alone of $30,000, representing a dividend of 10 per cent. on the whole capital stock. With the present connection this company has, through Mr. Davis, in England, it is estimated that it will be able to handle 150,000 boxes of cheese annually, representing a profit of $30,000 to the Ottawa Produce Company. This company has estimated that it can handle two million pounds of butter annually at a profit of one cent per pound, which is said to be a very conservative estimate, for it is a well known fact that the best butter can be bought from 14 to 18 cents a pound early in the season and sells from 25 cents up later on. And when it is realized that this company possesses the most modern and perfect cold storage, it can be seen that there will be absolutely no loss. The company estimate the yearly profit on butter to be $20,000. Another source of revenue will be the handling of poultry, which will be shipped in large quantities to the European markets. The selection of Mr. Kavanagh as president and the association with him of such shrewd and practical business men as compose the board of directors assures the success of the Ottawa Produce Company beyond peradventure.

The successful operation of this company in Ottawa will have manifold advantages. It will greatly increase Canada's export trade in farm produce and as a result of the perfect system of cold storage which will prevail will insure the safe arrival of the Canadian produce in the English markets. And not the least advantage will be the benefit to the farming community throughout the Ottawa Valley in particular and Eastern Ontario generally. It will open up new and profitable markets for their produce and will stimulate them in raising of fowl and cattle. And the benefit to Ottawa and the Ottawa merchants will be a consideration. With an increased demand and a ready sale for their produce the farmers will look upon Ottawa with favor, and will have more money to spend amongst the merchants of this city.

About a year ago Mr. George E. Kidd incorporated the Ottawa Stockyards Produce and Abattoir company, and the present company is carrying out many of the objects of that company. The Farmers' Institute of Carleton county is deeply interested in the question of modern cold storage, and endorses the Ottawa Produce company, knowing the immense advantages it will be to the county of Carleton. Subscription books will be opened at the office by Messrs. Sutherland and Kelly, 48 Sparks street, on Wednesday, Oct. 24, at 10 o'clock.

The bankers for the company is Molsons bank and the trustees are The Ottawa Trust and Deposit Company.

ACTION WAS DISMISSED

Manager Chisholm, of the Montreal Cold Storage Co., Not to Blame

Montreal, Nov. 6.—In the Superior Court yesterday Judge Archibald gave judgement in the case of the Ontario Bank v. the Merchants Bank of Halifax and others, dismissing the case against the defendant Chrisholm with costs.

It was alleged that Chisholm was one of the directors and the manager of the Montreal Cold Storage Company, and on March 9, 1900, the Company issued a warehouse receipt for 847 boxes of cheese, which, on the same day, came into the possession of the Union Bank as collateral for an advance of $7,600 to a customer. It was alleged that the cheese, though at the time of the issue of the receipt it was in the warehouse, was shortly afterward fraudulently removed. A new Board of Directors was appointed by the Company about May 31, in which Chisholm was not included. Then, it was alleged, the other defendants, including Chisholm, knowing the goods to have been fraudulently removed and that the Ontario Bank was the holder of the receipt, concealed from that bank the fact of the removal for the purpose of favoring the Merchants Bank of Halifax, causing damage of $7,817.80 to the Ontario Bank.

The court held that the action was in the nature of an action for damages, and that the failure of an individual director of a warehousing company to inform a holder of a warehouse receipt of the disappearance of goods covered by the receipt, where the director was in no wise in fault involving responsibility of the director towards the holder of the receipt. The action against Chrisholm was therefore dismissed.

The Smith-O'Brien Dramatic Company presented the beautiful Irish comedy drama, "The Gamekeeper," to a fair sized audience at the Opera House last night. The play was well presented, each part being fully sustained.

BLOOD FLOWS WITH BALLOTS YESTERDAY

One Policeman Killed and Three Injured at Denver Polling Booth.

New York, Nov. 6.—In some of the precincts in the suburban sections of the city where the population has greatly increased during the past four years, it will require quick work on the part of election officials and voters to give all who desire to cast their ballots the opportunity. Despite the exciting events of the afternoon and evening previous to the election, the police officials and Republican and Democrat leaders appeared to be a unit in asserting that the election in the city this year would be orderly.

Reports tell of extensive colonization in the lower sections of the city and up the state.

At Philadelphia the most bitter feeling prevailed, and disturbances were looked for by the police officials. Within the first hour several clashes took place.

At Denver one policeman was killed and three injured in a fight at a polling place in the lower part of the city.

At Boston it was generally admitted that Bryan would receive a much heavier vote than in 1896, many gold Democrats having returned to the fold, and a small percentage of anti-Imperialist Republicans have decided to vote for the Nebraskan. Four years ago McKinley carried Boston by about 18,000 plurality. This morning it was claimed that this margin would be entirely wiped out.

North Caroline is considered safe for Bryan and the vote promised to be heavy.

In Louisina the voting was slow, and there was apparently only half-hearted interest in the result, due to the belief that Bryan and Stevenson and the Congressional ticket would make a clean sweep of the State.

The New Way To Treat Disease

Powley's Liquified Ozone

The Most Remarkable Preparation Known to Science

Ever since the remarkable cures of Mr. W. G. McCarthy and Mr. Francis, attention has been drawn to Powley's Liquified Ozone. The marvellous nature of the recovery of both these gentlemen stamped Ozone as being a treatment which was fairly marvellous in its health giving power. Hundreds of testimonials have been received since then; each testimonial can be verified. Read what R. E. Fleming says. "Some fifteen months ago a friend spoke to me about Ozone and I have truly thanked him ever since. I have suffered all my life from indigestion, weak stomach, bilious headaches, and poor, thin, watery blood. Some years ago, in fact when I was a young boy, I had bilious headaches once and twice a week, and later on in life always had two severe attacks twice a month. I despaired of ever getting any relief or permanent cure. Fifteen months ago I had a severe attack of Kidney Trouble, suffering with pains in my back, my blood being in a miserable condition. I was weak, had a poor appetite, and found it hard to get a good night's rest, had no pleasure in attending to my daily business, in fact, getting up in the morning was no pleasure; always wanted to lie in bed. So I began taking Ozone four times and after using a few bottles I found a decided improvement, but always thought that I would suffer with bilious headaches and weak stomach for the rest of my natural life. After using four bottles I found I was entirely cured of Kidney troubles, and after using a few more bottles I found my stomach strong and that my bilious headaches were leaving me, and my blood was pure. I can faithfully say that at the present moment I am permanently cured and gaining solid flesh and muscles rapidly. I take the liberty of presenting to you this, my testimonial, that others may see and profit thereby if suffering as I was. Believe me, very truly yours. Signed,

R. E. Fleming, 227 George St., Toronto.

Powley's Liquified Ozone is $1.00 a large bottle, 50c., small size. All druggists, or from the laboratories of the Ozone Co., of Toronto, Limited, 48 Colborne Street, Toronto. Also by Wm. Madill.

Morning Times

PETERBOROUGH, NOVEMBER 7, 1900.

THE ELECTORS' DILEMMA.

The Toronto Weekly Sun, organ of the Patrons of Industry as long as they were a political factor, and now an independent weekly newspaper, formulates a formidable indictment against the Laurier government:—

"Some good things," says The Sun, "have been done. The duties on binder twine, barbed wire and corn have been repealed, and that on coal oil has been reduced. The preferential reduction of the duty on British goods, though its principal object is politcal, is incidentally a measure of free trade. But much more was promised, and against further improvement the door has been shut. Instead of that ariff for revenue only, stability of tariff has been proclaimed; the very name Protection, once so emphatically denounced has at last been adopted, and the government is in manifest alliance with the protected manufacturers, who are understood to have subscribed largely to its election fund. The iron bounties have been renewed. The pledge of economy has been given to the winds; a policy of expenditure has been openly avowed; and it is obvious that without saving there can be no reduction of taxation. The bonusing of railways has not ceased. Nothing has been done to restore the independence of Parliament compromised by the appointment of members to places. No more is heard of the reform of the Senate. In place of explanation or renewal of promises for the future we get from the Prime Minister in this campaign speeches nothing but eloquent praises of unity and patriotism in which we all agree. On the practical questions in which the people feel an interest he has been silent."

But though the Sun thus freely criticises the Government it does not advise its readers to vote for the Conservatives candidates. The Sun points out that the Conservative leader, Sir Charles Tupper, does not promise tariff reduction, or discontinuance of subsidies, and comes to the conclusion that about the only course open to electors of independent mind is to take each candidate's record as a guide and vote for the candidate irrespective of party, who may reasonably be expected to look after the people's interests. In a word the Sun concludes that the marked similarity between the policies and methods of the two parties gives the independent elector a mighty poor choice, and advises him in his dilemma to take his seat on the particular horn of the dilemma that appears to have the bluntest point.

They have been gone a year. In that time they have consolidated the Empire, saved South Africa from the tyranny of an ignorant race, made Canada's name and strength world-known, and practically revolutionized the character of the British army. Not a bad year's work.

* * *

The capturing business continues in South Africa on both sides, but with this difference that the Boers can do nothing but release their prisoners, while the British capture for keeps. That sort of a game can only have one ending.

—Toronto's scheme of electric railways to tap the surrounding country and make it tributary to Toronto, is not meeting with marked encouragement from the outlying municipalities. Instead of assisting the scheme by purchasing stock or by bonusing, the rural sections will more likely refuse to the use of the highways and expect the company to purchase a right of way.

WARNING TO VOTERS.

Heavy Penalties for Those Who Violate the Election Laws

It is the duty of respectable newspapers to point out the penalties that are attached to those who violate the provisions of the election laws. Peterborough is not as free from political corruption as it should be, owing to the evil machinations of politicians in the past, so that a word of warning won't be amiss. The following is the law on the subject:—

"In the act passed last session to consolidate and amend the law relating to the election of members of the House of Commons, the giving and the taking, the offering and the asking for money or other valuable consideration are defined as bribery, and are made punishable by fine of $200 and six months' imprisonment."

This means that it is as dangerous for a man to sell his vote, or to offer to sell his vote, as it is to buy a vote. The loopholes are all closed, and unless candidates, election workers, and voters generally determine to abide by the law, as it now stands upon the statute book, there will be an overcrowded jail before the election is forgotten.

PA'S OPINION AS TO REAL GREATNESS ON EARTH

"Paw, do you believe thet," may sed, "about a man who can make lots of munny being as Grate as Shaikspeer? You no they are Collidge professor says so."

"Of corse," paw told her. 'I'm saprised nobuddy thot about it Before. It's as plain as the hare on a Dawg. What's the sine of Grateness enny way?" paw says. "How can you tel whether a purson is Grate or not?"

"By the things he does," maw told Him.

"Every little while you say sumthing that Nearly parrullizes me, maw," paw anserd, "becos they are gleams of reason in it as brite as a Sunbeam shining thru a not Hole. But that ain't all they are to it. Everybuddy can do Sumething. So you haft to find out if abuddy is Grate or not by Seeing if he can do sumthing other people Can't do. Everybuddy can get down on their nees and pray and be good if they want to, so they are nothing great about that. If only one person Could do it he would be the gratest man on Erth, bar none.

"Corbutt was a grate man when he was the only one that Could Lick John L. but after while It got so nearly ennybuddy could come along and Do it, so Corbutt wasn't grate enny more. That's the way it is all thru Life. Shaikspeer rote poetry, and if nobuddy else could do that I mite think he waas a pretty Good little man yet; but there's where the point Comes in: You can hire people to rite Poetry for 20 Cents a nour, but when it Comes to making millions it's different.

"Do you s'pose Shaikspeer could go Down to the Stock yards to-morrow morning and start up a packing plant and run it so they wouldn't be ennything go to Waste from the steer's eye brows to the End of the longest Hare in his tail and make $14 a minute at it? I guess not! But if a Grate packer wanted to rite poetry all He would haft to do would be to turn around to His stenografer and say. "Here, take this down."

"Or if he hadn't time he could get one of the Bookkeepers to Do it for him.

"And look at Browning. They ust to think he was a grate man, too, becoz they Had clubs in Boston that couldn't find out what his poetry meant but since they are poets in neerly every town From Canal Dover, Ohio, to the Sand-Which Islands that can rite poetry without enny sents to them Browning don't cut enny more Figure than a pupp in a Fly wheel.

"So that's why I say the professor is Rite. The greatest man in the world is the one that Can do Sumething other people can't do, and Shaikspeer never made a million Dollars a year in his life."

"Well," maw ast, 'who is the greatest man in the world, enny way?"

"It ain't a man," paw told her. 'It's the old Empress Dowidger. She's the only person I no of That can hold an Emperor's head under the spout with one Hand and Pump with the Other." Georgie in Chicago Times-Herald.

How are your Nerves?

If they are weak and you feel nervous and easily "flustrated," can't sleep, and rise in the morning unrefreshed, your blood is poor. Strong nerves depend upon rich, nourishing blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla makes the nerves strong by enriching and vitalizing the blood. It gives sweet, refreshing sleep and completely cures nervous troubles. Begin taking it to-day.

Nausea, indigestion are cured by Hood's Pills.

RELIGIOUS BIGOTRY.

An Earnest Protest Against It By Eminent Divines

Rev. Dr. B. D. Thomas.—It is very unfortunate that as election time approaches such charistics as a man's creed or race should be magnified and presented to the classes, who are likely to be prejudiced in as unfavorable a light as possible. Such action I consider utterly contemptible. There is absolutely not the slightest excuse for any such attack being made on a man of the moral breadth of character of Sir Wilfrid Laurier. The confidence I feel in him as a political leader and as a man has already been made public in the Toronto Star.

Rev. Dr. George M. Milligan.—No enlightened Protestant will mix up religion and politics. Regarding Sir Wilfrid Laurier, he is an honor to Canada and I hope and pray Canadians may appreciate him, not when it is too late.

Rev. Prof. Clarke.—I admire the personality of Sir Wilfrid Laurier very much. As to his being a Roman Catholic how could that be used against him! Sir John Thompson was a Roman Catholic on the opposite side of politics and he became Premier. These creed cries are not to be commended, for how can we live with each other unless we exercise mutual toleration?

Dr. G. R. Parkin.—A French Canadian Premier the other day made the noblest speech ever delivered by a colonial minister.—Speech at banquet in Toronto, March 16th, 1900.

Rev. Dr. Dewart.—In the case of Sir Wilfrid Laurier we have a fine example of a liberal-minded Roman Catholic statesman who rises above sectarian issues, and regards the interests of the whole Canadian people as the supreme consideration. Because of this he is trusted as fully by the Protestants of Ontario as by the French Canadian Catholics of the Province of Quebec. ad 4 dy

A PEEP

Into the future would sadden many a happy woman. The misery of marriage often results from ailments which maidenly modesty kept hidden. When doctors are at last consulted they frequently fail to help. They do not understand the root of the trouble. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has cured in thousands of cases where doctors entirely failed.

"I had been a great sufferer from female weakness," writes Mrs. M. B. Wallace, of Muenster, Cook Co., Texas. "I tried four doctors and none did me any good. I suffered six years, but at last I found relief. I followed your advice, and took eight bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and four of the 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I now feel like a new woman. I have gained eighteen pounds."

MESSRS. J. S. HAMILTON & CO., Brantford, Ont., Canada:
Dear Sirs,—In accordance with your wishes I have had both the red and white wines and the champagne tested by several connoisseurs, French and English. All of these expressed surprise that an article of such merit was produced in Canada, and even manufacturers admit that the brand "L'Empereur" is of excellent quality.
This opinion from critics who are by no means easy to please should be very satisfactory to you, and it gives me pleasure to congratulate you upon it. Yours faithfully,

BLOOD POISON.
If you have this awful disease you are in danger until completely cured; the various symptoms you notice should be a warning to take immediate treatment. Don't put it off until too late, as it continually gets worse. If you have sore throat, patches on tongue or mouth, swollen glands, hair falling out, blotches on body, itching skin, or other signs of this awful disease, call on us. We give you a written guarantee to cure you by our LATEST METHOD TREATMENT without Mercury or Potassium, and You Pay When Cured. Each time you call you see Dr. Goldberg personally, who has 18 Diplomas, certificates and licenses received from the various colleges, hospitals and States, which testify to his standing and abilities.
The original testimonials can be seen at our office; $500.00 reward for any we cannot show; at request of patients we publish only the initials.
I am improving every day. I notice if I cut or scratch myself the sore will heal up. I hope you will not stop treating me as long as there is a sign of that terrible disease. I am more afraid of it than death. I believe you have the right medicine for the disease. I feel so thankful to you for the good you have done me; I was a perfect wreck when I came to you, and was on the verge of suicide. To make a sure thing I would like to continue a while longer, so that it will not return. Very respectfully yours, Mrs. L. S.

Address to the Electors

To the Free and Independent Electors of West Peterborough—

Gentlemen, —Having accepted the unanimous nomination of the Liberals of this Riding, as a candidate for its representation in the House of Commons I hereby respectfully solicit your support in securing my return at the coming general elections.

The grounds upon which I base my appeal are not so much nor chiefly by any means, my personal fitness for the position of your representation though as a citizen of Peterborough and interested in its progress in common with that of the country, I can and do promise, if elected, an intelligent support of such a public policy and such measures as will best conduce to the promotion of all the interests of Canada, the developement of her great resources and the general betterment of the civil moral and material condition of the public; and my best abilities and most assiduous attention shall be devoted to the faithful discharge of my representative duties.

The strongest ground, however, of my appeal consists in the fact that I am a firm supporter of the Liberal Government led by Sir Wilfred Laurier, which is entitled to the renewed confidence of the people, both on the ground of its policy and the splendid record established by the application of that policy. The Liberal party appealed to the country in 1896 upon a clearly defined policy and the promised results followed.

The Liberal party promised a reduction of a high tariff that hampered our industrial and agricultural interests and was hostile to the Mother Country.

The tariff was materially reduced and otherwise improved and in such a way as to help instead of hinder the manufacturer and farmer, with the consequence that never before in the history of the country have our industries or our farmers enjoyed such great prosperity, our mechanics and working men such constant employment and high wages, nor our commercial and all other interests so flourished.

Our domestic and foreign trade have also greatly increased. The loyal gift of a trade preference, represented by a tariff reduction on British goods of 33 1-3 per cent., and our despatch of the Canadian Contingent, have resulted in a kindlier feeling towards Canada and greatly increased trade with the Mother Country.

With a largely reduced rate of tariff, our revenue has greatly expanded so that the Government was warranted in practicing true economy (reducing our postal rate one third, giving Imperial penny postage,) and premitting of the completion of great public works, deepening our canals, so long trifled with, pushing the work on the Trent Valley Canal which is now urged and will be urged to completion by the Liberal Government, and the application of a vigorous policy of general development and improvement of our transportation facilities, resulting and to result in easier access to the British market and better prices for all our products.

The farming interests of the country are deserving of the best services of a Government, such as the present has given. The immense impetus given the produce trade between Canada and Great Britain, through the preferential tariff, has been greatly helped by the action of the Government in providing an excellent and adequate system of cold storage, by which Canadian products can be landed in Great Britain in first-class condition, guaranteeing the highest prices. The system is of the most modern character, sufficient for all the present needs of the trade, and it will be improved and enlarged as experience suggests, and increas of the produce trade demands, and I shall, if elected, feel it my duty to support any policy that will improve our trade with the Mother Country, and strengthens the bond of British connection, of which we are so proud.

In an industrial centre like Peterborough the claims of the working classes are especially deserving of consideration. No country is well governed that does not look after the interests of all classes of the community. The Conservative Government has been, and the Conservative party declares itself to be, extremely solicitous of the interests of the capitalist classes—the manufacturers—but it left the working classes to largely shift for themselves. A Liberal Government came into power, and the attitude towards Labour was changed, and the rights of Labour to its rights recognized, and in a practical way. A Department of Labour has been established and a Minister of Labour placed over it. A Labour Gazette has been established in the interests of workingmen, published monthly; conditions have been inserted in all Government contracts compelling contractors to pay the highest current wages, which the Government guarantees the payment of; the sweating system has been abolished on Government enforced by a special officer, and in many other ways the Government has shown by deeds that the rights of the workingmen, as well as the capitalist, shall be protected. I heartily support the Government in what it has done, and shall support them in extending the benefits which they have already conferred, and which it is their policy to continue, as need arises.

The splendid achievements of Canadian soldiers in South Africa, make them worthy of the gratitude of the country. We have the best militia material in the world, and if we keep up a military establishment, let it be worthy of Canadians. Situated as Peterborough is, on the line of the Grand Trunk and Canadian Pacific Railways, and on the line of the Trent Valley Canal, begun as a military work, and now under course of completion, no other point in this Province is so well adapted for a military centre. I shall, therefore, feel it my duty to press upon the Government the advisability of constructing in Peterborough new armories and connected buildings for military stores for Ontario, and I feel that this is practicable of attainment at the hands of a Government which has shown its interest in our volunteers by placing the Militia Department, so greatly neglected by a previous administration, upon an effective basis, and will, therefore, more naturally be well disposed towards the improvement involved in making Peterborough a centre for military stores.

A town of the industrial and commercial importance of Peterborough, has certainly strong claims upon the good offices and of a Government. For the past four years the town has been represented, when it was represented in the House, by a member opposed to the Government. There is no doubt in the minds of unprejudiced observers, that the present Liberal Government will be strongly sustained in the country at the coming elections, and the question arises whether West Peterborough will have its interests better served by a member sitting in opposition and hostile to the Government and its policy, or by a member pledged to give the Government a fair support in the application of its policy. If elected I pledge myself to give my best ability and exertions to the promotion of the general good of the country, and to look especially after the interests of West Peterborough.

I cannot obviously here, enter into details of how, in other ways the Liberal Government has implemented its promises and applied its policy, but I shall have an opportunity during the campaign of more fully dealing with these and other public questions.

As a supporter of such a Government I can appeal with confidence for the support of the Electors of West Peterborough, knowing that by helping to give, as you will do, through my election, a renewal of the trust the Liberal Government has discharged with such evident and gratifying results, they will be conferring a great and lasting good upon this riding, the country at large, and securing a continuation of the great blessings of prosperity and good government, we now enjoy.

Again soliciting your support, your votes, and influence in this contest.

I have the honor to be,
gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,

J. H. McCLELLAN

A NOVEL.

Vatal's hand, thrusting them into the breast pocket of his coat.

"Money," he said. "I never knew a day's peace in my life; some one is always hounding me down for money I staked my all on winning the heiress of Lorrimer Hall; even my mother's companion, like a frightened bird took wings and flew away while under my very grasp."

Vatal was just on the point of telling the great secret he had but yesterday unearthed.

As he was driving slowly past Ulvesford Manor, he had seen a white terrified face that had instantly vanished from the window, as her gaze met that of the dwarf.

"No," he told himself, "the secret will keep; it will be worth money to me in the future; it was not worth while to divulge it just now; Hampton has no money to pay for it."

"What are you mumbling about? Why don't you speak out, man?" cried Hampton, angrily, stopping short in his walk.

"Because there's no cause for my saying anything," growled the dwarf snapping his white teeth viciously together, his small, ferret-like eyes flashing fire.

"There's no use in our quarreling over trifles, Vatal," he said, with a forced, grating laugh; "honest men get their just dues when rogues fall out."

He did not notice the dull gleam in the dwarf's eye, as he turned impatiently on his heel, resuming his quick tread up and down the room

"All would have gone well with me if I had captured the heiress," he muttered, excitedly; "all this would never have happened but for that cursed Ulvesford!"

He clenched his nails deep into the palms of his hands as the imprecation burst from his lips. The loss of the golden prize had been a bitter blow to him.

"It is evident that I must have money," he muttered, "no matter where I get it, or how."

His brow darkened vindictively.

"What's the time, Vatal?"

There was no response, and, turning round, he found the dwarf had silently left the room.

"Curse that fool!" he muttered; "he must be watched like a sleuth-hound. If he was only out of the way I could breathe freer. He knows too much—altogether too much; we have worked in the harness together too long; he must be effectually swept from my path!"

A deep, diabolical plot was revolving in Heath Hampton's brain, a fatal plot which led to the sorriest of crimes.

"I have not lost all my cunning yet," he said to himself. "Ha! did not Robert Bruce of Scotland, fail a score of times ere he reached his grand success?"

Hampton did not stop to reason that that cause had been an honest one. He smiled as he thought of the daring bravery of King Richard III.

"What are my few petty deeds," he cried, "to the many daring deeds of Richard before he gained the crown? Vatal has been a willing tool, but his days of usefulness are over; his knowledge would make him a dangerous foe."

Suddenly attracted by a slight rustle in the room, he raised his eyes.

"Mother," he said, harshly, fixing his keen, penetrating eyes sharply upon her, as if he would read her very thoughts, "tell me how long you have been here."

"I have just entered" she replied. "What is the meaning, Heath, of the brightly burning gas-light in the broad glare of day. Surely you have not been up all night, have you, my son?"

"Don't annoy me with your importunings," he said, ungraciously.

"There was a time, Heath," she said, "when you would listen to your mother's counsel; depend upon it, without it you will rush headlong to your ruin."

He answered her with a bitter, taunting laugh.

"You might as well talk of the horrors of hanging to the poor wretch who stands at the gallows with the rope about his neck. Bah! I am as near ruined now as I can be."

"It is all your own fault, Heath you should have——"

"Never throw up the past, mother what good can that do?"

"The rocks of the past warn us of the future."

"It's rather late in the day to commence moralizing now, mother; you should have practiced what you preach years ago. I'm in a series of scrapes; there's only one way you can help me out."

For a moment the mother and son stood facing each other.

"If it is the want of money again, Heath," she said, with the slow, cold tones peculiar to her, "we will not discuss the subject; let it drop. I have humored your whims, and spent a fortune upon you. Your waywardness has been the cause of my deepest grief. I have raised you like a gentleman, while the other——"

Heath Hampton raised his hand warningly.

"Have a care, mother," he cried, "walls have ears; trust a woman for never yet keeping a secret."

"See how you have repaid me," cried his mother, in bitter anger, forgetting her caution; "a gambler and a roue."

"It's a wonder you do not add murderer and thief in the true bill," he said, sneeringly, taking a cigar from his pocket and calmly lighting it.

"The road you are on leads to it," she retorted.

How little she knew he stood upon the brink of it!

"You could help me, mother, if you would," he answered; "and I would leave the country."

"Never again," she replied, sternly. "You have had it in your power to do well; you have always let your chances slip. See the terrible sacrifice I made for your sake. If I ever repented,——"

"You dare not repent after all these long years; think how the world would rise at such heartlessness and cruelty. You think, I, your son, could be faultless. Ask the raven why he is not a canary, and he will tell you: 'By right of ancestry.'"

"Is it for this," she groaned, "after all these long years—you, for whom

FREE! A WONDERFUL KIDNEY and Bladder CURE

The Honorable Chairman of the Board of County Commissioners, Ellsworth, Kansas, tells how ALKAVIS cured him after Doctors and all other Remedies had Failed.

BRIGHT'S DISEASE, GRAVEL, DROPSY,

And Rheumatism Mastered at Last.

One of the most remarkable medical discoveries of the century is the Kava-Kava Shrub, found on the Ganges River, East India, which has a wonderful action on the kidneys and bladder. Since its introduction into this country its fame has quickly spread, because of its seemingly impossible cures. Prominent men and women have testified to its great curative powers, and hospital tests prove its infallibility even in advanced stages of Bright's Disease. Among the more recent recoveries is that of Hon. I. A. Hopkins, Chairman Board of County Commissioners, Ellsworth, Kansas, who says:

GENTLEMEN:—I will say that I believe and know that I owe my life to Alkavis. I had been troubled with Kidney and Bladder Trouble for years. Two years ago I was sick for six weeks with Malarial Fever which left me in a bad condition. My limbs were swollen with Rheumatism so that I could hardly walk; I was troubled with Indigestion from taking Medicine for my Urinary troubles which had become very much worse. I had to get up every hour of the night to urinate. I passed great quantities of blood on account of hemorrhage of the Kidneys and Bladder. I tried and had been trying everything in the shape of Medicine for Kidney Trouble that I could think of or that the Doctors recommended, but nothing helped me for I kept getting worse. I suffered great pain continually in my Kidneys. I made up my mind unless I could get relief that I only had a short time to live. About this time my attention was called to an advertisement of Alkavis. As a drowning man will grasp at a straw, I was ready to try anything for relief. I sent to you for three bottles. I began to take it, and before I had taken it one week I began to feel the good effects of Alkavis. My Kidney Trouble and Rheumatism were soon gone, my digestion became all right. I found myself in better health than for ten years and I am in good health now. I know that Alkavis saved my life. What more can anyone say for a medicine? Unlike most medicines it is good for indigestion. It gives the person taking it a good appetite. I have recommended Alkavis to a great many people and all have been benefited by its use. I am 63 years of age, and am very grateful for what Alkavis has done for me.

Respectfully yours, I. A. HOPKINS.

Rev. W. B. Moore, D. D., Washington, D. C., Editor Religious World, writes that after trying all known medicines for kidney and rheumatic diseases he was permanently cured by Alkavis. Mrs. Wm. H. Hardy, East Rush, Pa., writes that Alkavis cured her after six doctors failed. Rev. J. W. Hickman, Collyer, Trego Co., Kansas, cured of liver, kidney and bladder trouble, of many years' standing, from which he could only get temporary relief and had given up all hope of a cure. Thus the grand work goes on. A new book, entitled "A Thousand Living Witnesses," sent with the free case of medicine, tells of the wonderful cures performed in every state.

Not only does this great discovery—Alkavis (the Kava-Kava Compound)—cure all forms of kidney and bladder diseases, but by expelling from the blood all poisonous deposits, excess of lime, uric acid, urates and lithiates, it banishes gravel, torpid liver, rheumatism, pains in back, difficult and too frequent urination, etc. The cure is complete. No phase is neglected, and the stomach, heart and nerves are toned and invigorated. No other medicine in the world will perform the work of Alkavis. To enable sufferers to get well and spread the glad tidings we have arranged to send a Large Case of Alkavis FREE by mail to all who write us. The case goes entirely FREE.

If you are a sufferer, write to-day and secure at once a Free Case of Alkavis and Book of "A Thousand Living Witnesses." Address The Church Kidney Cure Co., No. 508 Fourth Ave., New York. Please mention this paper.

LOCATION OF OUR MINES

THE COLORADO COPPER MINING COMPANY is fortunate in being the possessor of five splendid showing properties in the great Salida copper belt, the principal copper producing region of this portion of the rockies. All of our claims have been more or less developed and it is our purpose to put the same on a paying basis at once.

Our Company owns, clear of incumbrances the following claims,—The Sedalia Extension, the Sedalia Extension No. 2, which property adjoins the great Sedalia mine, which has been a big producer for upwards of seventeen years; the Copper King of Colorado, which immediately adjoins the above; the Copper Queen of Salida, a very promising property, only a few steps from the depot in Salida. This claim occupies an imposing position on a mountain just north of the city; and last, but by no means least, the Sunshine, located two miles east of Salida at Cleora station, on the main Trunk line of the great Denver and Rio Grande Railroad, also on the Arkansas river, which in length is one of America's greatest streams.

TOWN AND COUNTY NEWS

Full Election Returns

The Times to-morrow will supply its readers with as complete election returns as it is possible to obtain up to the hour of going to press. It always pays to take the brightest and best newspaper, for you always get the first and best of everything that's going.

Wholesale Dog Poisoning

Word reached town yesterday that Tom Eastwood, of Buckhorn, had lost seven dogs by poisoning since the deer hunting season began. The dogs were all attached to Eastwood's camp, at Squaw river, which empties into Ball Lake. A strong effort should be made to discover the perpetrators of this outrage. Every year valuable dogs are poisoned.

Back From the Hunt

Mr. W. E. Brooks, of Young's Point, dropped into the Times yesterday. He spent several days at Turtle Lake, Harvey, deer hunting. His party consists of John Baldson, Geo. Baptie and C. Young, Lakefield, and P. G. Young, of the Point. Deer is very scarce this season, the party only having secured three when Mr. Brooks left camp on Monday.

Pte. "Joe" Matthews

The Ottawa Citizen has this to say about Pte. A. J. Matthews, one of the contingent who returned from South Africa:—"Alfred Joseph Matthews is the son of Mr. Geo. Matthews, of Peterborough, Ont., and was born at Lindsay Ont. Before enlisting with the first contingent. Pte. Matthews was engaged in the office of the Geo. Matthews Co., at the Hull factory. He was with the Canadians through the whole campaign and got to Pretoria. He is 23 years of age."

Passed Through Yesterday

Pte. "Joe" Matthews, who returned on the Idaho with the other heroes from South Africa, arrived here on the 4.37 C.P.R. train and left on the 5.35 G.T.R. train for Lindsay. Mrs. T. F. Matthews and Mr. and Mrs. Geo. A. Matthews accompanied him to Lindsay, where, needless to say, there was a happy family reunion. At Ottawa Pte. Matthews, with the other Ottawa Soldiers, was presented with a gold locket by the city, and he was also the recipient of a gold watch and chain from the employees of the Company's Ottawa and Hull branch. Pte. Matthews returns in excellent health.

A Sad Journey

Mr. W. H. Anthony left yesterday for Stratford, being summoned there by the death of his mother, which took place Monday afternoon. The deceased lady was 87 years of age. She was married in 1837, and had lived happily with her husband, Mr. John C. Anthony, who survives her, 93 years. Mr. and Mrs. Anthony came to Canada in 1839, and settled in Belleville, subsequently removing to Peterborough in 1867, where they lived until 1874, when they removed to Stratford. She leaves two children—Mrs. Fred Burnham, of Stratford, and Mr. W. H. Anthony, the well known boot and shoe manufacturer, of Peterborough. Interment will take place in Stratford to-day.

To-Night's Concert

Do not forget the concert to-night at the Opera House, where full election returns will be announced hot from the wire. Miss Florence Mabel Glover, Canada's leading soprano, will assist. She is accompanied on this tour by Mr. W. Francis Firth, baritone. This will be Mr. Firth's first visit professionally to Peterborough and will be looked forward to with a great deal of pleasure by his many friends. Miss Salvie LeCour, pianiste, will be unable to appear, she having been taken suddenly ill during the Ottawa engagement. The management have, however, been very fortunate in securing the services of Mrs. W. E. Ramsay, Toronto's favorite pianiste, who, with the well known humorist, Mr. T. E. Kyle, will make one of the best attractions of the season.

"Welcome, Evil, If Thou Comest Alone."

One evil that cannot come alone is impure blood. If this is allowed, it is attended by kindred ailments galore. This condition means that every vein and artery of the body, instead of carrying to the organs a health-giving flow of life, is laden with a slow and impure fluid that is harming instead of healing.

It is unfortunate when there is "bad blood" inside of you. Hood's Sarsaparilla will not make enemies friends, but it will make "bad blood" good blood, and blood should be of the best quality. Hood's never disappoints.

Erysipelas—"Had a severe attack of erysipelas, suffering from dizziness and nervousness so that I could not rest at night. Tried Hood's Sarsaparilla with good results, and now recommend it to others." M. CHALMERS, Toronto, Ont.

Strength Builder—"Myself, wife and children have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla and it strengthened us. It relieved me of a lame back." DAVID MCGEORGE, caretaker, Galt Institute, Galt, Ont.

Rheumatism—"I was badly afflicted with sciatic rheumatism. Consulted doctors without relief. Was persuaded to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, and five bottles gave me relief and enabled me to go to work." WILLIAM R. ROACH, Margaretville, N. S.

JOTTINGS ABOUT TOWN.

—The Board of Education did not meet last night.

—The Chief has a pair of spectacles that were left in the Post Office. The owner can have them by calling at the Police Station.

Mr. T. W. Robinson fell from the roof of a kitchen on Monday, and sustained injuries that will keep him confined to the house for a few days.

Scrofula in the blood shows itself sooner or later in swellings, sores, eruptions. But Hood's Sarsaparilla completely cures it.

The Times will contain full election returns on Thursday morning. We have special facilities for obtaining the most reliable and complete returns.

—The Rugby boys are confident of success at London on Saturday next. They will practice almost every afternoon this week and their contest with the western men will be a swift one.

—The final meeting of Victoria County Cheese board for 1900 was held Monday morning in Lindsay, when over 2,400 boxes were boarded. In the face of the lowering market all sold for 9 7-8c.

—Mr. W. T. Boyd, of Bobcaygeon, and a party of friends are hunting at Big Ball lake this year. They live on the palace barge Lindsay, which has been fitted up in comfortable fashion as a houseboat, and they are towed about as desired by Mr. Boyd's yacht, the Calumet.

Strong words by a New York Specialist.—"After years of testing and comparison I have no hesitation in saying that Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart is the quickest, safest, and surest known to medical science. I use it in my own practice. It relieves the most acute forms of heart ailment inside of thirty minutes and never fails."—35

A ROAST

On Temperance People.

A little woman out in Tower Hill, Ill., takes a fall out of the temperance people in a letter containing the following,—"It is amusing to see some staunch temperance people who would as soon be caught stealing a horse as to be seen going into a saloon, that are tied down, hard and fast, to their coffee cups as much as an old whiskey sot is to his morning dram. They give the same excuse that the old sot does, they act the same way, the habit is just as fixed. Their dram does not as quickly intoxicate, but its steady use just as surely breaks down the nervous system and ruins them physically and mentally, setting up some fixed form of chronic disease.

"Consistency, thou art a jewel, just as much to-day as of old. Either break away from your slavery,—tea, coffee, or any other pernicious habit you may have, or quit preaching to others. I know what I am talking about, for I was a coffee slave for a time and can speak truthfully of its effects. It almost ruined my nervous system, caused constipation, headaches, and sleeplessness. I suppose if I had drank enough at one time to make me entirely drunk, I might have felt easier.

"Finally the stuff began to cause coughing after my meals; then I concluded to part company with the demon, and at once, upon the advice of some friends, took up Postum Food Coffee. The change was marvellous. I passed from an invalid to a healthy person, in a very short time. I had quit a drug and taken up a strong, powerful, nourishing food in liquid form and owe my present health to Postum Food Coffee." Name will be furnished by Postum Cereal Co., Ltd., Battle Creek, Mich.

ATTACK of ROYAL CANADIANS at Paardeberg

The present is a time when war pictures are in greater demand than ever. The conduct of the British soldiers on the battlefield has won the plaudits of admiring nations. We have at great expense published four large, beautiful pictures size 20x24, on heavy, superfine calendered paper. A picture that will commend itself and send a thrill to the heart of every true Canadian is the one called Attack of Royal Canadians at Paardeberg, there are literally hundreds of figures on this picture, the mountains or kopjes stretching out into the distance are swarming with men, while here and there a prostrate figure speaks only too well of the Boer rifleman. It was on this battlefield the gallant Major Arnold met death unflinchingly. Indeed, it is only too true that many of those gallant hearts that beat so high when the cheering thousands bade them Godspeed as they sailed from Canada's shores now lie still forever in lonely graves on the other side of the world under African skies. To every Canadian heart, to every Canadian home, the deeds of their brave soldier boys speak with an irresistible thrill of patriotism and pride. Gordon Highlanders at the Battle of Belmont, Charging the Boer Guns at Elandslaagte and the Charge of Gen. French's Cavalry on the Retreating Gen. Cronje's Army. These are all stirring pictures and cannot fail to commend themselves to anyone who will examine them. They are RED HOT SELLERS! Agents coin money. Big profits. Enormous success. One agent sold 68 in one day. Sample and terms 25 cts (none free); four for 90 cts; $1.75 per dozen; 25 for $3.25; 50 for $6.00; 100 for $11.00. Write to-day for a dozen and make money. Head Office - Ottawa, Canada

A GOOD STRONG COMPANY HAS LONG BEEN NEEDED.

A good strong limited Produce Company, with a capital of $300,000 being established in Ottawa would open up a safe and responsible channel for Cheese, Butter, Eggs, Poultry and all manner of country produce, and all could feel confident in sending their produce to this warehouse for safe keeping, and at the same time begin direct communication with Great Britain and all the markets of the world. Nearly all the large produce houses of Montreal and Great Britain have now become limited Liability Companies, as the products of our country require so much capital to manipulate that it is much better to have sufficient resources to handle them. Country Merchants, FARMERS, FACTORY MEN, AND THE COUNTRY PEOPLE in general should be greatly interested in this Company, as it will be of great advantage to them, and in the meantime the Company will surely pay a handsome dividend to all the stockholders. THE OTTAWA PRODUCE COMPANY, LIMITED, who are taking over the present Cold Storage Building on Nicholas Street, consider it not sufficiently large to carry on the business of the Ottawa section and therefore propose adding to the present refrigerator a suitable addition. The ice will be done away with and the Cold Air or chemical system will be introduced. A good independent Railway siding will be placed alongside the building, as the near proximity of the building to the Central Station is such that this can be done at practically no cost, giving the Company direct communication with the Canadian Pacific Railway, Canada Atlantic Railway, Parry Sound Railway and port of Montreal, as well as a connection with the Ottawa and Gatineau, Ottawa & New York Railway, and Pontiac and Pacific Junction. This Produce House will prove of great advantage to Cheese and Factory men, as when the markets are dull their goods can be stored until such time as the market would improve, thereby enabling them not to be compelled to send their Cheese to be stored in Montreal, as it is better to handle, inspect and pay for them near home. The Jobbing Trade of Ottawa city will be sufficient to pay the running expenses of the concern.

It is seldom one has an opportunity to invest in such a good solid concern, showing 25 per cent.

PROSPECTUS

THE OTTAWA PRODUCE COMPANY, LIMITED, has been formed to consolidate three large and well paying businesses in the Produce line, together with the building, plant and property connected with the Ottawa Cold Storage Company, Limited. The before mentioned Cold Storage Building being one of the finest in Canada.

ASSETS OF THE COMPANY.

1. The business, building and plant of the Ottawa Cold Storage Company.
2. The business connection and brands of Eggs controlled exclusively by WM. MELDRUM & CO., of Montreal, the largest dealer in Canadian Eggs for export, together with the personal supervision of Mr. Meldrum over this branch of the business.
3. The business and connection of A. A. DAVIS & CO., Brockville, one of the largest butter and cheese exporters to the British Markets from Canada, together with the personal supervision of Mr. Davis over the cheese and butter business.

INTENTIONS OF THE COMPANY

THE OTTAWA PRODUCE COMPANY, LIMITED, intend in as large a measure as possible to control the surplus supply of the Eggs, Cheese and Butter, produced yearly in the Ottawa Valley, and with this purpose in view it has been formed with ample Capital, and has been able to secure, together with the splendid Cold Storage Building already mentioned, the valuable co-operation of WM. MELDRUM & CO., of Montreal, the well known Egg shippers, and A. A. DAVIS & CO., of Brockville, whose connection with the markets of Great Britain is one of the largest possessed by any Canadian firm doing business as Cheese and Butter exporters.

Recently, owing to certain difficulties which the Ottawa Valley Merchants have had with Eastern firms, they have concluded that a large exporting firm with head office and Cold Storage building in Ottawa would be much more satisfactory to them, inasmuch as the railway facilities and other means of transport are quite as good from Ottawa as elsewhere, and also for the reason that Ottawa City is surrounded with as good a Produce country if not better, than any city in Canada.

EGGS

PROFITS OF THE VARIOUS PRODUCE WHICH THE COMPANY PROPOSE TO HANDLE

The Promoters and Managing Director of this Company, assisted by a number of leading Produce Merchants, have gone carefully into the matter of output and profit of the Egg business in the Ottawa Valley, and have come to the conclusion THAT THE OTTAWA PRODUCE COMPANY, LIMITED, can handle over a million dozen of Eggs every season at a profit of at least 3c. per dozen, and it is a well-known fact that the average price paid for this little article of diet, bought early in the season is 9c. to 11c. per dozen, and these eggs are never sold for less than 14c. to 15c. per dozen, during the fall and winter season, and frequently at a higher rate. HOWEVER, ASSUMING THAT THE OTTAWA PRODUCE COMPANY, LIMITED, HANDLE a MILLION DOZEN OF EGGS, WHICH IT IS QUITE EASY FOR IT TO DO, AND SELL THEM AT THE MINIMUM PRICE OF 14c. PER DOZEN, THE COMPANY HAS THE NICE PROFIT OF $30,000 ON ITS EGG TURNOVER ALONE, OR A 10 PER CENT DIVIDEND ON THE WHOLE CAPITAL OF THE COMPANY.

CHEESE

The Promoters, assisted by the Managing Director and leading Produce Merchants, who have dealt during the past years largely in Cheese, after carefully investigating this feature of the business have come to the conclusion that with the connection this Company have in England, through MR. DAVIS, the Ottawa Produce Co., Ltd., can handle 150,000 boxes of Cheese per annum bought for English account or consigned. In either case it is a conservative estimate that the OTTAWA PRODUCE COMPANY, LIMITED, will make 20c. per box or the nice profit of $30,000 per annum on the Turnover of Cheese with no loss to itself, as its system of Cold Storage will be such that no Cheese will spoil on its hands, and consequently leave no room for loss.

BUTTER

The Promoters assisted by the Managing Director and leading Produce Merchants, have also carefully investigated the Butter business, and have come to the conclusion that the OTTAWA PRODUCE COMPANY, LIMITED, can handle two million pounds of Butter, produced yearly in the fertile Ottawa Valley, out of which they estimate there can be made 1c. per pound profit. And it might be stated here that this estimate is a very conservative one, as most of the Butter handled by the Produce Merchants net them over 3c. per pound. Think for yourself the quantity of Butter that can be bought early in the season for 18c., and realize the price it sells for, both in Ottawa and Montreal, as the winter progresses, and you will see clearly that the profit of 1c. per lb. estimated by this Company is by no means an exaggeration, and yet here is another $20,000 profit to swell the dividends for the shareholders of this Company.

POULTRY HANDLED ON COMMISSION

In addition to the before mentioned business the Directors of the OTTAWA PRODUCE COMPANY, LIMITED, feel justified in the belief that they can make an additional $10,000 profit by handling Poultry on Commission for shipment to the British market. The means of transport across the Atlantic have been so much improved in the matter of Cold Storage Canadian Poultry can be delivered in England in the best condition. Canadian poultry is in great demand in England at the present time.

The jobbing trade done in Ottawa City alone in Turkeys and Chickens is enormous.

NET PROFITS

1,000,000 doz. Eggs, bought from 9 to 11c., sold at 14c	$30,000
2,000,000 lbs. Butter, sold at a profit of 1c per lb	20,000
$100,000 worth of Chickens and Turkeys, 10 per cent. com	10,000
Cheese, 150,000 Boxes, profit 20c. per box, a commission of 1-4c. per lb., 80lb. boxes	30,000
Profits	$90,000
Cost of operating and handling these products	10,000
Profits and loss account, including shrinkage, carriage, etc	15,000
Leaving the splendid net profits for dividends to the Shareholders of the Company of	$65,000

Or sufficient to pay 7 per cent on Preferred Stock and 28 per cent. on the whole of the Common stock.

A CO-OPERATIVE COMPANY

The Company has been exceedingly fortunate in being able to secure the hearty co-operation of such well known Produce men as Wm. Meldrum, of Montreal, Mr. A. A. Davis, of Brockville, Mr. Joseph Kavanagh, late President of Ottawa Cheese Board, Mr. B. Slattery, meat merchant, and also Mr. Frank O'Reilly, the latter's experience at the market in Lower Town for so many years being such as to inspire confidence among the many farmers who bring in their Produce to Ottawa on Market Days, Mr. O'Reilly being personally acquainted with nearly all of them, while the long and many successful years of business enjoyed by such men as Mr. Joseph Kavanagh as a produce merchant, and Mr. B. Slattery as a meat merchant well known in Ottawa and the surrounding country gives additional strength to the board.

MANAGEMENT OF THE COMPANY

As the management of a company of this kind is one of its strong points, we would just mention that the directors of this Company are all men of most careful and shrewd judgement and men who have made money for themselves in their own business, consequently they can be relied upon to look after the interests of this Company in the most careful manner, as they have all invested their capital in the enterprise and believe that it cannot be other than a great success.

SUBSCRIPTIONS

All the money realized under subscription will be devoted absolutely without deduction to the business of the Company. No costs whatever will be deducted from this amount save the cost of advertising and the cost of obtaining the charter. SUBSCRIPTION BOOKS will be opened at the office of Sutherland & Kelly, 48 Sparks St., on Tuesday, October 30th, at 10 o'clock, and close not later than Saturday, 17th November, at 3 o'clock. Subscriptions will be received for one share and upwards, and they must be accompanied by a marked check for ten per cent. of the amount subscribed for, made out to THE OTTAWA TRUST AND DEPOSIT COMPANY, LIMITED, as Trustees for THE OTTAWA PRODUCE COMPANY, LIMITED, and in allotment preference will be given to residents of the various outlying towns in the Ottawa Valley, farmers in the near vicinity and residents of Ottawa. The right is reserved by the Company to close the subscription books at any time before three o'clock on Wednesday, 7th November, and to allot in whole or in part of application and to reject any application.

2,000 PREFERENCE SHARES AT PAR, $100,000

Carrying a bonus of 2,000 common shares of $50 each (the bonus shares being fully paid up by the transfer of property and non-assessable.)

The 7 per cent. preference stock is cumulative, carries yearly dividends and has priority over the common shares as to both dividends and assets.

Subscriptions are payable 10 per cent on application, 15 per cent on allotment, 10 per cent on the 1st of January, 15 per cent on the 1st of March, 25 per cent on the 1st of June, 25 per cent on the 1st of September, 1901, with the privilege of making prepayment of any instalment, at any instalment date. Subscription forms may be had on application to SUTHERLAND & KELLY, 48 Sparks St., or at the office of THE OTTAWA TRUST AND DEPOSIT CO., LIMITED.

APPENDIX

Reasons why you should invest in THE OTTAWA PRODUCE COMPANY, LIMITED.

1. Because an Investment showing such splendid profits is rarely offered to the public.
2. Because the Directors of this Company are men of the highest standing, successful in their own business for many years, and they can be relied upon to govern this business in the most careful way.
3. Because there has never been a first-class and well-equipped cold storage company in Ottawa, and this Company should be encouraged, as they will save an enormous amount of money for the farmers and cheese men of the Ottawa Country, which will be largely spent in Ottawa City, thereby benefitting the city merchants and community at large.
4. Because this Company will be a decided convenience to the public, and the public should share the profits.

SIR WILFRID LAURIER

Once more the people of Canada have chosen Sir Wilfrid Laurier to rule the destinies of the country for another parliamentary term. Outside of Conservative circles that result has of late not been unlooked for. At the beginning of the campaign the chances appeared to be about even, from the standpoint of the neutral observers. In 1896 the Separate school question in Manitoba entered largely into the contest. A long period of financial and business depression had prepared the people for a change, and the present prosperous condition of the country made it all the harder for the Conservatives. A full dinner paail, which means a full stomach, is perhaps the most difficult of all the obstacles which were in the way of the Conservatives in their attack on the treasury benches.

At this writing it is difficult to estimate the exact strength of the two parties, but enough is known to make the return of the Liberal party certain.

That the Conservatives made large gains in Ontario was only to be expected. In the province the power and influence of both Governments were used to secure the election of Government candidates.

The defeat of Sir Charles Tupper was unlooked for, as was also the defeat of Sir Hibbert Tupper, Hon. Geo. E. Foster, Hon. Hugh John Macdonald and Hon. Dr. Montague. Every Liberal Minister has been re-elected. The following is the result, as far as could be obtained up to three o'clock this morning.

EAST PETERBOROUGH

The latest returns from the most important districts places Mr. Lang in the lead about 350, which will probably be increased when the back country is heard from.

JAS. KENDREY ELECTED BY A MAJORITY OF 354

To Represent West Peterboro in the Dominion House of Commons.

JOHN LANG ELECTED FOR EAST PETERBORO

Mr. Kendery Thanks His Supporters From a First Floor Window, He is Especially Grateful to the Ladies for Their Influence in His Behalf.

The majority received by Mr. Kendrey surprised his opponents. The Conservatives all along predicted a substantial majority for him, but it has exceeded the most ardent expectations of his most sanguine supporters.

There was comparatively little excitement in town, as compared with former elections, but both parties worked like Trojans. From early morning till the time when the returns came in, it was evident that the town at least was going Kendrey. When the returns commenced to come in, the excitement of expectancy was soon changed to that of unbounded enthusiasm, and crowds gave effect to their feelings by cheers and other loud demonstrations of joy.

At six o'clock crowds of excited citizens thronged the committee rooms and the newspaper offices, all on the tip-toe of expectancy and eager to get the earliest returns from the numerous polling divisions. When it was fully known that the town had given the Conservative candidate a sweeping majority, the name of "Kendrey" resounded again and again from one end of the town to the other. By 7 o'clock the returns from nearly every polling division had been received and the news that the Liberal-Conservative candidate had been elected spread like wildfire through the whole length and breadth of the town, infusing his supporters with enthusiasm that was eminently contagious, while Mr. McClellan's admirer's comforted themselves with the rumor of Mr. Lang's sure return in East Peterborough by a majority of 343 so far as heard from. But when the hands of the town clock pointed to 8 and the announcement was definitely made that the man who had honestly and disinterestedly served the town 22 years in municipal office—18 years as Councillor and 4 as Mayor—had again received a decidedly pronounced mark of public confidence and esteem in again being elected as member for the Dominion House of Commons, by a majority of 354, the enthusiasm of his supporters became unbounded. Caps were thrown in the air and "three cheers and a tiger" was given again and again till the hundreds of his admirers had cheered themselves hoarse.

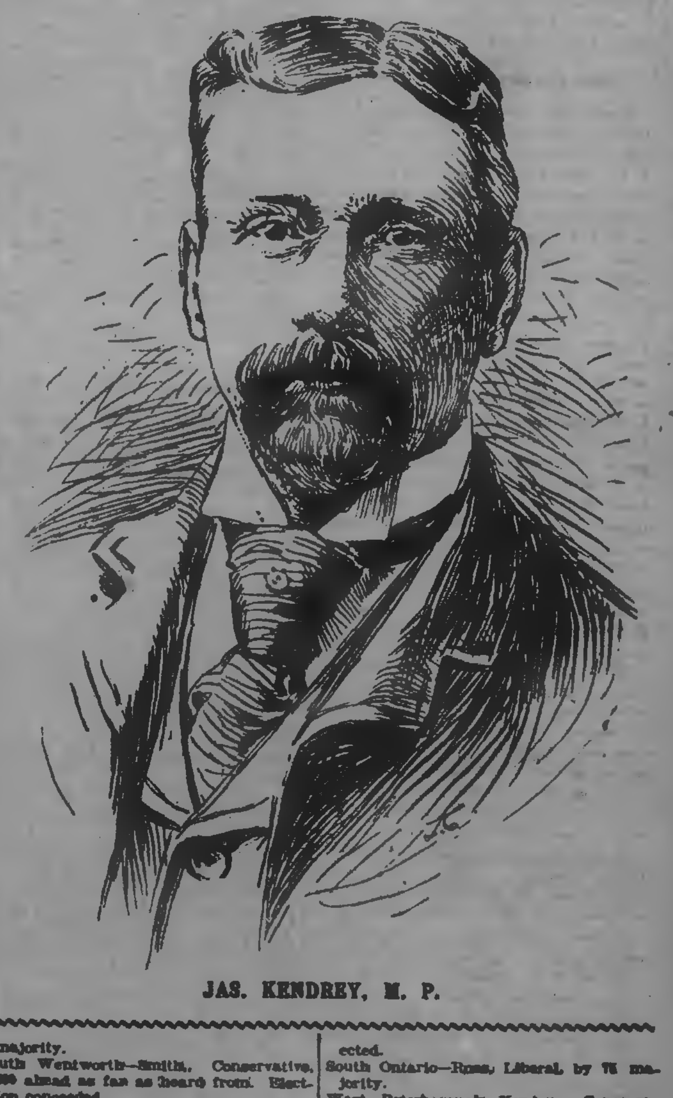
NO HALL AVAILABLE.

It is to be deplored that, owing to the Opera House having been previously engaged by a musical organization, there was no place available in which to lionize the successful candidate, read the returns and listen to speeches Of course, the Conservative Committee Rooms were crowded to the door by a happy throng of Tory enthusiasts, whilst outside about fifteen hundred cheering citizens blocked the streets, and patiently awaited the reading of despatches, which was done from a window above.

At about 8 o'clock the Sons of England band put in an appearance and serenaded the successful candidate.

MR. KENDREY'S SPEECH.

Mr. James Kendrey, M. P., arrived at the Conservative committee rooms at 7 o'clock, and received a tremendous ovation. On account of so large a number of his admirers being unable to gain admittance, he spoke from a window above the room. He did not know how to sufficiently thank West Peterborough electors for their very generous support, and felt exceedingly proud of the honorable position in which he stands to-day. Each time he had offered himself for either municipal or Legislative honors, both the town and county had returned him by handsome majorities. He was more especially grateful to the ladies of West Peterborough for their manifest interest in his behalf in this campaign, and felt quite confident that their influence had in no small measure assisted in bringing it to a happy issue (cheers) He apologised for the lack of accommodation, and explained that the Opera House being engaged his committee had found it impossible to secure a suitable hall in which to hold a meeting.



JAS. KENDREY, M. P.

Morning Times

PETERBOROUGH, NOVEMBER 8, 1900.

THE RESULT.

The campaign which has just closed has doubtless been one of the bitterest in the history of Canada. The result is not a surprise to many, who believed that the country was in accord with the party who are to control its destinies for another parliamentary term.

Fortunately the campaign was without that element of sectarian strife which characterised the elections of 1896—the Separate School Question. Canadians should ever obliterate the sectarian and racial lines that have played so important a part in the elections in the past.

Elsewhere will be found full returns up to three o'clock this morning.

MISS GOULD'S COSTLY COUNT.

Miss Anna Gould, daughter of the late Jay Gould, of New York, the many times millionaire, married Count Boni de Castellane for his title, and he married Miss Gould for her millions, with little pretense of any more sentiment in the marriage than there is in the ordinary horse trade; and both got just what they wanted.

Count Boni didn't marry Miss Gould for her personal charms, for she didn't possess any of special value; he didn't marry her for her intelligence for she was furnished with that commodity on a very economical scale; but she had fifteen millions of money and Count Boni wanted them very badly. He knew that her personal charms were of little moment, as he could buy that commodity with her money in the open market, and her lack of more than ordinary intelligence was easily overlooked by one who had but little intelligence himself. He got his price, which was two millions in cash and an income of $600,000 a year to provide for himself and his family.

Miss Gould didn't marry Count Boni because of any manly attributes he possessed, nor because of any special claims he could present for the respect and affection of an honest woman. She knew that he was a dude, a profligate, a simpleton and a fool; but she was fickle in the realm of love and somewhat wayward in her social methods, and with her many millions she bought Count Boni's title and made herself a Countess. Both got just what they wanted, and her family and friends were quite willing to see her decently married.

Count Boni evidently assumed that he married all the millions possessed by the Gould family, and he proceeded at once to squander all the money he and his wife had in sight and exhaust his credit by the most extravagant habits, improvements and purchases, until he was finally halted by the plebeian Sheriff. He at once appealed to the Gould's to put up their millions, pay his debts and enable him to contract many millions more of debts for them to pay; but the three sons of Jay Gould are men of more than ordinary sense; they are manly, straightforward business men, and Miss Helen Gould, a sister of the Countess Boni, has made the noblest American womanhood lustrous by her patriotic and charitable record.

Temporary relief was furnished Count Boni and his wife when they came here in dire distress some time ago; but a few paltry hundreds of thousands weren't a drop in the bucket to Count Boni, and George Gould was compelled to go to Paris not long since to prevent the sale, under execution, of the extravagant furniture and bric-a-brac and other household property in and about their magnificent and unfinished and unpaid for home. The sale was halted, but Count Boni didn't halt in his extravagant ways, and finally he has been brought up on a short turn by the courts of Paris, on application of his wife's family, to have a committee or guardian appointed over Count Boni, to prevent him from wasting his wife's money.

It is such American women, who had opportunity for culture and for the most generous philanthropy that so beautifully adorns American womanhood, who have brought reproach and shame upon the better women of that country. They make marriage a mere matter of commerce, and grasp the empty baubles of foreign titles, thinking themselves thereby honored, when they sacrifice the last vestige of self-respect, the respect of the country and of the world, and all the sanctity of home life where woman is grandest in her offices and achievements. The imaginary honors Miss Anna Gould bought at the cost of millions, she now finds brings her only contempt and shame; and she is reaping just what she had strewn.

WORSE THAN PRINCE TUAN

The New Chairman of the Board of Chinese Censors strongly Anti-foreign

Shanghai, Nov. 6.—The statement cabled to the New York Sun a few days ago that Lu Chuan Lin, who is strongly anti-foreign, has been appointed President of the Board of Censors and President of the Board of Rites, has been confirmed. Leading Chinese consider the rapid promotion he has had as most unfavorable to a speedy settlement of the present troubles, and declare that he is worse than Prince Tuan or Kang Yi, the President of the Board of War, who is said to have committed suicide.

Li Hung Chang to-day telegraphed to Sheng, director of railways and telegraphs, that England and Japan insist upon the reformation of the Government but that the other powers only emphasize their demand for the speedy punishment of those officials who have aided or, abetted the massacre of foreigners.

London, Nov. 6—A despatch to the Times from Pekin says that Vice-Admiral Alexieff has addressed a communication to Li Hung Chang asking him what the intentions of China are regarding Manchuria and inviting China to resume the government of the country, under the protection of Russia, which Admiral Alexieff assures him will be to the advantage of both countries. Thus, adds the correspondent, another step is reached in the absorption of this magnificent province by Russia, for protection in such a case spells empire.

KILLED IN TORONTO.

Miss Magee, who Lived Here, Meets a Violent Death

A sad accident occurred in Toronto by which Miss Eliza A. Magee, who was for many years a member of the family of Rev. S. J. Shorey, lost her life. She went from Pulon to the city on Sunday last to spend the holiday with her sister, Miss Magee, who keeps a fancy goods store at 143 Spruce street. Monday morning Miss Eliza visited several friends, and in the afternoon watched the parade of the returning soldiers, afterwards calling on Mrs. Mulholland, who lives on McGill St. About 4 o'clock she started for home, and while crossing Jarvis street on the east side of Gerrard street, she became confused, coming in contact with two rigs which were being driven in opposite directions on Jarvis street. In the attempt to get out of the way she was knocekd down and trampled on by the horse, and the buggy, which contained two ladies and a man, passed over her body. She was picked up in an unconscious condition by passers-by and carried into the surgery of Dr. Reeves, at the corner of Gerrard and Jarvis streets, where she died a few minutes later. Dr. McCollum was called in but life was extinct. The remains were afterwards removed to the undertaking establishment of Ben D. Humphrey. Coroner Greig issued a warrant for an inquest.

Sneeze and Blow.

This is what you must do when you have catarrh in the head. The way to cure this disease is to purify the blood with Hood's Sarsaparilla. This medicine soothes and heals the inflamed surfaces, rebuilds the delicate tissues and permanently cures catarrh by expelling from the blood the scrofulous taints upon which it depends. Be sure to get Hood's.

The non-irritating cathartic—Hood's Pills.

A Big Luminous Tree.

Every one has heard of luminous plants and shrubs, but comparatively few people are aware of the existence in Nevada of a luminous tree of large proportions. The Indians have always entertained a wholesome dread of this tree, and have a number of legends connected with it, some of which are clearly founded on the Biblical story of Moses and the burning bush. As a result of their superstition the tree has come to be known as the "witch tree," and is quite a source of interest among people for miles around. It is a valuable landmark at night, as it can be seen half a mile away, and the phosphorous substance which exudes from it is so powerful that it is possible to read a few words of print held close to it. Several botanists and tree scientists have made journeys to inspect and report on the tree, but we have never seen a really intelligent explanation of what seems to be quite a unique phenomenon.

Sleeping to Death.

One of the most curious and fatal diseases on record is termed "the sleeping sickness of West Africa." The malady has never been known to attack anyone except negroes. As the disease progresses the victim sleeps constantly and finally dies from starvation. The first symptoms are shewn when the victim gradually gives way to a feeling of listlessness, which becomes at last a profound and lethargic sleep, the first noticeable signs of which are a visible and persistent drooping of the eyelids in the daytime and while at work. In spite of all efforts to arouse him, the patient lapses into slumber. The periods of sleep increase in number and the intervals between them lessen. Soon the negro appears to be always asleep. Death occurs at the end of from six to twelve months.—New York Sun.

Clean Bread

Can't be made by foul hands and clean, pure blood can't be made by a foul stomach. The blood is made by the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition.

When these are diseased they contaminate every drop of blood made from the food they act upon, and this contamination is carried through the whole body. It may settle in the liver, kidneys, heart or lungs but the root of the disease is in the stomach. Cure the stomach and you cure the disease. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the organs of digestion and nutrition perfectly and permanently. It purifies the blood, and so by curing the cause of disease, cures many forms of disease in organs remote from the stomach.

"For the past sixteen years I have had torpid liver and indigestion and tried many doctors and patent medicines but I could not get a cure," writes Mrs. Simeon Suggs, of Clyde, Sabine Parish, La. "Three months ago I thought I would try Dr. R. V. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and his 'Pleasant Pellets.' I got six bottles of each and I received a good result in a week, and to-day I am cured sound and well. The symptoms were coated tongue, specks before the eyes, disposed to be cross and irritable, foul stomach, bad taste in the mouth, tired feeling, a feeling of dread or fear, headache, yellow skin, etc. These symptoms did not all appear at once. If sufferers from such troubles will take Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and 'Pleasant Pellets' as directed in pamphlets wrapping bottles, they will bring back the bloom of life as it did with me."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure biliousness and sick headache.

A NOVEL.

I have toiled and schemed, taunt me with my crime. I reared you a gentleman; see how little it avails you. You might have retrieved your fortune with the Lorrimer money, but you let it slip, and wasted your time abroad; then, worst of all, you came home to me a cripple," she cried pointing to the scarred hand, so hideously seamed. "I believe it is vengeance. One cripple in the house was enough. And you mysteriously creep home under cover of the night, shunning the gaze of men like a felon. What does all this mean? Answer me, Heath Hampton! I have the right—I demand to know this mystery you would keep from me, here and now!"

CHAPTER XXVII.

The Robbery Planned.

"I may have reasons for my actions, which I do not choose to disclose," responded Hampton. "You will be wise not to interfere in my affairs. Money is the only thing that will help me; advice is a cheap commodity."

"You shall never have another cent until I die," she retorted, sternly, her white, thin, jeweled hands clasped nervously together. "I have borne patiently with you for years, and you would beggar me in my old age, if permitted."

Although the mother knew too well his many follies, she loved this handsome, daring, reckless son as she had never loved anything in her solitary life. What had she not undergone for his sake?

"Listen, mother," he cried; "I appeal to you for the last time; advance me a thousand dollars, and I will never ask for another cent!"

Her face was rigid as the marble Flora against which she leaned.

"No," she said, "not another cent—mark me, not one cent."

"So be it," he answered, gloomily; "but I want you to always remember, whatever happens, I was not thoroughly wicked; there was a time, and not long ago, when I might have been redeemed by love."

"I am certainly at a loss to understand you. What do you mean?"

"I am dealing in plain facts; first, I followed your instructions by offering myself to the haughty heiress of Lorrimer Hall, only to be refused for my pains. I had never met any woman then whom I thought I could love for herself."

Mrs. Hampton's cold, glittering eyes never once left her son's white face as he continued:

"I cursed the fate that swept that grand estate from my grasp; wealth was my idol; suddenly my heart awoke to the subtle influence of a woman's face—do not start, mother, it is true—yet you kept us asunder, yes, you; had you permitted me to woo and win your late companion for my wife, I might have been a different man to-day. I loved her passionately, madly, yet you kept us asunder, poisoned her against me; now she has fled from me, and with her all hopes of my ever leading a better life."

He finished his sentence with a hard, bitter, mocking laugh, that grated harshly on his listener's ear.

"Ah, this is the reason, then, Miss Rienzi fled from us so unceremoniously," she said, slowly.

She had been so vigilant lest Izetta should meet her son, yet they had met; she wondered where and when.

With a quick motion she advanced to where her son sat, placing her hand on his dark hair as she said:

"Heath, my boy, I would rather see you dead than wedded to a beautiful pauper. In me you see a shattered life, still I know the advantages of money; while you throw yourself headlong at the shrine of a pretty face; from this time on I have done with you. It's but Dead Sea fruit after all," she said, slowly, a spasm of pain crossing her dark face.

Turning hastily, she left the room, her heavy, black silk robes trailing after her on the thick carpet.

She little realized under what circumstances she would again look upon the desperate, reckless face of her son.

Late that afternoon she sent for Vatal. It had been years since the dwarf had received such a summons.

"What can she want of me?" he muttered, as he made his appearance at the door.

"Come in, Vatal," she said.

Her voice had a weary sound in it. The dwarf noticed that she sat with her face partially turned from him. She was not a woman to waste time in unnecessary words.

"Sit down, Vatal."

On this occasion she came to the subject uppermost in her mind at once.

"Can you tell me, Vatal, where and when my son first met Miss Rienzi, the young girl who so mysteriously disappeared from here lately?"

"On the day she first came here, madam."

"You are in the habit of driving my son about considerably, are you not?"

"I was, madam, before he went abroad; very little since his return."

"Try to remember if he ever met Miss Rienzi before she came here."

"Not to my knowledge; they appeared to meet that day as perfect strangers."

"Do you know if they have met since?"

"No, madam; I am sure they have not."

"Why are you so positive, Vatal?"

For a moment the dwarf was silent.

"I command you to answer me, Vatal," she said, fastening her flashing eyes upon him, those eyes which had such a strange influence over him.

"I am sure he has not met Miss Rienzi since, for he has moved heaven and earth almost to find her."

"You are perfectly sure he has not succeeded, Vatal?"

"Perfectly sure, madam; she flitted in all that terrible storm; we traced her footprints some distance, only to lose them effectually in the drifts beyond."

"There is still another question I would ask, Vatal. Who are these strangers who persistently haunt this house?"

"They wish to see Mr. Hampton."

"What do they want?"

"They are creditors, madam, pressing for money."

"Poor Heath," she said, quite under her breath. "I did not dream it was so bad as that."

"They believe Mr. Hampton is still

ATTACK of ROYAL CANADIANS at Paardeberg

The present is a time when war pictures are in greater demand than ever. The conduct of the British soldiers on the battlefield has won the plaudits of admiring nations. We have at great expense published four large, beautiful pictures size 20x24, on heavy, superfine calendered paper. A picture that will commend itself and send a thrill to the heart of every true Canadian is the one called Attack of Royal Canadians at Paardeberg, there are literally hundreds of figures on this picture, the mountains or kopjes stretching out into the distance are swarming with men, while here and there a prostrate figure speaks only too well of the Boer riflemen. It was on this battlefield the gallant Major Arnold met death unflinchingly. Indeed, it is only too true that many of those gallant hearts that beat so high when the cheering thousands bade them Godspeed as they sailed from Canada's shores now lie still forever in lonely graves on the other side of the world under African skies. To every Canadian heart, to every Canadian home, the deeds of their brave soldier boys speak with an irresistible thrill of patriotism and pride. Gordon Highlanders at the Battle of Belmont, Charging the Boer Guns at Elandslaagte and the Charge of Gen. French's Cavalry on the Retreating Gen. Cronje's Army. These are all stirring pictures and cannot fail to commend themselves to anyone who will examine them. They are RED HOT SELLERS! Agents coin money. Big profits Enormous success. One agent sold 65 in one day. Sample and terms 25 cts (none free); four for 60 cts; $1.75 per dozen; $5 for $3.25; 50 for $6.00; 100 for $11.00 Write to day for a dozen and make money. A WONDERFUL

KIDNEY and Bladder CURE

The Honorable Chairman of the Board of County Commissioners, Ellsworth, Kansas, tells how ALKAVIS cured him after Doctors and all other Remedies had Failed.

BRIGHT'S DISEASE, GRAVEL, DROPSY,

And Rheumatism Mastered at Last.

One of the most remarkable medical discoveries of the century is the Kava-Kava Shrub, found on the Ganges River, East India, which has a wonderful action on the kidneys and bladder. Since its introduction into this country its fame has quickly spread, because of its seemingly impossible cures. Prominent men and women have testified to its great curative powers, and hospital tests prove its infallibility even in advanced stages of Bright's Disease. Among the more recent recoveries is that of Hon. I. A. Hopkins, Chairman Board of County Commissioners, Ellsworth, Kansas, who says:

GENTLEMEN:—I will say that I believe and know that I owe my life to Alkavis. I had been troubled with Kidney and Bladder Trouble for years. Two years ago I was sick for six weeks with Malarial Fever which left me in a bad condition. My limbs were swollen with Rheumatism so that I could hardly walk; I was troubled with Indigestion from taking Medicine for my Urinary troubles which had become very much worse. I had to get up every hour of the night to urinate. I passed great quantities of blood on account of hemorrhage of the Kidneys and Bladder. I tried and had been trying everything in the shape of Medicine for Kidney Trouble that I could think of or that the Doctors recommended, but nothing helped me for I kept getting worse. I suffered great pain continually in my Kidneys. I made up my mind unless I could get relief that I only had a short time to live. About this time my attention was called to an advertisement of Alkavis. As a drowning man will grasp at a straw, I was ready to try anything for relief. I sent to you for three bottles. I began to take it, and, before I had taken it one week I began to feel the good effects of Alkavis. My Kidney Trouble and Rheumatism were soon gone, my digestion became all right, I found myself in better health than for years, and I am in good health now. I know that Alkavis saved my life. What more can anyone say for a medicine? Unlike most medicines it is good for indigestion. It gives the patron taking it a good appetite. I have recommended Alkavis to a great many people and all have been benefited by its use. I am 53 years of age, and am very grateful for what Alkavis has done for me.
Respectfully yours,
I. A. HOPKINS.

Rev. W. B. Moore, D. D., Washington, D. C., Editor Religious World, writes that after trying all known medicines for kidney and rheumatic disease he was permanently cured by Alkavis. Mrs. Wm. H. Hardy, East Rush, Pa., writes that Alkavis cured her after six doctors failed. Rev. J. W. Hickman, Collyer, Trego Co., Kansas, cured of liver, kidney and bladder trouble, of many years' standing, from which he could only get temporary relief and had given up all hope of a cure. Thus the grand work goes on. A new book, entitled "A Thousand Living Witnesses," sent with the free case of medicine, tells of the wonderful cures performed in every state.

Not only does this great discovery—Alkavis (the Kava-Kava Compound)—cure all forms of kidney and bladder diseases, but by expelling from the blood all poisonous deposits, excess of lime, uric acid, urates and lithates, it banishes gravel, torpid liver, rheumatism, pains in back, difficult and too frequent urination, etc. The cure is complete. No phase is neglected, and the stomach, heart and nerves are toned and invigorated. No other medicine in the world will perform the work of Alkavis. To enable sufferers to get well and spread the glad tidings we have arranged to send a Large Case of Alkavis FREE by mail to all who write us. The case goes entirely FREE.

If you are a sufferer, write to-day and secure at once a Free Case of Alkavis and Book of "A Thousand Living Witnesses." Address The Church Kidney Cure Co., No. 508 Fourth Ave., New York. Please mention this paper.

THE COLORADO COPPER MINING COMPANY

LOCATION OF OUR MINES

THE COLORADO COPPER MINING COMPANY is fortunate in being the possessor of five splendid showing properties in the great Salida copper belt, the principal copper producing region of this portion of the rockies. All of our claims have been more or less developed and it is our purpose to put the same on a paying basis at once.

Our Company owns, clear of incumbrance the following claims,—The Sedalia Extension, the Sedalia Extension No. 2, which property adjoins the great Sedalia mine, which has been a big producer for upwards of seventeen years; the Copper King of Colorado, which immediately adjoins the above; the Copper Queen of Salida, a very promising property, only a few steps from the depot in Salida. This claim occupies an imposing position on a mountain just north of the city; and last, but by no means least, the Sunshine, located two miles east of Salida at Cleora station, on the main Trunk line of the great Denver and Rio Grande Railroad, also on the Arkansas river, which is longest in one of America's greatest streams.

Election Day Marriage

Yesterday afternoon, Rev. J. G. Potter joined in holy matrimony Miss Addie Kennedy, daughter of the late Mr. John Kennedy, and Mr. Frank Sollitt. The happy event took place at the residence of the bride, 122 Antrim street. The bride was assisted by Miss Emma Robson, while Mr. William King acted in like capacity for the groom. The bride's costume was a handsome travelling gown of blue cheviot, while the bridesmaid was attired in a pretty dress of brown. An excellent wedding dinner was served, after which the happy pair took the 4.46 train for Hamilton and other points.

What Would You Give,

To be cured of catarrh? If you or your friends have this disease, you know how disagreeable it is. Its symptoms are inflamed eyes, throbbing temples, ringing noises in the ears, headaches, capricious appetite, and constant discharge of mucus. Fortunately its cure is not a question of what you will give, but what you will take. If you will take Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great constitutional remedy, which thoroughly purifies, enriches and vitalizes the blood, you may expect to be completely cured. The good blood which Hood's Sarsaparilla makes, reaching the delicate passages of the mucous membrane, soothes and rebuilds the tissues and ultimately cures all symptoms of catarrh.

MISS MAGEE'S DEATH.

An Inquest in Progress Over the Cause of Her Death.

Coroner Greig, of Toronto, ordered an inquest on the body of the late Miss Magee, who met with such a tragic death in Toronto on Monday, and who was a member of Rev. Mr. Shorey's family while they lived in Peterboro.

The principal witness was the driver of the rig which was going up Jarvis street, Mr. James McClure, 24 Adelaide street west. He stated that the deceased must have been hidden from his view by his horse, for it was only at his wife's warning that he pulled the horse to one side and saw deceased struck to the ground. He jumped out to go back, but the horse becoming restive, and his wife and child and another lady being in the rig, it was necessary for him to get in again. He was some distance away before he controlled the horse, and was content with reporting the affair to the police. He had not been drinking, and was always used to horses.

An eye-witness of the scene, R. E. Patterson, 282 Gerrard street east, explained in detail the relative positions of the vehicles and the deceased. She crossed the street behind him, and was struck by the body of the horse attached to the rig coming up Jarvis street, which had to wait for a covered rig going east on Gerrard street. He thought it just possible that if the driver had been keeping a sharp lookout he might have seen the old lady.

Dr. W. J. McCollum, who was called to see the dying woman, and also made a post-mortem examination, said he found a severe hemorrhage in the skull and a 6-inch fracture of the base of the skull, which caused her death.

There are several witnesses the coroner wishes to have called—the old gentleman who assisted in carrying deceased into the doctor's, Mrs. McClure and Miss Popey, the two ladies in McClure's rig, the driver of the rig which went east on Garrard street, and Liveryman McInerney, who rented McClure the horse. An effort will be made to assure their presence on Monday night.

JOTTINGS ABOUT TOWN.

—Now for the municipal campaign.

—The Times was the storm centre last night, where thousands came to get accurate election returns.

—The poor horses had a hard day of it.

—Mr. John Kincaid yesterday shipped two carloads of apples to the Old Country markets.

—Several Peterborough citizens attended the McCrae reception at Omemee yesterday.

—The Ottawa people gave their returning heroes a gold locket. The Omemee people gave theirs a gold watch, chain and locket.

—Private Thos. Sandercock, one of the Port Hope boys who went to South Africa, and has returned, was, on Monday evening last, tendered a big reception in his native town.

—Mrs. C. B. McAllister gave the little children of Ashburnham kindergarten a very pleasant treat on Tuesday morning, being the celebration of Master Neil's birthday.

Sold by Ormond & Walsh.

If your stomach is weak it should have help. Hood's Sarsaparilla gives strength to the stomach and cures dyspepsia and indigestion.

—The postponed monthly meeting of the Ladies' Auxilliary of the Y.M.C.A. will be held in the building on Thursday, afternoon. All interested in work for young men are requested to be present.

Kidney Cry.—Pain in the back is the cry of the kidneys for help. To neglect the call is to deliver the body over to a disease cruel, ruthless, and finally life destroying. South American Kidney Cure has power akin to miraculous in helping the needy kidneys out of the mire of disease. It relieves in six hours.—38

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

(The Times invites all its readers to contribute to this column items concerning the movements of well-known people, bans to men, and particulars of at homes, parties, etc. Telephone the Times, or send rough outline, and we will put it into shape.)

—Mrs. Albert Vass, of Guelph, is visiting her sister-in-law, Mrs. Wm. Vass, and other friends of town.

—Mr. and Mrs. Chambers, of Manvers, were in town yesterday. Mr. Chambers is an ardent Conservative, and came to town to hear the election returns, not, however, until he had deposited his ballot for Harry Ward, the Conservative candidate in West Durham.

Notes of the Campaign.

It's all over. Now back to business.

•• • ••

Now, gentlemen, pay your bets like men!

•• • ••

Mr. McClellan made a gallant fight, and he has no reason to feel ashamed of the result.

•• • ••

God help the country if the political parties were as bad as the slanderous political parties make them out to be.

•• • ••

It looks as if Mr. Sexsmith will be obliged to eat Crowe in East Peterborough.

•• • ••

It is not definitely known how the race in the East has gone till we hear from Tudor.

•• • ••

And Col. Sam. Hughes has once more captured the kopjes of North Victoria without losing a man.

•• • ••

The melancholy days have come,
And for the folk who bet,
November 8 will be found
The melancholiest yet.

•• • ••

As to prosperity, when a Toronto concern compelled its employees to march in procession they may be said to do a thriving trade.

•• • ••

Last night's march of the victors was the funeral parade of the season. To that extent the campaign is on its last legs.

•• • ••

Mr. Sexsmith put up a good fight, but was three months too late in coming out. He can console himself with the reflection, however, that it's a Lang lane that has no turn. He may yet force the turn.

•• • ••

Mr. McClellan Ken-dry the perspiration from his body after the warm work of the past few weeks, while in East Peterborough Sexsmith can g'Lang home to the farm.

•• • ••

The editors of our two little local boiler-plate contemporaries should be compelled to keep peas in their boots for several moons, in order to atone in a measure for the fibs they have been telling on each other during the campaign.

A CHEMIST SPEAKS.

Of Predigested Food.

"After having tested and tried every form of predigested food on the market, and experimenting in my own family, my attention was attracted to an article headed 'Brawny Scots' Diet,' mentioning eggs and Grape-Nuts. I carefully tested the new food and finally began its use in my family, with most gratifying results.

"My little boy at that time was a pale, anæmic child and very poorly nourished. Now, thanks to Grape-Nuts, he is as fine a specimen of infantile strength as I could wish for. My own personal experience means much to me. For some years I was troubled with dyspepsia; that is, I could not eat bread or any preparation of bolted wheat flour, such as cake or any of the starchy preparations, without a fit of indigestion, sour stomach, constiveness and headache.

"As soon as I quit that sort of food and used Grape-Nuts, which has the starchy part predigested, I began to recover. The change has been remarkable. I formerly weighed 122 pounds and now weigh 137. Am strong, have more nerve force than I ever possessed, appetite perfect, sleep sound and can endure any amount of work. I know exactly where the change has come from, and it is from your truly scientific and wonderful food, which is worthy of the highest commendation."

WELCOME AT LINDSAY

Private Matthews and Perrin are Eagerly Greeted.

Privates Matthews and Perrin, of the Canadian contingent, in whom Lindsay people are more particularly interested, arrived home by the 9 o'clock train from Peterborough on Tuesday night. Notwithstanding many drawbacks in connection with giving the young soldiers the reception they deserved, owing to political exigencies on the eve of the general election, quite a large concourse of people gathered at the station to meet the returning heroes. As the train pulled in at the station the 45th Battalion band struck up the ever popular refrain, "Home, Sweet Home." Cheer after cheer went up from the multitude as the two campaigners alighted from their car, and hand-shaking cheering predominated for a while, the Collegiate cadets, who mustered strong, firing volleys at intervals. The two soldiers entered a carriage, and the procession formed, headed by the 45th Battalion band, and wended their way down William street and up Kent street, to the home of Private Matthews, the whole route being thronged with enthusiastic spectators. There was a regular blaze of fireworks.

Arriving at the homestead the carriage halted, and was immediately surrounded by a dense throng of people. Mayor Smyth, on behalf of the citizens, welcomed the veterans home, thanked them for what they had done to uphold the dignity of the Empire. Canada in general, and Lindsay in particular, were proud of their sons. Whenever the country was menaced by foes there would always be found men of pluck and valour ready to defend it.

Private Matthews thanked the Mayor and citizens for the magnificent welcome. He and his comrades had done their duty, and under similar circumstances would be found on the right side again. He knew not what it was to be a soldier, and notwithstanding the privations and hardships endured, he had no regrets in going to South Africa.

Gunner Perrin also addressed the crowd, and was warmly received. Cheer after cheer rent the air as in felicitous terms he thanked the citizens and Mayor for the manifest appreciation of their services. Cheers for the Queen and the Canadian contingent brought the proceedings to a close.

It is proposed at a latter date to recognize the services of these young men in a more substantial manner. A strong committee, headed by the Mayor, is appointed for this purpose.

Sir Wilfred at Home

Ottawa, Nov. 7.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier received the election returns to-night at his home, surrounded by a large number of friends, including many ladies, guests of Lady Laurier. Direct wires connected the house with telegraph office.

AN IMPORTANT ENTERPRISE.

Is The Ottawa Produce Company Whose Prospects Appears Elsewhere.

Yesterday we dave an outline of the Company which has been formed in Ottawa, for the purpose of handling produce of every kind, such as butter, eggs, cheese, etc., and which will undoubtedly have a stimulating effect upon the prices of these articles throughout eastern Ontario. Although the operations of the Company are centered in Ottawa, they will cover a large area, including Peterborough, and it is therefore a matter of great importance. Anything that will bring the European consumer in closer touch with our producer is a benefitor to both. The Ottawa Produce Company will do this. It will do more. The quality of our products will be properly represented, and will be placed in the best market of the world, under the most favorable auspices. The high standing of the gentlemen connected with the enterprise is a sufficient guarantee of its success. A quantity of the stock is offered for sale, and a better or safer investment could hardly be found.

Head Office - Ottawa, Canada

A GOOD STRONG COMPANY HAS LONG BEEN NEEDED.

A good strong limited Produce Company, with a capital of $300,000 being established in Ottawa would open up a safe and responsible channel for Cheese, Butter, Eggs, Poultry and all manner of country produce, and all could feel confident in sending their produce to this warehouse for safe keeping, and at the same time be in direct communication with Great Britain and all the markets of the world. Nearly all the large produce houses of Montreal and Great Britain have now, become limited Liability Companies, as the products of our country require so much capital to manipulate that it is much better to have sufficient resources to handle them. Country Merchants, FARMERS, FACTORY MEN, AND THE COUNTRY PEOPLE in general should be greatly interested in this Company, as it will be of great advantage to them, and in the meantime the Company will surely pay a handsome dividend to all the stockholders. THE OTTAWA PRODUCE COMPANY, LIMITED, who are taking over the present Cold Storage Building on Nicholas Street, consider it not sufficiently large to carry on the business of the Ottawa section and therefore propose adding to the present refrigerator a suitable addition. The ice will be done away with and the Cold Air or chemical system will be introduced. A good independent Railway siding will be placed alongside the building, as the near proximity of the building to the Central Station is such that this can be done at practically no cost, giving the Company direct communication with the Canadian Pacific Railway, Canada Atlantic Railway, Parry Sound Railway and port of Montreal, as well as a connection with the Ottawa and Gatineau, Ottawa & New York Railway, and Pontiac and Pacific Junction. This Produce House will prove of great advantage to Cheese and Factory men, as when the markets are dull their goods can be stored until such time as the market would improve, thereby enabling them not to be compelled to send their Cheese to be stored in Montreal, as it is better to handle, inspect and pay for them near home. The Jobbing Trade of Ottawa city will be sufficient to pay the running expenses of the concern.

It is seldom one has an opportunity to invest in such a good solid concern, showing 25 per cent.

PROSPECTUS

THE OTTAWA PRODUCE COMPANY, LIMITED, has been formed to consolidate three large and well paying businesses in the Produce line, together with the building, plant and property connected with the Ottawa Cold Storage Company, Limited. The before mentioned Cold Storage Building being one of the finest in Canada.

ASSETS OF THE COMPANY.

1. The business, building and plant of the Ottawa Cold Storage Company.
2. The business connection and brands of Eggs controlled exclusively by WM. MELDRUM & CO., of Montreal, the largest dealer in Canadian Eggs for export, together with the personal supervision of Mr. Meldrum over this branch of the business.
3. The business and connection of A. A. DAVIS & CO., Brockville, one of the largest butter and cheese exporters to the British Markets from Canada, together with the personal supervision of Mr. Davis over the cheese and butter business.

INTENTIONS OF THE COMPANY

THE OTTAWA PRODUCE COMPANY, LIMITED, intend in as large a measure as possible to control the surplus supply of the Eggs, Cheese and Butter, produced yearly in the Ottawa Valley, and with this purpose in view it has been formed with ample Capital, and has been able to secure, together with the splendid Cold Storage Building already mentioned, the valuable co-operation of WM. MELDRUM & CO., of Montreal, the well known Egg shippers, and A. A. DAVIS & CO., of Brockville, whose connection with the markets of Great Britain is one of the largest possessed by any Canadian firm doing business as Cheese and Butter exporters.

Recently, owing to certain difficulties which the Ottawa Valley Merchants have had with Eastern firms, they have concluded that a large exporting firm with head office and Cold Storage building in Ottawa would be much more satisfactory to them, inasmuch as the railway facilities and other means of transport are quite as good from Ottawa as elsewhere, and also for the reason that Ottawa City is surrounded with as good a Produce country if not better, than any city in Canada.

EGGS

PROFITS ON THE VARIOUS PRODUCE WHICH THE COMPANY PROPOSE TO HANDLE

The Promoters and Managing Director of this Company, assisted by a number of leading Produce Merchants, have gone carefully into the matter of output and profit of the Egg business in the Ottawa Valley, and have come to the conclusion THAT THE OTTAWA PRODUCE COMPANY, LIMITED, can handle over a million dozen of Eggs every season at a profit of at least 3c. per dozen, and it is a well-known fact that the average price paid for this little article of diet, bought early in the season is 9c. to 11c. per dozen, and these eggs are never sold for less than 14c. to 15c. per dozen, during the fall and winter season, and frequently at a higher rate. HOWEVER, ASSUMING THAT THE OTTAWA PRODUCE COMPANY, LIMITED, HANDLE A MILLION DOZEN OF EGGS, WHICH IT IS QUITE EASY FOR IT TO DO, AND SELL THEM AT THE MINIMUM PRICE OF 14c. PER DOZEN, THE COMPANY HAS THE NICE PROFIT OF $30,000 ON ITS EGG TURNOVER ALONE, OR A 10 PER CENT DIVIDEND ON THE WHOLE CAPITAL OF THE COMPANY.

CHEESE

The Promoters, assisted by the Managing Director and leading Produce Merchants, who have dealt during the past years largely in Cheese, after carefully investigating this feature of the business have come to the conclusion that with the connection this Company have in England, through MR. DAVIS, the Ottawa Produce Co., Ltd., can handle 150,000 boxes of Cheese per annum bought for English account or consigned. In either case it is a conservative estimate that the OTTAWA PRODUCE COMPANY, LIMITED, will make 20c. per box or the nice profit of $30,000 per annum on the Turnover of Cheese with no loss to itself, as its system of Cold Storage will be such that no Cheese will spoil on its hands, and consequently leave no room for loss.

BUTTER

The Promoters assisted by the Managing Director and leading Produce Merchants, have also carefully investigated the Butter business, and have come to the conclusion that the OTTAWA PRODUCE COMPANY, LIMITED, can handle two million pounds of Butter, produced yearly in the fertile Ottawa Valley, out of which they estimate there can be made 1c. per pound profit. And it might be stated here that this estimate is a very conservative one, as most of the Butter handled by the Produce Merchants net them over 2c. per pound. Think for yourself the quantity of Butter that can be bought early in the season for 18c., and realize the price it sells for, both in Ottawa and Montreal, as the winter progresses, and you will see clearly that the profit of 1c. per lb. estimated by this Company is by no means an exaggeration, and yet here is another $20,000 profit to swell the dividends for the shareholders of this Company.

POULTRY HANDLED ON COMMISSION

In addition to the before mentioned business the Directors of the OTTAWA PRODUCE COMPANY, LIMITED, feel justified in the belief that they can make an additional $10,000 profit by handling Poultry on Commission for shipment to the British market. The means of transport across the Atlantic have been so much improved in the matter of Cold Storage Canadian Poultry can be delivered in England in the best condition. Canadian poultry is in great demand in England at the present time.

The jobbing trade done in Ottawa City alone in Turkeys and Chickens is enormous.

NET PROFITS

1,000,000 doz. Eggs, bought from 9 to 11c., sold at 14c	$30,000
2,000,000 lbs. Butter, sold at a profit of 1c per lb	20,000
$100,000 worth of Chickens and Turkeys, 10 per cent. com	10,000
Cheese, 150,000 Boxes, profit 20c. per box, a commission of 1-4c. per lb., 80lb. boxes	30,000
Profits	90,000
Cost of operating and handling these products	10,000
Profits and loss account, including shrinkage, carriage, etc	15,000
Leaving the splendid net profits for dividends to the Shareholders of the Company of	$65,000

Or sufficient to pay 7 per cent on Preferred Stock and 29 per cent. on the whole of the Common stock.

A CO-OPERATIVE COMPANY

The Company has been exceedingly fortunate in being able to secure the hearty co-operation of such well known Produce men as Wm. Meldrum, of Montreal, Mr. A. A. Davis, of Brockville, Mr. Joseph Kavanagh, late President of Ottawa Cheese Board, Mr. B. Slattery, meat merchant, and also Mr. Frank O'Reilly, the latter's experience at the market in Lower Town for so many years being such as to inspire confidence among the many farmers who bring in their Produce to Ottawa on Market Days, Mr. O'Reilly being personally acquainted with nearly all of them, while the long and many successful years of business enjoyed by such men as Mr. Joseph Kavanagh as a produce merchant, and Mr. B. Slattery, as a meat merchant well known in Ottawa and the surrounding country gives additional strength to the board.

MANAGEMENT OF THE COMPANY

As the management of a company of this kind is one of its strong points, we would just mention that the directors of this Company are all men of most careful and shrewd judgement and men who have made money for themselves in their own business, consequently they can be relied upon to look after the interests of this Company in the most careful manner, as they have all invested their capital in the enterprise and believe that it cannot be other than a great success.

SUBSCRIPTIONS

All the money realized under subscription will be devoted absolutely without deduction to the business of the Company. No cents whatever will be deducted from this amount save the cost of advertising and the cost of obtaining the charter. SUBSCRIPTION BOOKS will be opened at the office of Sutherland & Kelly, 48 Sparks St., on Tuesday, October 30th, at 10 o'clock, and close not later than Saturday, 17th November, at 3 o'clock. Subscriptions will be received for one share and upwards, and they must be accompanied by a marked check for ten per cent. of the amount subscribed for, made out to THE OTTAWA TRUST AND DEPOSIT COMPANY, LIMITED, as Trustees for THE OTTAWA PRODUCE COMPANY, LIMITED, and in allotment preference will be given to residents of the various outlying towns in the Ottawa Valley, farmers in the near vicinity and residents of Ottawa. The right is reserved by the Company to close the subscription books at any time before three o'clock on Wednesday, 7th November, and to allot in whole or in part of application and to reject any application.

2,000 PREFERENCE SHARES AT PAR, $100,000

Carrying a bonus of 2,000 common shares of $50 each (the bonus shares being fully paid up by the transfer of property and non-assessable.)

The 7 per cent. preference stock is cumulative, carries yearly dividends and has priority over the common shares as to both dividends and assets.

Subscriptions are payable 10 per cent on application, 15 per cent on allotment, 10 per cent on the 1st of January, 15 per cent on the 1st of March, 25 per cent on the 1st of June, 25 per cent on the 1st of September, 1901, with the privilege of making prepayment of any instalment, at any instalment date. Subscription forms may be had on application to SUTHERLAND & KELLY, 48 Sparks St., or at the office of THE OTTAWA TRUST AND DEPOSIT CO., LIMITED.

APPENDIX

Reasons why you should invest in THE OTTAWA PRODUCE COMPANY, LIMITED.

1. Because an Investment showing such splendid profits is rarely offered to the public.
2. Because the Directors of this Company are men of the highest standing, successful in their own business for many years, and they can be relied upon to govern this business in the most careful way.
3. Because there has never been a first-class and well-equipped cold storage company in Ottawa, and this Company should be encouraged, as they will save an enormous amount of money for the farmers and cheese men of the Ottawa Country, which will be largely spent in Ottawa City, thereby benefiting the city merchants and community at large.
4. Because this Company will be a decided convenience to the public, and the public should share the profits.

ELECTION AFTERMATH AND WHAT IT SHOWS

The Liberals Have now About Fifty Majority to Date.

QUEBEC ELECTS BUT SEVEN CONSERVATIVES

While Ontario Gives the Conservatives Fifty-Three against Quebec's Fifty-Six Liberals.

Later returns received this morning make a few changes in the first list of election results published.

The most important change is in West Durham, where Thornton, Independent Conservative, is elected by fifty majority. Robert Beith, the former Liberal member, steps out. This is another Conservative gain, and brings the total majority in Ontario up to 20, which peculiarly enough, happens to be the exact estimate given to Sir Charles Tupper last week by the Conservative organizers.

In Frontenac complete returns give Calvin, Conservative, 334 majority. Patron "Davy" Rogers is snowed under here.

In Addington returns so far indicate that Bell, Conservative, has about 300 majority, and is undoubtedly elected. It will be two or three days before the complete figures can be obtained.

Latest returns from North Wellington give Tolton, Conservative, 54 majority over James McMullen. In this connection it may be mentioned that McMullen was taken in by a clever campaign dodge of the Conservatives. McMullen, they knew, was an extravagant campaigner and when he got scared he always started in to win at any cost. Consequently they started on a "still hunt," showed no outward signs of conducting an active campaign, and lured McMullen into a false sence of security. The result has proved disastrous to "Long Tom."

With one poll to hear from in West Bruce, Tolmie, Liberal, has 696 majority. South Renfrew gives Wright, Liberal, 408 majority, with two polls to hear from.

In Pontiac, Thomas Murray, Liberal, has a majority of 167, with four polls to hear from yet. North Renfrew gives Mackie, Liberal, 127 majority, all told.

The latest figures from Picton, N. S., give Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper 3,580, Bell 3,490 McDonald 3435 McGregor, 3,386. This ensures the election of the two Conservative candidates.

Other maojrities which came in this morning are as follows:—

Brockville — Culbert, Conservative, total majority, 233.

South Victoria — Vrooman, Conservative, majority 225.

East Elgin — Ingram, Conservative, majority 153.

South Waterloo — Clare's majority will be about 200.

HOW THEY STAND NOW.

New Brunswick — Conservatives, 5; Liberals, 9.

Nova Scotia—Conservatives, 6; Liberals, 14.

Prince Edward Island — Conservatives, 1; Liberals, 4.

Northwest Territories — Conservatives, 1; Liberals, 3.

Manitoba — Conservatives, 3; Liberals, 2; Independents, 2.

Liberal majority, so far, 45, exclusive of Independents.

TUPPER'S DEFEAT.

The defeat of Sir Charles Tupper in Cape Breton is a general matter of regret. The veteran Conservative leader after his remarkable fight for the victory of his supporters in other constituencies has himself gone down. In his efforts for others he neglected his interests in his own constituency. The recent boom in trade at Sydney in connection with the iron industry is also largely responsible for his defeat. The defeat of Mr. Foster in St. John was not altogether unexpected. The normal Liberal majority in the city is large and Mr. Blair was backed up by all the strength of the Government and the huge patronage of the I.C.R.

In Brandon, Hugh John Macdonald made a gallant fight, and although he was not successful, he succeeded in pulling down very considerably the normal Liberal majority in the riding. The defeat of Sir Adolphe Caron, Mr. Quinn, and Mr. Bergeron in Quebec; of Dr. Montague, Major Beattie, Mr. McNeill and Mr. Clancy in Ontario, and of Mr. McInerney and Mr. Powell in British Columbia, all of them leaders in the party, is a severe blow to the Conservatives. In face, almost the only Conservative leaders eelcted were Messrs. Clarke, Tisdale, Wallace, Haggart, Monk, Casgrain, Borden and Sir Hibbert Tupper.

TUPPER CHEERFUL.

Sir Charles Tupper heard the returns in Halifax at the residence of Senator MacKeen. When interviewed at eleven o'clock last night he seemed to be the most cheerful man in the company of half a dozen. He expressed himself as being by no means cast down. He had done his best for his party and for his country, and enjoyed the consciousness of having done so, if not the pleasure of success. He is in splendid health. Sir Charles leaves to-morrow morning en route for British Columbia, where he intends to assist the Conservative candidates in Yale-Cariboo and Burrard. He expects to be accompanied in his transcontinental journey by Sir Hibbert Tupper.

A MORNING WITH A SCOUT

A war Correspondent's Expedition With Driscoll—A Celebrated Man

Mr. Hales, the special correspondent of the Daily News, in an amusing account of an early morning scouting expedition with the celebrated scout, Driscoll, says—As we rode, the little track brought us hard up on one side against the bosom of a mountain; on the other there was a ravine, deep, black, covered with loose boulders and dark green bushes, a nice place to be shot in. Driscoll, who rode rifle on thigh, had no such thoughts, for as he rode he sang once more his eternal refrain—

Upon my life, said the silly old wife,
There's a mahn . . . .

Suddenly, without any warning of any kind, the hills rang with the echoes of a dozen rifles, and the lead spit-spattered on the cliff-sides all round us. "Come on," yelled Driscoll, and, driving the spurs home in the big grey, he dashed along that narrow goat-path as if he had been on an open race-track. I got as close to my horse as I could. On we went, and in the midst of the echoes from the rifles I caught his voice howling—"Upon my life, said (ping, ping) the silly old wife (ping, ping, pash), there's a mahn (ping, ping, ping, pash)." We rounded a train on the track, and my heart nearly fell over my horse's head, for I saw that we were in a blind alley; a mountain rose in front of us like a wall. We are nailed. Driscoll," I shouted; trapped like rats." "Not yet, sonny; we've got a good chance yet." His Irish voice was steady and calm now. Out of his saddle he slipped, and, running to the cave in the track, he dropped on one knee, and began to shoot. I saw a man in a tweed suit leap halfway over a boulder, then sprawl down on top of it on his belly, and lay where he sprawled. Another darted from a rock towards a clump of bushes, but he never reached them. He stopped suddenly, dropped his rifle, and tumbled backwards towards the spot he had started from. Then the rest took cover like a lot of rock rabbits. They knew by this time that there was a man behind the rifle in the top end of the gully, and they knew too well what a man and a rifle could do in such a position to dare to take any liberties.

Then the scout gave me my orders sharp and clear—"take your horse by the head," he said, "and climb up the side of this kopje. Keep your horse between you and those fellows down there. I'll drop the first man who shows himself. When you reach the top put your horse over the brow of the hill, and then take cover. Don't expose yourself, but make them think you are there to shoot; then I'll follow you." I did not waste any time in argument. There was no time for folly of that kind. But just lugging my clever little Basuto by the bridle we made the climb. It was a terribly stiff place for a horse to go, but that Neddy was as tricky as a cat on his feet. Once or twice I heard the bullets whizzing overhead, but Driscoll's rifle cracked at the same time, and I knew there was little danger for me for men can't shoot without showing themselves, and I knew no man down in that ravine would pop his head above a rock for many seconds with the grim scout watching them above.

As soon as I reached the top I was out of all danger. Grabbign a few loose rocks, I rapidly built a schanse, such as the Boers use when they are goign to lie down and wait for a shot at a passing enemy, and there I ensconced myself. The ruse was successful. The Boers, thinking I had a rifle, and meant to use it, lay quiet until Driscoll clambered up the same way he had sent me, and neither of us had a scratch. As we galloped homewards, I said,—"Well, do you think you'll ever coaxx me out on such a fool's errand again?"

"Yer a hard mahn to plase," he said, dropping into his native brogue. "A rael hard mahn to plaze. You growl about the monotony of camp life,' ad phin Oi give ye a good day's outin' ye grumble the more ye conthankfull ump of quill-drivin' sin."

"But what blessed good did it all do? Tell me that, youn lack Irishman.

"Only this," he said. "That gully looked like a pass which would lead into the enemy's stronghold, but I know now that it was not. Had a strong patrol gone intot hat blind alley, how many men do you think would have come out alive? Mighty few, my friend. And let me tell you, that there have been enough saddles emptied in that fool's fashion already in the British army. A good morning's work, I call it!"

And so did the general when he heard of it.

THE QUEEN'S ADVISERS

British Cabinet Completed—Son of the Premier and Mr Chamberlain in it

London, Nov. 8.—Lord Salisbury is adopting a policy of thoroughness in his scheme of Ministerial reconstruction. Another batch of new appointments was announced last night. Mr. Wyndham, of course, gets the Irish Secretaryship, and Mr. Gerald Balfour, the Presidency of the Board of Trade, while Mr. Walter Long, who had a very unpleasant time at the Board of Agriculture, because of his determined efforts to stamp out rabies among dogs, is transferred to the Local Government Board.

Considerable interest attaches to the appointment of Mr. Austin Chamberlain and Viscount Cranborne. The former, who bears such a striking resemblance to his famous father, and who is rapidly making a name for himself in Parliament, succeeds Mr. Hanbury as Financial Secretary-Treasurer, while Viscount Cranborne, eldest son of the Premier, gets the place vacated by Mr. Brodrick. Viscount Cranborne has never held office before, and has hitherto confined his attention in Parliament to church matters. He is an officer of the Imperial Yeomanry, and is now on his way home from South Africa.

RUSSIA ANNEXES CHINESE TERRITORY

She Notifies Powers that She has Gained it by Right of Conquest.

THE POWERS DEMAND PUNISHMENT OF PRINCES

Death Sentence of Chinese Officials at Pao Ting Fu Approved Rumor of the Death of the Dowager Empress.

Berlin, Nov. 8.—The papers continue to print letters from German soldiers in China showing the terrible atrocities committed by German troops. A letter printed to-day describes the capture of a certain village Ko. Bayonets were fixed and our Lieutenant was commanded to shoot down or bayonet everybody in sight. During the night many Chinese were killed, including two women and a child.

Pekin, Nov. 8.—The ministers held another meeting yesterday, at which considerable progress was made, and it is expected that they will soon be ready to meet the Chinese plenipotentaries. It is certain that the ministers' note will contain the names of the officials responsible for the trouble, including the princes, with a demand for their punishment and further demands for adequate atonement and the construction of a monument to Baron von Ketteler, the murdered German minister. In these demands all the ministers unite.

The Chinese realize that it is necessary for the government to punish those responsible for the outbreak. Li Hung Chang and Prince Ching again have telegraphed to the throne, delcaring that the powers will insist upon the infliction of punishment, and that escape from the demand is impossible.

A rumor of the death of the Dowager Empress has caused much excitement, but it has not been confirmed, and is not believed. The Chinese officials declare that they have not heard anything official on the subject.

RUSSIA ANNEXES TERRITORY.

Tien Tsin, via Shanghai, Nov. 8.—Gen. Linevitch, the commander of the Russian troops, has officially notified the foreign consuls through the Russian consul that the land on the river side opposite the British and German settlements has been annexed to Russia by right of conquest. Unless all foreign owners of property immediately deposit documents proving their ownership no claims will be entertained. Much railroad property as well as the East Arsenal is included in the territory annexed by Russia. The consuls will protest against the annexation.

BURNING CHINESE VILLAGES.

Tien Tsin, Nov. 8.—General Lorne Campbell's column has returned to Tien Tsin, having burned and shelled altogether twenty-six villages. He found the country in general ostentatiously friendly.

PAY PENALTY WITH THEIR LIVES.

Tien Tsin, Nov. 8.—Count von Waldersee has approved the sentence of death passed upon the five leading officials at Pao Ting Fu, whom the commission of enquiry found responsible for the murder of American and English missionaries.

PROTESTS TALKED OF BY BOTH PARTIES

West Huron, Bothwell and North Grey May be Contested.

Toronto Evening News: A number of protests are already talked of. West Huron, where Robert Holmes is elected; Bothwell, where Jas. Clancy was defeated, and North Grey, where Gordon fell down before Dr. Horsey, will probably be protested by the Conservatives. The Liberals will likely protest some of the seats in which some of the old stalwarts were defeated, "Willie" Gibson, James McMullen, and Dr. Landerkin are likely to endeavor to unseat their victors.

Rumors of machine tactics are rife, but so far no details have been sent in to the local organizers.

It is probable that seats will be made for Sir Charles Tupper and Hon. Mr. Foster in Ontario. Mr. Kidd, of Carleton, is said to be willing to make way for Sir Charles, and a prominent Napanee citizen stated this morning that Mr. Wilson, M.P. for Lennox, would probably be willing to retire in favor of Mr. Foster.

The Conservatives intend to devote their energies now to defeating Mr. Ross in Ontario, and the presence of Sir Charles and Mr. Foster in Ontario, they think, would greatly strengthen the party in provincial politics.

Colbert to be Hanged.

Greenwood, Ark., Nov. 8.—Charles Colbert who murdered Peter Hughes last April, will be hanged here to-morrow.

Lord Mayor's Day.

London, Nov. 9.—Lord Mayor's Day was celebrated to-day with the usual honors. The streets were filled with spectators of the procession, which was as showy as usual. The buildings on the route were elaborately and profusely decorated.

Great Additions to the French Navy.

Paris, Nov. 8.—It is stated that the Naval program is an abitious one. Twenty-three subarine vessels are to be completed by 1903. A number of large battleships are also to be built, and the total number of vessels estimated for is 111, of which 18 are to be finished within the current year.

Kruger to Travel in Incog.

Marseilles, Nov. 9.—President Kruger, of the Transvaal Republic, is expected to arrive here on the 11th inst. He will have apartments at the Grand Hotel de Noailles, where he will receive several French, Dutch, and Belgian. President Kruger will proceed to The Hague with out stopping in Paris, and after expressing his thanks to Queen Wilhelmina for Dutch hospitality on board the warship Gilderland, he will appeal to the Powers, to intervene in the South African settlement on the basis of Article III. of the Hague Convention. It is said that he will travel incognito.

WEATHER NOTES.

Probs: North-westerly winds; fair and colder.

Over the Western part of the Lake Region the weather is turning colder, with a north-west gale blowing. From present indications the cold will not continue in Manitoba and the Territories.

COST OF ENGLISH HEROES.

The Government Has Paid Out Immense Sums to Reward Them.

London, Nov. 9.—Now that we are all thinking of heroes, it is nteresting to note that heroes are sometimes very costly luxuries, though the heroism of the C. I. V. has been very cheaply purchased. The Duke of Marlborough cost the country something like a round million of money in cash and palaces. In 1707 a pension of £4,000 a year was granted to the Duke, and was paid to his successors till seventeen years ago, when it was commuted for £107,780. Nelson's heroism has been paid for at about the same rate. Up to now the hero of Trafalgar has cost England £580,000 in pensions and grants, and as there is £5,000 a year waiting for all the Lord Nelsons forever and ever the Nelson bill will run up to half a million for every century the title lasts. Up to now the Duke of wellington has cost the nation more in hard cash than Nelson, over three-quarters of a million having been paid to him and his descendants, but as the pension was limited to two generations the present Duke is the last of his line who will profit by his ancestor's heroism.

LONDON APPROVES OF LAURIER'S ELECTION

Pall Mall Gazette says He is the Living Embodiment of the Spirit Required in Canada.

London, Nov. 8.—The editorials in the papers here to-day express warm approval of the re-election of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the Premier of the Dominion of Canada, and the return of the Liberal Government to power. The Pall Mall Gazette voices the general tone of the comment in saying—

"Sir Wilfrid Laurier is the living embodiment of the spirit wanted in Canada. It looks as if he might have as long a spell of power as Sir John Macdonald. Not only is this French-Canadian (but enthusiastic British Imperialist statesman) one of the most inspiring and most useful personalities in the Empire, but the election attempts to turn race feeling to his disadvantage have de-

DE WET WOUNDED.

The Boer Commander Narrowly Escapes From Being Captured — Botha Harangues His Men

Pretoria, Nov. 8.—Surrendered burghers assert that Mr. Steyn, after a council of war with General Botha and General Darry, addressed the burghers with great passion, urging them to continue the war.

He told them he was going south, and hoped to return with 5,000 men, assuring them that he knew that Germany had delivered an altimatum to Great Britain, demanding the integrity of the Republic.

DE WET WOUNDED.

Pretoria, undated, by rail to Charlestown, Natal, Wednesday, Nov. 7.—Gen. De Wet has been wounded in the leg, in a fight with the troops of General Knox at Rensburg Drift. According to native reports, the Boer commander narrowly escaped capture.

A Great Name is a guarantee of superior worth

In baking powder, in these days of unscrupulous adulteration, a great name gives the best security.

There are many brands of baking powders, but "Royal Baking Powder" is recognized at once as the brand of great name, the powder of highest favor and reputation. Everyone has absolute confidence in the food where Royal is used.

Pure and healthful food is a matter of vital importance to every individual.

Royal Baking Powder assures the finest and most wholesome food.

Avoid alum baking powders.
They make the food unwholesome.

Morning Times

PETERBOROUGH, NOVEMBER 9, 1900.

NOT SIR CHARLES' FAULT.

Many conservatives papers pretend to believe that if Sir Mackenzie Bowell had been at the head of the government instead of Sir Charles Tupper, it would not have met with such a disastrous defeat.

Our own opinion is that if Sir Mack., had been leader when the appeal to the country was made, the party would have been in the position of the individual who was sitting on a ton of dynamite when it exploded.

Our Tory friends need not lose any rest over the future of the country. It is still moving along as usual, in the same old groove. A change of rulers would probably not have added any more change to what we usually carry in our pockets.

A PLEASING FEATURE.

One of the pleasing features of the campaign was comparative absence of personal abuse. Mr. McClellan put up a splendid fight against heavy odds, and conducted it in a corteous, gentlemanly manner, which gained for him the respect and admiration of his opponents. He need not feel ashamed of the result, for we doubt if a man could have been found who would have done more. Entering a comparative stranger, at a late hour, he polled a magnificent vote. It is said that Mr. Stratton will run in one of the Victorias at the next general elections for the Ontario House, in which event Mr. McClellan no doubt will be tendered the nomination here, when his experience and the knowledge has gained of the people will be of great service to him.

The election was clean and free from the semblance of corruption so far as we know, and in the respect is a credit to both candidates and their supporters.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Globe says the Tory party are on the rocks of defeat. Just so. The "rocks" in the treasury is what our esteemed contemporary is after.

Steyn says Kruger has gone to Europe to seek intervention, failing to get which he will auction the Transvaal to the highest bidder. Just how Oom Paul can sell British property or who would buy from Kruger goods that would have to be taken by force from Great Britain, Mr. Steyn fails to explain.

A TURKEY STORY.

A Peterborough Merchant's First Experience With Dressed Fowl.

A story is told of a Peterborough merchant who is an extremely "close buyer." When he receives a consignment, he never fails to claim an alowance for something alleged to have spoiled on the way. This habit is well known to the trade, and has led to many complaints from shippers, but the merchant has always managed to come out on top.

A few days ago, as the story goes, he received several barrels of fat, dressed turkeys from a poultryman in the north. Heretofore he had dealt exclusively in live fowls, and probably the correspondence clerk got things mixed. At any rate, the shipper was astonished to receive a letter by return mail, running about as follows.

"Dear Sir. "We regret to advise you that four of the turkeys in your consignment of Oct. 28, reached here dead. Please make deduction for same and return correct amount. Yours truly."

"Dear Sir, I am sorry to say I find it impossible to make concessions requested. I have established a rule requiring all customers who desire live dressed turkeys to [illegible] us in advance, so we can send them in heated cars. Turkeys without feathers and insides are liable to catch cold if shipped in the ordinary manner. The mortality among dressed turkeys was very large this year. Yours mournfully.

FILIPIONS GROW DISCOURAGED.

Acting Scouting by Americans Has Depressed Effects

Manila, Nov. 8.—Last week was devoted to active scouting. The insurgents, having failed to crush a single garrison, are now experiencing a reaction.

Lieutenants Wilson and Dority of the Fotry-fifth Volunteer Infantry destroyed large stores of rice, four granaries, and a barracks near Bato.

Captain Atkinson, with thirty-four men of the Thirty-seventh Volunteer Infantry, attacked 190 insurgents under Colonel Valencia, recovering two American prisoners and capturing a considerable quantity of ammunition and supplies.

A native orchestra lured the United States troops from their quarters near Dagupan while the insurgents attacked the rear, killing two Americans and wounding three.

To-day Senor Buencamino, representing the principal ex-insurgents in Manila, requested Judge Taft to forward to Washington a signed expression of their loyalty.

There is considerable excitement over the Presidential election, with a good deal of betting on the result.

THE QUEEN COULD SWIM.

Portugal's Sovereign Saved a Drowning Boatman by Plunging After Him.

New York, Nov. 7.—The Queen of Portugal at Cascale, a fashionable seaside resort, made a thrilling rescue and is now a heroine in the eyes of all her subjects," says a Lisbon despatch to the Journal and Advertiser. "The queen was on the beach idly watching Catalao Croom, her boatmen, bringing his boat ashore. Suddenly a wave overturned the boat. Croom's arm was broken and he was overcome by the undertow. The queen, who is an expert swimmer, seeing that he was drowning, sprang into the sea in her clothing before any of her attendants could prevent her. She swam to the boatman's side and held him up until persons on shore put out in boats and rescued both. Croom was taken to the Royal Palace, where he is being nursed by the queen. She is none the worse of her experience."

BOERS EXPECT AID OF THE CZAR

Delegations Say Time Has Been Set for Russian Intervention.

Paris, Nov. 8.—Members of the French Boer committee are confident of the active invention of Russia in favor of the Transvaal, and a number of Russian delegates who will be present at Marseilles upon the arrival of Kruger affirm that the Czar has fixed a time at the end of which, if England does not cease the war and allow autonomy to the republics, the Czar will force interference. This time, it is asserted, expires shortly after the arrival of Kruger.

Elections in Newfoundland.

St. Johns, N. F., Nov. 8.—The general elections of Newfoundland will take place to-day. Mr. Bond, the primier, and Mr. Reid, the owner of a very large part of the colony, have locked arms, and a bitter night is going on, the contest being keen and close. Mr. Morine, representing Mr. Reid, and leading the opposition, maintains the integrity of the Reid contract as binding on the colony, while Premier Bond proposes to modify it by reclaiming the fee—simple of the railway for the colony, and by handing back the telegraph lines to the government. Both the railroads and the telegraph was taken by Mr. Reid to work after the Government had sunk money on them. He secured compensation in large tracts of land, which made him king over a large potion of the island. The Premier also demands guarantees that the proper proportion of moneys raised on mortgage shall be spent on development work in the colony.

To Be Hanged For Murder.

Rogersville, Tenn., Nov. 8.—James Burchfield, white, will be hanged to-morrow for the murder of his wife on Aug. 28. Burchfield had just came home from a year's term in the penitentiary when he committed the crime. During the trial, J. M. Phipps, a reputable citizen, stated that on her death bed Mrs. Burchfield said a few years ago her husband set fire to a cabin near Rogersville, and burned alive Mandy Akers. This was never known before.

Asked to Witness His Execution.

Columbus, O., Nov. 8.—Richard Gardiner will pay the penalty for murder to-morrow. Among the spectators will be Sheriff Porter of Athens, and Officer Rudman and Deputy Meredith, of Chillicothe, whom Gardiner had invited to see him die.

Keep Yourself Strong.

And you will ward off colds, pneumonia, fevers and other diseases. You need to have pure, rich blood and good digestion. Hood's Sarsaparilla makes the blood rich and pure as no other medicine can do. It tones the stomach, creates an appetite and invigorates the whole system. You will be wise to begin taking it now, for it will keep you strong and well.

Hood's Pills are non-irritating. Price 25 cents.

A TRYING POSITION

"My position is a trying one" was the joking remark of the cloak model of a fashionable firm. But there is less jest than earnest in the statement. It is trying to be on the feet all day, to be reaching and stooping hour after hour from morn until night. And that is a very meager outline of a business woman's day. With many such women the ordinary strain of labor is intensified and aggravated by a diseased condition of the delicate organs, and they become victims of that terrible backache, or blinding headache, which is so common among business women.

If you are bearing this burden, bear it no longer. For the backache, headache, nervousness and weakness which spring from a diseased condition of the womanly organs there is a sure cure in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Half a million women have been perfectly and permanently cured by this wonderful medicine.

"My niece was troubled with female weakness for about four years before I asked for your advice," writes Mr. J. W. McGregor, of 63d St. and Princeton Ave., Chicago, Ills. "You advised her to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription which she did faithfully for nine months, and now we must acknowledge to you that she is a well woman. We cannot thank you enough for the cure."

Famines of Modern Times.

The worst famines of modern times were the famine in Ireland in 1846-7, in which 1,000,000 people perished; the Indian famine of 1866, which claimed 1,450,000 victims; the Indian famine of 1877, in which 500,000 people perished, and the great famine in China in 1878, in which 9,500,000 died.

Dear Sirs,—In accordance with your wishes I have had both the red and white wines and the champagne tested by several connoisseurs, French and English. All of these expressed surprise that an article of such merit was produced in Canada, and even manufacturers admit that the brand "L'Empereur" is of excellent quality.

This opinion from critics who are by no means easy to please should be very satisfactory to you, and it gives me pleasure to congratulate you upon it. Yours faithfully,

"A Store by Itself."

That expresses the modern, up-to-date appearance of China Hall.

We have made it unique, not only to gain the brilliant effect, but to gain the approval of customers. Our goods could be sold anywhere, but they will be better sold amidst handsome surroundings. A fine store draws trade. It's one form—even if it be costly—of good advertising.

And the stock rivals the store. Just as handsome, brilliant and bright. The solid things of use are here as well as the nice matters of luxury. And better, our wisdom in selection places at your service many articles of solid use in graceful forms and pretty finishes.

A look will repay. We'll be pleased to have you call.

abroad, and come to ask when he will return."

"Yes, yes," she answered, abstractedly; "you may go now, Vatal. Stay," she called, as he was about to quit the room. "You are quite contented, are you not, Vatal?"

Her face was turned away, but there was a thrill of wistfulness in her voice.

The dwarf was amazed. This cold woman, who had not deigned even so much as a glance at him for years, to ask him if he— the miserable, despised dwarf—the tool of her capricious son, was contented. He wondered if he had heard aright.

The deep silence annoyed her.

"You are contented with your lot in life, are you not, Vatal? Never having had wealth, education, or luxury, you do not realize the loss of them. You are satisfied, are you not?"

"What good would it do me if I were not?" he answered. "I was accursed from the hour of my birth and abandoned——"

"For God's sake, spare me," she cried; then almost instantly recovering herself.

The dwarf gazed at her with a frightened expression. He thought he had annoyed her by saying too much.

"Go now, Vatal."

Instantly he obeyed.

One thought troubled him. If she mentioned this interview to her son he dared not think of the consequences; he would go back and beg her not to mention it; and, turning noiselessly, he retraced his steps and entered.

He was about to speak, when suddenly the sound of his name on her lips chained his attention.

"Poor Vatal," she said, with a hard, dry sob. "His infirmity should have caused pity, not hatred; all should have been his!"

She rocked herself to and fro.

"'Twas all for Heath's sake," she muttered.

Vatal could not explain the impulse which caused him to secrete himself behind the heavy, hanging curtains, where he could see and hear unobserved.

"Fool that I am, 'tis too late now to give vent to sorrow thus," she cried, touching a taper to the fire, and securely fastening the door.

"Heath shall have money, just this once," she muttered; and, drawing from her bosom a peculiar, long, thin key, she parted the hanging curtain of an alcove, disclosing a heavy, iron chest, which she hastily unlocked.

The iron door creaked noisily back on its rusty hinges. From the safe she took two dark, mahogany boxes, which she placed on the table, drawing up her rocker close beside them, and proceeded to examine their contents.

One was filled with papers— most of them dingy with age, at sight of which for a moment she lay back so white and still in her chair, Vatal thought she must have fainted.

She aroused herself, crushing the papers hastily back into the box; she did not notice a small, well- worn package that slipped from her grasp, rolling noiselessly to Vatal's very feet.

Had she turned her head ever so slightly, she must have observed it; if she put forth her hand to recover it, detection must have surely followed.

The dwarf knew this, and in an instant he stooped down and possessed himself of the package, which he hastily thrust into his pocket.

The contents of the other box absorbed Mrs. Hampton's attention.

The dwarf fairly held his breath as the glimmering light fell upon its contents, heaped to the brim with bright, shining gold.

The very sight made the fire leap through Vatal's veins.

She carefully counted out one thousand dollars in coins, piling them upon the table, replaced the boxes in the safe and the key about her neck, tied the coins in her kerchief, and after placing them securely under her pillow, tossed herself upon the couch to rest.

The eyelids slowly closed over the tired eyes, and her regular breathing showed Vatal that she slept.

CHAPTER XXVIII.

A Cruel Son.

A wild desire had seized the dwarf at the sight of the gold, to possess it.

What could he not do if it were only his!

Vatal had never been totally depraved at heart.

There had been moments when many a generous impulse to do a good deed had stirred in the dwarf's heart; but the world had shunned and derided him, and the good impulses were wholly crushed out by cruel insults.

The great temptation was more than he could withstand.

To possess himself of the gold beneath the pillow was but the work of an instant; but the key to the chest, how could he obtain that, the key which held the treasure?

"I must have the gold in yonder chest, let the consequences be what they may," he muttered.

As he stooped over the prostrate form, the door swung softly back on its hinges.

Vatal had hardly time to draw back into the shadow of the curtains ere Heath Hampton, with white face and gleaming eyes, softly and stealthily as a panther, glided into the room.

He carried a shaded night- lamp in his hand, which he placed noiselessly on the table.

"By fair means or foul," he muttered, setting his lips firmly together, "I must have money."

He groped his way carefully about the room until his hand came in contact with the iron safe; again the curtains were looped back, and the midnight intruder proceeded to carefully examine the locks.

He drew a bunch of skeleton-keys from his pocket, inserting them one by one in the rusty lock.

"The money will not be missed for a day or two," he muttered.

He drew the last key from the lock, the desperate frown on his face deepened—useless!

Then commenced a thorough search through the room; bureaus were rifled and boxes overturned, without success.

Mrs. Hampton moved uneasily in her slumbers at that moment; the cord about her neck attracted his attention. Without an instant's deliberation he severed it in twain and held the coveted key at last in his

ATTACK of ROYAL CANADIANS at Paardeberg

The present is a time when war pictures are in greater demand than ever. The conduct of the British soldiers on the battlefield has won the plaudits of admiring nations. We have at great expense published four large, beautiful pictures, size 20x24, on heavy, superfine calendered paper. A picture that will commend itself and send a thrill to the heart of every true Canadian is the one called Attack of Royal Canadians at Paardeberg, there are literally hundreds of figures on this picture, the mountains or kopjes stretching out into the distance are swarming with men, while here and there a prostrate figure, speaks only too well of the Boer riflemen. It was on this battlefield the gallant Major Arnold met death unflinchingly. Indeed, it is only too true that many of those gallant hearts that beat so high when the cheering thousands bade them Godspeed as they sailed from Canada's shores now lie still forever in lonely graves on the other side of the world under African skies. To every Canadian heart, to every Canadian home, the deeds of their brave soldier boys speak with an irresistible thrill of patriotism and pride. Gordon Highlanders at the Battle of Belmont, Charging the Boer Guns at Elandslaagte and the Charge of Gen. French's Cavalry on the Retreating Gen. Cronje's Army. These are all stirring pictures and cannot fail to commend themselves to anyone who will examine them. They are RED HOT SELLERS! Agents coin money. Big profits. Enormous success. One agent sold 68 in one day. A WONDERFUL KIDNEY and Bladder CURE

The Honorable Chairman of the Board of County Commissioners, Ellsworth, Kansas, tells how ALKAVIS cured him after Doctors and all other Remedies had Failed.

I. A. HOPKINS.

BRIGHT'S DISEASE, GRAVEL, DROPSY,

And Rheumatism Mastered at Last.

One of the most remarkable medical discoveries of the century is the Kava-Kava Shrub, found on the Ganges River, East India, which has a wonderful action on the kidneys and bladder. Since its introduction into this country its fame has quickly spread, because of its seemingly impossible cures. Prominent men and women have testified to its great curative powers, and hospital tests prove its infallibility even in advanced stages of Bright's Disease. Among the more recent recoveries is that of Hon. I. A. Hopkins, Chairman Board of County Commissioners, Ellsworth, Kansas, who says:

GENTLEMEN:—I will say that I believe and know that I owe my life to Alkavis. I had been troubled with Kidney and Bladder Trouble for years. Two years ago I was sick for six weeks with Malarial Fever which left me in a bad condition. My limbs were swollen with Rheumatism so that I could hardly walk; I was troubled with Indigestion from taking Medicine for my Urinary troubles which had become very much worse. I had to get up every hour of the night to urinate. I passed great quantities of blood on account of hemorrhage of the Kidneys and Bladder. I tried and had been trying everything in the shape of Medicine for Kidney Trouble that I could think of or that the Doctors recommended, but nothing helped me for I kept getting worse. I suffered great pain continually in my Kidneys. I made up my mind unless I could get relief that I only had a short time to live. About this time my attention was called to an advertisement of Alkavis. As a drowning man will grasp at a straw, I was ready to try anything for relief. I sent to you for three bottles. I began to take it, and before I had taken it one week I began to feel the good effects of Alkavis. My Kidney Trouble and Rheumatism were soon gone, my digestion became all right. I found myself in better health than for ten years and I am in good health now. I know that Alkavis saved my life. What more can anyone say for a medicine? Unlike most medicines it is good for indigestion. It gives the person taking it a good appetite. I have recommended Alkavis to a great many people and all have been benefited by its use. I am 58 years of age, and am very grateful for what Alkavis has done for me.

Respectfully yours,
I. A. HOPKINS.

Rev. W. B. Moore, D. D., Washington, D. C., Editor Religious World, writes that after trying all known medicines for kidney and rheumatic diseases he was permanently cured by Alkavis. Mrs. Wm. H. Hardy, East Rush, Pa., writes that Alkavis cured her after six doctors failed. Rev. J. W. Hickman, Collyer, Trego Co., Kansas, cured of liver, kidney and bladder trouble, of many years' standing, from which he could only get temporary relief and had given up all hope of a cure. Thus the grand work goes on. A new book, entitled "A Thousand Living Witnesses," sent with the free case of medicine, tells of the wonderful cures performed in every state.

Not only does this great discovery—Alkavis (the Kava-Kava Compound)—cure all forms of kidney and bladder diseases, but by expelling from the blood all poisonous deposits, excess of lime, uric acid, urates and lithiates, it banishes gravel, torpid liver, rheumatism, pains in back, difficult and too frequent urination, etc. The cure is complete. Nephosis is neglected, and the stomach, heart and nerves are toned and invigorated. No other medicine in the world will perform the work of Alkavis. To enable sufferers to get well and spread the glad tidings we have arranged to send a Large Case of Alkavis FREE by mail to all who write us. The case goes entirely FREE.

If you are a sufferer, write to-day and secure at once a Free Case of Alkavis and Book of "A Thousand Living Witnesses." Address The Church Kidney Cure Co., No. 108 Fourth Ave., New York. Please mention this paper.

THE COLORADO COPPER MINING COMPANY

LOCATION OF OUR MINES

THE COLORADO COPPER MINING COMPANY is fortunate in being the possessor of five splendid showing properties in the great Salida copper belt, the principal copper producing region of this portion of the rockies. All of our claims have been more or less developed and it is our purpose to put the same on a paying basis at once.

Our Company owns, clear of incumbrances the following claims,—The Sedalia Extension, the Sedalia Extension No. 2, which property adjoins the great Sedalia mine, which has been a big producer for upwards of seventeen years; the Copper King of Colorado, which immediately adjoins the above; the Copper Queen of Salida, a very promising property, only a few steps from the depot in Salida. This claim occupies an imposing position on a mountain just north of the city; and last, but by no means least, the Sunshine, located two miles east of Salida at Cleora station, on the main Trunk line of the great Denver and Rio Grande Railroad, also on the Arkansas river, which in length is one of America's greatest streams.

PRICES AND TERMS

PRESENT PRICES—We are now selling our fully paid and non-assessable TREASURY SHARES at 5 cents per share, in blocks of 100 shares and more; 100 shares, $5; 1,000 shares, $50; 5,000 shares, $250; or 10,000 shares or more at the same rate. Send your order right NOW, before the next advance, as you will soon pay a higher price. Investors are rapidly investing with us.

The company fully prepays all government revenue, postage, etc. Send also for our handsomely illustrated prospectus, which contains much valuable information. It is free for the asking.

Make a Week of It

The returning soldiers on Monday, Presidential election Tuesday, great landslide on Wednesday, exceedingly frosty for the Tories Thursday as well as Newfoundland elections. Let us make a week of it, and go and see Mr. J. H. Burnham and Mr. Garvin play golf.

They Missed Our Show

Heretofore the Times has been in the habit of displaying the election returns by flash light, at the rear of the Times building, on the market square. That we did not do so on Wednesday evening was owing to the unfavorable weather. Our local contemporaries have not the enterprise to continue this feature, and the result was that many were unable to get accurate returns until the Times appeared yesterday morning.

The Ottawa Produce Co

We again call the attention of the readers of the Times to the announcement of the Ottawa Produce Company, which appears on the fourth page of this issue. This affords an opportunity for investors to secure shares in an enterprise that has for its object the expansion of the butter, egg and cheese trade of the country, and particularly this portion of the province. It is an investment that is absolutely safe and is sure to be profitable. The company is in the hands of gentleman who are well and favorably known in the financial world, and who will devote their energies to the work in hand.

Local Legal

Yesterday at Osgoode Hall Judge Ferguson gave decision as follows in a case of some local interest which had been heard at the fall Assizes of the High Court of Justice.

Ennis vs. McAllister Milling Co.—Judgment (H) in action tried at Peterborough brought to recover the amount of the difference between the price of flour agreed to be sold and for which it was sold upon defendant's refusal to accept. Held, that there was a completed contract between the parties and a breach by the defendants. Judgment for plaintiffs for $1,110 damages and costs. Stay for 30 days. G. W. Hatton for plaintiff; DuVernet, Toronto, and E. B. Stone for defendant.

Rugby.

Toronto Telegram,—There will be all sorts of doing when the Peterborough and London clubs come together at London next Saturday, and if current reports be true the game will be of the rough house variety. "Bloodine" Gilmour says the Londoners are going to win sure, while "Vice" McWilliams is equally as confident of Peterborough. The referee should be a strict one, one who will allow no monkey business or rough work. Of course he will be "put wise," and told to see that Mr. Gilmour does not invoke his followers to "twist the lobster's neck," as was said he did in the recent London-Peterborough match. Another man who will be in the game is "Chip" Reid, the boy orator. 'Chip' will greatly strengthen the team, and they are in great luck to get him to come out once more.

From Peterborough comes the report that the team are in fine shape; in fact, they look for a hard game, but in eventual win.

FOSTER FOR PETERBOROUGH.

A Rumor Current that Hon George Foster Will Run Here

A rumor was current yesterday on the streets that Mr. James Kendrey would not be adverse to retiring in order to create a vacancy for Hon. George E. Foster, the Conservative leader, who was defeated in Halifax. It is believed that Mr Foster is anxious to secure an Ontario seat, and Peterborough appears to be as safe as any.

Mr. Kendrey, it is said, is not anxious to stay in the House, especially when his party is in the cold shades of Opposition. He can do little more than vote with the minority, and draw his salary, which does not begin to pay him for his time away from his business, which has of late assumed large proportions. Mr. Kendrey, who is loyal to his country and to his party, would, it is believed, be willing to make way for a man of Mr. Foster's strength and ability. The latter will doubtless soon assume the position now occupied by Sir Charles Tupper, as leader.

There is no doubt that a seat will be provided for the great Conservative. Will it be in West Peterborough?

Put in All You Can.

Charles Austin Bates, a well known advertising agent, who has formed a company to advertise and sell a proprietary medicine, mentions seven millionaries who have made $10,000,000 or more each, and who have admitted to him that but for the advertising of their articles in the newspapers they would never have succeeded. Speaking from their own experience, they say that a business man who does not depend exclusively on the custom of a small neighborhood should not neglect newspaper advertising. "He should put into newspaper 'ads' $100 a year if he hasn't $1,000 to put in," said one. "He should use every dollar he can get for advertising," said another. Advertise in this journal. QUELLS SOUTH SEA REBELLION

German Warship subdues Natives of Admiralty Islands.

Victoria, B. C., Nov. 8.—The German corvette Moewe, according to advices from the South seas, has reached Sydney and reports that it was called on to quell a tribal war on one of the Admiralty Islands. Word was received by its commander that a body of fighters armed with rifles from a pirate had butchered 150 natives, and the Moewe went to the scene. Arriving off the village, a landing party, consisting of 120 marines and sailors, put off under four officers and opened fire on the rebellious natives. The latter made a stubborn stand and returned the fire of the landing party. Their aim was bad and only three casualties among the Germans resulted. Six of the natives were killed. Eventually the expedition returned to the warship, which steamed close into the beach and shelled the village, destroying it.

The Pedlar Nuisance.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir.—You have written of the pedlar nuisance from the storekeeper's side, but you have not spoken of the housekeeper's side. Talk of the domestic servant question being a problem. Well, so it is, but the pedlar question is as bad. To a busy woman doing her housework nothing is more provoking than to be called to the door for a pedlar. I speak feelingly, because I have been specially tormented in that line. I have had sickness in my home, and was without a servant, and with fruit to do up and pickles to make. I was very busy last month, and just as soon as I had my fruit ready to bottle the bell would ring and I would find nine times out of ten, a pedlar or agent at the door. This morning while making cake and pies I was called away five times to answer the door, and four of the calls were from pedlars. I never buy anything at the door as I believe in supporting our merchants who pay rent and taxes and help to keep up our town, and if every Peterborough woman would do the same the nuisance would soon be done away with. Most of the strolling people are too lazy to work for honest living, and take this easy of "gulling" the public, for it is a well known fact that the housekeeper usually gets the worst of the bargain.

Thanking you for space in your valuable paper.

Coal Market.

Now that the difficulties between the mine owners and the operatives in the Pennsylvania coal regions have been adjusted for the present, there is no immediate prospect of a scarcity of the 'black diamonds' in the Montreal market, and the prices of stove and chestnut coal have been fixed at $6.50 per net ton of 2,000 lbs., delivered, while egg coal is $6.25 per ton, and Scotch grate, $6 do. Lower ports steam coal is from $4.50 to $4.75 for the long ton of 2,240 lbs., and Scotch steam coal is about $5 per long ton.

Card of Thanks

To the Electors of the West Riding of Peterborough:

Gentlemen,—I would indeed be wanting in gratitude if I did not take the earliest opportunity of publicly returning my sincere thanks to my many friends who united to return me as the representative of this constituency in the Parliament of Canada.

Head Office - Ottawa, Canada

A GOOD STRONG COMPANY HAS LONG BEEN NEEDED.

A good strong limited Produce Company, with a capital of $300,000 being established in Ottawa would open up a safe and responsible channel for Cheese, Butter, Eggs, Poultry and all manner of country produce, and all could feel confident in sending their produce to this warehouse for safe keeping, and at the same time be in direct communication with Great Britain and all the markets of the world. Nearly all the large produce houses of Montreal and Great Britain have now become limited Liability Companies, as the products of our country require so much capital to manipulate that it is much better to have sufficient resources to handle them. Country Merchants, FARMERS, FACTORY MEN, AND THE COUNTRY PEOPLE in general should be greatly interested in this Company, as it will be of great advantage to them, and in the meantime the Company will surely pay a handsome dividend to all the stockholders. THE OTTAWA PRODUCE COMPANY, LIMITED, who are taking over the present Cold Storage Building on Nicholas Street, consider it not sufficiently large to carry on the business of the Ottawa section and therefore propose adding to the present refrigerator a suitable addition. The ice will be done away with and the Cold Air or chemical system will be introduced. A good independent Railway siding will be placed alongside the building, as the near proximity of the building to the Central Station is such that this can be done at practically no cost, giving the Company direct communication with the Canadian Pacific Railway, Canada Atlantic Railway, Parry Sound Railway and port of Montreal, as well as a connection with the Ottawa and Gatineau, Ottawa & New York Railway, and Pontiac and Pacific Junction. This Produce House will prove of great advantage to Cheese and Factory men, as when the markets are dull their goods can be stored until such time as the market would improve, thereby enabling them not to be compelled to send their Cheese to be stored in Montreal, as it is better to handle, inspect and pay for them near home. The Jobbing Trade of Ottawa city will be sufficient to pay the running expenses of the concern.

It is seldom one has an opportunity to invest in such a good solid concern, showing 25 per cent.

PROSPECTUS

THE OTTAWA PRODUCE COMPANY, LIMITED, has been formed to consolidate three large and well paying businesses in the Produce line, together with the building, plant and property connected with the Ottawa Cold Storage Company, Limited. The before mentioned Cold Storage Building being one of the finest in Canada.

ASSETS OF THE COMPANY.

1. The business, building and plant of the Ottawa Cold Storage Company.
2. The business connection and brands of Eggs controlled exclusively by WM. MELDRUM & CO., of Montreal, the largest dealer in Canadian Eggs for export, together with the personal supervision of Mr. Meldrum over this branch of the business.
3. The business and connection of A. A. DAVIS & CO., Brockville, one of the largest butter and cheese exporters to the British Markets from Canada, together with the personal supervision of Mr. Davis over the cheese and butter business.

INTENTIONS OF THE COMPANY

THE OTTAWA PRODUCE COMPANY, LIMITED, intend in as large a measure as possible to control the surplus supply of the Eggs, Cheese and Butter, produced yearly in the Ottawa Valley, and with this purpose in view it has been formed with ample Capital, and has been able to secure, together with the splendid Cold Storage Building already mentioned, the valuable co-operation of WM. MELDRUM & CO., of Montreal, the well known Egg shippers, and A. A. DAVIS & CO., of Brockville, whose connection with the markets of Great Britain is one of the largest possessed by any Canadian firm doing business as Cheese and Butter exporters.

Recently, owing to certain difficulties which the Ottawa Valley Merchants have had with Eastern firms, they have concluded that a large exporting firm with head office and Cold Storage building in Ottawa would be much more satisfactory to them, inasmuch as the railway facilities and other means of transport are quite as good from Ottawa as elsewhere, and also for the reason that Ottawa City is surrounded with as good a Produce country if not better, than any city in Canada.

EGGS

PROFITS ON THE VARIOUS PRODUCE WHICH THE COMPANY PROPOSE TO HANDLE

The Promoters and Managing Director of this Company, assisted by a number of leading Produce Merchants, have gone carefully into the matter of output and profit of the Egg business in the Ottawa Valley, and have come to the conclusion THAT THE OTTAWA PRODUCE COMPANY, LIMITED, can handle over a million dozen of Eggs every season at a profit of at least 3c. per dozen, and it is a well-known fact that the average price paid for this little article of diet, bought early in the season is 9c. to 11c. per dozen, and these eggs are never sold for less than 14c. to 16c. per dozen, during the fall and winter season, and frequently at a higher rate. HOWEVER, ASSUMING THAT THE OTTAWA PRODUCE COMPANY, LIMITED, HANDLE A MILLION DOZEN OF EGGS, WHICH IT IS QUITE EASY FOR IT TO DO, AND SELL THEM AT THE MINIMUM PRICE OF 14c. PER DOZEN, THE COMPANY HAS THE NICE PROFIT OF $30,000 ON ITS EGG TURNOVER ALONE, OR A 10 PER CENT DIVIDEND ON THE WHOLE CAPITAL OF THE COMPANY.

CHEESE

The Promoters, assisted by the Managing Director and leading Produce Merchants, who have dealt during the past years largely in Cheese, after carefully investigating this feature of the business have come to the conclusion that with the connection this Company have in England, through MR. DAVIS, the Ottawa Produce Co., Ltd., can handle 150,000 boxes of Cheese per annum bought for English account or consigned. In either case it is a conservative estimate that the OTTAWA PRODUCE COMPANY, LIMITED, will make 20c. per box or the nice profit of $30,000 per annum on the Turnover of Cheese with no loss to itself, as its system of Cold Storage will be such that no Cheese will spoil on its hands, and consequently leave no room for loss.

BUTTER

The Promoters assisted by the Managing Director and leading Produce Merchants, have also carefully investigated the Butter business, and have come to the conclusion that the OTTAWA PRODUCE COMPANY, LIMITED, can handle two million pounds of Butter, produced yearly in the fertile Ottawa Valley, out of which they estimate there can be made 1c. per pound profit. And it might be stated here that this estimate is a very conservative one, as most of the Butter handled by the Produce Merchants net them over 2c. per pound. Think for yourself the quantity of Butter that can be bought early in the season for 18c., and realize the price it sells for, both in Ottawa and Montreal, as the winter progresses, and you will see clearly that the profit of 1c. per lb. estimated by this Company is by no means an exaggeration, and yet here is another $20,000 profit to swell the dividends for the shareholders of this Company.

POULTRY HANDLED ON COMMISSION

In addition to the before mentioned business the Directors of the OTTAWA PRODUCE COMPANY, LIMITED, feel justified in the belief that they can make an additional $10,000 profit by handling Poultry on Commission for shipment to the British market. The means of transport across the Atlantic have been so much improved in the matter of Cold Storage Canadian Poultry can be delivered in England in the best condition. Canadian poultry is in great demand in England at the present time.

The jobbing trade done in Ottawa City alone in Turkeys and Chickens is enormous.

NET PROFITS

1,000,000 doz. Eggs, bought from 9 to 11c., sold at 14c	$30,000
2,000,000 lbs. Butter, sold at a profit of 1c per lb	20,000
$100,000 worth of Chickens and Turkeys, 10 per cent. com	10,000
Cheese, 150,000 Boxes, profit 20c. per box, a commission of 1-4c. per lb., 80lb. boxes	30,000
Profits	$90,000
Cost of operating and handling these products	10,000
Profits and loss account, including shrinkage, carriage, etc	15,000
Leaving the splendid net profits for dividends to the Shareholders of the Company of	$65,000

Or sufficient to pay 7 per cent on Preferred Stock and 28 per cent. on the whole of the Common stock.

A CO-OPERATIVE COMPANY

The Company has been exceedingly fortunate in being able to secure the hearty co-operation of such well known Produce men as Wm. Meldrum, of Montreal, Mr. A. A. Davis, of Brockville, Mr. Joseph Kavanagh, late President of Ottawa Cheese Board, Mr. B. Slattery, meat merchant, and also Mr. Frank O'Reilly, the latter's experience at the market in Lower Town for so many years being such as to inspire confidence among the many farmers who bring in their Produce to Ottawa on Market Days, Mr. O'Reilly being personally acquainted with nearly all of them, while the long and many successful years of business enjoyed by such men as Mr. Joseph Kavanagh as a produce merchant, and Mr. B. Slattery as a meat merchant well known in Ottawa and the surrounding country gives additional strength to the board.

MANAGEMENT OF THE COMPANY

As the management of a company of this kind is one of its strong points, we would just mention that the directors of this Company are all men of most careful and shrewd judgement and men who have made money for themselves in their own business, consequently they can be relied upon to look after the interests of this Company in the most careful manner, as they have all invested their capital in the enterprise and believe that it cannot be other than a great success.

SUBSCRIPTIONS

All the money realized under subscription will be devoted absolutely without deduction to the business of the Company. No costs whatever will be deducted from this amount save the cost of advertising and the cost of obtaining the charter. SUBSCRIPTION BOOKS will be opened at the office of Sutherland & Kelly, 48 Sparks St., on Tuesday, October 30th, at 10 o'clock, and close not later than Saturday, 17th November, at 3 o'clock. Subscriptions will be received for one share and upwards, and they must be accompanied by a marked check for ten per cent. of the amount subscribed for, made out to THE OTTAWA TRUST AND DEPOSIT COMPANY, LIMITED, as Trustees for THE OTTAWA PRODUCE COMPANY, LIMITED, and in allotment preference will be given to residents of the various outlying towns in the Ottawa Valley, farmers in the near vicinity and residents of Ottawa. The right is reserved by the Company to close the subscription books at any time before three o'clock on Wednesday, 7th November, and to allot in whole or in part of application and to reject any application.

2,000 PREFERENCE SHARES AT PAR, $100,000

Carrying a bonus of 2,000 common shares of $50 each (the bonus shares being fully paid up by the transfer of property and non-assessable.)

The 7 per cent. preference stock is cumulative, carries yearly dividends and has priority over the common shares as to both dividends and assets.

Subscriptions are payable 10 per cent on application, 15 per cent on allotment, 10 per cent on the 1st of January, 15 per cent on the 1st of March, 25 per cent on the 1st of June, 25 per cent on the 1st of September, 1901, with the privilege of making prepayment of any instalment, at any instalment date. Subscription forms may be had on application to SUTHERLAND & KELLY, 48 Sparks St., or at the office of THE OTTAWA TRUST AND DEPOSIT CO., LIMITED.

APPENDIX

Reasons why you should invest in THE OTTAWA PRODUCE COMPANY, LIMITED.

1. Because an Investment showing such splendid profits is rarely offered to the public.
2. Because the Directors of this Company are men of the highest standing, successful in their own business for many years, and they can be relied upon to govern this business in the most careful way.
3. Because there has never been a first-class and well-equipped cold storage company in Ottawa, and this Company should be encouraged, as they will save an enormous amount of money for the farmers and cheese men of the Ottawa Country, which will be largely spent in Ottawa City, thereby benefiting the city merchants and community at large.
4. Because this Company will be a decided convenience to the public, and the public should share the profits.

BOERS ARE BEATEN AFTER SEVERE FIGHTING

British Capture Seven Guns and One Hundred Prisoners--Country is Cleared of Raiders.

BRITISH LOSE 23 KILLED AND 30 WOUNDED

Heavy Fighting in the Northwestern Part of the Orange Free State Since November 6th Results in a Victory for British Forces.

Bothaville, Nov. 9.—There has been heavy fighting since Nov. 6, resulting in the defeat of the Boers, who lost 23 killed, thirty wounded, and one hundred taken prisoners. Seven of their guns also were captured.

The British lost three officers and four men killed.

Bothaville is in the north-western part of the Orange River Colony near Smaldeel, on the Vet River. It was burned not long ago by the British as a punitive measure.

BOERS ARE HARD PRESSED.

Pretoria, Nov. 7.—During the last few days only a few slight skirmishes have been reported. The small Boer laagers west of here are being driven about the country owing to the movements of Generals Clements and French. The road to Rustenburg is almost clear of Boers. The prisoners, officers, and men, who are now captured in this vicinity are being lodged in the "bird cage," which the Boers formerly used as a place of detention for captured British officers. Because of slight discomfort caused by the recent rains, the Boer captives complain that the place is only fit for cattle.

Colonel Edwards, late of the Imperial Light Horse, and now second in command of the Transvaal police, has been given charge of the western district, which includes Johannesburg, Pretoria, Krugersdorp nd Rustenburg. The Boers commanded by General Botha have succeeded in capturing a number of cattle that were herded close to Heidelberg.

BOERS MUCH DISAPPOINTED.

Pretoria, Nov. 9.—One of General French's scouts, who was captured near Heidelberg, and who was at first treated badly by the Boers, who threatened to shoot him, was afterwards released and taken with despatch to Gen. French's headquarters. He stated that Gen. Lans Botha is in command of the Boers, and has with him the Bethel, Caroline, Ermelo, and Middelburg commandoes. The scout says he recognized a number of British prisoners in the laager. They were captured during Gen. French's first advance. They will be released and furnished with passes as soon as the official who issues passes arrives from Middelburg.

The scout also states that the Boers are short of supplies, and are living on mealies and meal, and using burnt mealies to make coffee. The supply of meal, however, is abundant.

The Boers were very much disappointed because they were unable to capture any of Gen. French's convoy, which was the object of their continued attacks. The convoy consisted of seven hundred wagons. The Boers admitted that they had lost heavily, especially the morning after Gen. French left Bethel. On that occasion the Boers, who thought all the British had gone, approached close to a farm near which the carbineers were posted, and lost fifty in killed and wounded out of a force of two hundred.

The Boers expressed the bitterest feelings about the burnings of farms by the British. It is explained that the only farms burned were those whose owners had done something deserving punishment.

RETURNED TO DUTY—29,000.

London, Nov. 9.—A different complexion is put on the casualties from South Africa by the returns lately issued from the War Office. The country is thoroughly aware that over 40,000 of its brave soldiers have been killed or wounded during the course of the war, but what has not been so completely realized is that 29,000 out of that total have since returned to duty. This only leaves 10,000 who have been permanently incapacitated by their wounds. We may take it that even some of that number will recover and return to duty in course of time, so that a loss of 10,000 lives in round numbers is the price this country has to pay for the subjugation of the Boer Republics. Even that is a heavy toll, but it can hardly be regarded as excessive for a war that has lasted a year, and has added deadly issues to the perils of the battlefield. Out of the army of 200,000 men who left our shores, only one in twenty will fail to return in his full health and strength. Many a battle has caused the death of more than that percentage of the opposing forces. So, on the whole, the lesson of the war appears to be that contrary to M. Bloch's anticipations, modern arms of precision have not made warfare any more deadly.

The Dominion Government has been asked to send a representative and also a contingent of troops to attend the inauguration ceremonies of the new Commonwealth in Australia next spring.

The Ottawa Produce Co

We again call the attention of the readers of the Times to the announcement of the Ottawa Produce Company, which appears on the fourth page of this issue. This affords an opportunity for investors to secure shares in an enterprise that has for its object the expansion of the butter, egg and cheese trade of the country, and particularly this portion of the province. It is an investment that is absolutely safe and is sure to be profitable. The company is in the hands of gentleman who are well and favorably known in the financial world, and who will devote their energies to the work in hand.

Welcome to General Buller.

London, Nov. 10.—The Metropolis is awaiting the tidings that Gen. Buller has, as is expected, landed at Southampton to-day. He will have a generous welcome. He didn't do all that was expected of him in South Africa, but the public feel that he had a tough task before him, one that might easily have been expected to have broken the back of any general. His frank admission of error and his stubborn fighting under Lord Roberts, have brought out all the generous feeling of the public. Gen. Buller will not be welcomed like the City Imperial Volunteers were received, nor as Baden-Powell or Lord "Bobs" will be, but he will be made to feel at home in an unmistakable manner.

WANT CANADA TO TAKE THE LEAD

New York, Nov. 9—A special to the Herald from Washington says:

As a result of the continuance in power of President McKinley and Sir Wilfrid Laurier, it is expected that another attempt will shortly be made to bring about a settlement of the questions in dispute with Canada.

Officials of the Administration say that the President and Secretary Hay would be glad to have the questions disposed of, but it is felt here that Canada should make the preliminary move looking to their reconsideration.

The Alaskan boundary line has only been temporarily determined, and the President would prefer that it be finally and forever fixed. Special Reciprocity Commission Kasson is extremely anxious to negotiate a reciprocity treaty with Great Britain relating to Canada, because such a treaty will settle many points affecting the products of the two countries, and will be mutually beneficial. The fisheries question is also likely to be a source of trouble, and it is deemed important that it should be terminated in a manner satisfactory to both nations.

Officials of the navy are especially desirous that the two countries shall determine the size of the naval force each will maintain on the great lakes. Several years ago Congress authorized the construction of a gunboat for the lakes, and the Board of Construction prepared the design for the vessel. Pending the modification of the Rush-Bagot of 1818, the President directed that the contract for the vessel be not awarded.

CASUALTIES IN SOUTH AFRICA

Late Returns Make the Record Less Discouraging than the First Calculations.

London, Nov. 10.—A different complexion is put on the casualties from South Africa by the return lately issued from the War office. The country is thoroughly aware that over 40,000 of its brave soldiers have been killed or wounded during the course of the war, but what has been so completely realized is that 29,000 out of that total have since returned to duty. This only leaves 11,737 who have been permanently incapacitated by their wounds. We may take it that even some of that number will recover and return to duty in course of time, so that a loss of 10,000 lives in round numbers is the price this country has to pay for the subjugation of the two Boer republics. Even that is a heavy toll, but it can hardly be regarded as excessive for a war that has lasted a year, and has added deadly disease to the perils of the battlefield. Out of the army of 200,000 men who left our shores, only one in twenty will fail to return in his full health and strength. Many a battle has caused the death of more than that percentage of the opposing forces. So, on the whole, the lesson of the war appears to be that, contrary to M. Bloch's anticipations, modern arms of precision have not made warfare any more deadly.

Now that the war is drawing to a close we can reckon up its cost in blood. Ten thousand men have purchased the Boer republics for Britain with their lives, not to speak of four times that number crippled for life. It is a terrible record, but it is consoling—if there can be consolation to such a deplorable event—to know that the mortality has been less than was expected when the full strength of the army in south Africa was known. The chances of war are that five men in a hundred will be killed in battle or die of disease, but the deaths in south Africa have been only four per hundred. This is nearly 2 per cent lower than the mortality in our Napoleonic wars, and it compares favorably with the death rate in some of the principal wars of the century.

France, in the Crimea, lost over 10 per cent of its force by death, and just over 5 per cent in the campaign of 1859. In that campaign Italy lost 5.5 per cent and Austria 4.7 per cent, while in 1866 Bavaria and Austria both lost over 5 per cent. Russia has been fortunate in her wars; in 1864 and 1866 her losses were only slightly over 3 per cent. In 1870 however, the German Army lost 3.90 per cent of its officers and 4.50 per cent of its men.

BRYANITE WHEELS MIDST FLYING EGGS

Grandson of Vassar College's Founder Rides in a Wheelbarrow.

New York, Nov. 9.—Amid a shower of eggs, Stephen W. Floyd, known as "Major" Floyd, an advertising man from the South, last night paid a wager he had lost on Bryan with Rufus P. Vassar, a grandson of the founder of Vassar College, by pushing his friend through the streets of New York in a wheelbarrow.

Conditions of the wager were that the loser must wheel the winner through whatever streets the latter should select. Mr. Vassar, confident of McKinley's victory, gave his friend odds of three blocks to one.

The start was made at half-past seven o'clock from Forty-second street and Sixth avenue, where a hundred friends of the two men had collected to speed them on their journey. Promptly at the appointed hour the two men appeared at the starting point, clad in linen dusters. Flody wore a Panama hat.

When John E. Ellis, referee, blew his ers. Floyd wore a Panama hat. handles and started at a lively trot al- whistle Floyd grasped the wheelbarrow way. He increased his trot to a run, as his friends pursued him with a volley of eggs.

About half way down the block, the barrow became entangled in the car tracks and Vassar was almost pitched in to the street, while a horse car, which ran into the barrow, was delayed for several minutes.

Starting anew, Floyd turned into Broadway and brought up at the Hotel Rossmore, his destination. Both men were covered with raw eggs.

Dropping the wheelbarrow, Floyd gasped—

"Well, Vassar, this is worse than losing money. Going up San Juan Hill would be easy compared with those eggs."

"Yes," replied Vassar, "but I guess I got it almost as badly as you did, old chap."

During the Spanish-American war Vassar enlisted in the Twenty-third United States Infantry. He was wounded in the thigh while doing police duty outside of Manila. He is a corporal in Company A, Seventh regiment.

Powley's Liquified Ozone

Cures John W. Moyes, Manager of the Metropolitan Street Railway.

Many people feel run down and they do not know what is the matter. They are troubled with headaches, tired feeling, bad taste in the mouth on rising, foul breath and many other distressing symptoms. Now the worst possible thing to do is to take drugs or medicines. They only create a false stimulant which soon dies out. The only way to treat disease is to remove the cause. Now germs are the cause of all sickness and Powley's Liquified Ozone, the new system of treatment kills germs. Thousands of testimonials have been received for Powley's Liquified Ozone. Each testimonial can be investigated. In fact, investigation is invited. Read what Mr. John W. Moyes, Deer Park, Toronto, says: "The bottle of Ozone you left me is done, and I would like to see you and wish you would bring me another bottle. I am certainly feeling much better than when I saw you and purpose giving the medicine every chance to do me good. The same preparation as what I had from you is a convenient one for me, as being away so much, I can carry a suitable quantity with me and use it any place I may be for a meal. Signed. Yours truely,

JOHN W. MOYES, Toronto, Ont.

Mr. Moyes suffered from stomach disorders.

Powley's Liquified Ozone is $1.00 a large bottle, 50c. small size. All druggists, or from the laboratories of the Ozone Co., of Toronto, Limited, 48 Colborne St., Toronto. Also by Wm. Madill.

BLOODY RACE WAS AVERTED

Quiet Restored at Washington, Pa. After a Day and Night of Rioting.

Washington, Pa., Nov. 9.—After a night of excitement over a threatened conflict between negroes and whites, quite prevailed this morning and through the prompt action of the town authorities, aided by the members of Co. H. 10th Pennsylvania Volunteers, a race riot was averted. The trouble started on Tuesday night over the election and the fighting was kept up for a large part of the night and all of yesterday. There were numerous encounters between the negroes and whites and several persons were seriously injured. A large number of extra policemen wer esworn in and these with squads of the 10th Regiment patrolled the streets until daylight. A dozen arrests were made and warrants ar eout for many more. This morning the excitement had died down.

The outbreak, it is said, was instigated b ynegroes recently brought from the South by contracting firms.

NEWFOUNDLAND FIGHT

Liberals up Against the Great Reid Interest in the General Elections

St. John's, Nfld., Nov. 9.—The colonial general elections yesterday developed into a fight between the Bond Government and the millionaire contractor, R. G. Reid, who is seeking to aid in the establishment of a Tory Government, headed by Morine, in order that he may turn over his great franchises to a limited liability company. Reid steamers and trains were placed at the disposal of the Morineites, and the Bond men had trouble in getting special trains to transport their voters. The interest exhibited in the election was second only to that in 1869, when confederation was rejected. Full returns are not expected till Saturday, as the ballots in the coast districts are counted by the chief returning officer after being collected, which takes time. Bond people hope for the whole of the Catholic representation of fourteen seats, and a sprinkling of the 22 protestants. The Morineites, however raised a cry of sectionalism, and in Bonavista Bond had a powerful opponent in Grand Master Hutchings, of the Orange Order. St. John's city will probably send six Liberals to the House. In Port de Grave McKay (Morineite), was elected.

CLUNG TO THE KEEL A DAY AND A NIGHT

Steamer City of Vienna Founders and and Only One of Her Crew is Saved in This Way.

Bristol, Eng., Nov. 9.—The steamer City of Vienna, from Dublin, for Bristol, foundered Wednesday night in St. George's Channel. Only one of the crew, a fireman, was saved. He clung to the keel of a lifeboat for twenty-seven hours.

The Mayoralty

The Times received from a prominent citizen a letter dealing with the question of electing a Mayor for next year. Our correspondent asked that the letter be published without alteration, and as it deals in very strong language, we have decided to exclude it from these columns. While the columns of the Times are always open for the discussion of municipal and other matters, we cannot allow articles over a nom de plume to appear, especially when they are couched in language that is liable to be offensive or hurtful.

Blasts One Hope of the Dutch

The Hague, Nov. 9. — The re-election of President McKinley, which was expected here, has caused considerable enthusiasm. A number of Holland bankers had large sums at stake in American investments, and naturally feel relieved. The result, however, has caused most Dutchmen to give up the vain hope which they still cherised, that the United States might be prevailed upon to intervene between Great Britain and the Transvaals.

A number of high officials of this city and other Holland towns are preparing to go to Marseilles to receive President Kruger on his arrival, the exact date of which is not known.

Hunting Notes

Lakefield News: Messrs. W. J. White and W. Sherin returned home on Wednesday from Squaw River, where they had spent a week with the Kidd-Crawford party. Up to that time they had secured two deer. One of their dogs had been poisoned.

The hunters say that the deer are not very plentiful this season. The Baldon-Young party at Turtle Lake, when heard from, had secured three deer. Tom Eastwood, of Buckhorn, had lost seven dogs by poisoning since the deer hunting season began. The dogs were all attached to Eastwood's camp at Squaw River, which opens into Ball Lake. A strong effort should be made to discover the perpetrators of this outrage. Every year valuable dogs are poisoned.

Obituary

Lakefield News—It is our duty this week to chronicle the death of Marie Donnelly, wife of Mr. Jonathan Griffin, which sad event took place on Monday last, at the age of 63 years and 6 months, after an illness of about nine months. Deceased was taken ill last March and since then has been gradually sinking and she passed quietly away on the above date. Deceased was born in the township of Smith in the year 1847, and she has, with the exception of one year resided in and around Lakefield since that time. In 1828 she was married to Mr. Griffin, and six children blessed their union, four daughters and two sons, one of the daughters having since died, and all of whom reside at home. She was a kind and affectionate wife and mother and a large number of friends mourn her demise. The family have the sincere sympathy of the community in their sad bereavement. The funeral took place on Wednesday to the Little Lake cemetery, the services being conducted by the Rev. G. Warren. The pall bearers, who were all relatives of the deceased were Messrs. J. D. Craig, W. D. Morrow, H. Donnelly, B. H. Johnston and A. R. Pearson, all of Peterborough.

CHINESE SURRENDER WITHOUT RESISTANCE

Detachment of Italian Troops Surprise Three Battalians--Chinese Inflict Tortures.

London, Nov. 9—A special despatch from Tien Tsin, dated Nov. 7, says a detachment of Italian troops returning to Pekin intercepted three battalions of Chinese near Kun An Hsien. The latter surrendered without firing a shot.

RUINS COMMERCE.

Paris, Nov. 9—A despatch to the Havas agency from Pekin announces that a high Chinese personage says the rebellion being organized in South China is ruining commerce, that the revenues are decreasing and that the payment of the service of the debt next spring is doubtful.

Prince Ching and Li Hung Chang, the despatch adds, regret the delay in presenting the peace propositions and express fears as to the future. They are ready to accept propositions based on M. Delcasse's proposals, but foreign Ministers are in the meanwhile marking time and discussing secondary questions.

The Chinese, the despatch concludes, regard the occupation of the Imperial tombs at Siling as being more important than the capture of the Emperor and Empress-dowager.

OFFICERS DECORATED.

London, Nov. 9 — Vice-Admiral Seymour, K.C.B., in command of the China station since 1897, and who is to be succeeded by Vice-Admiral Sir Harry Holdsworth Rawson, has been appointed a G.C.B., and Naval Captains Bayly, T. Burke, Collaghan and Jellicoe have been appointed C.B.'s for services in China.

MINISTERS MAKE PROGRESS.

Pekin, Nov. 9 — The Ministers held another meeting yesterday at which considerable progress was made. It is expected that they will soon be ready to meet the Chinese plenipotentiaries. If they follow the usual course, they will appoint a committee to prepare the demands of the powers, and their work will then be submitted for approval. It is likely that this will cause some delay, owing to the time occupied in telegraphing to the several Governments. It is certain that the Ministers' note will contain the names of the officials responsible for the trouble, including the Princes, with a demand for their punishment and further demands for adequate atonement and the construction of a monument to Baron von Ketteler, the murdered German Minister.

General Wilson sailed from Taku on Monday. He is due to arrive in San Francisco on December 7th. Your correspondent learns form Chinese sources that Li Hung Chang asked the Washington Government to make General Wilson a peace commissioner, because of his wide knowledge of Chinese affairs.

FRIGHTFUL TORTURES.

London, Nov. 8 — Richardson's column, which took part in the Pao Ting Fu expedition, has returned to Pekin. They report that on October 2 Major Waldon, of the Lancers, arrived at Tungma Ching, where the Boxers had destroyed the Catholic chapel. The column captured ten Boxers. Upon trial three of them were convicted and shot. The others were released with a warning. All the houses owned by known Boxers were destroyed.

The column encountered a body of Imperial troops under command of General Fan, the successor of General Nieh. During a conference General Fan was shot and killed by a trumpeter belonging to the Sixteenth Lancers. The shooting was inexcusable, and the trumpeter was placed under arrest.

The column reached Yangtsung on Oct. 31, where Messrs. Norman and Robinson, English missionaries, were killed at the beginning of the trouble. It was learned that the missionaries' houses and chapel were burned on June 8. The missionaries fled for protection to the magistrate's yamen. On the following day the Boxers threatened the Yamen, and the missionaries fled to a temple, where they were discovered by a number of Boxers who were worshiping their gods. They were pursued, and Mr. Robinson, who was caught inside the city, was hacked to pieces.

Mr. Norman escaped through the north gate, but was subsequently captured in the fields. He was found by the Boxers and taken to Wu Chiaking. His captors demanded and received what silver he had. He was then burned about the body with incense and his eyes were burned out. In this condition he was dragged across the country to Fawang Chung, where he was again subjected to torture by fire. He was finally speared and decapitated.

As punishment for the murder of the missionaries the column demanded the payment of 40,000 taels and a lot of mules. The Chinese officials paid 4,000 taels and gave security that they would meet the demand in full.

On Oct. 4 three Boxer villages near Langfung, where many of the opponents of Admiral Seymour's expedition lived, were destroyed and two temples were blown up.

Gen. Chaffee has established a new postal route to the coast. It now requires only two days for letters to reach the coast.

THE FILIPINO JUNTA.

The United States Government Demand British a Chair.

Washington, D.C., Nov. 10.—With a view to checking the operations of the Filipino insurrectionary junta at Hong-Kong Great Britain will be asked by the United States to drive the members from British territory. This request will undoubtedly be complied with, and those who are directing the conduct of the rebel campaign will have to look for another location. The first step towards accomplishing this have been taken by Secretary Root, who, in a communication to the Secretary of State, has asked that the attention of the British government be called to the unlawful acts of the junta at Hongkong. Mr. Root in his letter says that correspondence captured by the American forces in the Phillipines shows that Hongkong is the principal base of operations of the Filipino insurgents and that the junta at that place is directing the military campaign in the Phillipines.

He maintains also that the members of the junta do not confine themselves to the usages permitted by a neutral government to representatives of a belligerent in the territory of the neutral government, and therefore expresses the desire that the State department take the necessary steps through the British government, Hongkong being a British port, to break up this revolutionary body. He expresses the hope that the State department will see nothing to interfere with carrying out this line of action.

The state department will comply with the request of the Secretary of War, and in view of a precedent established by Great Britain in the Spanish-American war, it is probable that the junta will be broken up. At the beginning of the Spanish-American war, Lieutenant Carranza of the Spanish Legation here went to Canada, where he established a system of espionage against the United States. This government complained to Great Britain that the actions of Carranza and his associates were contrary to international law and that their presence in Canada was a violation of the principles of neutrality. The British government acknowledged the complaint was just, and compelled Carranza and other Spanish officials to leave Canada.

Mrs. Morrow's Concert

We are pleased to be able to announce that the date of the proposed complimentary concert to Mrs. W. J. Morrow has been fixed, and will take place on the evening of November 20th, in the Opera House. Some of the best Toronto talent has been secured, and the event will undoubtedly be the leading musical attraction of the season. We are sorry to see that an attempt is being made to forestall the entertainment by another, but we are sure the many friends of Mrs. Morrow will not feel discouraged thereby. Mrs. Morrow has done much in the past in the way of assisting at musical entertainments for all worthy objects. Her friends everywhere in town have been most anxious to show their appreciation of her past services by tendering her a complimentary concert, and will not allow any forestalling to interfere with their plans. The concert will be one of the best ever given in Peterborough and will, we are sure, be patronized by every lover of music in Peterborough and neighborhood.

MR HENRY HARDING'S RECORD

An Uncle of Mr John Crane of Town—A Useful Man

The West Briton and Cornwall, Eng., Advertiser, of October 18th, contains a very interesting item concerning Mr. Henry Harding, an uncle of Mr. John Crane of town. Being rather unique in its information, the Times reproduces the same, which is as follows:—

"An old and much respected inhabitant in the person of Mr. Henry Harding, has just retired from business in our town, his record being probably unique. For fifty years he has carried on a stationery and newsvender's business in Middlestreet and Lanadwell street, and during this time he has by his kindly and obliging disposition endeared himself to a very large circle of friends.

He has been a life-long and consistent churchman, and though now nearly 81 years old, still fills his accustomed place in the choir, and as a parish clerk his strong, clear voice is still in evidence at all Divine services. A short time since he completed his jubilee of fifty years as parish clerk, and was on this occasion presented with a purse of gold by his many admirers in the town.

In returning thanks, the venerable old gentleman gave many highly interesting reminiscences; among others being, that, although still a bachelor, he had been "best man" at about five hundred weddings, and as parish clerk had attended upwards of two thousand one hundred funerals. This being, in fact, about six hundred more people than the whole combined parish now contains. He has also been godfather to about 1,000 children.

All townspeople, and churchgoers in particular, are unanimous in wishing our venerable parish clerk a continuance of his present good health to enjoy his well-earned rest from business cares.

Much satisfaction is felt by church people that our old and respected friend will continue to occupy his accustomed place in the choir and as parish clerk."

WEATHER NOTES.

Probs. — To-day — Westerly winds; fair, with a little lower temperature.

A heavy north-west gale is blowing on the lakes, and rain continues from Montreal eastward over Quebec and the Maritime provinces. There are indications that another cold wave will soon appear over the Northwest Territories and Manitoba.

Running Sores, the outcome of neglect, or bad blood, have a never-failing balm in Dr. Agnew's Ointment. Will heal the most stubborn cases. Soothes irritation almost instantly after first application. It relieves all itching and burning skin diseases in a day. It cures piles in 3 to 5 nights. 35 cents.—39

PETERBOROUGH, NOVEMBER 10, 1900

THE SHARP CURVE

It is a sharp curve from the excitement and irregularities of war to the daily round, the common tasks of peace.

The boys who are coming home from South Africa have now to take the curve, and by displaying common sense their injudicious friends can help them to take it with ease and grace. The maudlin patriotism which expresses its fervor in the purchase of drink for boys who do not want the liquor, is the worst foe to the present and future welfare of the returning heroes.

The jolly-good-fellowship of the alleged friends who are anxious to stand treat to the soldiers will soon lose its bloom. The boys will then be left to go to ruin their own way once they are unsettled by the experience of war and the temptations of peace.

Canadian soldiers should be, and are, strong enough to rise superior to temptations from people who would ruin them in the name of friendship. At the same time there is no reason why they should be tempted, or why public opinion should tolerate anything which can retard the inevitable transformation of the boys from the best of soldiers into the best of citizens.

CHINESE AND THEIR PECULIARITIES

It is to be feared that many missionaries and others do not fully appreciate the difference between the Chinese mind and character and the European mind and character. We all know, as a matter of every-day observation, that there is a difference, but we fail to grasp its extent. In truth there is a great gulf fixed," a gulf which for centuries has been growing ever wider. With races of men, as with the lower animals, the rule prevails, that (there being no counteracting force) divergence becomes ever greater as time goes on. When it is borne in mind that China has been a land into herself for thousands of years, there is no wonder, therefore, that the way in which a Chinaman regards the world and life, is essentially different from the way in which a European or an American regards them. The respective points of view are as opposite as are the poles. For example: A Chinaman shakes his own hand when we shake the hand of a friend. When walking with a companion, he considers it a point of honor to keep out of step; it would show too much familiarity to keep in step. He puts on his hat, instead of taking it off, when he salutes. He whitens his shoes, instead of blackening them; and white is his mourning color. The left and not the right, is with him the place of honor. When bad news comes, he laughs aloud in order to drive off evil spirits. When he is introduced to you, he very politely asks your age and the amount of your income. His compass points to the South, not the North; and a favorite present to a parent is a nicely constructed coffin. When to these little peculiarities, it is added that he believes the earth to be flat and China to occupy almost the whole of its surface, it will be seen that a considerable change will have to take place in his mind before he will regard things in quite the same light as we do. Japan has required fifty years to acquire what she has of Western civilization; and, as there are nine times as many Chinese as there are Japanese, the law as to his inertia will, no doubt prevail here as elsewhere. In seeking to move so inert and immense a mass. The old maxim of "Hasten Slowly" would seem to be specially applicable.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The young Conservatives have little use for the old party leaders.

Hon. Hugh John, who always keeps his word, forgot himself when he promised to carry Brandon.

The electors have made quite an attempt to reconstruct the Conservative party.

"This is where I take a drop," as the defeated candidate said feelingly, the returns being all in.

It is a notable thing that not a single member of the Liberal Cabinet was defeated. We believe that establishes a new record.

Never before was there such a clean sweep of the leaders of a political party in Canada as yesterday befell the Conservatives on Wednesday.

The full vote is a good thing, but the full voter is not so desirable. There were several around the streets late Wednesday night whooping it up.

Not being able to stop the Klock up in Nipissing any other way the Liberals prevented him from running by deferring the election.

Steyn's latest utterance that the Transvaal will be auctioned off to the highest bidder is pure buncombe. Great Britain has bought the Transvaal with the blood of her soldier sons and the Transvaal is not now in the market.

This second defeat of the Tory party will probably do for them what one defeat should have done, force them to reconstruct their party and get rid of a little of the dead wood they have been carrying to their own and the country's detriment for several years.

Mr. McClellan does not feel chagrined over his defeat, and attributes it to the apathy of his supporters—particularly those who backed Newman in 1896, many of whom did not vote at all. One thing everybody admits: Mr. McClellan put up a good clean fight, and is highly regarded by Conservatives and Liberals alike.

Toronto News,—It is reported that the booksellers in Toronto are laying in large stocks of French grammars in anticipation that the citizens of Ontario will shortly be compelled to learn the language of their rulers in Quebec. It is now in order for the Mayor to sanction the use of French by the Board of Control and City Council during debates.

ASYLUMS FILLED UP.

But the Congestion Relieved by the Addition at Brockville.

Toronto, Oct. 8.—The new addition to the Brockville Asylum has relieved the crowded condition of the asylums at Toronto and Hamilton. Accommodation was made for 60 by the building at Brockville.

The work on the old Victoria College at Cobourg is being rushed; but it cannot be completed until the beginning of the new year.

According to the Asylums Department, there are more inmates this year in the institutions than ever before in the history of the province.

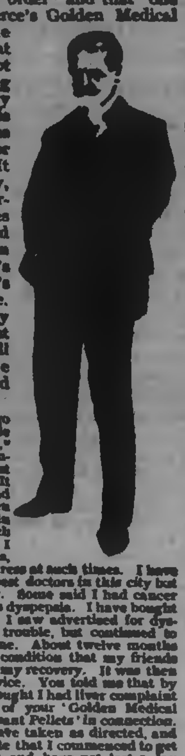
Don't Hesitate.



These is just one thing to use if your stomach is "out of order" and that "one thing" is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. The supposition is that you want a prompt cure and a lasting cure. That is why the "Discovery" is recommended as the one thing for your condition. It cures promptly, perfectly and permanently, diseases of the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition. It's sure to help. It's almost sure to cure. It has completely cured ninety-eight per cent. of all those who have given it a fair and faithful trial.

"About ten years ago I began to have trouble with my stomach," writes Mr. Wm Connolly, of 535 Walnut St., Lorain, Ohio. "It got so bad that I had to lay off quite often two and three days in a week, my stomach would bloat, and I would belch up gas, and was in awful distress at such times. I have been treated by the best doctors in this city but got no help whatever. Some said I had cancer of the stomach, others dyspepsia. I have bought and tried everything I saw advertised for dyspepsia and stomach trouble, but continued to get worse all the time. About twelve months ago I was in such a condition that my friends had some fear about my recovery. It was then I wrote to you for advice. You told me that by my symptoms you thought I had liver complaint and advised the use of your 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Pleasant Pellets' in connection. These medicines I have taken as directed, and am very happy to state that I commenced to get better from the start and have not lost a day this summer on account of my stomach. I feel tip-top, and better than I have for ten years."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cleanse the bowels and stimulate the liver.

The present is a time when war pictures are in greater demand than ever. The conduct of the British soldiers on the battlefield has won the plaudits of admiring nations. We have at great expense published four large, beautiful pictures, size 20x24, on heavy, superfine calendered paper. A picture that will commend itself and send a thrill to the heart of every true Canadian is the one called Attack of Royal Canadians at Paardeberg, there are literally hundreds of figures on this picture, the mountains or kopjes stretching out into the distance are swarming with men, while here and there a prostrate figure speaks only too well of the Boer rifleman. It was on this battlefield the gallant Major Arnold met death unflinchingly. Indeed, it is only too true that many of those gallant hearts that beat so high when the cheering thousands bade them Godspeed as they sailed from Canada's shores now lie still forever in lonely graves on the other side of the world under African skies. To every Canadian heart, to every Canadian home, the deeds of their brave soldier boys speak with an irresistible thrill of patriotism and pride. Gordon Highlanders at the Battle of Belmont, Charging the Boer Guns at Magersfontein and the Charge of Gen. French's Cavalry on the Retreating Gen. Cronje's Army. These are all stirring pictures and cannot fail to commend themselves to anyone who will examine them. They are RED HOT SELLERS! Agents coin money. Big profits. Enormous success. One agent sold 65 in one day. Sample and terms 25 cts (none free); four for 50 cts; $1.25 per dozen; 25 for $2.25; 50 for $4.00; 100 for $7.00. Write to day for a dozen and make money. MESSRS. J. S. HAMILTON & Co., Brantford, Ont., Canada:

Dear Sirs,— In accordance with your wishes I have had both the red and white wines and the champagne tested by several connoisseurs, French and English. All of these expressed surprise that an article of such merit was produced in Canada, and even manufacturers admit that the brand "L'Empereur" is of excellent quality.

This opinion from critics who are by no means easy to please should be very satisfactory to you, and it gives me pleasure to congratulate you upon it. Yours faithfully, hand.

Again the door of the safe swung back on its rusty hinges with a loud creak.

Heath Hampton stooped, listening intently.

The sleeper stirred uneasily, and the dwarf from his hiding-place distinctly heard her murmur:

"No one must know the contents of the safe, for Heath's sake; the secret must die with me!"

Carefully the man abstracted the two boxes, quickly and noiselessly forcing open the lids.

"Ah! the papers," he murmured, "they must be secured as well as the gold. Women must not guard so vital a secret; once destroyed they will tell no tales."

He made a hurried examination of the remaining contents of the safe, and, evidently satisfied, he hurriedly locked it, replacing the key about the sleeper's neck, and, securing the two boxes, he stole softly from the apartment, followed by the revengeful dwarf.

When quite opposite the library Vatal spoke.

"Is that you, Mr. Hampton?" he said.

With a bitter oath, which nearly caused him to drop the two boxes he carried, Heath Hampton turned upon him.

"What are you doing up at this hour of the night?" he demanded sharply.

"I have been waiting to see you all the evening. I have important—"

"You miserable cur!" cried Hampton, with an impotent yell of rage, "you have been watching me, have you, dogging my footsteps, eh? I'll have a short settlement with you here and now."

"You are mistaken," said the dwarf coolly, his eyes gleaming a dusky fire; "I have news of Miss Rienzi, which I learned to-night, but it takes money to buy it."

For a moment Hampton glared at him as if in doubt what course to pursue.

"Well, in that case it's a little different. What makes you think I can pay for your cursed secret, when you know how I am fixed financially?"

"You might raise the money for that, if it's worth anything to you," answered Vatal, doggedly.

"How much do you want? Five dollars?"

The blood boiled in Vatal's veins as he thought of the box so heavily laden with gold which he knew was secreted under the cloak Hampton wore.

"Not a cent less than one hundred dollars," replied the dwarf, determinedly.

"Well, for once I'll humor you. What do you know about Miss Rienzi's whereabouts?"

Still Vatal hesitated.

"Oh, I see; it's cash in advance, eh! See that the information is worth it or it will be the worse for you." As he spoke he placed the sum grudgingly in Vatal's hand.

"I have traced her to a hiding-place, not ten miles distant."

"Can it be possible?" cried Hampton, excitedly.

"Yes," replied Vatal; "and the strangest part of the affair—she is at Ulvesford Manor!"

"What!" shrieked the irate Hampton, "do you mean to tell me that she, too, is beneath that roof? How do you know?"

"I saw her face at the window twice."

"When?"

"Once last week, and again to-day."

"You rascally cur, how does it happen you did not come to me directly with the information, then? Why, do you know, I have half a mind to thrash you within an inch of your life?"

The dwarf set his lips tightly together as he replied:

"I was not quite sure until to-day that it was she."

"Humph!" ejaculated Hampton, mightily mollified, as he turned on his heel and strode toward his apartment.

An hour later, with a heavy dark cloak thrown about his shoulders, more to conceal the boxes he carried than from actual need, Heath Hampton quietly quitted the house.

"I must never lose sight of him and that girl," muttered Vatal, stealthily following his footsteps.

It was evident that Hampton was at a loss as to which road he had better take.

A sudden thought seemed to occur to him; he would go down the river a short distance toward Ulvesford Manor.

A bold scheme occurred to him—why not abduct the girl? He had plenty of money to see himself through.

"I will do it," he cried. "Ha! my bird, flap your pretty wings as much as you like; I will hover about like a hawk and swoop down upon you when you least expect."

Several skiffs lay fastened to their moorings; he tossed his burden into one of them, took up the oars and floated silently down with the tide.

A few moments later a second boat pushed out quietly into the stream, keeping close to the bank, silently following in the wake of the first.

The night was dark and cloudy; the two boats—out alone in the darkness and the night—were within a few feet of each other.

There was a low, gurgling sound, as of a heavy weight dropped down into the silent water, followed by a momentary ripple; then the dark waters that had had full many a secret, which they never yet divulged, intrusted to their keeping, flowed on.

The dwarf marked the spot well.

Hampton's skiff glided rapidly onward to its fatal mission, followed closely in the rear by the one occupied by Vatal, the dwarf.

CHAPTER XXIX.

The Links of Fate.

For an instant the room seemed to whirl around Isetta.

"Alderic! Alderic!" she cried, but the words died away on her lips, making no sound.

The fair-haired stranger, with a voice so like, was not Alderic.

Yet the great resemblance for an instant had electrified her. She was face to face with the original of the portrait, yet this was not Alderic.

He could not remember that they had ever met before; yet just such a pair of dark, soulful eyes as those

WE CURE EMISSIONS

Nothing can be more demoralizing to young or middle-aged men than the presence of these "nightly losses." They produce weakness, nervousness, a feeling of disgust and a whole train of symptoms. They unfit a man for business, married life and social happiness. No matter whether caused by evil habits in youth, natural weakness or sexual excesses, our New Method Treatment will positively cure you.

NO CURE—NO PAY

Reader, you need help. Early abuse or later excesses may have weakened you. Exposure may have diseased you. You are not safe till cured. Our New Method will cure you. You run no risk.

250,000 CURED

Young Man—You are pale, feeble and haggard; nervous, irritable and excitable. You become forgetful, morose, and despondent; blotches and pimples, sunken eyes, wrinkled face, stooping form and downcast countenance reveal the blight of your existence.

WE CURE VARICOCELE

No matter how serious your case may be, or how long you may have had it, our NEW METHOD TREATMENT will cure it. The "wormy veins" return to their normal condition and hence the sexual organs receive proper nourishment. The organs become vitalized, all unnatural drains or losses cease and manly powers return. A WONDERFUL
KIDNEY and Bladder CURE

I. A. HOPKINS.

The Honorable Chairman of the Board of County Commissioners, Ellsworth, Kansas, tells how ALKAVIS cured him after Doctors and all other Remedies had Failed.

BRIGHT'S DISEASE, GRAVEL, DROPSY,
And Rheumatism Mastered at Last.

One of the most remarkable medical discoveries of the century is the Kava-Kava Shrub, found on the Ganges River, East India, which has a wonderful action on the kidneys and bladder. Since its introduction into this country its fame has quickly spread, because of its seemingly impossible cures. Prominent men and women have testified to its great curative powers, and hospital tests prove its infallibility even in advanced stages of Bright's Disease. Among the more recent recoveries is that of Hon. I. A. Hopkins, Chairman Board of County Commissioners, Ellsworth, Kansas, who says:

GENTLEMEN:—I will say that I believe and know that I owe my life to Alkavis. I had been troubled with Kidney and Bladder Trouble for years. Two years ago I was sick for six weeks with Malarial Fever which left me in a bad condition. My limbs were swollen with Rheumatism so that I could hardly walk; I was troubled with Indigestion from taking Medicine for my Urinary troubles which had become very much worse. I had to get up every hour of the night to urinate. I passed great quantities of blood on account of hemorrhage of the Kidneys and Bladder. I tried and had been trying everything in the shape of Medicine for Kidney Trouble that I could think of or that the Doctors recommended, but nothing helped me for I kept getting worse. I suffered great pain continually in my Kidneys. I made up my mind unless I could get relief that I only had a short time to live. About this time my attention was called to an advertisement of Alkavis. As a drowning man will grasp at a straw, I was ready to try anything for relief. I sent to you for three bottles. I began to take it, and before I had taken it one week I began to feel the good effects of Alkavis. My Kidney Trouble and Rheumatism were soon gone, my digestion became all right, I found myself in better health than for ten years and I am in good health now. I know that Alkavis saved my life." What more can anyone say for a medicine? Unlike most medicines it is good for indigestion. It gives the person taking it a good appetite. I have recommended Alkavis to a great many people and all have been benefited by its use. I am 53 years of age, and am very grateful for what Alkavis has done for me.

Respectfully yours,
I. A. HOPKINS.

Rev. W. B. Moore, D. D., Washington, D. C., Editor Religious World, writes that after trying all known medicines for kidney and rheumatic diseases he was permanently cured by Alkavis. Mrs. Wm. H. Hardy, East Rush, Pa., writes that Alkavis cured her after six doctors failed. Rev. J. W. Hickman, Collyer, Trego Co., Kansas, cured of liver, kidney and bladder trouble, of many years' standing, from which he could only get temporary relief and had given up all hope of a cure. Thus the grand work goes on. A new book, entitled "A Thousand Living Witnesses," sent with the free case of medicine, tells of the wonderful cures performed in every state.

Not only does this great discovery—Alkavis (the Kava-Kava Compound)—cure all forms of kidney and bladder diseases, but by expelling from the blood all poisonous deposits, excess of lime, uric acid, urates and lithiates, it banishes gravel, torpid liver, rheumatism, pains in back, difficult and too frequent urination, etc. The cure is complete. No phase is neglected, and the stomach, heart and nerves are toned and invigorated. No other medicine in the world will perform the work of Alkavis. To enable sufferers to get well and spread the glad tidings we have arranged to send a Large Case of Alkavis FREE by mail to all who write us. The case goes entirely FREE.

If you are a sufferer, write to-day and secure at once a Free Case of Alkavis and Book of "A Thousand Living Witnesses." Address The Church Kidney Cure Co., No. 418 Fourth Ave., New York. Please mention this paper.

THE COLORADO COPPER MINING COMPANY

LOCATION OF OUR MINES

THE COLORADO COPPER MINING COMPANY is fortunate in being the possessor of five splendid showing properties in the great Salida copper belt, the principal copper producing region of this portion of the rockies. All of our claims have been more or less developed and it is our purpose to put the same on a paying basis at once.

Our Company owns, clear of incumbrances the following claims,—The Sedalia Extension, the Sedalia Extension No. 2, which property adjoins the great Sedalia mine, which has been a big producer for upwards of seventeen years; the Copper King of Colorado, which immediately adjoins the above; the Copper Queen of Salida, a very promising property, only a few steps from the depot in Salida. This claim occupies an imposing position on a mountain just north of the city; and last, but by no means least, the Sunshine, located two miles east of Salida at Cleora station, on the main Trunk line of the great Denver and Rio Grande Railroad, also on the Arkansas river, which in length is one of America's greatest streams.

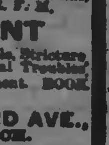
BLOOD POISON.

If you have this awful disease you are in danger until completely cured; the various symptoms you notice should be a warning to take immediate treatment. Don't put it off until too late, as it continually gets worse. If you have sore throat, patches on tongue or mouth, swollen glands, hair falling out, blotches on body, itching skin, or other signs of this awful disease, call on us. We give you a written guarantee to cure you by our LATEST METHOD TREATMENT without Mercury or Potassium, and You Pay When Cured. Each time you call you see Dr. Goldberg personally, who has 18 Diplomas, certificates and licenses received from the various colleges, hospitals and States, which testify to his standing and abilities.

The original testimonials can be seen at our office; $500.00 reward for any we cannot show; at request of patients we publish only the initials.



I am improving every day. I notice if I cut or scratch myself the sore will heal up. I hope you will not stop treating me as long as there is a sign of that terrible disease. I am more afraid of it than death. I believe you have the right medicine for the disease. I feel so thankful to you for the good you have done me; I was a perfect wreck when I came to you, and was on the verge of suicide. To make a sure thing I would like to continue a while longer, so that it will not return. Very respectfully yours, Mrs. L. S.

East Peterborough

Late returns from East Peterborough reduce Mr. Lang's majority very materially, it now being in the neighborhood of 150. Mr. Lang may, in a great measure, thank himself, for had he taken the trouble to organize, his majority of 1896 could easily have been maintained. There are still several places to hear from.

A Memorial to Dan Spence

The suggestion made some time ago, which was evidently lost sight of in the rush and excitement of the elections, that a monument be erected to the late Dan M. Spence, should be acted on at once. Mayor Kendry should take the initiative, and start the movement. The idea was first mentioned by Rev. Mr. Davidson, who is always first in praiseworthy matters of this kind. We hope the matter will not be allowed to stand longer than is necessary.

A Handsome Trophy

Mayor Kendry has presented to the Peterborough Golf Club a trophy for the club open championship, in the shape of a handsome solid silver server. This highly prized piece of plate is a selection from the stock of Messrs. Clarke & Gibson, jewellers, and bears the inscription, finely engraved:—

Presented

James Kendry, Esq., M.P.,
Mayor of Peterborough and Honorary President of the Peterborough Golf Club, for the Club Open Championship.
1899—Hampden Burnham.
Miss A. S. Hamilton.
1900—R. Miles Hamilton.
Miss A. S. Hamilton.

Wedding Bells

On Thursday afternoon a very pretty wedding was solemnized at All Saints' church, when Miss Mary Elliott, daughter of Mr. Wm. Elliott, was united in marriage to Mr. W. J. Roberts, all of Peterborough. Rev. W. L. Armitage officiated, and the social event was attended by a large number of friends and relatives of the contracting parties. The bride was assisted by her sister, Miss Maggie Elliott, while a brother of the groom, Mr. W. H. Roberts, aided the groomsman. After receiving the congratulations of their many friends, the bride and groom left by the 4.45 C.P.R. train upon a wedding trip to Toronto and other western points. The Times extends its heartiest congratulations.

JOTTINGS ABOUT TOWN.

—Court of Revision met last night.

—Ashburnham Council met last night.

—A charity ball will be given in the Opera House on the evening of November 21st.

—A union of the Peterborough Sunday school teachers was held in the Y.M.C.A. last night.

—The non-jury sittings of the High Court of Justice for the County of Peterborough, will be held on Nov. 27th.

Rich, warm, healthy blood is given by Hood's Sarsaparilla and thus coughs, colds and pneumonia are prevented. Take it now.

—The George street choir will give a special musical service Sunday evening next. Among the numbers the beautiful solo entitled "Singing in God's Acre," will be rendered.

—In Police Court yesterday morning three boys were charged with unlawful disturbance at a Chinese laundry on Hunter street. Sentence was suspended.

The Ontario volunteers will each be presented with 160 acres of land free of settlement duties and taxation for ten years. Every soldier will also be allowed to retain his rifle.

—A collection of photographs of past wardens and other members of St. John's congregation was unveiled in the school house last night. The ceremony was followed by a congregational reception, when the members of the congregation were entertained by the Girls' Guild. A very pleasing evening was spent.

Lindsay Post—Messrs. W. E. and D. E. Merriam, of Harwood, the leading frog catchers of the Midland district, were in town to-day on their way back from the north country. They have 9,000 batracians cooped up in a big pen on the banks of one of our northern lakes, awaiting an improvement in price in the American market.

Havelock Standard—The employees of the C.P.R. at this point have decided to hold a grand ball and supper in the town hall on Tuesday evening, November 27th. The music will be furnished by a first-class orchestra, and the supper will be served in the hall. Plainness of dress is specially requested by the committee. The tickets have been placed at $1.50 a couple.

—A bicycle was left at Nicholls' park on Saturday last, and it is desirable that its whereabouts should be discovered. The wheel belonged to Mr. McLeod, of the Y.M.C.A., who was injured in the football game, and who had ridden to the grounds on his wheel. He was driven home and his wheel left, and someone has probably taken it in, not knowing to whom it belonged. Word can be left at the Y. M. C. A. or the police station.

Jealous Rivals cannot turn back the tide. The demand for Dr. Agnew's little Pills is a marvel. Cheap to buy, but diamonds in quality—banish nausea, coated tongue, water brash, pain after eating, sick headache, never gripe, operate pleasantly. 10 cents.—37

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

The Times invites all its readers to contribute to this column items concerning the movements of well-known people, business men, and particulars of at homes, parties, etc. Telephone the Times, or send rough outline, and we will put it into shape.]

—Mr. Samuel Barker, Hamilton's new M. P., is the father of Mrs. R. M. Hamilton, of town.

—Rev. J. C. Davidson has returned from Toronto, where he had been in attendance at a meeting of the Synod.

Rugby.

Here's the fool way the London papers talk, taken from the Advertiser. —Yesterday afternoon Frank Hobbs, the captain of the London football team, received the following message from R. F. McWilliams, manager of the Peterborough aggregation: 'You need not come to executive meeting to-night, re-protested men. I will not push charges until after Saturday's match, as we want to pay your full team.' The Peterborough team is very magnanimous, after being defeated fairly the first time. However, the London boys are not afraid to meet them again, and expect to more than repeat the former dose. Frank Reid and Jack Gilmour will be in the game sure."

FOOD FOR ATHLETES.

Rebuilds Brain and Muscle

A young athlete, commenting on the need of well selected food to build up a man after over-study, says: "Two years ago I returned home from the university with my health quite run down from over-study and severe athletic training. I needed a good rest to put me right; but instead of taking it, went to work in an office with very confining duties.

"My health grew no better; I felt unfit to work and at night would lie awake several hours before sleep would come. The appetite was gone entirely. One morning a new dish appeared on the table, Grape-Nuts with cream. We all thought it an excellent food, and I not only enjoyed breakfast that day, but dinner and supper as well.

"This rather surprised me. Since that I have made the food a regular article of diet. I keep a box on hand at the office and often lunch on Grape-Nuts and cream instead of going home to dinner.

"Although it was in the summer when I started the use of the food, it was not long before I had gained 15 pounds, and I know it is from the use of this food that I can stand so well the indoor work. My health is now perfect; sleep sound and enjoy my meals, but find I do not need to eat so much volume of other food while eating Grape-Nuts.

"A short time ago I thought Grape-Nuts were commencing to disagree with me, but found it was because I was eating more than you recommend. I simply ate too much at a time and more than the system required. When I returned to the regular 'feed' of four heaping teaspoons, the old zest for the food returned."

This young man is a member of quite a famous family. He requests that his name be omitted, but the same can be furnished by application to the Postum Cereal Co., Ltd., Battle Creek, Mich.

"Love and a Cough. Cannot be Hid."

It is this fact that makes the lover and his sweetheart happy, and sends the sufferer from a cough to his doctor. But there are hidden ills lurking in impure blood. "The liver is wrong," it is thought, "or the kidneys." Did it ever occur to you that the trouble is in your blood?

Purify this river of life with Hood's Sarsaparilla. Then illness will be banished, and strong, vigorous health will result. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the best known, best endorsed and most natural of all blood purifiers.

Eczema—"I was run down with complaints peculiar to my sex. Large sores broke out on my body, head and limbs. I could not do any work on account of the itching. My trouble was termed eczema and I doctored for it for a long time. I then tried Hood's Sarsaparilla and several bottles effected a cure." MRS. J. G. BROWN, Brantford, Ont.

Organs Affected—"I was run down in health and had spells of coughing which left me prostrate. My lungs, heart and kidneys were affected. Took Hood's Sarsaparilla upon advice and soon felt better. I continued the treatment and now feel like a new woman." MRS. SOMMERVILLE, 217 Ossington Avenue, Toronto, Ont.

Municipal Elections.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—It is full time that matters were beginning to move in the local municipal field. We want a council next year who will not do their business behind closed doors; men who have no axes to grind, and who have some stake in the town. I hope The Times will take the matter up soon and prosecute it vigorously.

ELECTOR.

Milkmen's Rights.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—Statements have frequently appeared in the papers to the effect that disease germs are often conveyed by milk, and in consequence, much uneasiness has been found among the public. I have been in the milk business for over ten years, and have known what it is to supply 100 customers a day, and during that time there has been but three cases of scarlet fever, two of diphtheria, and during the past few days one of typhoid. The wife of the poor man who is suffering from typhoid fever, after taking milk from me for over eight years, went to her husband, laid up in the hospital, requesting him to buy no more milk from me, for fear the children might suffer. This is for no other reason than that men connected with the Board of Health have tried to shoulder the blame for disease on milk, when the cause can be found in other quarters.

MILKMAN.

THE USEFULNESS OF

Diamond Dyes

In Country Homes is Beyond Calculation.

Diamond Dyes are great blessings to every farmer's wife. No other article brought into country homes can give such a return of profit, pleasure and happiness as the Diamond Dyes.

A ten cent package of the world-famed Diamond Dyes will give new life to any faded and dingy dress, shirt, jacket or cape. From ten to twenty cents expended on Diamond Dyes will enable any one to re-color a faded suit of clothes for any youth or man, and make them look like new clothes from the Tailor's hands.

To get the best results from your work of home dyeing, do not allow any dealer to sell you some make of dyes that he calls JUST AS GOOD. No other package dyes in the world equal the Diamond Dyes in purity, strength and brilliancy.

What Could You Give,

To be cured of catarrh? If you or your friends have this disease, you know how disagreeable it is. Its symptoms are inflamed eyes, throbbing temples, ringing noises in the ears, headaches, capricious appetite, and constant discharge of mucus. Fortunately its cure is not a question of what you will give, but what you will take. If you will take Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great constitutional remedy, which thoroughly purifies, enriches and vitalizes the blood, you may expect to be completely cured. The good blood which Hood's Sarsaparilla makes, reaching the delicate passages of the mucous membrane, soothes and rebuilds the tissues and ultimately cures all symptoms of catarrh.

Head Office - Ottawa, Canada

A GOOD STRONG COMPANY HAS LONG BEEN NEEDED.

A good strong limited Produce Company, with a capital of $300,000 being established in Ottawa would open up a safe and responsible channel for Cheese, Butter, Eggs, Poultry and all manner of country produce, and all could feel confident in sending their produce to this warehouse for safe keeping, and at the same time be in direct communication with Great Britain and all the markets of the world. Nearly all the large produce houses of Montreal and Great Britain have now become limited Liability Companies, as the products of our country require so much capital to manipulate that it is much better to have sufficient resources to handle them. Country Merchants, FARMERS, FACTORY MEN, AND THE COUNTRY PEOPLE in general should be greatly interested in this Company, as it will be of great advantage to them, and in the meantime the Company will surely pay a handsome dividend to all the stockholders. THE OTTAWA PRODUCE COMPANY, LIMITED, who are taking over the present Cold Storage Building on Nicholas Street, consider it not sufficiently large to carry on the business of the Ottawa section and therefore propose adding to the present refrigerator a suitable addition. The ice will be done away with and the Cold Air or chemical system will be introduced. A good independent Railway siding will be placed alongside the building, as the near proximity of the building to the Central Station is such that this can be done at practically no cost, giving the Company direct communication with the Canadian Pacific Railway, Canada Atlantic Railway, Parry Sound Railway and port of Montreal, as well as a connection with the Ottawa and Gatineau, Ottawa & New York Railway, and Pontiac and Pacific Junction. This Produce House will prove of great advantage to Cheese and Factory men, as when the markets are dull their goods can be stored until such time as the market would improve, thereby enabling them not to be compelled to send their Cheese to be stored in Montreal, as it is better to handle, inspect and pay for them near home. The Jobbing Trade of Ottawa city will be sufficient to pay the running expenses of the concern.

It is seldom one has an opportunity to invest in such a good solid concern, showing 25 per cent.

PROSPECTUS

THE OTTAWA PRODUCE COMPANY, LIMITED, has been formed to consolidate three large and well paying businesses in the Produce line, together with the building, plant and property connected with the Ottawa Cold Storage Company, Limited. The before mentioned Cold Storage Building being one of the finest in Canada.

ASSETS OF THE COMPANY.

1. The business, building and plant of the Ottawa Cold Storage Company.
2. The business connection and brands of Eggs controlled exclusively by WM. MELDRUM & CO., of Montreal, the largest dealer in Canadian Eggs for export, together with the personal supervision of Mr. Meldrum over this branch of the business.
3. The business and connection of A. A. DAVIS & CO., Brockville, one of the largest butter and cheese exporters to the British Markets from Canada, together with the personal supervision of Mr. Davis over the cheese and butter business.

INTENTIONS OF THE COMPANY

THE OTTAWA PRODUCE COMPANY, LIMITED, intend in as large a measure as possible to control the surplus supply of the Eggs, Cheese and Butter, produced yearly in the Ottawa Valley, and with this purpose in view it has been formed with ample Capital, and has been able to secure, together with the splendid Cold Storage Building already mentioned, the valuable co-operation of WM. MELDRUM & CO., of Montreal, the well known Egg shippers, and A. A. DAVIS & CO., of Brockville, whose connection with the markets of Great Britain is one of the largest possessed by any Canadian firm doing business as Cheese and Butter exporters.

Recently, owing to certain difficulties which the Ottawa Valley Merchants have had with Eastern firms, they have concluded that a large exporting firm with head office and Cold Storage building in Ottawa would be much more satisfactory to them, inasmuch as the railway facilities and other means of transport are quite as good from Ottawa as elsewhere, and also for the reason that Ottawa City is surrounded with as good a Produce country, if not better, than any city in Canada.

EGGS

PROFITS OF THE VARIOUS PRODUCE WHICH THE COMPANY PROPOSE TO HANDLE

The Promoters and Managing Director of this Company, assisted by a number of leading Produce Merchants, have gone carefully into the matter of output and profit of the Egg business in the Ottawa Valley, and have come to the conclusion THAT THE OTTAWA PRODUCE COMPANY, LIMITED, can handle over a million dozen of Eggs every season at a profit of at least 3c. per dozen, and it is a well-known fact that the average price paid for this little article of diet, bought early in the season is 9c. to 11c. per dozen, and these eggs are never sold for less than 14c. to 15c. per dozen, during the fall and winter season, and frequently at a higher rate. HOWEVER, ASSUMING THAT THE OTTAWA PRODUCE COMPANY, LIMITED, HANDLE A MILLION DOZEN OF EGGS, WHICH IT IS QUITE EASY FOR IT TO DO, AND SELL THEM AT THE MINIMUM PRICE OF 14c. PER DOZEN, THE COMPANY HAS THE NICE PROFIT OF $30,000 ON ITS EGG TURNOVER ALONE, OR A 10 PER CENT DIVIDEND ON THE WHOLE CAPITAL OF THE COMPANY.

CHEESE

The Promoters, assisted by the Managing Director and leading Produce Merchants, who have dealt during the past years largely in Cheese, after carefully investigating this feature of the business have come to the conclusion that with the connection this Company have in England, through MR. DAVIS, the Ottawa Produce Co., Ltd., can handle 150,000 boxes of Cheese per annum bought for English account or consigned. In either case it is a conservative estimate that the OTTAWA PRODUCE COMPANY, LIMITED, will make 20c. per box or the nice profit of $30,000 per annum on the Turnover of Cheese with no loss to itself, as its system of Cold Storage will be such that no Cheese will spoil on its hands, and consequently leave no room for loss.

BUTTER

The Promoters assisted by the Managing Director and leading Produce Merchants, have also carefully investigated the Butter business, and have come to the conclusion that the OTTAWA PRODUCE COMPANY, LIMITED, can handle two million pounds of Butter, produced yearly in the fertile Ottawa Valley, out of which they estimate there can be made 1c. per pound profit. And it might be stated here that this estimate is a very conservative one, as most of the Butter handled by the Produce Merchants net them over 2c. per pound. Think for yourself the quantity of Butter that can be bought early in the season for 18c., and realise the price it sells for, both in Ottawa and Montreal, as the winter progresses, and you will see clearly that the profit of 1c. per lb. estimated by this Company is by no means an exaggeration, and yet here is another $20,000 profit to swell the dividends for the shareholders of this Company.

POULTRY HANDLED ON COMMISSION

In addition to the before mentioned business the Directors of the OTTAWA PRODUCE COMPANY, LIMITED, feel justified in the belief that they can make an additional $10,000 profit by handling Poultry on Commission for shipment to the British market. The means of transport across the Atlantic have been so much improved in the matter of Cold Storage Canadian Poultry can be delivered in England in the best condition. Canadian poultry is in great demand in England at the present time.

The jobbing trade done in Ottawa City alone in Turkeys and Chickens is enormous.

NET PROFITS

1,000,000 doz. Eggs, bought from 9 to 11c., sold at 14c	$30,000
2,000,000 lbs. Butter, sold at a profit of 1c per lb	20,000

Cheese, 150,000 Boxes, profit 20c. per box, a commission of 1-4c. per lb., 80lb. boxes	10,000
Profits	$90,000
Cost of operating and handling these products	10,000
Profit and loss account, including shrinkage, carriage, etc	15,000
Leaving the splendid net profits for dividends to the Shareholders of the Company of	$65,000

Or sufficient to pay 7 per cent on Preferred Stock and 28 per cent. on the whole of the Common stock.

A CO-OPERATIVE COMPANY

The Company has been exceedingly fortunate in being able to secure the hearty co-operation of such well known Produce men as Wm. Meldrum, of Montreal, Mr. A. A. Davis, of Brockville, Mr. Joseph Kavanagh, late President of Ottawa Cheese Board, Mr. B. Slattery, meat merchant, and also Mr. Frank O'Reilly, the latter's experience at the market in Lower Town for so many years being such as to inspire confidence among the many farmers who bring in their Produce to Ottawa on Market Days, Mr. O'Reilly being personally acquainted with nearly all of them, while the long and many successful years of business enjoyed by such men as Mr. Joseph Kavanagh as a produce merchant, and Mr. B. Slattery as a meat merchant well known in Ottawa and the surrounding country gives additional strength to the board.

MANAGEMENT OF THE COMPANY

As the management of a company of this kind is one of its strong points, we would just mention that the directors of this Company are all men of most careful and shrewd judgement and men who have made money for themselves in their own business, consequently they can be relied upon to look after the interests of this Company in the most careful manner, as they have all invested their capital in the enterprise and believe that it cannot be other than a great success.

SUBSCRIPTIONS

All the money realized under subscription will be devoted absolutely without deduction to the business of the Company. No cents whatever will be deducted from this amount save the cost of advertising and the cost of obtaining the charter. SUBSCRIPTION BOOKS will be opened at the office of Sutherland & Kelly, 48 Sparks St., on Tuesday, October 30th, at 10 o'clock, and close not later than Saturday, 17th November, at 3 o'clock. Subscriptions will be received for one share and upwards, and they must be accompanied by a marked check for ten per cent. of the amount subscribed for, made out to THE OTTAWA TRUST AND DEPOSIT COMPANY, LIMITED, as Trustees for THE OTTAWA PRODUCE COMPANY, LIMITED, and in allotment preference will be given to residents of the various outlying towns in the Ottawa Valley, farmers in the near vicinity and residents of Ottawa. The right is reserved by the Company to close the subscription books at any time before three o'clock on Wednesday, 7th November, and to allot in whole or in part of application and to reject any application.

2,000 PREFERENCE SHARES AT PAR, $100,000

Carrying a bonus of 2,000 common shares of $50 each (the bonus shares being fully paid up by the transfer of property and non-assessable.)

The 7 per cent. preference stock is cumulative, carries yearly dividends and has priority over the common shares as to both dividends and assets.

Subscriptions are payable 10 per cent on application, 15 per cent on allotment, 10 per cent on the 1st of January, 15 per cent on the 1st of March, 25 per cent on the 1st of June, 25 per cent on the 1st of September, 1901, with the privilege of making prepayment of any instalment, at any instalment date. Subscription forms may be had on application to SUTHERLAND & KELLY, 48 Sparks St., or at the office of THE OTTAWA TRUST AND DEPOSIT CO., LIMITED.

APPENDIX

Reasons why you should invest in THE OTTAWA PRODUCE COMPANY, LIMITED.

1. Because an Investment showing such splendid profits is rarely offered to the public.
2. Because the Directors of this Company are men of the highest standing, successful in their own business for many years, and they can be relied upon to govern this business in the most careful way.
3. Because there has never been a first-class and well-equipped cold storage company in Ottawa, and this Company should be encouraged, as they will save an enormous amount of money for the farmers and cheese men of the Ottawa Country, which will be largely spent in Ottawa City, thereby benefiting the city merchants and community at large.
4. Because this Company will be a decided convenience to the public, and the public should share the profits.

CANADIANS AGAIN WIN DISTINCTION

They Stopped a Gharge of Boers and Galloped two Miles and Seized a Kopje

COL. EVANS AND LESSARD SPECIALLY MENTIONED

Rifles, Mounted Men and Artillery Bore the Brunt of the Fight—Gallant Work of Canadiabs in Protecting Convoys.

London, Nov. 10.—Lord Roberts, telegraphing from Johannesburg under date of November 8, gives an interesting report to the War Office.

He says:

"General Knox states that he takes no credit for the very successful engagement of Nov. 6, which was due, in the first instance, to the determination of Le Gallais never to lose touch with the enemy, and secondly, to the able why in which De Lisle handled the line after Le Gallais and Ross were wounded.

"Smith-Dorien reports that the two day's fighting mentioned was very hard. His force consisted of 250 mounted troops from the Fifth Lancers, the Royal Canadian Dragoons and Mounted Rifles, two Royal Canadian Artillery guns, four guns of the Eighty-Fourth Battery, and 900 infantry of the Suffolks and Shropshires.

"Our causalties the first day were six killed and twenty wounded, chiefly of the Shropshires, who fought splendidly. The next day the Boers tried to seize the strong position on the bank of the Komati from which they were beaten out Nov. 6, but were prevented by Col. Evans, the Canadian Mounted Troops and two of the Eighty-Fourth guns galloping two miles and seizing it in the nick of time. The rear on the return march was defended by Col. Lessard, with the Canadian Dragoons and two Royal Canadian guns under Lieutenant Morrisey.

"Smith-Dorien says no praise can be too high for the devoted gallantry these troops showed in keeping off the enemy from the infantry convoys.

"In the afternoon an event unprecendented in this war occurred when some 200 mounted Boers suddenly charged the rear guard to within seventy yards, when they were stopped by the Canadian dragoons. During the fight sixteen of the Canadians fell into the hands of the enemy, who treated them kindly and released them after removing their own dead and wounded, during this operation the Canadians were compelled to lie on their faces in order that they might not see how heavily the Boers had suffered.

"Our casualties were two killed and twelve wounded."

THE UNDOING OF CRONJE.

London, Nov. 10.—As the first Canadian contingent struck the blow which proved the undoing of Cronje on February 27th, so the second Canadian contingent inflicted the most serious defeat which De Wet, the great Boer guerilla leader, has yet sustained, on Nov. 6th. The story of the battle waged on Tuesday last, near Bothaville, on the banks of the Komati River, places the Canadian mounted force in the front rank of this branch of the British service, just as the work of the Canadian infantry placed them alongside of historical regiments of the line for unflinching courage and endurance. The battle which resulted in the fight of De Wet, the dispersion of of his force and the capture of his guns and munitions of war gave the mounted force an opportunity to display to the uttermost the lessons learned in the Canadian Northwest, and added to during a year's campaigning among the Boers. To perform valuable services in forestalling an enemy above to seize a vital position, to drive off onslaughts upon convoys, to stop a desperate charge and to be especially mentioned in the Commander-in-Chief's despatches is a lot which does not often during a war fall to a body of troops, and Britain rejoices that her colonial sons have again come to the front. Confidence is being felt that the capture and downfall of De-Wet are at hand. Now that the Canadian Rifles are on his track it is believed that he cannot much longer elude the victors. The Canadians have given an earnest of what is likely to happen, for at the first onset they have so crippled the Boer guerilla that he is a fugitive leader without a force without the wherewithal to keep a force in the field.

CORP. MACDONALD MISSING.

Ottaw, Nov. 10.—Sir Alfred Milner cable the Militia Department that Corp. Macdonald, of Mounted Infantry, is missing.

A cable from Col. Drury says that Artillery Dragoons and Rifles will sail for Halifax about December 1.

DULLER'S WELCOME HOME.

London, Nov. 10.—Lord Wolseley went to Southampton to welcome Gen. Buller on his return from South Africa. Lady Audrey and Miss Buller were also at Southampton last evening, and the meeting between them and the general was very touching. General Buller is recognized on all sides as a fighter, and, while certain errors and miscalculations have partly diminished the brilliance of his achievements, the task which he undertook was immeasurably greater than that of the other commanders. This fact is now being generally understood, and his reception on reaching Southampton, if it was not on a grand scale, certainly lacked nothing in the way of enthusiasm.

LIEUT. EMSLEY WOUNDED.

Toronto. Nov. 10

Word has been received at Stanley barracks from Ottawa that Lieut. Emsley, of this city, and now with the Canadian Mounted Infantry in South Africa, was among the wounded in the big fight reported with De Wet, and in which that corps so distinguished itself. Lieut. Emsley was stationed at the front prior to his departure to the scene of war, and was very popular among his comrades.

PRAISE FOR CANADIANS.

Cape Town. Nov. 10.—Gen, Knox gives credit to the determination of Col. Legallais never to lose touch of the Boers. He also acknowledges the valuable work of the Canadians in frustrating the Boers from retaking the captured position on Koomati river and in protecting the convoys and infantry from the Boer attacks on the return march. The Canadians' gallantry stopped a charge of 200 mounted Boers, who had come within 70 yards of their rear guard.

THREE FISHERMEN LOST THEIR LIVES

Went Out to Raise Nets Against the Advice of Friends.

Southampton, Ont., Nov. 10.—Peter Devine, Frank Pope, and George Varey, fishermen, lost their lives on Thursday morning, while attempting to lift some gill-nets near the mouth of Sauble river. A heavy storm was rising, and the men, who were skilled boatmen, went out against the advice of their friends. They had party succeeded in their task, when a heavy sea washed them overboard, upsetting the boat, the nets preventing the boat righting itself. The struggling men were so close to land that their voices could be heard, and the wives of two of the men stood on the shore calling frantically to their husbands and receiving replies.

Varey several times dived and attempted to free the boat, for over an hour keeping up the struggle, yet in all that time no help could reach the drowning men. Pope called out to his companions to look after his wife and little ones, as he disappeared. Peter Tettle, the only one of the party to survive, was not rescued from his dangerous position until three o'clock in the afternoon, having been in the water from about nine o'clock in the morning.

TOOK CARBOLIC TO END HIS LIFE

Found Dead in Bed at Tremont House, Toronto.

HAD CASHED A FORGED CHECK

Toronto, Nov. 10.— Frank Jackman 21 years old, who lived with his parents at 226 Berkeley street, was found dead in bed at the Tremont House last night. On the floor beside the bed lay an empty two-ounce bottle labelled "Carbolic acid—Poison," also a glass, and a letter, which read as follows: "To the finder of my body: I am tired of life, and take this manner to end it. I am unworthy of the care of my kind mother." Coroner Greig has issued a warrant for an inquest The body was removed to B. D. Humphrey's undertaking establishment.

Between 12 and 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon Jackman walked into the Tremont House and entered his name on the register as Norman Van Allan, Toronto. He called for a glass of lager, and after drinking it he called for a room and retired.

During yesterday afternoon the hotel clerk, S. G. Meyers, was passing the room, and as nothing had been seen or heard of the occupant, he called a bell-boy, Harry Landsdale, and had him climb in through the transom and open the door when the above sight met their gaze.

STORY OF A CHECK.

The cause of the man's sucide is an interesting story of a forgery, which was committed on March 24 last. On that date the Front street firm of H. P. Eckardt & Co. were to mail a check for $390, to close a deal with a Parkdale commission merchant, Thomas W. Van Allan, but who was none other than Frank Jackman, of 226 Berkeley street had at that time been in the employ of the Eckardt firm for about five weeks as junior clerk, and in some way he became aware of the sending of the check. When he obtained an opportunity he abstracted the letter from the mail, opened it, and took out the check. He went with it to the Molsons Bank, on which it was drawn, at the corner of King and Bay streets, forged the Parkdale merchant's name to it, and presented it to paying Teller John T. Belcher for payment. It was a very busy time of day, and the teller merely asked him to sign his own name on the back of it, and then cashed it. Of course, the Eckardt firm repudiated the check, as Mr. Dutton said he had never received or cashed it.

HE DISAPPEARED.

About that time Jackman disappeared. Everything possible was done by the bank officials to locate the forger, who was supposed to have skipped to Buffalo, but in vain, and the case was handed to the detective department some days ago. After a number of enquiries they became aware that the man they wanted was in the city, but could not find him, so carefully did he seem to have concealed himself. The fact now transpires that he had been tending bar at the Richardson House, at the corner of King street and Spadina avenue, all the time since he left the Eckardt company.

Jackman, who was 21 years of age, had been a wild a wayward boy from youth, and had given his relatives no end of trouble. Since the forgery was discovered they have been endeavoring to come to some arrangement with the bank for a settlement, but a few days ago their last resources failed them, and they told the bank to go on with any proceedings they wished to take. Jackman evidently thought the police had spotted him, and took his own life.

Card of Thanks

To the Electors of West Peterborough:

Gentlemen,—Permit me in a few words, to publicly express my thanks to all those who worked so energetically to promote my candidature in the election contest that concluded yesterday. This of course includes those who took the platform so efficiently in my behalf, as well as those gentlemen who composed the several committees of my organization. The hearty support contributed by the Examiner, its able, intelligent and comprehensive advocacy of the principles of the Liberal party, and of the candidate's claims, deserve particular recognition. And while it is to be regretted that all these factors were not successful in achieving success, I am free to say that my personal want of success, while naturally a disappointment, is more than recompensed by the return of a Liberal Government, which will continue to give to the country the benefits of energetic, effective and capable administration.

In the future as in the past it will always be my endeavor to promote in every possible way the interests and prosperity of West Peterborough, and any influence I may have with the Government will be cheerfully used in doing this. My services will always be at the disposal of the Liberal party whenever required.

I remain, gentlemen,

Your obedient servant,

J. R. McCLELLAN.

Peterborough, November 8, 1900.

MacARTHUR WILL COMMAND IN PERSON

Americam Commander-in-Chief to Direct the Campaign.

New York, Nov. 10.—Major-Gen. MacArthur will personally direct the vigorous military operations to be directed against the Filipino insurgents, says a despatch to the Herald from Washington. Major-Gen. F. C. Bates probably will be assigned to duties in Manila, as the executive head of the military government in the Philippines during the absence in the field of Gen. MacArthur. It is not proposed by either the President or Gen. MacArthur that there shall be any repetition of the policy of Gen. Otis in the matter of the commanding general remaining in Manila instead of taking the field.

Gen. MacArthur is a better fighting man than an executive, and he has clearly indicated that as soon as the rainy season has ended he would take personal command of his troops. This action has received the emphatic approval of the President, especially in view of the expedition that Gen. Bates, who is a splendid executive, will probably take Gen. MacArthur's place in Manila.

MERRICKVILLE HOTEL DESTROYED BY FIRE

Guests Barely Escape With Only a Part of Their Clothing.

Merrickville, Ont., Nov. 10.—About 4 o'clock this morning, the Windsor Hotel here was discovered to be on fire, and had made such headway that it was impossible to save even a part of the contents. Inmates barely escaped with a part of their clothing. The building was owned by Mrs. Josiah Payne and occupied by Mr. J. R. Wright. The building and contents were a total loss. The building was insured in the Queen's for $6,000. There was $500 insurance on the outbuildings, which were saved. The loss on the building is about $11,000, besides that on furniture and stock. The insurance on the furniture is about $800.

PRECAUTIONS AT GIBRALTAR

Governor Gives Power to Expel Any One Held to Be Undesirable.

Gibraltar, Nov. 12.—An order in council empowering the Governor to expel any person from Gibraltar he judges undesirable has been promulgated. British and other residents not employed in her majesty's service are required to register at the police office and must take out permits.

WEATHER NOTES.

Probs: Cold weather with strong winds and gales from north and west.

The storm is now centred over the Gulf of St. Lawrence, and westerly gales prevail in the Maritime Provinces and near the New England coast. Another low area is now approaching the Lake region from the West, and it is probable that light snows will be pretty general in Ontario, and that moderately cold weather, with strong northwest winds, will continue during the day.

A Valuable Document

Lt.-Col. E. B. Edwards has received from Mr. Christopher Robinson, Q.C., Toronto, a very interesting document to be placed in the Victoria Museum. It is in the form of an address from the citizens of Peterborough to the late Sir Breverly Robinson, one of Ontario's most distinguished Chief Justices, who held the first court in the new court house which was erected in the year 1834. The address contains the names of about two hundred of the town's most prominent citizens at that time, all of whom perhaps with the exception of two or three have passed away. Reference is made in the address to the Robinson emigration. It will indeed be a valuable addition to the collection of ancient documents already in Victoria museum.

Two Thousand Recruits for the Philippines

New York, Nov. 12.—The transport Kilpatrick sailed to-day with 1,000 recruits for the regiments in the Philippines. The recruits were under command of Col. Tully McCree, Sixth Artillery. Another thousand recruits bound for the same service sailed on the 5th of November on the transport Buford. The following officers sailed on the Kilpatrick.

Major Jacob A. Augar, 4th Cavalry and Palmer G. Wood, 41st Infantry, U. S. A. Captain Guy C. M. Godfrey, assistant surgeon, and Waldo E. Ayer, 12th Infantry; First Lieutenants John H. Hines, 2nd Infantry; William E. Dove 12th Infantry, and Benjamin M. Hartishorne Jr., 8th Infantry.

Monitor Arkansas Launched.

Newport News, Va., Nov. 12.—The Monitor Arkansas slid gracefully into the water to-day. Governor Jones of Arkansas, by request of citizens of the State, named his daughter Miss Babbie Newton Jones to name the vessel, and she gracefully performed that pleasing task. Owing to the death of C. P. Huntington, the patron of this city, the function was an informal one. It is expected that the monitors not yet launched will be in the water before the close of the year, so all four of this type of ship will be afloat before the year ends.

William Wilfrid Campbell

The Fortnightly Club has made arrangements for a series of lectures to be delivered here during the winter, and the first of these will be given on the evening of November 20th, in the Y.M.C.A. Hall by William Wilfrid Campbel. Mr. Campbell, as all know, is the most admired of Canadian poets, and the Fortnightly Club is to be congratulated on being in a position to secure his presence in Peterborough. His subject for the evening will be, 'Our National Inheritance.'

MR. E. B. OSLER GETS THE CALL.

He Is Chosen on Saturday as the Conservative Leader.

Montreal, Nov. 11.—At a meeting of the leaders of the Conservative party, which was attended by nearly all the representative Conservatives, it was decided to offer the leadership of the party, rendered vacant by the retirement of Sir Charles Tupper, to Mr. E. B. Osler, M.P., of Toronto.

SCOTCH LORD ONLY AN OFFICE HAND

Lord Fairfax Works for a Firm of Bankers in New York

New York, Nov. 10.—Every work day morning at 9 o'clock a handsome young man, tall, erect and dressed in deep mourning, enters the counting room of Brown Bros. & Co., at 59 Wall street, and takes his position behind a desk, with a score of other clerks. In a few minutes he is immersed in the business of the big firm.

If this young man was a resident of Scotland, where his ancestors lived, he would be addressed as "your Lordship." Here in New York he is simply Mr. Fairfax. In reality he is the only American citizen who can rightfully use the title of Lord. He is Albert Kirby Fairfax, otherwise Baron Fairfax, of Cameron, to which title he succeeded upon the death of his father last week.

Young Lord Faixfax, who is the twelfth Baron, and is the oldest son of the late Baron John Coutell Fairfax, of Northampton, Prince George county, Md., was born in 1870. In appearance he is much younger. This may be in a measure due to his light silken hair, which, with an unusually pallid complexion and deep blue eyes, suggest the Saxon.

FAIRFAX UNMARRIED.

Lord Fairfax is unmarried. His brother, Charles Edmond, is the next in line of succession. Like his father, the present Lord is unaffected and modest to a degree. He is plain in dress and quiet in manner. He is much like other young men of his age and similar pursuit in life, save that his manner is unusually reserved, and in his quiet dignity the real gentleman is ever apparent. How some young men with far more money than Lord Fairfax would revel in his title and ancestry!

The Fairfax peerage dates from 1627. It was Thomas, the sixth Baron of that line, who left Scotland and settled in Virginia in 1739. He had inherited a tract of about 6,000,000 acres of land, called the Northern Neck, between the Rappahannock and Potomac rivers. Upon this vast estate he erected two mansions, Belvoir and Greenway Court, where he lived for years in state in true baronial fashion.

Northampton, the present home of the Fairfax family, is a tract of land of about 700 acres, which the late Lord Fairfax purchased from the descendants of former Governor Spriggs, of Maryland. The property was at one time a part of a tract owned by Lord Baltimore.

AN OLD HOUSE.

The old house on the plantation is over 150 years old. In it the present Lord Fairfax and his sisters and brothers Sister Mary Cecilia, of New York; Mrs. Tunstall Smith, of Baltimore; and two daughters who have never left their ancestral home—Caroline Snowden and Frances Mervin Fairfax, were born. It is a quaint old structure for a baronial home. It has a frontage of over 100 feet and is about thirty feet deep with a great wide hallway running through the middle. Surrounding this house are numerous others, barns and servants' houses, while venerable trees and foliage shade the ground for acres.

There are many quaint relics in the possession of the Fairfax family. Old heirlooms, family portraits of former lords and ladies of the house of Cameron, and some ancient plate. Most of the family's valuable possessions, however, are stored here in New York in the care of the present head of the house. Young Lord Fairfax does not go into society to any extent. Many doors would be open to him, but he prefers the company of old acquaintances.

His ambition is not to go to England and take his seat in the House of Lords, to which he is entitled, but to become a banker and acquire wealth sufficient to restore the glories of old Fairfax in the South.

KENTUCKY GIRL WEDS A LORD

Miss Grace Carr and Lord Newborough Are Married in London.

London, Nov 12.— Miss Grace Carr, daughter of H. M. Carr of Kentucky, was married at noon to-day in the Royal Savoy chapel to Lord Charles Wynn Newborough. Joseph Choate, the American Ambassador, lave the bride away. The bridesmaids were two children, Alice Chauncey, a niece of the bride, and Doris De Halpert, a cousin of the bridegroom. The wedding was a very quiet one.

RECEPTIONS FOR KRUGER.

Various Towns in France Prepare to Honor the Boer President.

Paris, Nov. 12.—Mr. Kruger will arrive at Marseilles Nov. 17. A reception committee of the local Boer society will go to meet him. Mr. Kruger will make brief stops at Avignon, Lyons, and Dijon, where receptions will be given him. He will arrive in Paris on the morning of Nov. 18.

BOERS PUT TO HASTY FLIGHT

Crushing Defeat of 1,000 by Col. Legallais.

DE WET LOSES PRESTIGE.

As Leader of the Boer Forces This Defeat Will Lessen His Influence.

Pretoria, Nov. 11.—The British have re-occupied Philippolis after four hours fighting. Gen. French will take command of the Joannesburg district. The condition of Miss Roberts, daughter of Lord Roberts is more serious.

Cape Town, Nov. 11.—Among the Boers who were killed in the recent fighting near Belfast were Gen. Furie and commander Prinsle.

London, Nov. 10.—The War Office has received the folllowing despatch from Lord Roberts, under date of Johannesburg, Nov 8th.

"Col. Legallais surprised the Boers on the night of Nov. 5th, three miles south of Bothaville, and was heavily engaged for five hours. The enemy's strength was 1,000.

"General Charles Knox followed with DeLisle's mounted Infantry, and completely defeated the enemy. We captured one 12-pounder, taken at Sanna's post; one 15-pounder, taken at Colenso; four Krupp guns, one pom-pom, and one Maxim, with all the ammunition and waggons.

"We took 100 prisoners. Twenty-five dead and 30 wounded Boers were found on the field.

"Steyn and De Wet were with the force, and left in great haste. We pursued the enemy for some miles to the south-east, when they broke up into small parties.

LOST OFFICERS AND MEN.

"Our casualties were Col. Legallais, Capt. Engiebath, Lieut. Williams, and eight men killed, and seven officers and twenty-six men wounded.

"I deeply regret the loss of these three officers, as all were most promising. The loss of Legallais is a very serious one, as he was a most gallant and capable cavalry leader.

"The fighting was mostly at close quarters, 'U' Battery, of the Royal Horse Artillery, being in action at a distance of 400 yards.

"Among the wounded prisoners is De Villatos, who was Steyn's secretary. Among the dead on the field was a Boer doctor with a Red Cross on his arm and a rifle in his hand, wearing a half-emptied bandolier.

Lord Roberts adds that the Boers fired into the Modder River camp on Wednesday. He also describes minor fights in the southeastern part of the Orange River Colony, and also at Harrismith, Zeerust and Doornautha.

Col. Legallais, who commanded the British force in this brilliant action, was killed. He was one of Lord Kitchener's men, who greatly distinguished himself in the Khartoum campaign, was one of the best cavalry officers in the British army, and was only 29 years of age. Lord Kitchener has the reputation of being a cold, unsentimental General, who never appreciates what is done for him. He has refuted this reputation in South Africa, where nearly all the officers who did exceptionally good work before Khartoum have been singled out for promotion and for places of honor and difficulty. While the two Boer leaders escaped, their commando lost all its guns and supplies, and was utterly routed.

HIS PRESTIGE IMPAIRED.

Gen. De Wet is now the real leader of the Boer cause, and his prestige will be impaired by this serious defeat. A dozen other Boer Generals are still in the field. Gen. Botha, whose health is improved, is on the veldt near Waterval, and Gen. Viljoen is near him, with Gen. Delarey. Gen. Schalk Burger is in the mountains near Lydenburg, and General Erasums to the south, while Generals Grobler and Lemmer are in various sections of the Transvaal.

Lord Roberts has evidently made the capture of Gen De Wet and Mr. Steyn his next work, and is employing mobile mounted forces to hunt them down at all hazards.

INSURRECTION SPREADING.

Japan Will Likely Intervene in Southern China.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 11.—Russia is becoming increasingly restless on account of the strict course of the allies, particularly the Germans and British toward the Chinese. "Russians," says the Bourse Gazette "will reap the hatred of foreigners which the Germans and British are sowing."

London, Nov. 12.—"Serious friction has been caused by the peace negotiations in Pekin," says the Daily Mail's correspondent at Tien Tsin, wiring November 9, "by Belgium, Denmark, Holland and Spain clamoring to have a locus stand in any important decisions. Russia and France have supported their claims, which are opposed by the Powers. Belgium is especially importunate and intensely pro-Russian."

London, Nov. 12.—Dr. Morrison, wiring to the Times from Pekin, Saturday, says: "Li Hung Chang has not yet replied to Admiral Alexieff's invitation to resume the Government of Manchuria under Russian protection. Russia will require the names of all officials to be submitted to her for approval. Her proposals are tantamount to military occupation, and every Chinaman realizes that Manchuria is lost to China.

"Increasing alarm is felt here at the speed of the insurrection in the southern provinces. No surprise will be caused if Japan intervenes. The situation in the south is very gloomy."

PETERBOROUGH, NOVEMBER 10, 1900

KRUGER HAS NO FRIENDS.

If there is any truth in the statement that Kruger went to Europe on the strength of a promise by the Czar of Russia to offer to mediate between Great Britain and the Transvaal, as soon as his hands were free in China, the ex-President's hopes must have received a severe setback by the publication of the Anglo-German treaty, which makes it most unlikely that any European power or combination of powers would dare to interfere. It is most probable, however, that the story is without foundation. If Russia had ever intention of leading countenance to the Transvaal the time to do it was when Britain was meeting with her early reverses and the sentiment of all Europe seemed to be arrayed against her. Interference, now that the Transvaal is practically conquered, would be tantamount to a declaration of hostility, and even without the Chinese embroglio, neither Russia or France, or both together, would probably care to face a war in which Germany was behind Great Britain. Kruger could only have remained in the Transvaal by attaching himself to one of the roving commandoes, which to a man of his age and habits would have been most irksome, if indeed he could have endured the hardships and privations of a guerilla camp. There is absolutely nothing to indicate that his retirement to Europe has any political significance, but of course there are bound to be rumors of such a nature so long as the Boers keep up their fight against British conquest.

HOW IT HAPPENED.

Now that the smoke of battle has lifted the London News sees the reasons for the defeat of the Conservatives. The once great party has been at six and sevens ever since the death of Sir John Macdonald, and Sir Charles Tupper, the present leader, did not command the loyalty of his followers to anything like the same extent as Sir Wilfrid Laurier does the loyalty of his.

Outside the charge that the Liberals had broken their pledges there were absolutely no issues worthy the name. The tariff differences between the parties are theoretical, not practical. Both are protectionist—the Conservatives frankly, the Liberals tacitly.

Had the country suffered trade depression by reason of the Government's violation of its pledges it would probably have gone hard with the Libaral party, but the country proposed, instead, and Canadians have got used to political pledge breaking and do not view it very sternly.

The defeat of the Conservatives and the leaving at home of nearly all their leaders will inevitably result in a reconstruction of the party. Sir Charles Tupper is evidently not a successful leader, and will probably be content to make way now for a younger man, preferably Hugh John Macdonald

As for the Liberals they have a great chance to strengthen their hold on the people in the next four years by a more rigid adherence to pledges and a more economical administration.

There are dangerous features about the voting, Ontario and Quebec having ranged themselves against each other, but Sir Wilfrid's sunny ways will doubtless preserve a measure of harmony.

The big Conservative gains in Ontario are probably accounted for by the fact that the remedial bill was not working havoc in the Conservative ranks this time.

The extraordinary features of the contest were the defeats of so many Conservative leaders and the unanimity of the Liberal vote in Quebec.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

One thing about it, Sir Charles has the consolation of knowing that Bryan was beaten first.

•• • ••

The sooner the conservatives find in Quebec a man who will measure somewhere near to the Liberal leader the sooner will they re-establish party lines in that province.

•• • ••

•• • ••

Even the most rapid Liberal will admit now that the deed is done that the Conservative party makes a very handsome corpse.

•• • ••

It's always the way. A lot of chaps who thought they were running have discovered that they were only going at a slow walk.

•• • ••

Quebec might as well have made it unanimous.

•• • ••

An interesting paradox is concealed in the reflection that though Sir Charles Tupper is heap sight older than Sir Wilfrid he hasn't yet attained his majority.

•• • ••

Sir Wilfrid Laurier	2,500
Sir Richard Cartwright	2,000
Hon. Wm. Paterson	1,200
Hon. Wm. Mulock	500
Hon. Jas. Sutherland	2,000
Hon Sidney Fisher	500
Hon J. I. Tarte	1,763
Hon. Chas. Fitzpatrick	1,500
Hon. W. S. Fielding	500
Hon. A. G. Blair	1,037
Sir L. H. Davies	768
Hon. Clifton Sifton	833
Hon. Dr. Borden	447
HHon. J. J. Dobell	371

INTERESTING ITEMS

The New York Times tells of an incident that shows how large ocean steamships have become: "Once a little immigrant boy, about 7 years old, was lost for four days on the voyage over. He left his mother and started in quest of adventure about the big ship, but upon growing tired was unable to find his way back to her. Instead of asking some one to show him where to go, or telling that he was lost the young truant decided to continue his explorations indefinitely When found he was sleeping in an empty coal box down among the engines. One of the crew took him to the captain, who detailed six stewards to search for his mother. They found her with some difficulty, and discovered that out to look for her son and not being she, two, had been lost, having started able to get to her own part of the ship again."

Americans who have visions of living cheaply in Paris should banish them. It is a good rule to count on its costing as much in the City of Laughter as in New York or Chicago, with this difference, that in Paris sleeping rooms heated by steam or hot air and lighted by electricity or gas can only be found in high-priced hotels and pensions. Bath rooms are equally scarce closets are important enough to be especially mentioned in the advertisements, a single window is the rule, and the majority of rooms face courts or back yards because of the peculiar construction adopted for French apartmens houses. Americans cannot find "all the comforts of home" without paying roundly for them.

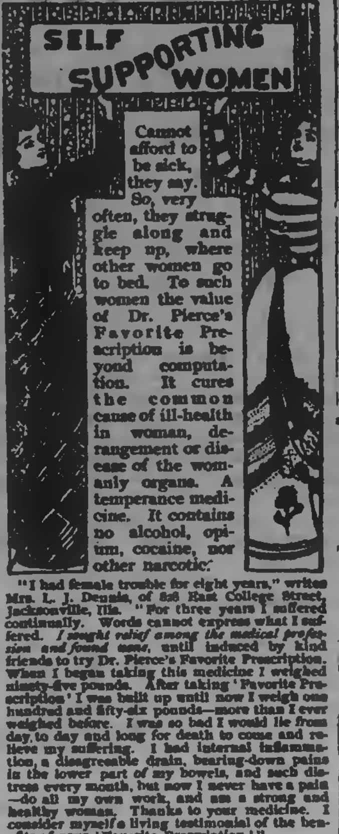
A well-known water-front character in Bath, Me., recently spent a month in jail at Wiscasset and rather enjoyed it. The warden treated the man leniently, allowed him to go fishing and enjoy other reliefs to the monotony of prison life and used him as a mail messenger and errand boy. One night the prisoner was delayed on a mission to the post-office and did not arrive at the jail until after six, when the institution is closed for the night. The warden was waiting for the delinquent and gave him a small lecture, ending by saying: "If you are as late as this again I shall lock you out!" The prisoner was careful to be on time after that.

Trades unions hitherto have been but little known in Paris. It is now announced that 3,000 assistants employed in the three great shops, the Bon Marche, Louvre and Samaritaine, are meditating the organization of an association of this kind.

For the first time in the history of the national census there will be an enumeration this year of animals employed in cities and towns. Heretofore the live stock census has been confined conclusively to farm animals.

Women students are in future to be admitted to such courses in the medical department of Owens' College, Manchester, England, as will enable them to qualify for a medical degree

There are now in the United States army two regiments of colored cavalry and four regiments of infantry, and a large number of colored men are enlisted in the navy.



Cannot afford to be sick, they say. So, very often, they struggle along and keep up, where other women go to bed. To such women the value of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is beyond computation. It cures the common cause of ill-health in woman, derangement or disease of the womanly organs. A temperance medicine. It contains no alcohol, opium, cocaine, nor other narcotic.

"I had female trouble for eight years," writes Mrs. L. J. Dennis, of 826 East College Street, Jacksonville, Ills. "For three years I suffered continually. Words cannot express what I suffered. I sought relief among the medical profession and found none, until induced by kind friends to try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. When I began taking this medicine I weighed ninety-five pounds. After taking 'Favorite Prescription' I was built up until now I weigh one hundred and fifty-six pounds—more than I ever weighed before. I was so bad I would lie from day to day and long for death to come and relieve my suffering. I had internal inflammation, a disagreeable drain, bearing-down pains in the lower part of my bowels, and such distress every month, but now I never have a pain—do all my own work, and am a strong and healthy woman. Thanks to your medicine. I consider myself a living testimonial of the benefits of your 'Favorite Prescription.'"

ATTACK of ROYAL CANADians at Paardeberg
The present is a time when war pictures are in greater demand than ever. The conduct of the British soldiers on the battlefield has won the plaudits of admiring nations. We have at great expense published four large, beautiful pictures, size 22x24, on heavy, superfine calendered paper. A picture that will commend itself and send a thrill to the heart of every true Canadian is the one called Attack of Royal Canadians at Paardeberg, there are literally hundreds of figures on this picture, the mountains or kopjes stretching out into the distance are swarming with men, while here and there a prostrate figure speaks only too well of the Boer rifleman. It was on this battlefield the gallant Major Arnold met death unflinchingly. Indeed, it is only too true that many of those gallant hearts that beat so high when the cheering thousands bade them Godspeed as they sailed from Canada's shores now lie still forever in lonely graves on the other side of the world under African skies. To every Canadian heart, to every Canadian home, the deeds of their brave soldier boys speak with an irresistible thrill of patriotism and pride Gordon Highlanders at the Battle of Belmont, Charging the Boer Guns at Elandslaagte and the Charge of Gen. French's Cavalry on the Retreating Gen. Cronje's Army. These are all stirring pictures and cannot fail to commend themselves to anyone who will examine them. They are RED HOT SELLERS! Dear Sirs,—In accordance with your wishes I have had both the red and white wines and the champagne tested by several connoisseurs, French and English. All of these expressed surprise that an article of such merit was produced in Canada, and even manufacturers admit that the brand "L'Empereur" is of excellent quality.
This opinion from critics who are by no means easy to please should be very satisfactory to you, and it gives me pleasure to congratulate you upon it. Yours faithfully, seemed ever haunting him.

Then he remembered he must not be wanting in courtesy toward this helpless stranger.

He held out his hand to her.

"Mrs. Ross, I believe," he said.

He wondered why the little, cold hand dropped so suddenly from his own, and the blood swept over those pale cheeks and receded again, leaving them whiter than the petals of a white rose.

"I am sorry to have kept you waiting, Mrs. Ross; I was unexpectedly summoned out into the grounds; I trust you will pardon my delay," he said, in his clear, musical voice.

He drew up a chair toward the fire sitting opposite her.

Isetta thought she must surely die then and there, as she watched that handsome face, over which the firelight flickered; every gesture reminded her so forcibly of Alderic, her faithless husband.

She wondered if the mouth quite concealed by the drooping mustache was firm and haughty like Alderic's. Had this stranger had dark, waving hair like him, Isetta would have fled; the sight would have been more than she could bear.

"Oh, cruel, relentless fate," she cried, "why have you brought me face to face with one so like Alderic, whom I thought like none other!"

How could she remain beneath the same roof with this man, breathe the same air, listen to his voice — and live? The very torture would drive her to madness.

By a great effort Isetta collected her scattered thoughts to listen to what he was saying.

"My wife has told me your sad history; believe me, you have my deepest sympathy, Mrs. Ross. My wife was warm in your praise, but I see she has not overdrawn in her description. You will pardon me, I trust, for broaching so sore a subject, but I cannot understand how a man could desert a tender, clinging little creature like yourself; it is so strange, I am lost in amazement. Was your husband of the same nativity as yourself, Mrs. Ross?"

"No, I think not. He came from France, yet I believe him to be an American."

"Ah!" thought Ulmont, "the wretch brought her over the seas to his own land to abandon her. "You have no certificate of your marriage?"

"No, sir; my husband said the rector was to forward one, as soon as he reached home."

"That is very bad—very bad, indeed," reflected Ulmont; "for the sake of the child he should be found, if possible. I will do all I can to assist you; the case must be put in the hands of the most experienced detectives; they are used to such cases. Society is in danger with such a man at large."

"I firmly believe some day we shall meet," exclaimed Isetta; "a solemn voice seems whispering —we shall one day meet; then, before the world, he shall acknowledge me —his wife, and acknowledge his little, innocent child!"

"You have no clew by which you could trace him?"

"None whatever, sir," she answered sadly. "I shall trust blindly to heaven to guide me."

Ulmont Ulvesford felt the deepest compassion for this beautiful young creature; there was no taint of worldliness about her.

Five minutes after he had heard her speak, he would have staked his life on her virtue and her honor.

"You will find a haven of rest here," he said, "for both yourself and your child. You please Loraine, therefore I am only too pleased to join with her in offering you a home."

Isetta could not speak so great was her emotion; great tears of gratitude filled her eyes.

"As for the child," he continued, "a suitable nurse can soon be procured for the little fellow."

How sweet and restful it sounded to Isetta to hear this pleasant-voiced young man planning so thoughtfully for her little baby's future.

"Even a stranger," she thought, bitterly, "is more kind to the child than his own father has been, the father who knows not of his very existence."

"I think the little one is the handsomest child, without a doubt, I have ever seen. I should like him to remain here," Ulmont said.

Isetta could have fallen on her knees and blessed him for those words.

"I hope you have decided to remain with us, Mrs. Ross?" he asked earnestly.

"Oh, most willingly, sir, if I may only be permitted to keep my little child with me."

"There is no doubt about that. Why, of course, you will keep the child," he replied. "It is seldom my wife takes as much of a fancy to any one as she has to you, Mrs. Ross. She is as capricious as the April sunshine, my proud, willful Loraine, but you will find her heart kind and appreciative, her friendship staunch and true. I do not hesitate in believing that you will always maintain the high regard in which she now holds you. I can say no more than that, Mrs. Ross."

"I thank you more than I can find words to express," murmured Isetta. "I shall try to be deserving."

"Then we may consider the matter fully settled, shall we not?"

"If you please, sir," she replied, gratefully.

At that moment Loraine entered the room, gliding gracefully to an ottoman beside her husband's chair, upon which she seated herself.

Ulmont passed his arm lovingly around the slender waist.

"My dear, Mrs. Ross has consented to remain with her charming little one."

"I am very pleased at her decision."

Ulmont did not notice the cloud that settled for a moment over his wife's face as he mentioned the child.

"I am very sure Mrs Ross and I will get along famously together," she replied, with a smile. "She must put away that sorrowful face, though, and look at the bright side of life."

Loraine, gliding gracefully across the room, leaned over Isetta, taking the little, trembling hands in her own white, jeweled ones.

"I want you to feel perfectly at home with us. Mrs. Ross sounds so cold and formal, I would much prefer calling you by your given name. I am sure it must be something very poetical and sweet, matching your foreign face. What may I call you?"

"My name is Isetta," she answered, blushingly.

"Isetta! What a picturesque, musical name. I do not think I have

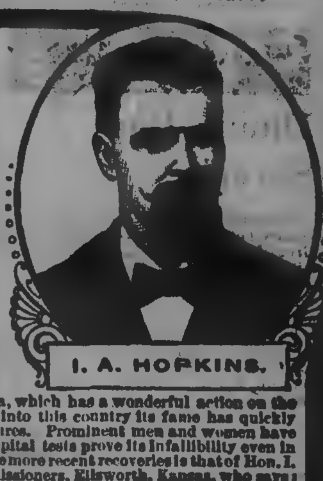
A WONDERFUL

KIDNEY and Bladder CURE

The Honorable Chairman of the Board of County Commissioners, Ellsworth, Kansas, tells how ALKAVIS cured him after Doctors and all other Remedies had Failed.



I. A. HOPKINS.

BRIGHT'S DISEASE, GRAVEL, DROPSY,

And Rheumatism Mastered at Last.

One of the most remarkable medical discoveries of the century is the Kava-Kava Shrub, found on the Ganges River, East India, which has a wonderful action on the kidneys and bladder. Since its introduction into this country its fame has quickly spread, because of its seemingly impossible cures. Prominent men and women have testified to its great curative powers, and hospital tests prove its infallibility even in advanced stages of Bright's Disease. Among the more recent recoveries is that of Hon. I. A. Hopkins, Chairman Board of County Commissioners, Ellsworth, Kansas, who says:

GENTLEMEN:—I will say that I believe and know that I owe my life to Alkavis. I had been troubled with Kidney and Bladder Trouble for years. Two years ago I was sick for six weeks with Malarial Fever which left me in a bad condition. My limbs were swollen with Rheumatism so that I could hardly walk; I was troubled with Indigestion from taking Medicine for my Urinary troubles which had become very much worse. I had to get up every hour of the night to urinate. I passed great quantities of blood on account of hemorrhage of the Kidneys and Bladder. I tried and had been trying everything in the shape of Medicine for Kidney Trouble that I could think of or that the Doctors recommended, but nothing helped me and I kept getting worse. I suffered great pain continually in my Kidneys. I made up my mind that I could get relief that I only had a short time to live. About this time my attention was called to an advertisement of Alkavis. As a drowning man will grasp at a straw, I was ready to try anything for relief. I sent to you for three bottles. I began to take it, and before I had taken it one week I began to feel the good effects of Alkavis. My Kidney Trouble and Rheumatism were soon gone, my digestion became all right, I found myself in better health than for ten years and I am in good health now. I know that Alkavis saved my life. What more can anyone say for a medicine? Unlike most medicines it is good for indigestion. It gives the person taking it a good appetite. I have recommended Alkavis to a great many people and all have been benefited by its use. I am 53 years of age, and am very grateful for what Alkavis has done for me.

Respectfully yours, I. A. HOPKINS.

Rev. W. B. Moore, D. D., Washington, D. C., Editor Religious World, writes that after trying all known medicines for kidney and rheumatic diseases he was permanently cured by Alkavis. Mrs. Wm. H. Hardy, East Rush, Pa., writes that Alkavis cured her after six doctors failed. Rev. J.W. Hickman, Collyer, Trego Co., Kansas, cured of liver, kidney and bladder trouble, of many years' standing, from which he could only get temporary relief and had given up all hope of a cure. Thus the grand work goes on. A new book, entitled "A Thousand Living Witnesses," sent with the free case of medicine, tells of the wonderful cures performed in every state.

Not only does this great discovery—Alkavis (the Kava-Kava Compound)—cure all forms of kidney and bladder diseases, but by expelling from the blood all poisonous deposits, excess of lime, uric acid, urates and lithiates, it banishes gravel, torpid liver, rheumatism, pains in back, difficult and too frequent urination, etc. The cure is complete. No phase is neglected, and the stomach, heart and nerves are toned and invigorated. No other medicine in the world will perform the work of Alkavis. To enable sufferers to get well and spread the glad tidings we have arranged to send a Large Case of Alkavis FREE by mail to all who write us. The case goes entirely FREE.

If you are a sufferer, write to-day and secure at once a Free Case of Alkavis and Book of "A Thousand Living Witnesses." Address The Church Kidney Cure Co., No. 108 Fourth Ave., New York. Please mention this paper.

THE COLORADO COPPER MINING COMPANY

LOCATION OF OUR MINES

THE COLORADO COPPER MINING COMPANY is fortunate in being the possessor of five splendid showing properties in the great Salida copper belt, the principal copper producing region of this portion of the rockies. All of our claims have been more or less developed and it is our purpose to put the same on a paying basis at once.

Our Company owns, clear of incumbrances the following claims,—The Sedalia Extension, the Sedalia Extension No. 2, which property adjoins the great Sedalia mine, which has been a big producer for upwards of seventeen years; the Copper King of Colorado, which immediately adjoins the above; the Copper Queen of Salida, a very promising property, only a few steps from the depot in Salida. This claim occupies an imposing position on a mountain just north of the city; and last, but by no means least, the Sunshine, located two miles east of Salida at Cleora station, on the main Trunk line of the great Denver and Rio Grande Railroad, also on the Arkansas river, which in length is one of America's greatest streams.

Improvements to the "City."

Mr. Calcutt, President of the Peterborough Navigation Company, has decided to place the steamer City of Peterborough in first class shape for next season. The steamer has been pulled out of the water at the Ashburnham shipyard, and will be thoroughly overhauled during the winter. She will then be placed on the excursion route on the lower waters, and will be the finest steamer on the inland lakes, without doubt.

Our Footballers

Mr. George Lee, the popular local manager of the London Life Insurance Co. received a letter Saturday from one of the Head Office Staff in London, stating that the writer hoped that none of the Peterborough football players were insured in the London Life, as there might be some claims to meet after Saturday's match. Mr. Lee promptly replied that Peterborough players were not only a good looking lot of fellows, but were well able to look after themselves on the field of sport.

A Warm subject.

The Toronto Telegram says: "J. H. McClellan's only possible explanation for defeat in West Peterborough is that the 'coal store' vote went against him. As a dealer in coal, he was expected to prevent a jump in the price, but he failed and the people got revenge. That he will again increase the figures to thrust down his enemies is not yet announced." Our esteemed contemporary is away off. Mr. McClellan was the only man in the business who did not put up the price of coal. He believes in people keeping warm at this season of the year, and therefore put up a "warm" fight.

The Peterborough Club.

A club has been organized in Peterborough under the most favorable auspices with the following offices:

Pres. — Lt.-Col. H. C. Rogers.
Vice-Pres — Judge Weller.
Sec.-Treas. — Mr. E. H. D. Hall.

Executive Committee — Messrs. G. W. Hatton, R. B. Wood, Dr. Boucher, Hazen Ritchie, A. G. Parker and Peter Campbell.

The apartments which have been secured consist of a suit of rooms in the Crown Hotel, and arrangements have been made with Mr. Jackson to cater to the wants of the members. It is understood that quite a number will take up residence at the club.

A Splendid Paper.

The Buffalo Express makes an important announcement in regard to the subscription rate, which will be $3 instead of $4 per annum, as the paper is now sold for one cent everywhere. This reduction in the selling price in no way means any reduction in either size or quality. Its news service will continue to be the best in the world, combining, as it does, the full Associated Press and New York Sun reports, with complete market, sporting, household and local pages. "Buffalo's great newspaper" will become more widely popular and more generally read than ever, as people prefer a paper which always maintains the highest standard as a newspaper for every member of the American household. The first issue of this two-cent paper at one cent fully sustains its excellent reputation.

Auxiliary Convention.

Much interest attaches to the semi-annual convention of the Womans' Auxiliary, which will be held in Peterborough Wednesday and Thursday. On Wednesday evening Rev. T. B. Simpson, a missionary from Central Africa, will speak and on Thursday evening Miss Jennie C. Smith, a Canadian missionary to Japan, will give an interesting address, illustrated by magnificent limelight views. Miss Smith is a woman of exceptional qualifications and her addresses have created much enthusiasm in Toronto. The proceedings of the convention will be continued all day Thursday and the visiting delegates entertained at dinner by the three local branches. The meetings will be held in St. John's.

TAKE A RECORD.

See How Many Friends are Hurt by Coffee

It would be just as reasonable for a temperance advocate to drink a little diluted whiskey as to drink coffee, for one is as truly an intoxicant as the other, and persistence in the use of coffee brings on a variety of chronic diseases, notorious among which are dyspepsia, heart palpitation (and ultimately heart failure) frequently constipation, kidney diseases, many cases of weak eyes and trembling condition of the nerves.

This is only a small percentage of the great variety of diseases which come from an unbalanced nervous system, caused by the persistent daily use of the drug caffeine, which is the active principle of coffee. Another bit of prima facie evidence about coffee is that the victims to the habit find great difficulty in giving it up.

They will solemnly pledge to themselves day after day that they will abandon the use of it when they know that it is shortening their days, but morning after morning they fail, until they grow to despise themselves for their lack of control.

Any one interested in this subject would be greatly surprised to make a systematic inquiry among prominent brain workers in America. There are hundreds of thousands of our most prominent people that have abandoned coffee altogether and are using Postum Food Coffee in its place, and for the most excellent reasons in the world. Many of them testify that ill health, nervous prostration and consequent inability to work, has in time past, pushed them back and out of their proper standing in life, which they have been able to regain by the use of good health, strong nerves, and great vitality, since coffee has been thrown out and the Postum put in its place.

"A Good Paymaster Starts Not at Assurances."

There is one good paymaster who is around on time, gives full value, and never fails in his duty. It is your privilege to select him, and his name is pure, wholesome blood. This paymaster makes the rounds of the body, visits brain, stomach, kidneys, liver, heart and head alike. Hood's Sarsaparilla acts as a guarantor that this paymaster will do his duty.

If the blood is impure, it cannot do its duty, and you are the sufferer,—but you need not be. Hood's Sarsaparilla purifies, vitalizes and enriches the blood. It never disappoints.

Boils—"I was troubled with boils for months. Was advised to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, and after using a few bottles have not since been bothered." E. H. GLADWIN, Truro, N. S.

CLERGYMEN ENDORSE IT

Powley's Liquified Ozone

Is Eulogized by Members of the Methodist Conference in Canada.

What Rev. Dr. Parker says

It is not a matter of everyday occurrence that clergymen talk about or permit their names to be used in connection with a preparation. It but goes to show that they deem their obligation indeed heavy to have their endorsation published. Powley's Liquified Ozone is not a patent medicine and that is why so many of the Canadian pastors give it their recommendations. Than it is marvellous in its power to cure disease. Rev. Dr. Parker, formerly president of the Conference of the Methodist Church in Canada says, "I have tested your Ozone and have pleasure in bearing testimony to its excellent curative properties." Signed.

OUR POULTRY SHOW.

Extensive Preparations Being Made for the Yearly Exhibition.

The annual show of the Peterborough Poultry and Pet Stock Association will be held in the market building, Peterborough, on November 27th, 28th and 29th. Mr. William Collins, the popular and painstaking Secretary-Treasurer of the Association, is busily engaged making preparations. He has many letters of enquiry from Norwood, Hastings, Lindsay, Prescott, Warkworth, Port Hope, Cobourg, Fenelon Falls, Toronto, Petrolia, Campbellford and other places. The exhibition promises to be one of the most successful poultry and pet stock shows in the province.

An extensive list of prizes are being offered and the competition should prove to be keen.

The secretary is sending out an important notice in connection with the prize list. Clause 7 is being struck out. It was as follows: "In all sections where there are only three entries, second money only will be paid for first prize and in every section where there are five or more entries, 25 cents will be given as third prize.

Head Office - Ottawa, Canada

A GOOD STRONG COMPANY HAS LONG BEEN NEEDED.

A good strong limited Produce Company, with a capital of $300,000 being established in Ottawa would open up a safe and responsible channel for Cheese, Butter, Eggs, Poultry and all manner of country produce, and all could feel confident in sending their produce to this warehouse for safe keeping, and at the same time be in direct communication with Great Britain and all the markets of the world. Nearly all the large produce houses of Montreal and Great Britain have now become limited Liability Companies, as the products of our country require so much capital to manipulate that it is much better to have sufficient resources to handle them. Country Merchants, FARMERS, FACTORY MEN, AND THE COUNTRY PEOPLE in general should be greatly interested in this Company, as it will be of great advantage to them, and in the meantime the Company will surely pay a handsome dividend to all the stockholders. THE OTTAWA PRODUCE COMPANY, LIMITED, who are taking over the present Cold Storage Building on Nicholas Street, consider it not sufficiently large to carry on the business of the Ottawa section and therefore propose adding to the present refrigerator a suitable addition. The ice will be done away with and the Cold Air or chemical system will be introduced. A good independent Railway siding will be placed alongside the building, as the near proximity of the building to the Central Station is such that this can be done at practically no cost, giving the Company direct communication with the Canadian Pacific Railway, Canada Atlantic Railway, Parry Sound Railway and port of Montreal, as well as a connection with the Ottawa and Gatineau, Ottawa & New York Railway, and Pontiac and Pacific Junction. This Produce House will prove of great advantage to Cheese and Factory men, as when the markets are dull their goods can be stored until such time as the market would improve, thereby enabling them not to be compelled to send their Cheese to be stored in Montreal, as it is better to handle, inspect and pay for them near home. The Jobbing Trade of Ottawa city will be sufficient to pay the running expenses of the concern.

It is seldom one has an opportunity to invest in such a good solid concern, showing 25 per cent.

PROSPECTUS

THE OTTAWA PRODUCE COMPANY, LIMITED, has been formed to consolidate three large and well paying businesses in the Produce line, together with the building, plant and property connected with the Ottawa Cold Storage Company, Limited. The before mentioned Cold Storage Building being one of the finest in Canada.

ASSETS OF THE COMPANY.

1. The business, building and plant of the Ottawa Cold Storage Company.
2. The business connection and brands of Eggs controlled exclusively by WM. MELDRUM & CO., of Montreal, the largest dealer in Canadian Eggs for export, together with the personal supervision of Mr. Meldrum over this branch of the business.
3. The business and connection of A. A. DAVIS & CO., Brockville, one of the largest butter and cheese exporters to the British Markets from Canada, together with the personal supervision of Mr. Davis over the cheese and butter business.

INTENTIONS OF THE COMPANY

THE OTTAWA PRODUCE COMPANY, LIMITED, intend in as large a measure as possible to control the surplus supply of the Eggs, Cheese and Butter, produced yearly in the Ottawa Valley, and with this purpose in view it has been formed with ample Capital, and has been able to secure, together with the splendid Cold Storage Building already mentioned, the valuable co-operation of WM. MELDRUM & CO., of Montreal, the well known Egg shippers, and A. A. DAVIS & CO., of Brockville, whose connection with the markets of Great Britain is one of the largest possessed by any Canadian firm doing business as Cheese and Butter exporters.

Recently, owing to certain difficulties which the Ottawa Valley Merchants have had with Eastern firms, they have concluded that a large exporting firm with head office and Cold Storage building in Ottawa would be much more satisfactory to them, inasmuch as the railway facilities and other means of transport are quite as good from Ottawa as elsewhere, and also for the reason that Ottawa City is surrounded with as good a Produce country if not better, than any city in Canada.

EGGS

PROFITS OF THE VARIOUS PRODUCE WHICH THE COMPANY PROPOSE TO HANDLE

The Promoters and Managing Director of this Company, assisted by a number of leading Produce Merchants, have gone carefully into the matter of output and profit of the Egg business in the Ottawa Valley, and have come to the conclusion THAT THE OTTAWA PRODUCE COMPANY, LIMITED, can handle over a million dozen of Eggs every season at a profit of at least 3c. per dozen, and it is a well-known fact that the average price paid for this little article of diet, bought early in the season is 9c. to 11c. per dozen, and these eggs are never sold for less than 14c. to 15c. per dozen, during the fall and winter season, and frequently at a higher rate. HOWEVER, ASSUMING THAT THE OTTAWA PRODUCE COMPANY, LIMITED, HANDLE a MILLION DOZEN OF EGGS, WHICH IT IS QUITE EASY FOR IT TO DO, AND SELL THEM AT THE MINIMUM PRICE OF 14c. PER DOZEN, THE COMPANY HAS THE NICE PROFIT OF $30,000 ON ITS EGG TURNOVER ALONE, OR A 10 PER CENT DIVIDEND ON THE WHOLE CAPITAL OF THE COMPANY.

CHEESE

The Promoters, assisted by the Managing Director and leading Produce Merchants, who have dealt during the past years largely in Cheese, after carefully investigating this feature of the business have come to the conclusion that with the connection this Company have in England, through MR. DAVIS, the Ottawa Produce Co., Ltd., can handle 150,000 boxes of Cheese per annum bought for English account or consigned. In either case it is a conservative estimate that the OTTAWA PRODUCE COMPANY, LIMITED, will make 20c. per box or the nice profit of $30,000 per annum on the Turnover of Cheese with no loss to itself, as its system of Cold Storage will be such that no Cheese will spoil on its hands, and consequently leave no room for loss.

BUTTER

The Promoters assisted by the Managing Director and leading Produce Merchants, have also carefully investigated the Butter business, and have come to the conclusion that the OTTAWA PRODUCE COMPANY, LIMITED, can handle two million pounds of Butter, produced yearly in the fertile Ottawa Valley, out of which they estimate there can be made 1c. per pound profit. And it might be stated here that his estimate is a very conservative one, as most of the Butter handled by the Produce Merchants net them over 2c. per pound. Think for yourself the quantity of Butter that can be bought early in the season for 18c., and realize the price it sells for, both in Ottawa and Montreal, as the winter progresses, and you will see clearly that the profit of 1c. per lb. estimated by this Company is by no means an exaggeration, and yet here is another $20,000 profit to swell the dividends for the shareholders of this Company.

POULTRY HANDLED ON COMMISSION

In addition to the before mentioned business the Directors of the OTTAWA PRODUCE COMPANY, LIMITED, feel justified in the belief that they can make an additional $10,000 profit by handling Poultry on Commission for shipment to the British market. The means of transport across the Atlantic have been so much improved in the matter of Cold Storage Canadian Poultry can be delivered in England in the best condition. Canadian poultry is in great demand in England at the present time.

The jobbing trade done in Ottawa City alone in Turkeys and Chickens is enormous

Or sufficient to pay 7 per cent on Preferred Stock and 22 per cent. on the whole of the Common stock.

A CO-OPERATIVE COMPANY

The Company has been exceedingly fortunate in being able to secure the hearty co-operation of such well known Produce men as Wm. Meldrum, of Montreal, Mr. A. A. Davis, of Brockville, Mr. Joseph Kavanagh, late President of Ottawa Cheese Board, Mr. B. Slattery, meat merchant, and also Mr. Frank O'Reilly, the latter's experience at the market in Lower Town for so many years being such as to inspire confidence among the many farmers who bring in their Produce to Ottawa on Market Days, Mr. O'Reilly being personally acquainted with nearly all of them, while the long and many successful years of business enjoyed by such men as Mr. Joseph Kavanagh as a produce merchant, and Mr. B. Slattery as a meat merchant well known in Ottawa and the surrounding country gives additional strength to the board.

MANAGEMENT OF THE COMPANY

As the management of a company of this kind is one of its strong points, we would just mention that the directors of this Company are all men of most careful and shrewd judgement and men who have made money for themselves in their own business, consequently they can be relied upon to look after the interests of this Company in the most careful manner, as they have all invested their capital in the enterprise and believe that it cannot be other than a great success.

SUBSCRIPTIONS

All the money realized under subscription will be devoted absolutely without deduction to the business of the Company. No costs whatever will be deducted from this amount save the cost of advertising and the cost of obtaining the charter. SUBSCRIPTION BOOKS will be opened at the office of Sutherland & Kelly, 48 Sparks St., on Tuesday, October 30th, at 10 o'clock, and close not later than Saturday, 17th November, at 3 o'clock. Subscriptions will be received for one share and upwards, and they must be accompanied by a marked check for ten per cent. of the amount subscribed for, made out to THE OTTAWA TRUST AND DEPOSIT COMPANY, LIMITED, as Trustees for THE OTTAWA PRODUCE COMPANY, LIMITED, and in allotment preference will be given to residents of the various outlying towns in the Ottawa Valley, farmers in the near vicinity and residents of Ottawa. The right is reserved by the Company to close the subscription books at any time before three o'clock on Wednesday, 7th November, and to allot in whole or in part of application and to reject any application.

2,000 PREFERENCE SHARES AT PAR, $100,000

Carrying a bonus of 2,000 common shares of $50 each (the bonus shares being fully paid up by the transfer of property and non-assessable.)

The 7 per cent. preference stock is cumulative, carries yearly dividends and has priority over the common shares as to both dividends and assets.

Subscriptions are payable 10 per cent on application, 15 per cent on allotment, 10 per cent on the 1st of January, 15 per cent on the 1st of March, 25 per cent on the 1st of June, 25 per cent on the 1st of September, 1901, with the privilege of making prepayment of any instalment, at any instalment date. Subscription forms may be had on application to SUTHERLAND & KELLY, 48 Sparks St., or at the office of THE OTTAWA TRUST AND DEPOSIT CO., LIMITED.

APPENDIX

Reasons why you should invest in THE OTTAWA PRODUCE COMPANY, LIMITED.

1. Because an Investment showing such splendid profits is rarely offered to the public.
2. Because the Directors of this Company are men of the highest standing, successful in their own business for many years, and they can be relied upon to govern this business in the most careful way.
3. Because there has never been a first-class and well-equipped cold storage company in Ottawa, and this Company should be encouraged, as they will save an enormous amount of money for the farmers and cheese men of the Ottawa Country, which will be largely spent in Ottawa City, thereby benefiting the city merchants and community at large.
4. Because this Company will be a decided convenience to the public, and the public should share the profits.

TO OPEN UP CHINA.

New York, Nov. 12.—The opening of the interior of China to modern civilization is regarded at Washington, says a Journal of Commerce special, as a probable outcome of the present negotiations between China and the powers.

Berlin, Nov. 12.—The Colonge Gazette, in an ispired article, says that the envoys at Pekin have reached an agreement regarding the punishment of the main culprits, the Mandarins and Princes; the witnessing of such punishments by representatives of the powers; the principle of paying damages to the several Governments for the cost of the China expeditions, and for damages sustained by private persons and missions; the permanent stationing of sufficient guards for the Pekin Legations; the mainterance of secure and regular communications between Pekin and the seashore.

About a number of other demands put forth by separate powers negotiations are still pending.

FAMINE AND CRIME.

Tacoma, Wash., Oriental advices received by steamer state that four to six million Chinese north of Pekin are in danger of starving, their crops having been a total failure. One million piculs of tribute rice were to be despatched from Shanghai and distributed among these hungry hordes from Tien Tsin and Pekin, but the military officers at Shanghai gave orders that no rice should be sent out of Central China. There is great danger that an immense swarm of robbers will be sent out of the famine district as usually happens.

LIES IN A SOLDIER'S GRAVE

Funeral of Prince Christian Victor at Pretoria.

New York, Nov. 12.—The Sun publishes the following account from Pretoria of the funeral of Prince Christian Victor: The funeral of Prince Christian Victor, a grandson of the Queen, who died here from enteric fever, took place to-day. Minute guns began firing at 10 a.m., when the cortege left the Yeomanry hospital, and continued during the funeral. The route was lined with a guard of honor consisting of the men of the Norfolks and Hants Regiments. Representatives of all the forces were present, including detachments of the colonial troops, mounted infantry, cavalry, artillery, and the medical and army service corps. The bands of the Norfolk and Hants Regiments played Chopin's "Dead March." The Second Coldstreams immediately preceded the gun carriage bearing the body. The pall-bearers were all generals--General Roberts, Prince Francis of Teck, General Kitchener, and all of General Roberts' staff present in Pretoria followed the body. At the cathedral, Rev. Mr. Rose, chaplain of the Australians, received the body, which was taken into the church. The chief mourners and a number of the ordinary congregation filled the building. The service was choral. Rev. Mr. Cox, chaplain of the Canadians, read the lesson. Rev. Mr. Wilson, the senior chaplain at Pretoria, and other clergy were present.

After the services at the church the procession re-formed in Church square, and marched to the cemetery, a mile west of the town. A large number of the residents looked on as the procession passed. Some of them reverently bared their heads as the body went by, but others were conspicuously indifferent, standing in doorways with their hats on.

Upon arriving at the cemetery, the Coldstream Guards halted, and lined the path to the grave, standing with their rifles pointed to the ground, and with heads bent. At the grave, Rev. Mr. Maurice, Rev. Mr. Jones and Rev. Mr. Mullineau conducted the burial service. The Guards then fired a royal salute, which was followed by three volleys over the grave. The Queen sent a wreath of lillies and carnations. Another beautiful wreath bore a card inscribed "From His Mother." Other wreaths were sent by Lord and Lady Roberts, Prince Francis of Teck, the officers of the King's Royal Rifles, Gen. Maxwell, and Governor Sir Alfred Milner. The coffin was inscribed:

MAJOR HIS HIGHNESS PRINCE
CHRISTIAN VICTOR OF SCHLESWIG-HOLSTEIN.
Of the King's Royal Rifles.
Died October 29. 1900.
At Rest.

The Prince was buried here by the Queen's command, she desiring to fulfil his own express wish. The scene at the grave was very impressive. The Prince is buried close to the graves of many of the soldiers who fell here.

Close of Paris Exhibition.

Paris, Nov 12.—The closing exercise of the great exhibition will be held to-morrow. Many members of the American commission have already sailed, and the directors are arranging for the return of the exhibits. The Orientals and Africans also went a fortnight since, being unable to stand the cold. The daily average of paying the last of October was 480,000.

The actual work of demolition will begin on Monday, but will not be completed until next May, when the parks in which the building now stand will be thrown open to the public. The first step is to get out the exhibits, and their owners have been warned to arrange for their speedy removal. Not as much will go out as came in, as fruit and similar things of a perishable nature have duely perished, and been long since removed. The show of California products, magnificent in its prime, is sadly delayed, and little remains. Many exhibits have been sold or given to charitable institutions, though foreign goods sold have first to pay custom duties. American exhibits have tried to seliours everything in Paris to avoid the expense and trouble shipping home.

CAPT. BARKER MAY RETURN TO AFRICA

Will Possibly Take a Commission in Police Force There.

Toronto, Nov. 12.—Capt. Bert Barker, of "C" Company, Royal Canadian Regiment, may return to South Africa to take a commission in General Baden-Powell's police force, which is now being organized. The offer has been made to him, but he is awaiting further information before coming to a decision. When spoken to on the subject Capt. Barker admitted that he had the matter under consideration but said that he could not make any definite statement as yet. "I am not particularly fond of the country," he added, "but I like the life well enough." Capt. Barker's many friends are convinced that he is cut out for soldiering, and the men who have served under him declare that no officer could be more considerate of those whom he commands. He came back from South Africa with a splendid record, and should he again enter the field the general opinion is that he will secure fresh laurels for Canada and himself.

HUGE CAPTURE OF STOCK BY PAGET

During One Week He Seized Half a Million Worth.

Pretoria, Nov. 12.—General Botha now occupies Warmbaths, 40 miles due north of here, Pietersburg being unhealthy. Yesterday General Paget, operating in the neighborhood of Pienaars River, was attacked suddenly by Boers with a convoy of cattle. He replied vigorously and inflicted loss on the enemy, capturing 26 prisoners and 25,000 head of cattle. This is the biggest single haul of the campaign. We have now secured an enormous amount of stock. During one week in September we captured stock worth half a million.

WEATHER NOTES.

Probs: To-day—Strong northwesterly and northerly winds; a little colder.

In Albert aand British Columbia yesterday was quite a warm day, while in Manitoba and eastward over the Dominion the temperature was everywhere between 35 and 45. Since last night a storm has moved quicly southward from Hudson's Bay and Algoma, and another storm has appeared near the South Atlantic coast, and gales are now probable both on the great lakes and in the Maritime Provinces.

To Raise the Maine

Havana, Nov. 12.—Captain Young, captain of the port, intends to ask for offers to raise the Maine. Last year he had three offers to raise the battleship for nothing, those who did the work to keep the wreck. No explosives can be used in raising the vessel.

Canadian Band in Rochester New York

Rochester, N.Y., Nov. 13.—The official band of the 48th Highlanders Regiment of Toronto will play at Fitzhugh Hall to-night at an entertainment given by the Yokefellows, a Sunday School class in Ashbury M.E. Church. The organization for years has been trying to gain the consent of Her Majesty's Government to make a concert tour of the United States, and this is one of the first concerts given on this side of the Lakes.

London, Nov. 13.—The Maharajah of Patiala, the chief Sikh Prince of India, famous as a polo player, cricketer, and all-round sportsman, died at Simla yesterday after a brief illness of fever. He will be succeeded by his son, Tikka Sahib. The dead ruler, like his father, was loyal to the British crown. He asked to be allowed to fight against the Boers, but permission was refused. He recently equipped a superb hospital ship and sent it to China at his own cost. He married some years ago Miss Florence Bryan, sister of a man at that time engaged as a trainer for his race-horses.

MANY LIVES LOST IN BAY OF FUNDY

By Foundering of Steamer in a Fierce Gale.

DRIFTED ON THE ROCKS.

Of 37 Passengers and Crew all Were Lost But Four.

Halifax, N. S., Nov. 12.—The Yarmouth Steamship Co.'s side-wheel steamer, City of Monticello, foundered four miles off Chegoggin Point on Saturday morning, and sank among the breakers. The passengers and crew numbered 37, and all except four are dead. Captain Norman Smith, of the steamer Pharsalia; Wilson Cook, quartermaster, and James E. Flemming, third officer, were saved. Among the lost are Rupert F. Oliver, purser of steamship, Prince Edward; Capt. T. M. Harding, Yarmouth; H. D. Newell, first officer and pilot, Cape Island; Nehemiah Murphy, second officer; Charles Greig, chief engineer, Halifax; Herbert K. Poole, second engineer, Yarmouth; Nathan C. Hopkins, chief steward, Yarmouth; E. B. M. Hilton, purser, Yarmouth; Isaac H. Wilson, assistant purser, Barrington; A. E. S. Eldridge, passenger, Yarmouth.

Hon. W. S. Fielding, Minister of Finance, was to have taken passage on the City of Monticello for Halifax, but fortunately did not do so.

A FIERCE SOUTHEASTER.

The City of Monticello made weekly trips between Halifax, N. S., and St. John, N. B., calling at Yarmouth and other ports. The steamer was lost about ten miles from Yarmouth on her way there from St. John. She left the latter port at 11 o'clock on Friday morning and made her way across the Bay of Fundy in the face of the fierce southeaster. When four miles off Chegoggin Point, one of the capes in the vicinity of Yarmouth, it was found that water was pouring into her hold. She was soon bey'ond control and drifting on the rocks.

It was decided to launch the two boats in the forlorn hope of getting through the surf to the shore, and one of them was placed in charge of Capt. Smith, of the Battle Line steamer Pharsalia. In it with him were six others. There was room for more, but the terror-stricken passengers and crew momentarily hesitated to leave the ship. That moment was fatal, for the boat put off and left those on board to their fate. The second boat was launched at the same time, but no one knows who got into her or what became of her.

WRECKED BY BIG WAVE.

Capt. Smith's boat had got only a few yards from the City of Monticello when a big wave struck the steamer, sending her completely over on the rocks and washing everyone who clung to her rigging into the sea. Those below decks were caught in the torrents of water rushing up from great holes in the ship's bottom and pouring down her hatches and companion ways.

The boat in charge of Capt. Smith broke on the rocky beach and all hands were thrown into the surf. Three were carried up to the shore where they were safe, but Elsie McDonald and Second Officer Murphy and two women passengers were drawn back by the undertow. The next wave threw the McDonald girl high and dry on the shore, but Murphy was hurled against a boulder and instantly killed.

OFFICERS DID THEIR DUTY.

Captain Smith said subsequently that there were no scenes of confusion, and that Capt. Harding and all the officers did their duty to the last.

"After getting two boats out on the port side, we placed all the women, three in number, in the first boat, and in five minutes after the boats had cleared the steamer, she gradually settled down on the port side and disappeared. I saw steam escaping, but if there was an explosion of boilers I was so engrossed with my boat that I did not notice it. The fire in one boiler had been out for two hours, having been put out by rising water in the hold.

"The last we saw of the other boat she had apparently filled with water, and we fear there is no hope of her occupants being saved. Several of those remaining in the steamer had life belts on, but I fear there is no possibility of any of them being saved. They could not have lived long enough in that raging sea to get to land."

WOMEN WERE BRAVE.

First Officer Flemming also said that no possible blame could be attached to the captain, who did his utmost to save the passengers and crew. The two ladies in the first boat, who were drowned or killed, also remained cool and calm, and betrayed no signs of fear. The four survivors were taken care of at a house 300 yards from where the boat was wrecked.

The City of Monticello was purchased by the Yarmouth Steamship Company last year for $38,000, and they kept $25,000 insurance on her. She was built thirty-six years ago at Wilmington and twenty years later was rebuilt at New York. She was of 1,644 tons burden.

One of the lost passengers was O. W Coleman of Moncton, N. B., a traveller for Levy Bros., wholesale jewellers, of Hamilton, Ont.

FOR DEFENCE OF GREAT BRITAIN

Lord Salisbury Promises Further Steps Toward Improvement.

London, Nov. 12.—Contrary to general expectations, Lord Salisbury made no sensational announcement in his speech. He took care, however, to defend the War Office. The Premier has all along been of the opinion that Lord Lansdowne did his work satisfactorily, and he strongly condemned the criticism to which the newly-appointed Foreign Secretary had been subjected ever since the outbreak of the Boer war. His reference to the good feeling which now existed between England and the United States was received with cheers.

Lord Salisbury made only a passing reference to the far eastern problem and he conveyed the impression that it was still a long way from being solved, in spite of the agreement of the powers to perpetuate the integrity of China. The Premier's declaration that the defences of the British Empire were to be strengthened, was received with satisfaction, but he was too diplomatic to give any real indication of the method by which the strengthening process was to be arrived at.

Lord Salisbury startled his hearers who caught the drift of his remarks, by satirizing the war fever, although praising the courage of the soldiers and declaring that the passionate admiration of military valor evidenced by the populace must produce a change of attitude on the part of the outside world when viewing English character.

Then, with lowered voice and almost trembling accent, he went on to speak of the price of victory and the ravages of death, dealing especially with the Queen's bereavement in the loss of Prince Christian Victor. Finally, with bent head and hands clasped, he uttered a hope, almost a prayer, that Lord Roberts might be spared the sorrow now hanging over him by reason of the critical condition of his daughter. Tears sprang to the eyes of women and men moved uncomfortably in their seats.

Relapsing into pessimism, Lord Salisbury admitted that the trend of recent events had almost put an end to the hopes of the Russian Emperor and others who took part in the peace conference at The Hague. His speech closed with a fervid appeal to the people of England to maintain their defences in such a perfect condition that "we shall not be exposed to any sudden interruption of the peace upon which our prosperity depends. The supreme condition," exclaimed the Premier, "is that no reform, no improvement, is of the slightest value unless security against external interference is obtained by putting our defences in such a position that no accident may happen beyond our borders that shall make our security doubtful."

THE FILIPINO WAR.

It is Believed the Defeat of Bryan Will Bring About Peace.

Washington, D.C., Nov. 13.—Already the administration has settled on plans for the winter campaign in the Philipines, but with the defeat of Mr. Bryan it is now believed that the bottom will drop out of the rebellion immediately.

Three weeks ago General MacArthur sent to Washington his plan for quelling the rebellion in the islands. It contemplates prompt activity and the energetic employment of the volunteers during the next two months, in conjunction, of course, with the regulars. The plan has been kept secret and the details will not be divulged. Adjutant General Corbin says, for the reason that such information given out in Washington is, somehow or other, sent promptly to Hongkong, and eventually reaches the insurgent leaders in the Phillipines, who are governed accordingly. The system of acquiring and transmitting advices of an important nature forms a most formidable feature of the insurgent strategy. It has perplexed the military authorities and given them a good deal of trouble.

The volunteers now in the Phillippines will not be brought home until after the 1st of January. The improvement in the transport facilities has made it possible to delay the debarkation of the troops until that time, or two months later than was originally intended. This affords a better opportunity to complete the plans made for attack on the insurgents.

The prospects are that there will be a renewal of the pursuit of the rebels, with an eventual capture of their most important possessions. It is also expected that the result of the election will have its moral effect upon the insurgent leaders, who are known to be somewhat hopeful that Democratic victory would mean material help for them. Some of the army officers are confident that the rebellion is over, or will be as soon as the result of Tuesday's election reaches Aguinaldo and his advisers.

As soon as the fighting season opens in the Phillippines the campaign will be agressively undertaken. An attempt will be made by an arrangement of the troops to force the insurgents into a state of surrender. Those who lay down their arms will be granted amnesty in accord with the proclamation issued by direction of the President.

DEATH OF INDIAN RAJAH

Chief of the Sikh Princes Dies at Simla—Noted for His Loyalty

ASHBURNHAM COUNCIL.

The Fathers of the Municipality Across the Water Transact Considerable Business.

The regular meeting of Ashburnham Council was held Friday evening last, there being present Reeve Adams, Councillors Sheridan, Rutherford and Smith.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.

A communication was received from the Bank of Commerce, stating the balance to the credit of corporation on Sept. 30 to have been $2,774.72.

The following statement was received of receipts and expenditures from Oct. 5 to Nov. 3rd, inclusive:

EXPENDITURES.

Pay sheet No. 18	$ 33 25
Pay sheet No. 19	97 40
Pay sheet No. 20	12 80

A. Fitzgerald	31 25
J. Wood, selecting jurors	12 00
Town of Peterboro', fire protection	43 75
J. Wood, revising voters' lists	4 20
A. Fitzgerald, salary, Oct. 31	31 25
J. Mancke, order salary acct	2 50
R. J. Weir, order charity acct	2 50
F. Emmerson, order charity acct.	1 25
	$484 66

RECEIPTS.

Rents	$ 21 63
Sale of gravel	6 50
Town collector, taxes	255 78
Town collector, taxes	141 63
Town collector, taxes	122 00
Water rates	82 00
	$639 50
Balance at debit	$2,515

ACCOUNTS.

On motion of Mr. Rutherford, seconded by Mr. Sheridan, the following accounts were ordered to be paid:

Peterborough Review	$ 5 00
Peterborough L. & P. Co	150 00
Pay sheet No. 18	33 25
Pay sheet No. 19	23 56
Pay sheet No. 20	12 80

	$440 34

Moved by Mr. Rutherford, seconded by Mr. Robt. Sheridan,—That William Fitzgerald be paid his account for gravel delivered this season, amounting to $260, also Benjamin Councy, for rent of corporation lot, $10, for 1900.—Carried.

ROAD IMPROVEMENT.

Moved by Mr. Rutherford, seconded by Mr. Smith,—That whereas Otonabee council refuse to accept the proposition passed at the former meeting of this Council, with reference to the road leading to the locks bridge, that no further action be taken at present.—Carried.

The above was the outcome of a somewhat lengthy discussion. It appears that the Council's proposition to bear part of the cost of improving the road in question on a ratio of 2 to 1, Otonabee to bear the larger share, was refused, Otonabee council apparently advancing the contention that the road belonged to the municipality of Ashburnham, while the representatives of the latter hold to the contrary, and further, that, while they were willing to bear part of the cost of improvement, the road was of little importance to Ashburnham. It is likely that a conference between the two councils will result, when it is likely that a satisfactory agreement will be arrived at.

Another matter discussed was a proposed by-law to change the hour of municipal nominations from between 12 and 1 o'clock to between 7 and 8 o'clock. Mr. Smith stating that such change had often been desired by citizens, Mr. Sheridan, on the contrary, stated that it had often been found necessary to turn out and ask citizens to attend nominations, so meagre had been the interest displayed in the event. The by-law will probably come up at the next meeting.

Council adjourned.

WIRELESS TELEGRAPHY AT SEA

Another Illustration of the Wonderful Value of the Invention.

London, Nov. 11.—When the Dover mail packet Princess Clementine was nearing Dover yesterday a message by the Marconi system of wireless telegraphy was received on board from La Panne. It was transmitted to the Marconi station at Dover Court, in Essex, more than 80 miles distant.

CANADIANS FOR ENGLAND.

Ottawa, Nov. 12.—A cablegram from the High Commissioner's Office says that the Second Battalion Royal Canadian Regiment on the Hawarden Castle, from Cape Town, is due at Southampton on the 27th inst. There are 305 men and 14 officers on board.

One Good Turn Deserves Another

Ladies of Canada—Sisters:

Great Britain takes nearly all the exported produce of Canada. English Scotch and Irish boys produce the teas of Ceylon and India.

Canada consumes 11,000,000 pounds of colored and doctored Japan Green Teas. Green teas of pure, natural green leaf, are being introduced from Ceylon and India. They are now on sale with all live grocers.

Statesmen see obstacles to preferential trade within the Empire. You ladies can sweep aside all obstruction.

Bring patriotic sentiment on your breakfast table. Your grocer will get these pure teas if you only insist.

The Salada Tea Company have placed them in hundreds of stores, and Blue Ribbon is also obtainable.

Many other leading firms have shipments coming. Only laggards await the jumping of the cat.

COLONIST.

Mrs. Morrow's Concert.

The date of Mrs. Morrison's concert has been changed from November 30th to the evening of Monday, December 3rd. This change was made in consequence of some of the talent not being available for the former date. Amongst those who will take part is Mr. Owen Smiley, elocutionist, of Toronto, a prince of entertainers. He is highly spoken of by the press wherever he has appeared. Master Vincent, Mrs. Morrow's little son, has been greeted with crowded houses in the principal cities of the South, where he has sung. He has a truly marvellous voice. Tickets for sale at all the bookstores, from Mr. Crane, Mr. H. LeBrun, and Mr. Bradburn's office, where reserved seats may be marked. School children will be admitted at a reduced rate at the door or on application to Mrs. Morrow.

CUT DOWN BOERS WITH THEIR SABRES

Kitchener Successfully Surprised the Enemy.

HE INFLICTED HEAVY LOSS

Mounted Infantry Saved the Hussars —Killing off Guerillas.

London, Nov. 12.—The War Office has received the following despatch from Lord Roberts:

Johannesburg, Saturday, Nov. 10.—Methuen surprised Commandants Snyman and Bermaes near Lichtenburg yesterday. Three dead Boers were found, and 30 prisoners and several wagons were captured. There were no casualties among the British.

Kelly-Kenny reports that Major Mackintosh, of the Seaforth Highlanders, occupied Philippotis Nov. 8. The Boers fled in all directions. Three wounded were brought to our hospital. Surgeon Kartley and seven men were wounded.

Lyttleton reports that Kitchener successfully surprised the Boers during the night of Nov. 7. A mounted party of the 19th Hussars and the Manchester Mounted Infantry under Captain Chetwode managed to pass the Boer outposts, and while the latter engaged the enemy's picket, the Hussars charged the Boers in the moonlight, sabring many. Chetwode and several non-commissioned officers behaved with great gallantry, but the Hussars would probably have suffered severely as they got into bad ground, had not they been supported by the Mounted Infantry. In the morning artillery and infantry joined Chetwode's force and completed the Boer rout, who are said to have lost heavily.

Smith-Dorrien's wounded, who returned from the Boer camp, report that Commandant Prinslee, and Gen. Fourie were killed and that Gen. Grobelaar was wounded in the recent fighting.

ELMSLEY OUT OF DANGER.

Ottawa, Nov. 11.—A cable from Field Marshal Lord Roberts to the Earl of Minto brings word this morning that Lieut. Elmsley, of the Royal Canadian Dragoons, already reported as dangerously wounded, is now out of danger.

SPITTING AT KRUGER'S BUST.

Paris, Nov. 12.—The overflowing regard of Frenchmen for Mr. Kruger, to which constant expression is given in the Transvaal Pavilion of the Exhibition, had excited, up to yesterday no sign of disapproval among English visitors, and our Parisian contemporaries had frequently noticed the sangfroid of their British guests in the face of manifestations which could not be otherwise than disagreeable to them. A very regretable lapse from this correct attitude has now, however, to be recorded. A young person from London, who gave her name as Clara Liveline, so far forgot herself as rudely to interrupt the Sunday pleasures of a Parisian crowd gathered round the bust of the ex-President and busily offering the incense of audible admiration. Elbowing her way through the workshippers, she approached the plaster model of Mr. Kruger's well-known features and actually spat upon hem. For a moment the crowd gasped in astonishment, but the silence was soon broken by cries of vengeance, and they had already begun to strip the young woman with a view to summary and ignominious punishment. Their intentions, however, were interrupted by the arrival of the police, who rescued her and dispatched her in a cab to her temporary residence—a boarding house at Passy.

OVATION TO BULLER.

He Arrives in London, and is Cheered in the Streets.

London, Nov. 12.—Gen. Buller, accompanied by his wife and daughter, arrived here this morning and reported to the War Office. Large crowds which had assembled at the Waterloo Station and in Pall Mall cheered the returning general, who received an ovation.

BULLER'S DEFENCE.

Southampton, Nov. 11.—This city was in gala attire Saturday and thousands of visitors from London and elsewhere participated in the ceremony of conferring the freedom of the city upon General Buller. General Buller's carriage was deluged with flowers.

Replying to an address of welcome the General exhibited great emotion, and answered his critics vigorously. He declared that when the history of the war was fairly written it would be found that the British army in South Africa had confronted difficulties far greater than any army operating against an equally civilized enemy had ever previously experienced. He cited the Boers' superior range of vision and familiarity with the Kaffir language and country.

Smallpox in Paris

Paris, Nov. 12.—An epidemic of small-pox has broken out here, due probably to the massing of Arabs, and other persons from the East, during the exhibition. Notices have been posted by the police warning persons who have not been vaccinated within six years to be vaccinated now.

Every precaution to stamp out the disease has been taken.

Morning Times

PETERBOROUGH, NOVEMBER 13, 1900

A MISTAKE

We see by our little local Tory boilerplate contemporary that the Conservative party propose to protest the election of Mr. J. B. McColl, of West Northumberland. It is, to put it mildly, a little unfortunate that Mr. McColl should be singled out as the first to suffer in this way. There were but three Roman Catholic candidates in this part of the Province, two of whom were defeated, Mr. McColl being the only successful one. Mr. McColl is deservedly popular. He is a brother of the esteemed parish priest of Ennismore, and has many friends in Peterborough and surrounding country, who will regard this hasty action as ill-judged and unwise. If he has violated the laws, he should of course be called to account, regardless of his religion or anything else, but it looks at this writing that it is a huge mistake to so viciously pounce upon him as the first victim.

A GREAT MAN GOING

No country can be the richer for the loss of a man of great ability, true patriotism and dauntless courage.

Mistakes? Yes, he has made mistakes, and he has suffered for mistakes which were not of his making. The wretched policy of interference with Manitoba was due to Sir John Thompson and his immediate successor.

Party has claimed a large share of the energies of Sir Charles Tupper's long life, but the country has always held a high place in his heart and mind, and the independent sentiment which is growing in Canada to-day will incline Canadians of all parties to do justice to the national services of a great Canadian.

The dream of a united British commonwealth on this continent could not have been fulfilled without the courage of Sir Charles Tupper. Macdonald Cartier and Brown did their part, but the man who risked his public life for British unity was Charles Tupper, when he brought Nova Scotia into confederation by the main strength of his majority in the legislation.

It is the fortune of war that Sir Charles should go down to defeat in Nova Scotia in the hour when that province is beginning to reap the harvest which he planted at the time of confederation. There is nothing small, there is no bitterness in the words with which Sir Charles Tupper closes his long and glorious public life. He is a great and fine spirited public man, who is entitled to throw down his arms and quit the field on which, through many fights for party, he has followed the ideals of a true and noble patriotism.

SIR ROBERT HART ON THE BOXERS

The Fortnightly Review contains an article on the Boxer uprising by Sir Robert Hart, who is of all men the most competent to discuss the Chinese situation. He declares that the rebellion was essentially a national uprising that had for its object the checking of foreign influence in the empire, and it was based upon the mature conviction that a system of volunteer defence would succeed in bringing this about. The foreign Ministers had been warned again and again, but none of the European officials realized the magnitude of the movement. The most interesting feature of the article is Sir Robert's prediction that the Chinese will rise again. The national spirit will, in his opinion, continue to increase, and before 100 years at the most the "yellow peril" must be faced by Europeans. When that time comes the Chinese will be well drilled and well armed, for that is the lesson that has been taught the Celestials by their failure. He then argues against further European interference in the affairs of the empire and the pressing of demands for reparation, although in fact the facts, as stated by him lead irresistably to the judgment that European control would be the only way in which to stave off the threatened uprising, for the thorough policing of the empire would serve to prevent another such rising without due warning of its imminence, and such warning would enable the taking of effective measures and would prevent a repetition of the suspense through which the civilized world passed while the legations were under siege.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The Port Hope Guide does not fail to tell the electors of East Durham that since they defeated the Liberal candidate, Dr. Powers, they cannot expect the Trent Valley Canal to empty into Lake Ontario at Port Hope. Trenton, in West Hastings, may receive a similar notification because it returned Harry Corby.

If Mr. Steyn persists in his expressed determination to sell the Transvaal by auction to the highest bidder, we presume it will be sold subject to the lien Lord Roberts has on it at the present time.

An Appropriate Text.

A little girl who lives up town went to church last Sunday. She is a bright little maiden and, considering her tender age, only six, she is decidedly intelligent. Her mother has been suffering from the grip and didn't accompany her, and as her father was away from home she went alone.

Whether it was the loneliness of the big pew or whether the church was poorly heated, mamma wasn't quite sure, but, anyway, the little maid came home and declared she was very chilly.

"My toes got so cold while I was sitting there, mamma," she declared. "And so did my fingers and my nose. I don't believe there was hardly a speck of fire in the furnace."

"That was too bad," said mamma; "did the other people seem to suffer, too?"

"Oh, yes, they did," cried the little maid. "They just shivered!"

Then mamma thought she would divert the little maid's attention.

"What was the text, dear?" she asked; "can you remember it?"

"I should think I could," was the quick answer: "I can 'member every word of it."

"Well, what was it?"

The little maid put her head on one side and screwing up her face, shrilly intoned:

"'Many are cold, but few are frozen!'"

And mamma had to admit that it seemed remarkably appropriate.

Willing to Concede.

At a convival party, recently, a gentleman who had returned from a lengthened tour in the East, was relating some of the wonderful things he had seen on his travels. The yarns he spun were decidedly "steep," but the guests politely accepted his statements as true. Encouraged by the reception accorded to his tallest stories he ventured to state that he had seen at the foot of the Himalayas a tiger forty-three feet long, from the tip of the nose to the tip of the tail. This was too much, and everybody kept silence, until a gentleman from Oban dryly remarked:

"Oh, yes, the works of Nature are very wonderful and very large whatever. Just last week I saw a skate brought ashore at Oban, which covered a quarter of an acre of ground."

Nobody spoke, and amid the silence the Eastern traveler left the room. The host, perceiving that something was amiss, rose and followed him.

"Is there anything wrong?" he asked.

"I have been insulted," said the traveler. "That Scotch gentleman has dealt a blow at my veracity, and I cannot return until he apologizes."

Anxious that harmony should prevail among his guests, the host returned to the room, and explaining matters to the company, asked the Highlander to make an apology, if merely for form's sake.

"Weel," said he, "I'll no just apologize, but tell him to come back and take a few feet off the teegur, and we'll see what can be done wi' the skate."

He Could Wait.

A boy was sitting lazily in the stern of a boat dangling his feet in the water, when a man from the dock called sharply to him:

"What are you doin' there?"

"Nothin'," responded the boy.

"Do you get any pay for it?"

"No," and he drew one foot out of the water, ready to run if necessary.

"Why don't you go to work?"

"Will you get me a job?"

"Yes."

"Steady?"

"Yes."

"Pay anything?"

"Well, no," hesitated the man—"not the first week."

"How about the second?"

"Then I will."

"All right; I'll come round the second week. This is good enough for me now," and the boy put his foot back into the water, and winked at the man on the dock.

—There will likely be considerable interest taken in municipal matters this season, when the elections are on. There are said to be several new aspirants to a seat at the Council board.

Safe.

The little child is safe from ordinary dangers in the care of the faithful dog. But neither the dog's fidelity, nor the mother's love can guard a child from those invisible foes that lurk in air, water and food—the germs of disease. Children need to be specially watched and cared for. When there is loss of appetite, lassitude and listlessness in a child, an attempt should be made to revive the appetite and rally the spirits. In Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery parents have found an invaluable medicine for children. Its purely vegetable character and absolute freedom from alcohol and narcotics commend it to every thoughtful person. It is pleasant to the taste, unlike the foul oils and their emulsions offered for children's use. "Golden Medical Discovery" makes pure blood and sound flesh, and absolutely eliminates from the system the poisons which feed disease.

Mrs. Ella Gardner, of Waterview, Middlesex Co., Va., whose daughter suffered from malarial poisoning and catarrh, writes: "My little daughter is enjoying splendid health. I am glad I found a doctor who could cure my child. She took twelve bottles of the 'Golden Medical Discovery,' eight bottles of 'Pellets,' and one bottle of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, and she is well. We thank God for your medicines."

Give the little ones Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets when a laxative is needed. They're easy to take and don't gripe.

ATTACK of ROYAL CANADIANS at Paardeberg

The present is a time when war pictures are in greater demand than ever. The conduct of the British soldiers on the battlefield has won the plaudits of admiring nations. We have at great expense published four large, beautiful pictures size 20x28, on heavy, superfine calendered paper. A picture that will commend itself and send a thrill to the heart of every true Canadian is the one called Attack of Royal Canadians at Paardeberg, there are literally hundreds of figures on this picture, the mountains or kopjes stretching out into the distance are swarming with men, while here and there a prostrate figure speaks only too well of the Boer rifleman. It was on this battlefield the gallant Major Arnold met death unflinchingly. Indeed, it is only too true that many of those gallant hearts that beat so high when the cheering thousands bade them Godspeed as they sailed from Canada's shores now lie still forever in lonely graves on the other side of the world under African skies. To every Canadian heart, to every Canadian home, the deeds of their brave soldier boys speak with an irresistible thrill of patriotism and pride. Gordon Highlanders at the Battle of Belmont, Charging the Boer Guns at Elandslaagte and the Charge of Gen. French's Cavalry on the Retreating Gen. Cronje's Army. These are all stirring pictures and cannot fail to commend themselves to anyone who will examine them. They are RED HOT SELLERS! Agents coin money. Big profits. Enormous success. ever heard it before. Has she not a lovely name, Ulmont?" cried his wife, turning toward him.

"I beg your pardon, my dear," he said. "I did not hear your remark. I was thinking."

Loraine's lips curled like a pouting, spoiled child's.

"How terribly provoking," she cried. "Half of what I say is lost upon you. I do not know which claims more of your attention; your wife or your thoughts."

"You might with safety decide in favor of my wife," he replied, gallantly, "for I assure you my thoughts are about her."

The frown cleared like magic from Loraine's face; she blushed rosily.

"I must beg your pardon," she said, "but, really, Ulmont, I have never heard a name quite as pretty as Mrs. Ross'—it is Izetta; does it not sound sweetly foreign?"

The goblet of ice-water which Ulmont held in his hand fell to the floor with a loud crash.

The name seemed to pierce his very soul—Izetta— had he never heard that name before?

He looked at the sweet, foreign face before him, passing his hand over his brow with a strange, bewildered sensation stealing over him.

Ulmont Ulvesford made, in that supreme moment, a mighty, heroic effort to follow the tangled thoughts which beset him.

The name, Izetta, struck a strange chord in his soul. He sighed sorrowfully, and his thoughts melted into chaos.

"Why, Ulmont, see what you have done!" cried Loraine. "See, you have spoiled my pretty Undine," she cried, pointing to the hearth-rug from which the water trickled in little, tiny rills.

It was too true; the red wool had dyed the white hand of the fairy maid, which lay lightly upon her bodice, a deep crimson.

Loraine shuddered; the white hand seemed as if it were clasping a broken, bleeding heart, and the glowing fire-light, leaping playfully in the grate, threw strange shadows over it.

"Take the rug away," said Loraine, nervously, covering her face with her hands. "I never want to behold it again!"

Some one had once laughingly suggested that the fair, dainty covering of this Undine resembled Loraine—would her heart ever break like this fair Undine's?

The servant removed all trace of the accident; still Loraine felt nervous.

"Come," said Loraine, clasping Izetta's hand, "come with me to my boudoir."

Ulmont Ulvesford, as one fascinated, watched them leave the room together.

Never did mortal man gaze upon such a strange sight; both of these innocent women, peerless in their startling beauty, cruelly wrecked by the love of one man upon the jagged rock of fate.

How was it to end?

CHAPTER XXX

The Baby's Future.

Ulmont vetoed the idea of sending Izetta's child from Ulvesford Manor, when the subject was broached to him two weeks later.

"I cannot imagine how my tender-hearted Loraine could entertain for a moment, a thought so cruel as to separate that suffering creature from her child."

A tear stood in Loraine's eyes as she answered proudly:

"I did not think you would— you would— care to see a stranger's child playing about these old corridors."

"Do you mean you would not care to see him here, Loraine?"

"It does not matter to me, I assure you," she replied, coldly.

She would sooner have cut her right hand off than admit to him that she was actually jealous of a strange little child, bitterly jealous, because she had seen it lying for one brief moment upon his breast, placed there by her own hands.

Ulmont took her at her word.

"I wondered if you really desired that poor, helpless little child sent away; it was not like my own generous-hearted Loraine to have such thoughts."

She did not answer him.

"How does it happen I have never seen Mrs. Ross since the morning you sent her to the library," he asked suddenly.

"I am sure I do not know," she replied.

"I often laugh at the foolish fancy, but I quite believe she avoids me. You should make the shy little creature feel more at home. If I meet her in hall, parlor or library, she flits before me like a shadow. If I speak to her suddenly, she looks as if she were about to faint, she is as timid as a young fawn."

"Well," answered Loraine, breaking into a jolly little laugh, "if that is the case, the greatest kindness you can do her is to let her quite alone. It is plainly evident she does not appreciate you, my dear."

He laughed good-naturedly, replying:

"So I supposed. And do you know," he continued, "your protegee is creating quite a furore hereabouts. Several of my friends have urged me to present them to the pretty little foreign beauty. You must look to your laurels, Loraine, or the crimson rose may outbloom the tall, white, golden-hearted lily."

"As long as there was one who preferred the lily, I should not care who chose the crimson rose, or what the world thought," she said, putting back the fair hair that clustered around his forehead.

Although Izetta fled from Ulmont Ulvesford, she loved to gaze upon him unobserved; she told herself it was because he was so like Alderic.

His step upon the stair made her heart flutter wildly; she often wondered her heart did not break when he spoke to her suddenly.

If she saw him caress his wife, the hot blood mounted to her cheeks, and she sought safety in instant flight. She could not endure it.

"How can I see other women content in the priceless love of their husband, while I, who have loved so madly, so purely, and so blindly, was so cruelly deceived, am shut out from the arms that should have been my shield!" she cried out to herself.

If she saw a father returning from his work with his little child upon his [illegible]

A WONDERFUL

KIDNEY and Bladder CURE

The Honorable Chairman of the Board of County Commissioners, Ellsworth, Kansas, tells how ALKAVIS cured him after Doctors and all other Remedies had Failed.

I. A. HOPKINS.

BRIGHT'S DISEASE, GRAVEL, DROPSY, And Rheumatism Mastered at Last.

One of the most remarkable medical discoveries of the century is the Kava-Kava Shrub, found on the Ganges River, East India, which has a wonderful action on the kidneys and bladder. Since its introduction into this country its fame has quickly spread, because of its seemingly impossible cures. Prominent men and women have testified to its great curative powers, and hospital tests prove its infallibility even in advanced stages of Bright's Disease. Among the more recent recoveries is that of Hon. I. A. Hopkins, Chairman Board of County Commissioners, Ellsworth, Kansas, who says:

GENTLEMEN:—I will say that I believe and know that I owe my life to Alkavis. I had been troubled with Kidney and Bladder Trouble for years. Two years ago I was sick for six weeks with Malarial Fever which left me in a bad condition. My limbs were swollen with Rheumatism so that I could hardly walk; I was troubled with Indigestion from taking Medicine for my Urinary troubles which had become very much worse. I had to get up every hour of the night to urinate. I passed great quantities of blood on account of Hemorrhage of the Kidneys and Bladder. I tried and had been trying everything in the shape of Medicine for Kidney Trouble that I could think of or that the Doctors recommended, but nothing helped me for I kept getting worse. I suffered great pain continually in my Kidneys. I made up my mind unless I could get relief that I only had a short time to live. About this time my attention was called to an advertisement of Alkavis. As a drowning man will grasp at a straw, I was ready to try anything for relief. I sent to you for three bottles. I began to take it, and before I had taken it one week I began to feel the good effects of Alkavis. My Kidney Trouble and Rheumatism were soon gone, my digestion became all right, I found myself in better health than for ten years and I am in good health now. I know that Alkavis saved my life. What more can anyone say for a medicine? Unlike most medicines it is good for indigestion. It gives the person taking it a good appetite. I have recommended Alkavis to a great many people and all have been benefited by its use. I am 53 years of age, and am very grateful for what Alkavis has done for me.

Respectfully yours,

I. A. HOPKINS.

Rev. W. B. Moore, D. D., Washington, D. C., Editor Religious World, writes that after trying all known medicines for kidney and rheumatic diseases he was permanently cured by Alkavis. Mrs. Wm. H. Hardy, East Rush, Pa., writes that Alkavis cured her after six doctors failed. Rev. J. W. Hickman, Collyer, Trego Co., Kansas, cured of liver, kidney and bladder trouble, of many years' standing, from which he could only get temporary relief and had given up all hope of a cure. Thus the grand work goes on. A new book, entitled "A Thousand Living Witnesses," sent with the free case of medicine, tells of the wonderful cures performed in every state.

Not only does this great discovery—Alkavis (the Kava-Kava Compound)—cure all forms of kidney and bladder diseases, but by expelling from the blood all poisonous deposits, excess of lime, uric acid, urates and lithiates, it banishes gravel, torpid liver, rheumatism, pains in back, difficult and too frequent urination, etc. The cure is complete. No phase is neglected, and the stomach, heart and nerves are toned and invigorated. No other medicine in the world will perform the work of Alkavis. To enable sufferers to get well and spread the glad tidings we have arranged to send a Large Case of Alkavis FREE by mail to all who write us. The case goes entirely FREE.

If you are a sufferer, write to-day and secure at once a Free Case of Alkavis and Book of "A Thousand Living Witnesses." Address The Church Kidney Cure Co., No. 108 Fourth Ave., New York. Please mention this paper.

THE COLORADO COPPER MINING COMPANY

LOCATION OF OUR MINES

THE COLORADO COPPER MINING COMPANY is fortunate in being the possessor of five splendid showing properties in the great Salida copper belt, the principal copper producing region of this portion of the rockies. All of our claims have been more or less developed and it is our purpose to put the same on a paying basis at once.

Our Company owns, clear of incumbrances the following claims,—The Sedalia Extension, the Sedalia Extension No. 2, which property adjoins the great Sedalia mine, which has been a big producer for upwards of seventeen years; the Copper King of Colorado, which immediately adjoins the above; the Copper Queen of Salida, a very promising property, only a few steps from the depot in Salida. This claim occupies an imposing position on a mountain just north of the city; and last, but by no means least, the Sunshine, located two miles east of Salida at Cleora station, on the main Trunk line of the great Denver and Rio Grande Railroad, also on the Arkansas river, which in length is one of America's greatest streams.

Burning Leaves

From casual observation, one would judge that the practice of burning the fallen leaves is growing out of favor in Peterborough. At least there is a great deal less of it than in former years. This is as it should be. The fallen leaves are part of the natural nourishment of the soil, and should be allowed to fulfil their mission.

From South Africa.

Mr. J. J. Turner yesterday received from his son "Chill," who is serving with the second contingent in South Africa, a very pretty Christmas card, and also a beautiful silk handkerchief, mounted with the head and bust of the Queen and the words "South Africa." Chill does not like the country, and will no doubt return with the contingent.

Painful Accident.

Little Frank, the nine-year-old son of Mr. Frank Burdett, 35 Bethune street, met with a painful accident on Saturday afternoon. It appears that Mr. Burdett was preparing some water for bathing purposes and had left a pailful of scalding water on the floor for a short while. Little Frank in playing round the house came into the room and stumbled over the pail, falling on his back in the scalding water. When his clothes were removed he was found to be severely scalded. He is now doing nicely.

East Peterborough Farmers' Institute.

The annual winter meetings of the East Peterborough Farmers' Institute will be held on November 6th and 7th, at Keene and Norwood. Addresses will be delivered by John McMillan, M.P. Everyone interested should hear Miss Rose, whose services are in greater demand than any other Institute speaker in Ontario.

JOTTINGS ABOUT TOWN.

—The Fire, Water & Light Committee met last night.

—The Charity Board met last night and passed a number of accounts.

—The cases of typhoid fever now in the hospital are mostly of a mild type.

—The Court of Revision met last night to adjust sidewalk assessments.

—Rev. J. C. Davidson went to Cobourg yesterday to attend a meeting of the Archdeaconry.

—The large willow trees in front of the Oriental Hotel on Hunter street have been removed.

—Mr. Hickey has the job of overhauling the City of Peterborough. This is a guarantee that the job will be well done.

—The quarterly meeting of the McAll Mission will be held this afternoon at the residence of Mrs. (Mayor) Kendry.

Rich, warm, healthy blood is given by Hood's Sarsaparilla and thus coughs, colds and pneumonia are prevented. Take it now.

—The Field and De Voe Dramatic Company appeared at the Opera House last night before a rather light audience. The play was well presented, however.

—The Times was favored yesterday with a call from Mr. P. W. C. Shewen, the popular and efficient clerk of Burleigh, etc. Mr. Shewen left for home again yesterday.

—Toronto Telegram: James Kendrey, M.P. for West Peterborough, apparently can have any public position he wants. He has never been defeated in any contest he has entered.

—The Palace Restaurant has secured the services of Mr. Dan Folly, who has made himself so popular in connection with Jubilee Point Summer Hotel, of which he was manager for two seasons.

—Mr. C. B. Routley left yesterday morning for a week's hunting in the Haliburton wilderness, back of Kinmount. He will join a party at that village, who will start on their march back this morning.

—The subject for this evening's meeting of the Engineering club is "Turbines or Water Power Development." A paper on the subject will be read by A. C. McCallum and a discussion by the other members will follow.

—Robert Alexander of Havelock, who appeared before County Magistrate Edmison on Thursday last on a charge of forging the name of George Stevens to a note for $25 and was remanded, will come up for a hearing this morning at 10 o'clock. He elected to be tried summarily. Since Thursday another warrant has been issued against him. It is that of obtaining money under false pretences.

—Among the ladies from Toronto who will attend the semi-annual meeting of the Church of England Woman's Auxiliary here on Thursday next are Mrs. Williamson, Miss Tilley, Mrs. W. A. Baldwin, Mrs. Webster, Mrs. E. F. Blake, Mrs. Banks, Mrs. Hoskin, Mrs. Merrick, Mrs. Moore, Miss Osler, Mrs. Edward Leigh, Mrs. F. S. Davidson, Miss Tomlinson and others. The attendance of members from surrounding branches is expected to be very large.

—Here is an idea for the local Y.M.C.A.: The management of the Young Men's Christian Association of Toronto have written to each of the soldiers who have returned from South Africa, asking their acceptance of a year's membership ticket in the association. The idea is a good one. At all events it is much better than asking them to drink. Many of the men no doubt are not total abstainers, but none of them are "tanks," and there is no sense in treating them as though they were.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

The Times invites all its readers to contribute to this column items concerning the movements of well-known people, brain to men, and particulars of at homes, parties etc. Telephone the Times, or send rough outlines, and we will put it into shape.)

—Mrs. John Ledgate left yesterday for the Sandwich Islands, where she will spend the winter with her daughter.

—The many friends of Mr. F. W. Nelson, are pleased to see him about again after his painful accident at Keene fair.

—Mrs. Bert Greenway is staying with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hickey, Ashburnham, called here by the illness of her brother.

—The many friends of Mr. J. H. Roper, who was invalided at Nicholls Hospital for some weeks with typhoid fever, were delighted to see him about again as usual yesterday.

THE INQUEST CLOSED.

The Verdict After Enquiring into the Death of Mary McWilliams.

The adjourned inquest into the cause of death of Mary McWilliams, formerly of Ashburnham, who became ill of convulsions at 709 Howard-st., Toronto, on October 26, and died the next morning at Grace Hospital, was concluded by Coroner Cotton at No. 3 police station, Toronto, on Saturday night. The coroner announced that the Deputy Attorney-General had refused to order an analysis of the deceased's stomach, as had been advised by the jury, on the ground that it would avail nothing. One of the jurors suggested that a censure of the Deputy Attorney-General's conduct be inserted in their verdict, in reply to which Dr. Cotton criticized the present system of inquests. The verdict of the jury was as follows:—"We find that the deceased, Mary McWilliams, died on October 27th, at Grace Hospital, of poisoning, and the evidence produced shows this to have been uraemic. Whether there was any poison administered was an open question, the jury not having an analysis of the stomach."

A Pigeon Service.

Mr. Dickson Jewett, of the Snowden House, has a number of carrier pigeons, which were taken out to Gold Lake with the Snowden-Ray hunting party. These pigeons have been arriving every few days with messages from the hunters, generally taking about two hours to make the long trip. On Saturday a bird arrived with the announcement that the party had rather poor luck so far, having only killed six deer. The message contained a postscript that perhaps explains the cause of the ill-luck. It was to the effect that the buttermilk tank had run dry, and implored Mr. Jewett to forward a fresh supply without delay. It was evidently a case of life and death, as Mr. Jewett at once despatched a quantity by putting on relays of horses and drivers, so that there is every reason to hope that the buttermilk arrived before any lives were lost.

NAVIGATION NOTES.

What the Steamers on the Upper and Lower Waters Are Doing

Mr. P. P. Young, the genial proprietor of the Majestic, told The Times that the steamer had an excellent season. She has been busy from early spring until the present, when her contracts for bringing down wood will keep her hustling.

The Eclipse has had a good season's business. She is still busy.

The City of Peterborough, as before stated, is to undergo extensive repairs this winter.

The government dredge was taken to Hastings Monday, where she will be engaged until the close of the season.

Graduating Exercises

The public are cordially invited to be present at the graduating ceremonies in connection with the Nicholl's Hospital Training School for Nurses, to be held in the Y.M.C.A. hall the evening of Nov. 22nd. The present class is the first to be graduated since the institution of a three year's course, and the final examinations which were conducted by Drs. Halliday, Boucher, Bradd and McClelland, though exceptionally difficult, were successfully passed by all, Miss Wilmot being first, Miss Ferguson 2nd, Miss Cameron 3rd and Miss McNeillie 4th, Miss Ferguson as previously reported, winning the prize for bandaging.

A WORD TO THE WEARY AND SICKLY MOTHER.

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND

Will Make You Happy and Healthy.

IT HAS GIVEN A NEW LIFE TO THOUSANDS OF AILING WOMEN AND WILL DO THE SAME GOOD WORK FOR YOU.

The medicine that has given new health and a new lease of life to thousands of women in Canada, is surely the kind you stand in need of, dear mother.

If you are weak, nervous, despondent, have headache, sideache, backache, and cannot sleep well, Paine's Celery Compound will give you restful nights, good appetite, freedom from aches and pains, and restore lost strength and vitality. The most successful family physicians are now freely prescribing Paine's Celery Compound for sleepless nervous and rundown women. Laura Garland, Crawford Street, Toronto says:

"Your Paine's Celery Compound has most wonderfully improved my health. Before using it my appetite was poor—almost gone; I was also weak and debilitated, and suffered severely from pains in the head. Paine's Celery Compound certainly does all that is claimed for it. I have recommended it to my friends and they all speak highly of the results received from it. I wish Paine's Celery Compound the success it so richly deserves."

Head Office - Ottawa, Canada

A GOOD STRONG COMPANY HAS LONG BEEN NEEDED.

A good strong limited Produce Company, with a capital of $300,000 being established in Ottawa would open up a safe and responsible channel for Cheese, Butter, Eggs, Poultry and all manner of country produce, and all could feel confident in sending their produce to this warehouse for safe keeping, and at the same time be in direct communication with Great Britain and all the markets of the world. Nearly all the large produce houses of Montreal and Great Britain have now, become limited Liability Companies, as the products of our country require so much capital to manipulate that it is much better to have sufficient resources to handle them. Country Merchants, FARMERS, FACTORY MEN, AND THE COUNTRY PEOPLE in general should be greatly interested in this Company, as it will be of great advantage to them, and in the meantime the Company will surely pay a handsome dividend to all the stockholders. THE OTTAWA PRODUCE COMPANY, LIMITED, who are taking over the present Cold Storage Building on Nicholas Street, consider it not sufficiently large to carry on the business of the Ottawa section and therefore propose adding to the present refrigerator a suitable addition. The ice will be done away with and the Cold Air or chemical system will be introduced. A good independent Railway siding will be placed alongside the building, as the near proximity of the building to the Central Station is such that this can be done at practically no cost, giving the Company direct communication with the Canadian Pacific Railway, Canada Atlantic Railway, Parry Sound Railway and port of Montreal, as well as a connection with the Ottawa and Gatineau, Ottawa & New York Railway, and Pontiac and Pacific Junction. This Produce House will prove of great advantage to Cheese and Factory men, as when the markets are dull their goods can be stored until such time as the market would improve, thereby enabling them not to be compelled to send their Cheese to be stored in Montreal, as it is better to handle, inspect and pay for them near home. The Jobbing Trade of Ottawa city will be sufficient to pay the running expenses of the concern.

It is seldom one has an opportunity to invest in such a good solid concern, showing 25 per cent.

PROSPECTUS

THE OTTAWA PRODUCE COMPANY, LIMITED, has been formed to consolidate three large and well paying businesses in the Produce line, together with the building, plant and property connected with the Ottawa Cold Storage Company, Limited. The before mentioned Cold Storage Building being one of the finest in Canada.

ASSETS OF THE COMPANY.

1. The business, building and plant of the Ottawa Cold Storage Company.
2. The business connection and brands of Eggs controlled exclusively by WM. MELDRUM & CO., of Montreal, the largest dealer in Canadian Eggs for export, together with the personal supervision of Mr. Meldrum over this branch of the business.
3. The business and connection of A. A. DAVIS & CO., Brockville, one of the largest butter and cheese exporters to the British Markets from Canada, together with the personal supervision of Mr. Davis over the cheese and butter business.

INTENTIONS OF THE COMPANY

THE OTTAWA PRODUCE COMPANY, LIMITED, intend in as large a measure as possible to control the surplus supply of the Eggs, Cheese, and Butter, produced yearly in the Ottawa Valley, and with this purpose in view it has been formed with ample Capital, and has been able to secure, together with the splendid Cold Storage Building already mentioned, the valuable co-operation of WM. MELDRUM & CO., of Montreal, the well known Egg shippers, and A. A. DAVIS & CO., of Brockville, whose connection with the markets of Great Britain is one of the largest possessed by any Canadian firm doing business as Cheese and Butter exporters.

Recently, owing to certain difficulties which the Ottawa Valley Merchants have had with Eastern firms, they have concluded that a large exporting firm with head office and Cold Storage building in Ottawa would be much more satisfactory to them, inasmuch as the railway facilities and other means of transport are quite as good from Ottawa as elsewhere, and also for the reason that Ottawa City is surrounded with as good a Produce country if not better, than any city in Canada.

EGGS

PROFITS OF THE VARIOUS PRODUCE WHICH THE COMPANY PROPOSE TO HANDLE

The Promoters and Managing Director of this Company, assisted by a number of leading Produce Merchants, have gone carefully into the matter of output and profit of the Egg business in the Ottawa Valley, and have come to the conclusion THAT THE OTTAWA PRODUCE COMPANY, LIMITED, can handle over a million dozen of Eggs every season at a profit of at least 3c. per dozen, and it is a well-known fact that the average price paid for this little article of diet, bought early in the season is 9c. to 11c. per dozen, and these eggs are never sold for less than 14c. to 15c. per dozen, during the fall and winter season, and frequently at a higher rate. HOWEVER, ASSUMING THAT THE OTTAWA PRODUCE COMPANY, LIMITED, HANDLE A MILLION DOZEN OF EGGS, WHICH IT IS QUITE EASY FOR IT TO DO, AND SELL THEM AT THE MINIMUM PRICE OF 14c. PER DOZEN, THE COMPANY HAS THE NICE PROFIT OF $30,000 ON ITS EGG TURNOVER ALONE, OR A 10 PER CENT DIVIDEND ON THE WHOLE CAPITAL OF THE COMPANY.

CHEESE

The Promoters, assisted by the Managing Director and leading Produce Merchants, who have dealt during the past years largely in Cheese, after carefully investigating this feature of the business have come to the conclusion that with the connection this Company have in England, through MR. DAVIS, the Ottawa Produce Co., Ltd., can handle 150,000 boxes of Cheese per annum bought for English account or consigned. In either case it is a conservative estimate that the OTTAWA PRODUCE COMPANY, LIMITED, will make 20c. per box or the nice profit of $30,000 per annum on the Turnover of Cheese with no loss to itself, as its system of Cold Storage will be such that no Cheese will spoil on its hands, and consequently leave no room for loss.

BUTTER

The Promoters assisted by the Managing Director and leading Produce Merchants, have also carefully investigated the Butter business, and have come to the conclusion that the OTTAWA PRODUCE COMPANY, LIMITED, can handle two million pounds of Butter, produced yearly in the fertile Ottawa Valley, out of which they estimate there can be made 1c. per pound profit. And it might be stated here that this estimate is a very conservative one, as most of the Butter handled by the Produce Merchants net them over 2c. per pound. Think for yourself the quantity of Butter that can be bought early in the season for 18c., and realize the price it sells for, both in Ottawa and Montreal, as the winter progresses, and you will see clearly that the profit of 1c. per lb. estimated by this Company is by no means an exaggeration, and yet here is another $20,000 profit to swell the dividends for the shareholders of this Company.

POULTRY HANDLED ON COMMISSION

In addition to the before mentioned business the Directors of the OTTAWA PRODUCE COMPANY, LIMITED, feel justified in the belief that they can make an additional $10,000 profit by handling Poultry on Commission for shipment to the British market. The means of transport across the Atlantic have been so much improved in the matter of Cold Storage Canadian Poultry can be delivered in England in the best condition. Canadian poultry is in great demand in England at the present time.

The jobbing trade done in Ottawa City alone in Turkeys and Chickens is enormous.

Leaving the splendid net profits for dividends to the Shareholders of the Company of	$55,000

Or sufficient to pay 7 per cent on Preferred Stock and 25 per cent. on the whole of the Common stock.

A CO-OPERATIVE COMPANY

The Company has been exceedingly fortunate in being able to secure the hearty co-operation of such well known Produce men as Wm. Meldrum, of Montreal, Mr. A. A. Davis, of Brockville, Mr. Joseph Kavanagh, late President of Ottawa Cheese Board, Mr. B. Slattery, meat merchant, and also Mr. Frank O'Reilly, the latter's experience at the market in Lower Town for so many years being such as to inspire confidence among the many farmers who bring in their Produce to Ottawa on Market Days, Mr. O'Reilly being personally acquainted with nearly all of them, while the long and many successful years of business enjoyed by such men as Mr. Joseph Kavanagh as a produce merchant, and Mr. B. Slattery as a meat merchant well known in Ottawa and the surrounding country gives additional strength to the board.

MANAGEMENT OF THE COMPANY

As the management of a company of this kind is one of its strong points, we would just mention that the directors of this Company are all men of most careful and shrewd judgement and men who have made money for themselves in their own business, consequently they can be relied upon to look after the interests of this Company in the most careful manner, as they have all invested their capital in the enterprise and believe that it cannot be other than a great success.

SUBSCRIPTIONS

All the money realized under subscription will be devoted absolutely without deduction to the business of the Company. No cents whatever will be deducted from this amount save the cost of advertising and the cost of obtaining the charter. SUBSCRIPTION BOOKS will be opened at the office of Sutherland & Kelly, 48 Sparks St., on Tuesday, October 30th, at 10 o'clock, and close not later than Saturday, 17th November, at 3 o'clock. Subscriptions will be received for one share and upwards, and they must be accompanied by a marked check for ten per cent. of the amount subscribed for, made out to THE OTTAWA TRUST AND DEPOSIT COMPANY, LIMITED, as Trustees for THE OTTAWA PRODUCE COMPANY, LIMITED, and in allotment preference will be given to residents of the various outlying towns in the Ottawa Valley, farmers in the near vicinity and residents of Ottawa. The right is reserved by the Company to close the subscription books at any time before three o'clock on Wednesday, 7th November, and to allot in whole or in part of application and to reject any application.

2,000 PREFERENCE SHARES AT PAR, $100,000

Carrying a bonus of 2,000 common shares of $50 each (the bonus shares being fully paid up by the transfer of property and non-assessable.)

The 7 per cent. preference stock is cumulative, carries yearly dividends and has priority over the common shares as to both dividends and assets.

Subscriptions are payable 10 per cent on application, 15 per cent on allotment, 10 per cent on the 1st of January, 15 per cent on the 1st of March, 25 per cent on the 1st of June, 25 per cent on the 1st of September, 1901, with the privilege of making prepayment of any instalment, at any instalment date. Subscription forms may be had on application to SUTHERLAND & KELLY, 48 Sparks St., or at the office of THE OTTAWA TRUST AND DEPOSIT CO., LIMITED.

APPENDIX

Reasons why you should invest in THE OTTAWA PRODUCE COMPANY, LIMITED.

1. Because an Investment showing such splendid profits is rarely offered to the public.
2. Because the Directors of this Company are men of the highest standing, successful in their own business for many years, and they can be relied upon to govern this business in the most careful way.
3. Because there has never been a first-class and well-equipped cold storage company in Ottawa, and this Company should be encouraged, as they will save an enormous amount of money for the farmers and cheese men of the Ottawa Country, which will be largely spent in Ottawa City, thereby benefiting the city merchants and community at large.
4. Because this Company will be a decided convenience to the public, and the public should share the profits.

BOER COMMANDS ACT SEPARATELY

Lord Roberts Says Their Sole Object is to Give Him Trouble.

GENERAL DOUGLAS IS CLEARING VENSERSDORP

He Has Occupied the Place and Deprived the Boers of a Supply Depot—Canadian Wounded Released.

London, Nov. 13.—Under date of Johannesburg, Nov. 12, Lord Roberts telegraphs to the War Office as follows:

"Rundle reports skirmishes with small parties of Boers in the Harrismith, Reitz and Vrede districts recently. The commandoes appear to be acting independently and with no object except to give as much annoyance as possible to the British. Our casualties in these skirmishes were two killed and seven wounded.

"Douglas arrived at Ventersdorp Nov. 11 from Zeirust, capturing during the march twenty-one prisoners and a quantity of cattle and sheep. Ventersdorp which has been a depot of supplies for the Boers, will now be cleared out."

OPERATIONS OF LORD METHUEN.

London, Nov. 12.—The War Office has received the following despatch from Lord Roberts:

"Methuen has made several attacks on the Boers in the Zeerust district of late. In a combined attack last week Methuen moved east from Buffelshoek, and Gen. Douglas on a parallel line from Zeerust. At the same time Lord Erroll's column moved from Ottoshoop in order to cut off the retreat of the Boers towards Marico.

"The joint columns heavily shelled the Boers, who retreated in an easterly direction, passing in front of Lord Erroll. The Bushmen and Col. Paget's cavalry charged the retreating enemy, capturing 25 prisoners, nine wounded Boers, and 25 wagons. The British buried 20 Boers.

REPORTS FROM SOUTH AFRICA.

Ottawa, Nov. 13.—A batch of reports was received to-day from South Africa. They contain little that is now. Major Ogilvie, commanding "B" Battery, and Major Hurdman send reports. Col. Lessard says that state of his battalion was 142 on parade, 37 sick and 28 invalided and one missing. Col. Evans complains of sniping by Boers. Col. Otter refers to complimentary telegram he received from Smith-Dorrien; which was a full justification of his (Otter's) administration, since he took command.

CANADIAN WOUNDED RELEASED.

London, Nov 13.—Lord Roberts telegraphs the War Office that General Smith-Dorrien reports that some Canadian wounded who fell into the hands of the Boers were subsequently returned in British ambulances to Belfast. They speak highly of the kind treatment they received from the hands of the Boers. They were informed that Commandants Henry Prinsloo and Joachim Fourie were killed and Commandant Grobelaar was wounded in a recent fight. This is confirmed by Lord Roberts.

A BRIGADE OF FIGHTERS.

Ottawa, Nov. 13.—Mr. Archibald Blue Census Commissioner, has received a letter from Major William Hamilton MMerritt of Toronto, now serving A. D.C. to Gen. Brabant, one of Lord Roberts' brigadiers in the South African campaing. Major Merritt says he looks forward to an early termination of the campaign. This colonial brigade of 2,500 men has had 500 casualties, been in sixteen fights, 70 engagements of one kind or another, and marched over 1,000 miles, and, as Major Merritt puts it, has had enough.

AT THE POLICE COURT.

A Case in Which the Childrens' Aid Society Was Interested.

At the Police Court yesterday a mother named Smith and her little boy occupied the attention of the Magistrate. The latter, who is about 7 years of age, is said to be of feeble mind, while the former is also said to be mentally deficient, and it is further stated, beats the child most unmercifully at times. The husband of the unfortunate woman is an inmate of an asylum. Three other children have been separated from her, and a remedy is now sought in the circumstances that now present themselves. The case was enlarged until this morning.

An election day happening was aired in Police Court yesterday morning. Dan'l. McFarlane drove one of Dr. Robinson's teams that day and hustled for a candidate. Ere the polls closed, however, it was thought wise to deprive McFarlane of his charge and George Gocher, another driver, was deputized to do so. The shuffling between the two resulted in a scrap, and, in due course, their appearance in court. Each was fined $3.00.

WEATHER NOTES.

Probs: To-day — Northwesterly gales and much colder.

Wintry weather now prevails in the Dominion from the St. Lawrence Valley westward; light snow has fallen over the larger portion of Ontario, and at some places near the Georgian Bay there has been quite a heavy fall. The temperature was within a few degrees of zero yesterday morning in Manitoba, and 8 below is reported from White River.

A POST FOR KITCHENER

London, Nov. 14.—The Army and Navy Gazette prints a report that Lord Kitchener is to be appointed Under Secretary of State for War and that Lord Cadogan has decided to continue in office as Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, and thus the Duke of Marlborough will have to wait awhile before he gets the highest salaried post in the gift of the British government.

Cheap Fuel.

Peterborough citizens will be interested in learning that fuel is now being manufactured in London out of mud, street refuse and sewage, for sale to the poor. A chemical process has been invented by which all this waste material is so treated that it is rendered combustible. Mud has been withdrawn from the Thames at Millwall, treated chemically and compressed in briquettes that in appearance closely resembles blocks of dull ebony or bog oak. It burns readily, exhales a minimum of smoke, and leaves only 25 per cent of firm ash. The street sweepings are mixed with a small percentage of cheap chemicals, pressed into blocks, and sterilized by being subjected to an intense heat of about four hundred degrees Fahrenheit. This fuel produces great heat, burns freely with little smoke and leaves very little ash. The sewage when subjected to this chemical process and pressed into briquettes looks like the best coal. The last fuel can be manufactured at the low cost of two dollars per ton, and is equal every day to the cheaper coals. Licenses have been granted to manufacture the fuel from these hitherto waste materials, and works are shortly to be installed upon the river's banks at Barking.

NEWS OF THE ARCTIC EXPEDITIONS

Explorers Not Quite on the Best of Terms With Each Other

Edinburg, Nov. 13.—Dr. Leopold Kann, the Arctic explorer, who has arrived at Dundee on the whaler Eclipse from Davis Strait, gives some interesting details regarding the Peary and Sverdrup expeditions.

"Lieutenant Peary's party," he says, "passed the winter at Utah, on Smith's Sound, near the port where Dr. Hayes had his winter quarters in 1860, and not far from the scene of the Greely disaster. In February and March of this year Fort Magnetia, our winter house at Bedford, on Pym Island, was thrice visited by members of his expedition, and one by Peary himself.

"He reported that about ten months previously he had met Sverdrup in the Kane Basin, north of Smith's Sound. From conversation I elicited that some feeling had been engendered between Lieutenant Peary and Sverdrup, the former rather resenting what he considered the latter's intrusion into ground which, for exploring purposes, the American was inclined to regard as his own.

"Sverdrup's party had thoroughly explored the Ellesmore Hinterland, mapping out a region that was hitherto a blank on the charts. Many of Sverdrup's flags were seen by us.

"In the course of our hunting expeditions in this great tract of country numbers of musk oxen were found on what seemed to be old and established feeding grounds.

"When the Peary and Sverdrup parties separated Sverdrup's understood intention was to explore the vast area of land and water in and around Jones' Sound, beyond Cape Eden. I believe Sverdrup, on the Fram, is now wintering in Jones' Sound, and my opinion, which is backed by that of the Dundee whalers, is that it will be impossible for the Fram to come home this year. The autumn has been very tempestuous and the ice was such as to render navigation next to impossible.

"The natives at Patravio reported that they had returned from Fort Conger, whither they had gone to victual the station.

"Lieut Peary had 200 dogs and 27 sleighs, but,h aving underrated the difficulties of the journey and not having sufficient food, most of his dogs died. He only kept a few natives at Fort Conger during the summer season, and the rest of the Esquimaux and Lieut. ePary returned to the settlement in a few days, so that the journey was extremely arduous and the party suffered great hardships.

"I am certain that Lieut. Peary is now wintering at Fort Conger. When I left Cape York, on the Eclipse, on June 9, the Windward was expected to touch there about the middle of July, where orders from Lieut, Peary which I had brought were left with the Esquimaux."

FILIPINOS HEAR OF ELECTION.

News Quietly Received and No Result is Expected Yet.

Manila, Nov. 14.—The results of the elections in the United States have been quietly received here.

So far as the Filipinos are concerned, no noticeable change in the situation has ensued, nor is any likely to occur in the immediate future. They are for the greater part non-committal. News of the outcome will slowly work its way through the country to the armed insurgents, where the assurances of the leaders that Mr. Bryan would certainly be elected must first be overcome.

Last week's scouting resulted in several minor engagements with what the official reports describe as "small casualties"—namely: four Americans killed and ten wounded.

HORRORS WORKED BY THE RUSSIANS

Saw 12,000 Corpses Encumbering the Stream

NOT A VILLAGE IS LEFT.

Thriving Industrial Population Gone—Smoking Ruins

London, Nov. 13.—The Globe this afternoon publishes a letter from a Belgian gentleman, who has been travelling in Pekin, via the Trans-Siberian Railroad. He describes, under date of September 6, what he saw in the Amur River. His account surpasses in horror those previously published.

"The scenes I have witnessed during the three days since the steamer left Blagovetchensk," he said, "are horrible beyond the powers of description. It is the closing tableux of a fearful human tragedy. Two thousand were deliberately drowned at Mero, two thousand at Rabe and eight thousand around Blagowetchensk, a total of 12,000 corpses encumbering the river, along which were hundreds of women and children. Navigation was all but impossible. Last week the boat had to plow her way through a tangled and mangled mass of corpses lashed together by their long hair. The banks were literally covered with corpses. In the curves of the stream were dark, putrid-smelling masses of human flesh and bone, surging and swaying in the steamer's wake and wash. The captain vainly ordered full speed ahead. The sight and smell will be ever with us.

"From Blagowetchensk to Aigun, 45 kilometres, numerous villages studded the bank, with a thriving industrious population of over 100,000. That of Aigun was 20,000. No one will ever know the number of those who perished by shot, sword and stream. Not a village is left. The silence of death was around us. The smoking ruins of Aigun on the right, with broken down crumbling walls and shattered roofless houses."

CHINA CANNOT PAY.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 13.—The Novoe Vreyma, says it believes that the powers are becoming convinced that China is unable to pay a war indemnity, and that this discovery will cool the Anglo-German war fever.

RUSSIANS CAPTURE AN ARSENAL.

London, Nov. 13.—A special despatch from Tien Tsin, dated November 10, says a force of Russians has captured the arsenal northeast of Yang Tsun, with trifling loss, killing two hundred Chinese and capturing a quantity of arms and treasure.

INVITED TO GERMANY.

New York, Nov. 13.—According to a despatch from Berlin, the Kaiser has just given further evidence of his regard for Baron Von Ketteler, who was assassinated in China, by inviting the ambassador's widow to Germany in order that he may express to her his keen sense, not only of her husband's services, but also of the courage and gallantry which she herself displayed throughout the terrible siege of the legations.

It is expected that the Kaiser, besides investing the widowed baroness with the order of Louise, of which the Empress is Grand Mistress, will offer her a pension and create her a countess in her own right.

It is probable that the baroness will also be offered the title of Lady in Waiting to the Empress. She is certain, to be overwhelmed by court, Government, society and the people with tokens of kindly sympathy and regard.

IS NOW CONVALESCENT.

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 13.—A special to the Tribune from Detroit says: Baroness Von Ketteler, whose husband was murdered by the Chinese in Pekin, is improving slowly at the residence of her father, Henry B. Ledyard, president of the Michigan Central Railroad Co. When she arrived about five weeks ago, her condition was such that her relatives for a time were greatly alarmed. She is now convalescent. Friends of the family say that as soon as she is able she will cross the seas en route for the late home of Baron Von Ketteler, and will be received by Emperor William, who has requested her to come.

A EUROPEAN DEPENDENCY.

London, Nov. 13.—Dr. Morrison, wiring to the Times from Pekin Sunday, says: "Pressed by the common desire for a speedy termination of present conditions, the foreign envoys have finally agreed to the following terms to be presented in a conjoint note, which, subject to the approval of the Government, will be pressed upon China as the basis of a preliminary treaty:

"China shall erect a monument to Baron Von Ketteler on the site where he was murdered, and send an Imperial Prince to Germany to convey an apology. She will inflict the death penalty upon eleven Princes and officials already named, and suspend provincial examinations for five years where the outrages occurred. In future all officials failing to prevent anti-foreign outrages within their jurisdiction shall be dismembered and punished. Indemnity shall be paid to the States, corporations and individuals. The Tsung Li Yamen shall be abolished and its functions vested in a Foreign Minister. Rational intercourse shall be permitted with the Emperor, as in civilized countries. The forts at Taku and other forts on the coast of China shall be razed, and the importation of arms and war materials prohibited. Permanent Legation guards shall be maintained, and also guards of communication between Pekin and the sea. Imperial proclamation shall be posted for two years throughout the Empire, suppressing Boxers. The indemnity is to include compensation for Chinese who suffered through being employed by foreigners, but not compensation for native Christians. The words 'missionary' and 'Christian' do not occur in the note."

SPECIAL COUNCIL MEETING.

Sidewalks North and East From George and Brock to be Raised.

The Town Council met in special session yesterday afternoon, when there were present Mayor Kendry, and Aldermen Clinkscale, Dawson, Sawers, Rogers, Weir and Corkery.

The reading of the minutes was dispensed with.

At the end of a somewhat lengthy meeting in committee, the following resolutions were passed:

Moved by Ald. Rogers, seconded by Ald. Dawson,—That the Engineer be instructed to raise the granolithic sidewalks north and east from the corner of George and Brock street to their original level, and that in the event of it being found impracticable to raise same this present season, that a wooden sidewalk be laid down for the winter at the level of the old sidewalk, to be replaced as soon as practicable by the granolithic structure, and that the Town Solicitor be instructed to prepare a By-law for this purpose.—Carried.

Ald Rogers moved, seconded by Ald. Sawers,—That the Engineer be authorized to issue certificate to Evans & Langford for sidewalk contract and to J. E. Hayes for sewer contract without enforcing a penalty for the work not being completed in the time specified by the contract, as the Town has suffered no loss or inconvenience by the delay.—Carried.

Ald. Dawson moved, seconded by Ald. Clinscale,—That W. Parnell be paid for work in Fire Hall in place of Jno. Montgomery, on certificate of Chairman of Board of Works Committee.—Carried.

A BAD GANG

HOW DIVORCES WERE SECURED BY WHOLESALE

A Plot Laid Bare—False Witnesses Furnished Correspondence Obtained to Order in New York.

New York, Nov. 31.—A most remarkable conspiracy for obtaining fraudulent divorces was revealed yesterday by the arrest in this city of two men and a woman who, it is alleged, have made a living for an indefinite period by securing, through perjury, subornation of perjury and forgery, absolute divorces for all comers. The district attorney now has in his possession evidence which leads to the belief that this gang of professional perjurers has worked undiscovered for more than a year, and that no less than thirty or forty divorces have been fraudulently obtained by the gang.

The persons who were arrested yesterday were Henry Zeimer, a lawyer, of 239 Broadway; "Frank Wilson," with half a dozen or more fictitious names, who says he is a cigarmaker but who is really a professional witness, and Mary H. Thompkins, a woman detective, or sort of professional correspondent, willing to swear to anything. Wilson admitted that his name was assumed. He said he lived at 315 East Seventy-seventh street, but he doesn't live there. The Thompkins woman refused her address. Technically she is not under arrest. She made a statement to the district attorney and was sent to the House of Detention as a witness. Zeimer and Wilson were locked up in the Tombs in default of $5,000 bail each on a charge of conspiring to defeat justice.

Recorder Goff issued a warrant yesterday afternoon for the arrest of Mrs. Byrde G. Herrick, of Bedford avenue, Brooklyn, who was the plaintiff in the latest of the alleged fraudlent cases. She was arrested by Detectives Dunn and McNaught last night and taken to police headquarters and from there to the House of Detention.

COINCIDENCE REVEALED PLOT.

The evidence against these persons was obtained through the efforts of the justices of the Supreme court, particularly Justices Scott, Lawrence and Dugro, who has been made the unwilling official instruments of Zeimer's rascality. By a mere coincidence they were put in possession of certain facts which warrented investigation. Investigation disclosed the extent of the conspiracy, and when all the facts were in hand the evidence was laid before the district attorney. This was on Thursday night and yesterday the warrants were issued. There are some facts connected with this case which the officials are not at liberty to make public at present for fear of defeating the ends of justice, but enough was told yesterday to show clearly how the gang worked.

LEGISLATURE MUST ACT.

Justice Scott said yesterday that he did not doubt that there were thirty or forty divorces granted as a result of that gang's methods. The justice thinks that under the present system it is impossible to prevent just such frauds such has been practised by Zeimer and that the only way these frauds can be prevented is by the passage of a bill by the legislature creating an officer similar to the Queen's proctor in England. It is the duty of the Queen's proctor to investigate all divorce cases with a view to seeing if there has been any fraud or collusion between the parties to the suits. Justice Scott said that the justices of the Supreme court had already conferred on the advisability of preparing a bill of some such character, and that one had been practically decided upon.

BANQUET TO COLONEL OTTER

Warmly Eulogized by Canadian Officers in South Africa.

Capt. J. C. Mason, in a letter to his father, Lieut.-Col. Mason, tells of a banquet tendered to Col. Otter by the Canadian officers in South Africa, on the occasion of his promotion to a full coloneicy. He says:—

"A few days ago we learned that Lieut.-Col. Otter had been made a full colonel. To celebrate the occasion the officers of the regiment here gave him a little dinner last evening. We invited no outsiders, for we felt the colonel would be given so many dinners later on, when a large number of guests would be present, that this one would be more appreciated if kept within the regiment. The tin hut that serves as a mess room was quite transformed when the bare table was covered with a white linen cloth and decorated with roses and carnations. A goodly hamper from Pretoria, provided with Mumm's extra dry and other good spirits, together with the choicest fruits and vegetables the country can produce in war time, made up a tasty veldt dinner.

PRAISE FOR COL. OTTER.

"Capt. Weeks, in a few well-chosen words, proposed Col. Otter's health, saying that the officers now present with the battalion, and those who had served with the colonel throughout the campaign, felt they could not allow this occasion to pass without expressing, in a measure their pleasure in the long delayed but well deserved honor which had been conferred upon him, and their confidence in him as their commanding officer of the regiment that had earned such a good reputation and received such expressive compliments on their excellent behaviour throughout the campaign, from Lord Roberts, Commander-in-Chief, and General Smith-Dorrien, their brigadier—that the war was now drawing to a close, and they should soon be separated and scattered over the Dominion of Canada, but the officers would always look back to the time they served under him in South Africa with the greatest satisfaction and pleasure. After the colonel's health had been enthusiastically drunk and he had thanked the officers for honoring him with a dinner, and their expression of their feelings towards him as their commanding officer, and upholding him and the honor of the regiment with a soldierly and patriotic spirit, the dinner concluded.

SMOKED IN MOONLIGHT.

"After dinner the regiment had a smoking concert. All gathered around a huge bonfire, and with a bright South African full moon and the glare of the fire on on the hardened, sun-burned faces of the men, the scene presented was a very picturesque one. As the officers came up to the place where the concert was being held the men stood up and gave three hearty cheers for Col. Otter. The music was furnished by Capt. Ogilvy on an organ, found in a Kaffir kraal. (Strange to say, this organ was found packed in a case. When the case was discovered the Kaffirs apparently knew nothing of it. We, thinking it contained arms, immediately seized it, and were surprised on opening it to find it contained a new organ.)"

ARE NOW A MATCH FOR BOER WILES

Mobility of the British Army in South Africa.

London, Nov. 13.—The war news from South Africa increases in range and variety when the public interest in it has almost entirely lapsed from sheer weariness. There are further details of eight or ten minor actions and skirmishes, all the way from Orange River to Lydenburg. All these affairs are more spirited and have more local color and human interest than the opening episodes of the campaign a year ago, but the correspondents are no longer on the ground to describe them, and the public here has lost its interest in the recitals even of the gallantry of British soldiers.

The Boers, while fighting with renewed courage all along the line, are everywhere unsuccessful. One of the many brilliant incidents is the moonlight charge by a mixed body of cavalry and mounted infantry near Lydenburg, when the Boers were taken by surprise and routed. Col. Plumer has also repulsed with ease a sharp Boer attack.

The conclusion that may fairly be drawn from this revival of hostilities is that the British army is now thoroughly alert, inured to the service, remarkably mobile and more than a match for Boer wiles and stratagems. The Boers are outmanoeuvered and surprised, and the British cannot be entrapped, even by De Wet.

While much is said in England about the necessity of revolutionizing the War Office and transforming the whole system of military training, to little stress is laid upon the fact that an army of two hundred thousand men is now having in South Africa the most strenuous possible trainingi n the art of war.

TRAVELLED NEARLY TO JAMES BAY

Ontario Exploring Party Found Good Farming Land There.

Toronto, Nov. 13.—Word has been received from the exploring party which went north in the spring under the leadership of Mr. George R. Gray. They are expected home in a day or two.

At one time five weeks passed without their seeing any man but themselves, either white or Indian. They reached within three days' paddle of James Bay and explored principally along the western boundary of Nipissing district. They found copper, gold, nickel and iron in varying quantities. There is good farming land, but it will be inaccessible for many years.

Every Indian grows his potatoes—and there is not a potato bug in the land. The Hudson Bay stations grow lots of vegetables, such as cabbages, tomatoes, cucumbers, and so on. The climate is fine and the men say they were never so healthy in their lives. The medicine chest supplied by Dr. Bryce returned almost untouched.

Game is very plentiful and moose are reported to be running around like cattle.

CAMP SAVED BY PTE. HARBOTTLE

A Canadian Challenged Attacking Boers.

COLONEL OTTER'S REPORT

He Says His Regiment Can Hold its Own With Any.

Ottawa, Nov. 31.—Col. Lessard, commanding the Royal Canadian Dragoons, forwards the Militia Department his diary up to the 1st of October. He mentions that Pte. H. M. Marshall has been struck of the strength, having been transferred to the Transvaal Constabulary.

He quotes the letter from the officer commanding the troops at Nooitgedacht, under date of the 9th of September, which expresses appreciation of the prompt manner in which Pte. Harbottle of the R. C. V. Maxim gun section carried out his duties as camp sentry on the preceding day. "His challenge followed by prompt action undoubtedly prevented the camp being surprised, and reflicted great credit upon himself and his crops.

Col. Lessard's parade states of Oct. 1st showed 142 men on parade, 37 sick, and at rest camps, 28 invalided, one missing, out of an establishment of 371.

Col. Evans, commanding the Canadian Mounted Rifles, reports down to Oct. 8th. His parade state shows 180 on parade, 92 sick and one missing. The regiment was then at Pan Station, and had suffered from Boer aniping.

Col. Otter quotes the complimentary telegram of General Smith-Dorrien—published in the press despatches yesterday—who commanded the 19th Brigade during the most important phases of the war, and adds: "I venture to feel that the above expression of opinion from this well known and acknowledged most capable officer, is full justification of my administration of the battalion since I took command. A raw and inexperienced—with few exceptions—militia battalion was in three months made fit to hold its own in the field with the best disciplined regiments of the British army.

"I am sorry to say that a few cases of enteric and dysentery have lately developed in this battalion, but of a mild description. Otherwise the list is not large, approximately not more than 20.

A SOCIAL CLUB.

A New Organization Started Under Favorable Auspices

A new society has been organised, which will be known as the Rambler's Sosial Club. At a meeting of young men held Monday night in the rooms above Stevenson's Coal office which have been used as the Liberal Committee rooms, the initial steps were taken.

The chair was occupied by Mr. A. A. Francke and there were also present Messrs. George Hardill, W. J. O'Brien, W. Sager, J. L. Liddycott, K. Graham, A. Kemp, E. Smith, J. O'Hara, Wilfred Miniker, W. Brisbin, Harry Graham, Wm. Kemp.

After discussing the advisability of organizing such a club the following officers were elected:

President—A A Francke.
Vice-President—W. Sager.
Secretary—G. N. Hardill.
Treasurer—W. J. O'Brien.
Reception Committee—J. J. Liddycott, K. Graham, G. Kempt, E. Smith and J. O'Hara.

The club has made arrangements for the use of the old Liberal Committee rooms and the same will be fitted up for the use of the members. They will be furnished with a piano and other means of enjoyment. The club will give a series of at homes during the winter and Friday evening of each week will be reception night to their friends.

A meeting of the club is called for Wednesday evening in order to transact some important business.

LORD ROSSLYN APOLOGIZES.

London, Nov. 14.—Lord Roberts, in response to an enquiry from the Prince of Wales, has telegraphed authorizing a denial of the charge of cowardice made in Lord Rosslyn's book against British officers in the Sannaspost affair.

London, Nov. 14.—Lord Rosslyn, in view of Lord Roberts' denial, has written to the Prince of Wales regretting that he was mis informed, and tendering an apology in the following language:

"I owe to the regiment whose honor my publication of groundless reports has called in question, the deepest apology, and the fullest reparation. I offer it to you, sir, as Colonel-in-Chief; I offer it to the colonels of the various regiments; I offer it to every officer, non-commissioned officer and man, and, I sincerely trust that this unqualified apology will be accepted in the spirit in which it is offered."

ENGLAND DISSATISFIED.

Shanghai, Nov. 13.—It is asserted here that the Empress Dowager has appointed Sir Robert Hart director of Chinese Imperial Maritime Customs to arrange the indemnity question with the powers. An Imperial edict appoints Li Hung Chang to replace Gen. Yung Lu as generalissimo of the northern army..

London, Nov. 14.—The London morning papers are again agitated concerning the stability of the concert of powers in China. The attitudes of Germany and the United States meet with disapproval the former because Count Von Waldersee has sent a column to destroy the Ming tombs, an act which is regarded as needlessly vindicative and the latter because it threatens to break up the concert.

EXPLOSION IN A COAL MINE.

Berlin, Nov. 13.—Thirteen persons were killed and nineteen injured in a fire damp explosion in the Pluto coal mines at Wiesen, near Brux.

Morning Times

PETERBOROUGH, NOVEMBER 12, 1900

SIR CHARLES TUPPER

It will be a strange looking House without Sir Charles Tupper. Sir Charles, who for five sessions has sat in the seat of the leader of the Opposition, every faculty alive, intent upon the proceedings of the House! He missed nothing. Tedious discussion in committee, which sent others asleep or drove them to the corridors, claimed Sir Charles Tupper as an attentive listener. With the most obscure back bencher he was as courteous in debate as with the First Minister. Jean Baptiste Morin, once describing his troubles, contrasted the character of George Eulas Foster with the Tory leader. "I go to Mr. Foster to ask about something," said Jean Baptiste. "He say, 'Good morning, John,' and writes away with his pen. 'Will you explain to me what these figures mean,' I proceed. 'A fine morning, John,' he say, and write some more. Then I am mad with Mr. Foster and I go to 'Seer' Charles. 'Seer' Charles he take the figures, he show me what they mean, he say 'Come to me again, Mr. Morin.' That is what I do now. Mr. Foster is not the man for me; it is 'Seer' Charles."

THE UNITED STATES ELECTIONS

The Presidential and State elections throughout the United States on Tuesday last was a surprise to but very few people in Canada. The re-election of President McKinley seemed to be a foregone conclusion, and his large majority simply serves to show that the best element in the neighboring republic is on top. McKinley stands for sound money and honest government, and a patriotic adherence to recently acquired territory, whether this be styled imperialism or is called by any other name. "What we have we'll hold" might as well be the watchword of the Secretary of State in Washington as of the Secretary of State of the colonies in London. But what is of more significance to Canadians is the fact that the Republican success of this time means the continuance of friendly relations between the United States and England, and the defeat of Bryan is the breaking of the last straw on which the Boers relied. British subjects therefore in every part of the world will rejoice heartily over Mr. McKinley's splendid victory.

COAL CONSUMERS PAY FOR ALL

If it is still a disputed question as to whether the operator or miner won in the settlement of the coal strike, there can be no dispute as to whether the public has lost.

The concession to the men amounts to 10 per cent. in wages and a reduction of $1.25 in the price of a keg of powder. It is not hard to figure out the added cost of coal.

To produce the year's 54,000,000 tons of anthracite required the labor of 140,000 miners at $300 a year, or $42,000,000. Ten per cent of this is $4,200,000. It also required the use of 3,500,000 kegs of powder, for which the operators will receive $4,500,000 less.

These two items increase the cost of coal by $8,700,000, or just about 16 cents a ton, an advance which the coal consuming American public would be glad to pay if thereby it could settle all the questions in issue.

But instead of adding 16 cents a ton to the price of coal the Coal Trust has added 50 cents. Instead of paying $8,700,000 per annum in the settlement the coal consumers will pay $27,000,000. They will pay the $8,700,000 to the miners again. The national spirit will, in ers for their work and they will pay $18,300,000—or a 4 per cent. dividend on $460,000,000—to the Coal Trust in return for nothing at all. And there seems to be no doubt that they will be made to pay.

THEIR SILVER WEDDING.

Only Three Things Wrong About His Story.

They were celebrating their silver wedding and the friends were admiring them as people always do other people when they are getting a lot of presents. You have noticed, of course, how people always look at you when you show them something somebody has given you. They are surprised and they envy you. They always wonder, however, in themselves what on earth any one could see in you to give you anything so handsome. That is unless it is your husband. Then they smile and wonder what he has been doing that his conscience needs rest. But if you'll notice you'll find that persons who get many presents have many friends. You may have many friends but get precious few presents. Presents make friends; friends don't make presents. Married people increase the circle of their friends with every anniversary of their wedding, because the presents get handsomer and more expensive. You can work this paradox out for yourselves, I haven't time.

They were celebrating their silver wedding, and of course the couple were very happy and very affectionate.

"Yes," said the husband, "this is the only woman I ever loved. I shall never forget the first time I proposed to her"

"How did you do it?" burst out a young man who had been squeezing a pretty girl's hand in a corner. They all laughed and he blushed; but the girl carried it off bravely.

"Well, I remember as well as if it were yesterday. It was away back in Maine. We had been out to a picnic, and she and I got wandering alone together. Don't you remember, my dear?"

The wife nodded and smiled.

"We sat on the trunk of an old tree. You haven't forgotten have you love?"

The wife nodded and smiled again.

"She began writing in the dust with the point of her parasol. You recall it sweet, don't you?"

The same old smile and nod.

"She wrote her name 'Minnie,' and I said, 'let me put the other name to it.' And I took the parasol and wrote my name—Smith—after it."

"How lovely," broke out a little maid who was beaming in a suspicious way on a tall chap with a blonde mustache.

"And she took back the parasol and wrote below it, 'No I won't.' And we went home. You remember it darling I see you do."

Then he kissed her and the company murmured, "How nice."

The guests had all departed and the happy couple were left alone.

"Wasn't it nice, Minnie, to see all our friends around us and so happy."

"Yes it was. But John, that reminiscence."

"Ah, it seems as if it was only yesterday."

"Yes, dear; there are only three things you're wrong about in that story."

"Wrong? Oh, no!"

"John, I'm sorry you told that story because I never went to a picnic with you before our marriage; I was never in Maine in my life and I never went through that parasol business with you."

"My darling, you are wrong."

"I'm not wrong. You know I have an excellent memory. We have been married twenty-five years but I never knew about that minx Minnie. You never told me of her before."

I guess that she'll forgive, but it is doubtful if she forgets.

He Needed the Money.

Some time ago he had an allotment on the market and one day a foreign-looking individual walked into his office and said he wanted to inquire about the lots. He looked over the plat and finally picked out one that suited him.

"Vot's der price?" he asked when the location was decided upon.

"Eight hundred dollars."

"I give you six houndred cash."

"Very well," said the dealer, "you can have it."

Then the customer lowered his voice.

"I vant der price of dot lot seex houndred to me, but eight houndred to effrybody else. You understand?"

"Yes," said the dealer. "That will be all right."

"Vell, you see, it's like dees—I'm goin' to get married. I've got der girl picked out, und she has money. You see you vill sell der lot to her for $800. Den you vill motion to me, und ve vill go into der next room und you will pay me dot $200. See?"

"You want the $200 for a commission?" said the dealer. "That will be all right, too."

The customer looked relieved.

"It's choost this way," he said. "I must have dot two hundred or I can't get married."

"You shall have it," said the dealer.

A few days later the future bride, her mother and the coming bridegroom entered the office. The papers were quickly prepared and signed, and the mother from the intricacies of her skirts produced a wad of bills, which proved to be the necessary $800.

Then the bridegroom lingered behind as the bride and her mother passed into the hall. The dealer hastily counted off the $200 and thrust it into the bridegroom's hand.

"I have to have it," whispered the latter.

"All right," said the dealer.

"I couldn't get married without it."

"I understand," said the dealer.

The man with the two hundred paused, with his hand on the doorknob.

"I have to have it," he hoarsely murmured, "it is for my first wife's funeral expenses!"

Happy Motherhood.

Motherhood ought always to bring happiness. But it is often the beginning of life-long unhappiness. As a preparation for motherhood, and as a preventive of the ills so often following maternity Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has been hailed as a "God-send to women." It heals diseases peculiar to women, tones up the system, makes motherhood practically painless, and establishes the sound health which insures healthy children.

"During the past year I found myself pregnant and in rapidly failing health," writes Mrs. W. J. Kidder, of Hill Dale Farm, (Enosburg Center), Enosburg, Vt. "I suffered dreadfully from bloating and urinary difficulty. I was growing perceptibly weaker each day and suffered much sharp pain at times. I felt that something must be done. I sought your advice and received a prompt reply. I took twelve bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and also followed your instructions. I began to improve immediately, my health became excellent, and I could do all my own work (we live on a good sized farm). I walked and rode all I could, and enjoyed it. I had a short easy confinement and have a healthy baby boy."

ATTACK of ROYAL CANADIANS at Paardeberg

The present is a time when war pictures are in greater demand than ever. The conduct of the British soldiers on the battlefield has won the plaudits of admiring nations. We have at great expense published four large, beautiful pictures, size 20x28, on heavy, superfine calendered paper. A picture that will commend itself and send a thrill to the heart of every true Canadian is the one called Attack of Royal Canadians at Paardeberg, there are literally hundreds of figures on this picture, the mountains or kopjes stretching out into the distance are swarming with men, while here and there a prostrate figure speaks only too well of the Boer riflemen. It was on this battlefield the gallant Major Arnold met death unflinchingly. Indeed, it is only too true that many of those gallant hearts that beat so high when the cheering thousands bade them Godspeed as they sailed from Canada's shores now lie still forever in lonely graves on the other side of the world under African skies. To every Canadian heart, to every Canadian home, the deeds of their brave soldier boys speak with an irresistible thrill of patriotism and pride Gordon Highlanders at the Battle of Belmont, Charging the Boer Guns at Elandslaagte and the Charge of Gen. French's Cavalry on the Retreating Gen. Cronje's Army. These are all stirring pictures and cannot fail to commend themselves to anyone who will examine them. They are RED HOT SELLERS! Agents coin money. Big profits Enormous success. One agent sold 68 in one day. Sample and terms 25 cts (none free); four for 50 cts; $1.75 per dozen; 25 for $3.25; 50 for $6.00; 100 for $12.00. Dear Sirs,—In accordance with your wishes I have had both the red and white wines and the champagne tested by several connoisseurs, French and English. All of these expressed surprise that an article of such merit was produced in Canada, and even manufacturers admit that the brand "L'Empereur" is of excellent quality.

This opinion from critics who are by no means easy to please should be very satisfactory to you, and it gives me pleasure to congratulate you upon it. Yours faithfully,

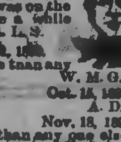
If you have this awful disease you are in danger until completely cured; the various symptoms you notice should be a warning to take immediate treatment. Don't put it off until too late, as it continually gets worse. If you have sore throat, patches on tongue or mouth, swollen glands, hair falling out, blotches on body, itching skin, or other signs of this awful disease, call on us. We give you a written guarantee to cure you by our LATEST METHOD TREATMENT without Mercury or Potassium, and You Pay When Cured. Each time you call you see Dr. Goldberg personally, who has 18 Diplomas, certificates and licenses received from the various colleges, hospitals and States, which testify to his standing and abilities.

The original testimonials can be seen at our office; $500.00 reward for any we cannot show; at request of patients we publish only the initials.



I am improving every day. I notice if I cut or scratch myself the sore will heal up. I hope you will not stop treating me as long as there is a sign of that terrible disease. I am more afraid of it than death. I believe you have the right medicine for the disease. I feel so thankful to you for the good you have done me; I was a perfect wreck when I came to you, and was on the verge of suicide. To make a sure thing I would like to continue a while longer, so that it will not return. Very respectfully yours, Mrs. L. S.

Love Won - and - Lost.

A NOVEL.

shoulder, or happy parents leading a little child between them, she would cry out like a wounded bird; the pain was more than she could bear.

People wondered why the beautiful companion of Mrs. Ulvesford always drooped her head when any one chanced to mention how dearly fathers loved their little sons, watched over them, planned for them, and were so proud of them. They thought the beautiful Mrs. Ross was thinking of some far-off grave.

Ah! if there had been a grave; but there was none. Her husband walked the smiling earth, unconscious, uncaring of the love of a little son.

It was strange, but she never once imagined Alderic clasping another in his arms, or another woman basking in the love that was her own.

"He is my husband," she told herself; that thought alone seemed to shut out any such possibility from her mind.

One morning Izetta from her window, saw Ulmont Ulvesford kiss his wife good-by on the portico; he was to be gone but one day, only a few hours. Izetta noticed how even so slight a separation grieved them, the memory of that kiss almost drove her mad.

For hours she paced the floor of her room. Such a torrent of passionate tears welled up from her tortured heart! She had no one but baby to whom she could turn in her loneliness for sympathy, and even baby's face oft-times reminded her alarmingly of —Ulmont Ulvesford.

She had suffered the keenest and most poignant grief, because she had seen a young husband lovingly kiss his own wife.

Then the startling truth burst upon her; she must leave or she would go mad.

How dare such thoughts stir her bosom when she thought of the husband of Loraine Ulvesford, or met the glance of his keen blue eyes fixed upon her face?

Izetta threw herself down on her knees and prayed Heaven to pardon the sin of her own wild, thoughtless fancies.

Izetta bathed her eyes, pressed her lips to sleeping Ulmont's snowy forehead, and went down in the morning-room, where she knew Mrs. Ulvesford awaited her.

Loraine sat with some pretty worsted-work in her hand, but as Izetta entered she threw it aside.

"You shall read to me," she said; "I am very dull; after that we will make out those invitations for the lawn fete for the first of May. Guess how long you have been here Izetta."

"Quite four months, I believe."

"Yes, a little over four months, yet you are as shy and reserved as on the first day you came. My husband was saying only yesterday that he wondered where in the world you were hiding; he has seen you but twice since you have been at the manor. I really must protest against this, Mrs. Ross; you are too pretty to immure yourself from the world in this fashion."

"Believe me, Mrs. Ulvesford, the greatest happiness I can find is administering to your wishes or baby's comfort; those are moments when, thus employed, I quite forget my sorrow."

"Do you never long for some of the brightness that makes other women's lives?" asked Loraine.

"No," answered Izetta, wearily, "why should I?"

"Why, by right of your youth and loveliness. When the strains of a waltz and merry, tripping feet fall upon your ear, is there no throbbing of your heart to break away from the gloom that surrounds you and mingle with the gay throng—to feast your eyes on the brilliancy, the bloom and beauty?"

"No," replied Izetta; "I should feel out of place; I should not care for it; my one great longing would be to escape it."

Loraine looked at the beautiful, foreign face, so exquisite in its rich, dark coloring, and she thought how mistaken the poets were when they chose the dark-eyed women as their ideals of passionate love. They do not see the brightness and gayety; they see only the sombre side of life, these sad, dark, dreamy-eyed women.

At last, simply to gratify Loraine, Izetta promised to attend the lawn fete.

Loraine was busy with a thousand plans for the coming summer.

"You must decide the most important cases for me, Izetta," she said, with a blush; "you know this is my first summer at home."

"We must make it a memorable one on that account," answered Izetta.

"The first of May," said Loraine, poising her pen on her dainty fingers; "we will set the fete down for the first day in May. I love the sweet month of May; yet once it brought me the greatest sorrow I had ever known."

"No one would think you had ever known a single care," said Izetta, turning her dark, sympathetic eyes wonderingly, questioningly on Loraine's face.

"Yes," continued Loraine, "I was to have been married last May. Ulmont was abroad, but was expected home on the tenth, our marriage was set for the fifteenth."

Izetta started slightly; she remembered she was married on the tenth of May.

"The steamer was detained, I believe, or for some unexplainable reason he reached port late in the afternoon of what was to have been our wedding day. Just as he landed he was immediately summoned to his mother's bedside; although I lived but ten miles distant, no one sent for me, lest the shock on my wedding day would prove too much for me. I did not know she was ill, and expected her each moment at my home. I awaited my love in my bridal robes. I can never describe to you the long, weary hours I waited; still he came not."

Loraine crossed over to where Izetta sat, standing before her like a beautiful statue carved in marble; and with a sudden motion her white hands were clasped round her rival's neck.

CHAPTER XXXI.

The Contents Of The Fichu.

"Izetta," whispered Loraine, "you will never realize what I suffered, on what was to have been my bridal eve, for the lover-bridegroom who came not. People look upon my face and say, with a smile: 'Her life has been sweet and dreamy, like a poem; no cloud has ever fallen athwart her sunshine.' Nobody except poor mamma knew that I lived the agony of a lifetime in those few hours; at last a messenger came, breaking the terrible news. He was at Ulvesford Mansion, lying dangerously wounded by a fall over the cliff into the raging sea."

There was no lack of sympathy in the dark eyes which gazed into Loraine's, expressed more kindly than words would have done.

"I never knew a happy moment until he recovered; you cannot wonder why I tremble so when he leaves my sight. Do you know, Izetta, that if anything were to happen to my husband I should pray Heaven that I might die!"

"You must not have such strange thoughts, Mrs. Ulvesford; nothing could happen to your husband; nothing could separate you."

"So you thought, Izetta, when your husband parted from you."

"That was a sadly different case, Mrs. Ulvesford; your husband loves you".

Loraine shuddered at the pitiful wail in the sweet, young voice.

"I should droop and die without Ulmont's love," whispered Loraine. "Mrs. Ross," she continued, coming nearer, her fair face eloquent with emotion, "I often wonder if God does not disapprove of so great a love as is mine. I cannot find words to express to you how dearly I love Ulmont. I could not be like those noble women of old who have given up their love for duty; I should fling myself in the dust at his feet and pray him to take the life which was not worth the living—without his love."

"You are fanciful, Mrs. Ulvesford, you are as pale as death," cried Izetta, in alarm.

"The very thought of such a possibility makes me weak and faint," shuddered Loraine.

"Believe me, you are entertaining impossibilities in your thoughts; we must banish them at once," said Izetta cheerfully; continuing: "Now that we have finished the invitations, shall we not examine the new silks which arrived for you yesterday?"

Again, like the April sunshine, Loraine's fair, flower-like face cleared, and Izetta saw she had quite forgotten, almost the next moment, in beholding the shimmering silks, her late gloomy fancies.

"I have a surprise for you, Izetta," she cried gayly; "I did not anticipate your refusal to attend my lawn fete, and have ordered a special costume for the occasion for you. Stop! do not thank me, Izetta; you will quite overwhelm me if you do."

"It is you who quite overwhelm me, Mrs. Ulvesford; I—I do not deserve such kindness at your hands—I have done so little to merit it."

Loraine playfully placed her white fingers above the red, quivering lips, holding up a jaunty, amber silk, with here and there a dash of the richest, softest and darkest crimson.

"I know how superbly this costume would set off that piquant, foreign face. Stop! I command you to hear me through," she said, laughingly; "I wanted your dark, rich coloring as a foil to my own colorless face."

"Mrs. Ulvesford——"

Loraine continued, laughingly:

"You must not think that my kindness, as you are pleased to term it, sprang from an exactly generous impulse; but mind," she added roguishly, "you are not to outshine me, you know."

"That would be as impossible, my dear Mrs. Ulvesford, as for the dark, starless night to eclipse the fair, smiling, sun-radiant day," Izetta exclaimed, earnestly.

Loraine shook her golden curls coquettishly; still she was quite willing to be convinced.

They were well matched. Loraine, the capricious beauty, was in quite a quandary as to what to wear.

"I want something new and startling; you must decide for me, Izetta."

"If it rests with me," said Izetta, "I should not hesitate in selecting this white, silvery gauze."

"Do you think it would suit me?"

"Perfectly."

"I do not like the half-sleeves and bared shoulders," answered Loraine, ruefully.

"I did not notice the neck and sleeves," answered Izetta; "if it only had a covering of lace at the throat, the effect would be charming."

"I have a lace fichu somewhere, quite yellow with age; do you think we could make it answer?"

"That would be very appropriate indeed, and with a bunch of white heath or heliotrope on the breast, would form so pleasing a picture that the guests who saw you would never forget the lovely apparition."

"You sweet little flatterer," exclaimed Loraine; "you will make me exceedingly vain. You may go to the old chest in my room and bring the fichu—we will look at the effect anyhow; the chest is not locked."

The sweet odor of May blossoms stole in at the open window. The yellow canary in its gilded cage coquetted with the crimson breasted robin, swaying to and fro on the budding cedar boughs hard by, as if the cruelest blow that could be stricken at a human heart was not about to fall.

"I call that my 'curiosity shop,'" said Loraine, gayly; "I have no idea of the contents of it; some day, Izetta, you shall assort its contents for me; you will find no end of interesting bric-a-brac; the histories of many of these souvenirs are wonderfully romantic; among the debris you will come across a bunch of faded forget-me-nots, to which is attached a card with the initials H. B. The person whose name those initials represent was a beau of mine. You look surprised, Izetta," she added, with a gay laugh; "oh, I assure you I, was quite a belle before I married; why, the poor fellow who sent those flowers quite refused to be comforted. We met him abroad; I would scarcely have recognized him he was so changed, and all for love of me," sighed Loraine, pityingly; "'twas said he lingered long over the wine-cup; I do not know how true that was; though he was to accompany Ulmont and me on our return trip home, he failed to join us, and I afterward read in the papers that he was dangerously wounded in a duel on the slippery Alpine heights the evening before we left. I never knew if he recovered, although I have repeatedly searched the foreign exchanges. You will find among the rest a faded lily; shall I tell you why I prize that above all else?"

"Yes," answered Izetta, taking up the lily which lay in a crimson velvet bed.

"Because," whispered Loraine, with a faint flush, "I wore that twined in

A WONDERFUL

KIDNEY and Bladder CURE

The Honorable Chairman of the Board of County Commissioners, Ellsworth, Kansas, tells how ALKAVIS cured him after Doctors and all other Remedies had Failed.

I. A. HOPKINS.

BRIGHT'S DISEASE, GRAVEL, DROPSY,

And Rheumatism Mastered at Last.

One of the most remarkable medical discoveries of the century is the Kava-Kava Shrub, found on the Ganges River, East India, which has a wonderful action on the kidneys and bladder. Since its introduction into this country its fame has quickly spread, because of its seemingly impossible cures. Prominent men and women have testified to its great curative powers, and hospital tests prove its infallibility even in advanced stages of Bright's Disease. Among the more recent recoveries is that of Hon. I. A. Hopkins, Chairman Board of County Commissioners, Ellsworth, Kansas, who says:

GENTLEMEN:—I will say that I believe and know that I owe my life to Alkavis. I had been troubled with Kidney and Bladder Trouble for years. Two years ago I was sick for six weeks with Malarial Fever which left me in a bad condition. My limbs were swollen with Rheumatism so that I could hardly walk; I was troubled with Indigestion from taking Medicine for my Urinary troubles which had become very much worse. I had to get up every hour of the night to urinate. I passed great quantities of blood on account of hemorrhage of the Kidneys and Bladder. I tried and had been trying everything in the shape of Medicine for Kidney Trouble that I could think of or that the Doctors recommended, but nothing helped me and I kept getting worse. I suffered great pain continually in my Kidneys. I made up my mind that I could get relief that I only had a short time to live. About this time my attention was called to an advertisement of Alkavis. As a drowning man will grasp at a straw, I was ready to try anything for relief. I sent to you for three bottles. I began to take it, and before I had taken it one week I began to feel the good effects of Alkavis. My Kidney Trouble and Rheumatism were soon gone, my digestion became all right. I found myself in better health than for ten years and I am in good health now. I know that Alkavis saved my life. What more can anyone say for a medicine? Unlike most medicines it is good for indigestion. It gives the person taking it a good appetite. I have recommended Alkavis to a great many people and all have been benefited by its use. I am 53 years of age, and am very grateful for what Alkavis has done for me.

Respectfully yours, I. A. HOPKINS.

Rev. W. B. Moore, D. D., Washington, D. C., Editor Religious World, writes that after trying all known medicines for kidney and rheumatic diseases he was permanently cured by Alkavis. Mrs. Wm. H. Hardy, East Rush, Pa., writes that Alkavis cured her after six doctors failed. Rev. J. W. Hickman, Collyer, Trego Co., Kansas, cured of liver, kidney and bladder trouble, of many years' standing, from which he could only get temporary relief, and had given up all hope of a cure. Thus the grand work goes on. A new book, entitled "A Thousand Living Witnesses," sent with the free case of medicine, tells of the wonderful cures performed in every state.

Not only does this great discovery—Alkavis (the Kava-Kava Compound)—cure all forms of kidney and bladder diseases, but by expelling from the blood all poisonous deposits, excess of lime, uric acid, urates and lithiates, it banishes gravel, torpid liver, rheumatism, pains in back, difficult and too frequent urination, etc. The cure is complete. No phase is neglected, and the stomach, heart and nerves are toned and invigorated. No other medicine in the world will perform the work of Alkavis. To enable sufferers to get well and spread the glad tidings we have arranged to send a Large Case of Alkavis FREE by mail to all who write us. The case goes entirely FREE.

If you are a sufferer, write to-day and secure at once a Free Case of Alkavis and Book of "A Thousand Living Witnesses." Address The Church Kidney Cure Co., No. 408 Fourth Ave., New York. Please mention this paper.

THE COLORADO COPPER MINING COMPANY

LOCATION OF OUR MINES

THE COLORADO COPPER MINING COMPANY is fortunate in being the possessor of five splendid showing properties in the great Salida copper belt, the principal copper producing region of this portion of the rockies. All of our claims have been more or less developed and it is our purpose to put the same on a paying basis at once.

Our Company owns, clear of incumbrances the following claims,—The Sedalia Extension, the Sedalia Extension No. 2, which property adjoins the great Sedalia mine, which has been a big producer for upwards of seventeen years; the Copper King of Colorado, which immediately adjoins the above; the Copper Queen of Salida, a very promising property, only a few steps from the depot in Salida. This claim occupies an imposing position on a mountain just north of the city; and last, but by no means least, the Sunshine, located two miles east of Salida at Cleora station, on the main Trunk line of the great Denver and Rio Grande Railroad, also on the Arkansas river, which in length is one of America's greatest streams.

A Horse in a Well

Mr. Thos. Brown, of North Monaghan, lost a valuable horse on Sunday last. The animal broke through the platform of a well, and fell to the bottom, a distance of 25 feet. Efforts to get the animal out of the hole were unsuccessful and Mr. A. McCarthy, of Ashburnham, was sent for, and with his hoisting plant went out to Mr. Brown's, and succeeded in getting the horse out of the well, but the animal was dead, having been strangled. The horse was valued at $150.

A Successful Concert

The concert given under the auspices of St. Peter's Total Abstinence Association was given on Monday evening, in the rooms of the Association, and was a decided success. The programme was well rendered and equally well received by the audience. An address by Ven. Archdeacon Casey was a feature of the entertainment. The movement for the erection of the new Catholic hall is assuming satisfactory shape. Plans have been prepared of the new structure and it is expected that the building will be erected in the spring.

Stevens vs Wm. Hamilton Mfg Co.

The following appeared in the Globe's legal record yesterday: Judgment (L.) in action brought by Stevens against the Wm. Hamilton Manufacturing Co., to recover damages from defendants for alleged breach of contract for the sale of 500 tons of scrap iron. Judgment for plaintiff for $3,622.75, being $6.50 a ton upon 468 1-2 tons, with cost of action, but defendants may deduct from the above sum the amount of expenses for delivery of the iron at the plaintiff's yard, which was saved to the plaintiff by reason of the refusal of defendants to receive it, and if parties cannot agree upon this amount there may be a reference to Master at Peterborough to ascertain it.

St. Lukes Annual Tea

The annual tea in connection with St. Luke's Church, Ashburnham, will be held on Tuesday evening, 4th of December. The members of the Woman's Auxiliary and the Young Women's Chapter, under whose auspices this yearly event is held, are making extra efforts to have it surpass in point of success any of its predecessors. The arrangements are in the hands of an energetic committee, who are now busily engaged in making preparations. In connection with the tea an entertaining programme will be rendered. Further particulars later.

Accident at Young's Point

Mr. Thomas A. Rehill, George street, met with a painful accident on Friday last. He has the contract for the construction of concrete walls for the power house at Young's Point, and at the time referred to, was engaged in erecting a scaffold to facilitate the progress of the work. One plank, however, had not been securely fastened, and slid from its position as Mr. Rehill stepped upon it. He fell to the ground, a distance of about 15 feet, sustaining severe bruises about the head and being otherwise badly shaken up. He was able to reach Peterborough that evening, however, and Dr. King was called. It was found, in addition to other injuries, that Mr. Rehill had one rib fractured. He is doing nicely, and will soon be about again.

JOTTINGS ABOUT TOWN.

—Division Court on Friday.

—The Peterborough cheese board meets to-day.

—Thursday is the last day in which to pay your taxes.

—Lindsay Post—Mr. Geo. Fitzgerald, cheese buyer, shipped over 700 boxes to-day.

—A meeting of the non-coms. of the 57th Regiment will be held in the Regimental rooms this evening at eight o'clock.

Perfectly healthy people have pure, rich blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla purifies and enriches the blood and makes people healthy.

—For the first time yesterday morning the earth was covered with a snowy mantle. Business men are anxious that it will stay.

—Mr. Chris. Graham will tender a complimentary supper to the members of the Peterborough baseball club this evening at the Oriental.

—The forgery case, Stephens vs. Alexander has been enlarged until Thursday, when it is expected that certain Crown witnesses shall have become available.

—Lindsay Post—Now that Commissioner Chalmers can build granolithic walks for 9c. and 10c. per square foot, we may look for a boom in cement walks next spring.

—Lindsay Post—Seven deer and a fine fat bear came down this morning on the Coboconk train. They were consigned to Drayton, a station near Guelph, and were shot by a party located north of Victoria Road.

—Typhoid fever has broken out in several of the lumber camps up north, and the medical health officer for Haliburton county has ordered the abandonment of one of the shanties owing to the bad water supply.

—Bancroft is now the terminus of the Central Ontario R.R. The 16 mile extension was completed last Saturday and the first train went out on Monday, pending the extension of the I.B. & O.R.R. to the village.

—Lindsay Post—The slaying of chickens for the English market has commenced at the skating rink. After all have been disposed of the turkeys will be received and fed. The number of turkeys shipped this year will be up in the thousands, and as a result they are very scarce on the local market.

—Lumbermen hope for heavy rains. The water is lower than it has been for many years, and many of the creeks are absolutely dry. There must be water in the marshes to give a good working bottom when frozen, hence their discontent.

—Mr. John A. Ellis of Fenelon Falls started a lumber shanty in the township of Galway about three weeks ago and will soon have one, if not two, in the township of Guilford. He has purchased the timber on 400 acres of land owned by the English Land Co. He will buy another "limit" as soon as a suitable one can be found.

—The Canadian Pacific made a record run the other day between Montreal and Ottawa, making the 112 miles in 110 minutes. The record trip was made by Lord Strathcona on a special train which left Windsor street station at 8.37 a.m., reached Vaudreuil, 24 miles, in 26 minutes, the rate being 56 miles per hour, and the run thence to Ottawa, 88 miles, was made in 84 minutes, at the rate of 63 miles per hour. Deducting ten minutes for stops and slow downs while passing through years, the actual running time was 100 minutes for the 112 miles. The run was made on a heavy track, snow having fallen all night, which makes the speed all the more phenomenal.

To Municipal Councils.

Municipal councils will do well to observe the following decision recently rendered in the case of Hoffman vs. Township of Bayham, in which the plaintiff secured $1000 damages. The case dealt with obstructions on highways and the Court of Appeal's decision was as follows—"A milkstand built on a highway by or adjoining property and projecting over the travelled way is such an obstruction to the highways as to constitute want of repairs within the meaning of the Municipal Act, and where such an obstruction was shown to have existed for three years and the municipal corporation having jurisdiction over the road in question, had taken no steps to have it removed, they were held liable in damages for an accident caused by it.

"CHILDREN AND FOOLS."

"Judge of a Thing Half Done."

This is particularly applicable in cases where persons seriously troubled from the effects of coffee drinking and who take up Postum Food Coffee in its place, attempt to make the new beverage with a little hot water and two or three minutes' boiling. That sort of a "lick and a promise" produces a drink that is simply exasperating. A [illegible] the person who will boil the Postum full fifteen minutes after the actual boiling begins, will have a beverage that is something.

There is a point between twelve and fifteen minutes of boiling, when the character of Postum is changed, the food value is extracted and the delicious flavor which much resembles the milder and more expensive grades of Java coffee is produced.

A lady in Salem, Ore., says—"Whenever I drank coffee at night, I always passed a restless, wakeful night. Extreme nervousness and a weak stomach have followed me ever since I have been using coffee. Finally I got into such a state that my dyspepsia took the form of spasms and heart weakness.

"I suffered intensely, and when a physician was called, he inquired among other things, if I drank coffee and insisted that I leave it off. I did so and took up tea, which I found almost as bad. Finally husband brought home a package of Postum, and we tried it (strictly according to directions, for we believe in the adage that 'Children and fools judge of a thing half done.')

"The new coffee was delicious and from that day until now (which is a year) it has been our only drink at meals. My dyspepsia, spasms, etc., are a thing of the past. My husband had suffered some years with bilious headaches and indigestion, but during the past year, on Postum Food Coffee, he has entirely recovered his health and gained much in weight. Our friends frequently comment on our improved appearance and change in complexion." Name of writer supplied by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

[The Times invites all its readers to contribute to this column items concerning the movements of well-known people, business men, and particulars of at homes, parties, etc. Telephone the Times, or send rough outline, and we will put it into shape.]

—Mr. G. A. Smith, of the Mossom Boyd Co., Bobcaygeon, is in town for a few days.

—Mr. W. D. Parker returned yesterday from the back country where he has been on a deer hunting expedition.

—Mr. Sims, manager of the Trent Valley Peat Fuel Company, Kirkfield, spent Sunday and Monday in town with his family.

—Pte. D. H. McPherson, R. C. R., brother of Lt. McPherson of town will be banquetted by the Toronto Swimming Club on Thursday evening.

Sir,—The great majority of the new walks having been laid so low that it is impossible to keep the snow and water off them, I would suggest that they be given up exclusively to bicyclists, provided the wheelmen keep them clean. What do you say?

A PREDESTRIAN.

THE U. S. PRESIDENT.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—Will The Times inform its readers if a man can be elected for more than two terms as President of the United States. Is there not a law against a third term? By answering above you will oblige.

A READER.

Ans.—A President may be elected any number of times in succession. There is a popular feeling against a third term because of Washington's example in declining and advising against it, and no President has ever been nominated for a third term.

THE MISS DUNLOP INQUEST.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—In the interests of truth and justice, kindly allow space for a few remarks regarding the report in your issue of 30th Oct., giving the verdict of the coroner's jury on the Peterboro' case of Frances Dunlop.

It is stated in the report that the coroner, Dr. Grey, strongly denounced the doctrines of Christian Scientists. I fail to see what right he has to do so in his public capacity as a coroner. I have made a careful search through Judge Boys' treatise on the office and duties of coroners and cannot find therein any warrant for the action of coroner or jury in making the adverse criticism they did regarding Christian Scientists, as reported in your paper. The law distinctly recognizes the rights of all in matters pertaining to religion and conscience, for on page 221 of "Boys on Coroners" it is stated 'A Jew is sworn upon the Pentateuch, a Turk upon the Koran, &c., also Quakers, Mennonites, Tunkers and United Brethren, and other witnesses who object on grounds of conscientious scruples to take an oath are allowed to affirm, &c." The law regarding individual rights as to the method of treatment people may prefer for themselves or their friends in case of sickness, does not as far as I have learned, discountenance the method of healing Jesus practised and taught his Disciples, nor that practised by Christian Scientists, but in regard to the different schools of medicine, on page 266 "Boys on Coroners" states "All rivalry between individual medical experts when giving testimony should be laid aside, and also all medical esprit de corps." The footnote says, "Apparently an instance of this occurred at a recent inquest at which a number of leading medical men gave expert testimony on the same point, and it was found about one half of them contradicted the rest, and that those on one side all belonged to the same medical school, and those on the other side all belonged to a rival medical school." Now, I ask, if the Allopaths who sometimes administer drugs in large and strong doses, are at last willing to allow the Homeopaths to peaceably practice their profession and use the drug in infinitesimal dilution, why should the followers of either school denounce Christian Scientists, who have entirely laid aside the use of the drug in their treatment of disease? I would like the members of that jury to show what grounds there are to ask for legislation compelling people to depend entirely upon medical treatment, in the face of the fact that it has never proven itself a sure cure and that thousands die every year in the hands of the most skilful physicians, including many cases of typhoid fever.

What if the Christian Scientist does not understand the diagnosis of a given case according to materia medica? Neither does the physician understand that of the Christian Scientist. If he did, he could heal without medicine. What if the Christian Scientist loses one case of typhoid fever out of fifty, or even one out of twenty? What percentage of complicated cases of typhoid fever are saved under medical treatment?

Christian Science has saved from death many patients who have been pronounced beyond hope of recovery by eminent physicians. Christian Science is practical in its application to all manner of disease. It has cured many of the habit of intoxication and the use of tobacco. Through Christian Science, many, who did not formerly believe in the Bible, have come to regard and love it as the word of God.

One of numerous cases of healing of typhoid fever by Christian Science treatment is as follows: A young lady now living on Church St., Toronto, had been feeling ill for some days, and at length evidenced every symptom of typhoid fever in a complicated form; weakness, severe pains in back and limbs, and headaches. When she applied for Christian Science treatment there was decided evidence of ulceration of the bowels, severe griping, and almost incessant desire for evacuation; also evidence of pneumonia, constant cough, pains through the lungs, bright red spots on cheeks and difficulty in breathing; also high fever and delirium set in. Mrs. I. M. Stewart, of 409 Markham St., Toronto, was called in. She came in the evening and watched over the case all night, giving treatment frequently. About 2 a. m. an aggravation of symptoms was observed. Peculiar spells came over the patient, but were broken by the treatment. Early in the morning Mr. Stewart took his wife's place at the bedside, and as he afterwards stated, the unfavorable symptoms returned and every indication of death ensuing; but the law of the spirit of life in Christ Jesus, was declared by the demonstrator, which sets free from the law of sin and death, and in this instance it broke for the patient the claim of death. She was raised to enjoy perfect health after being confined to bed about ten days in all. Her mother fully corroborates this account, and is willing to give name and address to anyone desiring further particulars.

Another point in above described case is worthy of mention, viz., the patient was not sponged with cold water to allay the fever, but while in a state of perspiration she frequently asked for cold water to drink, and it was given her repeatedly by Mr. Stewart.

Yours respectfully,
WESLEY SPAULDING.
Toronto, Nov. 10, 1900.

"Durability is Better Than Show."

The wealth of the multi-millionaires is not equal to good health. Riches without health are a curse, and yet the rich, the middle classes and the poor alike have, in Hood's Sarsaparilla, a valuable assistant in getting and maintaining perfect health. It never disappoints.

Scrofula—"Three years ago our son, now eleven, had a serious case of scrofula and erysipelas with dreadful sores, discharging and itching constantly. He could not walk. Several physicians did not help for sixteen months. Three months' treatment with Hood's Sarsaparilla made him perfectly well. We are glad to tell others of it." MRS. DAVID LAIRD, Ottawa, Kansas.

Nausea—"Vomiting spells, dizziness and prostration troubled me for years. Had neuralgia, grew weak and could not sleep. My age was against me, but Hood's Sarsaparilla cured me thoroughly. My weight increased from 125 to 143 pounds. I am the mother of nine children. Never felt so well and strong since I was married as I do now." MRS. M. A. WATERS, 1329 33d St., Washington, D. C.

Eczema—"We had to tie the hands of our two year old son on account of eczema on face and limbs. No medicine even helped until we used Hood's Sarsaparilla, which soon cured." MRS. A. VAN WYCK, 123 Montgomery Street, Paterson, N. J.

SAVED FROM CONSUMPTION

Powley's Liquified Ozone

DESTROYS THE BACILLUS WHICH CAUSES THE TERRIBLE DISEASE.

The only way to treat consumption is to kill the germs which feed on the cells of the lungs. Powley's Liquified Ozone does this: cleans out the diseased tissue and renews the sound healthy tone. Ozone supplies the air cells with oxygen in a pure concentrated form. That it can cure consumption is evidenced by testimonials. Remember every testimonial published for Powley's Liquified Ozone can be verified. Investigation is invited. Read what Mr. Wm. Paul, of Orillia, says about it. "I take much pleasure in recommending Ozone. I can truly say that it saved my life. I caught a severe cold, which settled on my lungs. I was so run down that I had no hope of recovery. Three doctors told me to make my will. I tried everything recommended for consumption. I had taken nearly a dozen bottles of Cod Liver Oil, besides spending one hundred dollars in doctors' bills, until at last I was advised to try Ozone. Before I had taken two bottles my cough was entirely cured. Before I had taken Ozone two months I was as well as ever. I am, yours very truly,

EX-PRESIDENT O. P. KRUGER REACHES SUEZ

His Extremely Slow Journey Continues—Ovations From the Germans—Destination Unknown.

Quebec, Nov. 14.—Mr. James G. Scott yesterday received a letter from his nephew, Corporal Charley Scott, now in South Africa, in which it is stated that the Canadians understand that they will form Lord Roberts' personal body guard when they arrive in England.

KRUGER AT PORT SAID.

Suez, Nov. 14.—The Dutch cruiser Gelderland, with ex-President Kruger on board, has arrived here.

Mr. Kruger remains secluded in his cabin. His health is good.

A delegate of the Marseilles reception committee boarded the Gelderland here, but the eventual destination of the warship will be unknown until she will arrive at Port Said, where she will coal.

Mr. Kurger will receive an ovation at the German port of Dar Es Salaam.

CHARGES AGAINST OFFICERS.

London, Nov, 14.— James Barnes, an American correspondent who represented Harper's Weekly and The London Daily Mail in the South African war, takes up the cudgel in behalf of the British officers, about whom so many unpleasant things have been told by Lord Rosslyn, A. G. Hales, of The news, and Richard Harding Davis, by refuting several charges made by Davis' article in Scribner's.

Barnes spent much time in Pretoria, he says, and investigated after the publication of Davis' article. He says he found no evidence that British officers confined in the model school insulted women or wantonly destroyed school property. The officers, he says, did flirt with foolish young girls, and received from them information and help in attempts to escape. The officers also cut up a few text-books, and tore up some floors in tunnelling; but Barnes says he cannot see that these things are grounds for Davis' rather sweeping charges.

OTTER PRAISES CANADIANS.

Ottawa, Nov. 14.—Col. Otter in his recent report quotes the complimentary telegram of Gen. Smith-Dorrien (published to-day), who commanded the 19th Brigade during the most important places of the war, and adds: "I venture to feel that the above expression of opinion from this well-known and acknowledged most capable officer is full justification of my administration of the battalion since I took command. A raw and inexperienced (with few exception's militia battalion was in three months made fit to hold its own in the field with the best disciplined regiments of the British army. I am sorry to say that a few cases of enteric and dysentery have lately developed in the battalion, but of a mild description; otherwise the list is not large, approximately not more than 20."

LOCATED THEIR GRAVES.

Ottawa, Nov. 14.—In a report received here yesterday, Col. Otter says that he has been able to locate the graves of all the Canadian killed or dead from diseases in South Africa, excepting those of Ptes. Mullions, Duhamel and Barr. At the date of writing, Oct, 6th, the parade state was 218, and the total number of the first contingent in South Africa 378.

COL. EVANS' PARADE STATE.

Ottawa, Nov. 14.— Col. Evans, commanding the Canadian Mounted Rifles, reports down to Oct. 3. His parade state shows 180 on parade, 92 sick and 1 missing. The regiment was then at Pan Station, and had suffered from Boer sniping.

TROOPER BULL INJURED.

Ottawa, Nov. 14.—A cable from Sir Alfred Milner, received this afternoon, announces that Trooper Bull, of Strathcona's Horse, was accidentally severely injured at Fredrickstad on the 3rd, inst. Bull is an Englishman, his relatives reciding in London.

LORD ROBERTS' DAUGHTER.

Cape Town, Nov. 13.—A despatch from Pretoria says Miss Roberts, a daughter of Lord Roberts, who is ill there of enteric fever, is progressing favorably.

TO TREK TO DAMARALAND.

Berlin, Nov. 14.—The Lokal Anzeiger announces, apropos of the recent statement of the South-West African Company, that it would not oppose an influx of Boers into its territory, that 15,000 residents of the Transvaal and Orange Free State will cross the Kalahari desert into Damaraland, which is in German possession.

DAMAGES FROM PORTUGAL.

Paris, Nov. 13.—Dr. H. L. McAuley, of Chicago, who has arrived in this city from the Transvaal, says that he intends to present a claim for $100,000 damages against the Portuguese Government for imprisonment at Lorenzo Marques, as soon as he can lay his case before the State Department at Washington. Dr. McAuley scouts the idea that the Boers are beaten, and says, there are many surprises yet in store for the British in South Africa. He will sail for home next week.

DRIVE OUT OLDER RIVALS.

Sweat Shops Force Large Manufacturers to Retire.

New York, Nov. 14.—Paradoxical as it may seem, the smaller man in the cloak manufacturing trade is crowding his larger rival into an economic grave, and the work of the sweat shop is creating a panic among the old manufacturers.

Three of the larger cloak manufacturing concerns in the city, employing nearly two thousand hands, now announce that they will retire from business. These firms are Blumenthal Brothers, at Nos. 8 to 14 West Third street; A. Friedlander & Co., at Nos. 1 to 5 Bond street, and Benjamin Hans Caspary, at No. 725 Broadway.

In great measure the agent most responsible for the move on the part of firms whose annual business for years had reached more than the one million dollar mark is in each case the little east side sweat shop worker.

This revolution in the cloak trade has been brought about in the last five or six years.

VAST IMMIGRATION.

In that period there has been a vast immigration to these shores of Russians, Hungarians and Greeks, who have taken to making cloaks on their own peculiar plans, and, combined, they have now reached the point where their stronger rival, in a monetary sense, must give way. These immigrants have settled in hordes, in many cases as many as fifteen individuals being huddled together in one room.

They take work at piece prices to their homes, and there do their labor at will. The cost of living for each is only a few cents a day, and by a frugality which would put the average American in an early grave they work along for two or three days and then branch out for themselves.

In a remarkably short time they are found in fairly good sized places of business of their own and divide the trade with their former employers.

SUDDEN CHANGE.

Another patent agent which has materially helped these same east side sweatshop tailors is the sudden change in styles.

Years ago the principal cloakmakers controlled the market and would make up the following season's stock in such quantities that a large profit would result from sales. All this has been changed. The cloak business is split up into specialties, and the retailer now waits until the last minute. He then rushes here from all parts of the country and places his order, for delivery in five or six weeks' time, or subject to cancellation if delayed.

The big manufacturer is handicapped at this point, because he cannot pick up his cloth on the moment and supply an army of centers to fill the order on time. His big plant must be kept, up, however, nevertheless, and it is upon him that the big losses fall.

Rather than submit longer to the existing conditions the three firms named will retire from the field or else re-organize upon a smaller basis.

PRISONER OF THE CANADIANS.

Pete, the Eldest Son of Kruger, Has Been Captured.

Ottawa, Nov. 14.—Major Hudon, commanding C Battery, sends a report from South Africa to the Department of Militia. It is dated Sept. 18th, from Roodekop. Among the prisoners with the Battery was Pete Kruger, eldest son of Oom Paul Kruger. The other Boer prisoners were Commandants Duplessis and Steyn, and a French officer, who had been captured by the Australians.

Capt. Panet of Quebec, who had been on sick leave, had re-joined. On August 10 there was a white frost, and it was bitter cold, and the Battery stood to arms from 5.30 a.m. to daylight.

On Aug. 19th the Battery moved to two miles north of Pretoria, where they were inspected by Lord Roberts and staff. Lord Roberts expressed his satisfaction with the work done by the Battery, making special mention of the forced march from Beira to Mafeking, which he characterized as capital work.

The Battery afterwards took part in numerous engagements, and had heavy marching to do. Major Hudon gives a graphic account of some of these engagements.

PIGS AND GEESE ON A SPREE.

Eat Cherries Used in Brandy and Become Hilariously Drunk.

Birmingham, Mich., Nov. 14.—Pigs and geese were made drunk yesterday at the cider mills of William Smith of Bloomfield Center. Will Hageman, who was present, said:

"In shipping the cider some casks were used that had been filled with cherry brandy. We emptied the cherries, probably a gallon to each cask, where the pigs could get them. It was amusing to see the drunken pigs after they had partaken of the brandy-soaked cherries. They staggered and squealed and acted as foolish as so many drunken men. The flock of geese pitched in and stuffed themselves, too. The old gander staggered with his legs wide apart, and squawked and 'honked' in an unnatural manner. In half an hour both pigs and geese were laid out on the grass, stavin' drunk. Two woodpeckers joined in and were soon laid out, with their feet in the air."

A NARROW ESCAPE.

Rat Portage, Ont., Nov. 14.— Ben Cook, miner at Saltana mine, had a miraculous escape from death last evening. He was working on one of the levels when by some means he lost his balance and fell down the shaft perpendicularly sixty feet. He then rolled down an incline 30 feet more. Incredable as it may seem he was not seriously hurt. Of course he was badly bruised, had a bone in one hand broken and the frontal bone of his head fractured, but he will recover.

PATHETIC TALE OF SPENCE'S BURIAL

Told by Lieut. Morrison, of the Ottawa Citizen.

IN A SOLDIERS' GRAVE.

Dan and His Comrade, Radcliffe, Laid Side by Side.

In the following letter from Lieut. Morrison, of Ottawa, with the Canadian Artillery in South Africa, is a graphic description of the burial of the late Dan. Spence in a soldier's grave in South Africa. It is a pathetic story that will be read with sad interest by Dan's friends in Peterborough:—

In camp near Belfast, Z.A.R., Sept. 24.—(Special.)—There was a very impressive funeral here this evening—one of the most impressive I have ever attended, though there was no "funeral director" and no coffin or hearse, and not even a floral tribute or a preacher. In fact, it was a decidedly amateurish affair, regarded from the standpoint of the conventionally impressive funeral. Even the grave diggers were amateurs and there was not a bit of crape in sight. We were all Canadians together and we were burying two troopers of the Royal Canadian Dragoon who were killed on patrol yesterday afternoon. The sun was just setting behind a kopje as we silently formed in a square around the double grave in a little hollow near the camp. The bodies, sewn up in their blankets, were lifted out of the ambulance on stretchers and laid on the ground beside the grave. Bodies look more impressive when prepared for burial in that simple way than they do when incased in rosewood caskets with silver plates. A group of Boer women and children came over and stood near regarding the proceedings with impressive curiosity from the depths of their big sunbonnets. They had had funerals of their own around here, for behind us were half a dozen fat looking fresh mounds of earth on the veldt, mementoes of the first day's fighting three weeks ago. The bodies of the two Canadians were handled gently into the grave and a trooper jumped down and arranged them. Then Lieut.-Col Lessard called the parade to attention, and, as no chaplain was available (where are all our chaplains these months past?) Mr. Best, the young Y. M.C.A. representative, recited a few scriptures texts, led the singing of two verses of "Rock of Ages, Cleft for Me," and said a short prayer. Mr. Best was not spectacularly impressive, arrayed as he was in an old worn khaki suit, boots, spurs and a pony hat, but what he said it was impressive. The troops leaned on their rifles and listened to him intently. One lad, probably a former chum of one of the bundles in the blankets, stepped aside from the ranks and sat down abruptly on the grass. When Mr. Best had concluded he took up a handful of the red, fresh earth and threw it into the grave, repeating the usual formula. The sun sank below the hill and the bugle sang the slow, sweet notes of the "retreat." Then there was an embarassing pause, and we all seemed to be half wondering whether all had been done to make the burial really legal, when a hard faced trumpeter stepped out of the ranks, advanced to the grave, and, turning to his colonel, saluted with automatic precision. Producing a little dirty frayed Union Jack, such as you see children playing with on the streets at home, he looked about undecided, stuck it in the top of the mound of new earth excavated from the grave, saluted again and marched stiffly back to the ranks. It has become so unfashionable of late years to be sentimental about the "old flag" that the silence became painfully embarassing. I glanced at the opposite ranks and caught a glimpse of the weather-beaten face of old Sergt.-Major Page. I actually believe there were tears in his eyes. If I was mistaken I apologise. In any case there were others. A Boer baby, frightened by the silence, raised a doleful howl in its mother's arms. A gruff order was given, a squad stepped briskly forward and filled up the grave and we marched over to supper.

To tell the truth we felt particularly badly about the killing of these two young fellows. In the first place we had just got the news that the Boer army was finally dispersed, 62 guns captured, and the war, as a war, ended. Therefore, it seemed a needless sacrifice. In the second place they had been done to death in a manner, which, if the killing had been done by any other civilized enemy but our "brother Boer," it would have been characterized as something akin to murder. The patrol of four men was returning to their post near Wonderfontein when they saw some men in khaki signalling them to come over to a kopje. Thinking it was our western patrol from this post, they rode over to them and were fired upon at 200 yards. Seeing that they were trapped the four young fellows jumped off their horses and put up a desperate but hopeless fight. Their treacherous enemy was under cover and they were in the open. In a very short time SPENCE AND RADCLIFFE were killed, Thornton, dangerously, perhaps mortally wounded, and the fourth man ran to his horse and escaped to our outpost to tell the tale. The cowardly Boers retreated before an avenging party reached the scene. If the Canadians come upon any of the enemy during the next few days it is very unlikely that any addition will be made to Bobs' 16,000 prisoners.

Talking about sacrifices, I notice in recent papers (two months old) that not a few newspaper and public men in Canada are talking about the sacrifices the Dominion has made for the Empire in this war. It might be well to go softly on this line. Surely the speakers or writers are not aware that Australia has over 10,000 troops out here, besides a contingent of some sort in China, and that little New Zealand, with a population of half a million, has 2,000. The Dominion, with a population nearly twelve times that of New Zealand, sent out barely 3,500 troops all told, and one-seventh of that number were contributed by the private purse and patriotism of Lord Strathcona. I make the statement subject to correction, but I believe that the contingents from Ceylon and other little dependencies you hardly ever hear of number in the aggregate as large a force as that actually contributed by "the first colony of the Empire.' That the Canadians have made such a name for themselves in this war is distinctly due to their quality and not to their numbers. Neither is it the fault of the young men of Canada that more were not out here. Goodness knows there were enough of them wanted to come. But, regarded strictly as a national "sacrifice" on the altar of our common country, the chilly statistics should deter wise people from boasting. It is an indication of what was expected of Canada that Gen. Hutton's recommendation for the first contingent called for over 5,000 troops, I do not know whether this is generally known, but I do know that it is a fact.

We have had it lively enough during the past week, the Boers having attacked five or six times at different points, but not in force, and were driven off in each instance with a small loss in killed and wounded. The Royal Canadian Dragoons have been rather unfortunate, losing altogether two killed and nine or ten wounded. The Coldstream Guards, Berks, Scottish Borderers, naval contingent, Royal Canadian Dragoons, and every section of the battery are here. The other two sections are at Machadodorp, twelve miles east, and Krokodile Poort, Major Hudman and Lieut.-Col. Drury are in Pretoria, arranging for our return home, I believe. Fever is very prevalent about here, owing to the number of dead horses, men, etc., the debris of the three days' fighting here. We have been doing our best to bury them, but it is a hopeless task. Over 25 per cent. of my men are in the hospital. There are six large graves full of Boers a couple of hundred yards from our lines, and I don't believe they are buried very deep. A dead Indian may or may not be a good Indian, but Boers are objectionable dead or alive in this climate. And he's a brave man who wants to take any chances at this last stage of the game. Not being brave, I want to get home by the shortest and quickest route, and I don't care who knows it. The same feeling is very prevalent in our ranks. The other afternoon the companies commanding units had to ride out beyond the outposts to examine the Boer positions and the ground. One of the party was a little major of the Scottish Borderers, who has the reputation for never getting "fed up" on fighting. When the party was well out to the front of the outpost line, Col. Lessard said, in his precise English: "Perhaps, gentlemen, it would be well that you ride in extended ordaire. They always shoot at parties from those rocks over there. "What," said the little Major, "that kopje! Good afternoon! I will meet you further on." And half the party went with him. "Bah!" said the colonel. "Those Infantrymen! They do not like getting shot." I presume he meant getting shot at.

You would not wonder at the good opinion entertained for Canadian troops out here if you saw the splendid work of the Royal Canadian Dragoons (formerly First C.M.R.) on parade, they look like a regiment of cowboys, with their shaggy little ponies, prairie hats and rough-and-ready uniform—for their original kit is worn out, and they wear all sorts of clothes they can pick up. I have seen all sorts of mounted troops out here—regular cavalry, mounted infantry, regular and irregular, and none of them were in it with the Canadians" for the sort of work to be done. Their outpost work is the best I have seen by long odds, for the simple reason that they know how to keep under cover. So far, all the British soldier has learned in this war is to keep under cover when he is being fired at. When not being fired at he chooses for preference a conspicuous position on the sky line or a hilltop, and the Boers know just exactly where he is and how many of him there are. The Canadians keep under cover all the time, taking up their positions before daylight, and the Boers never know where they will stumble on them or how many will be there. The value of this was shown the other morning when they attempted to cut the railway near here. A body of Boers attaced our main body while 50 galloped off to a flank to get round and blow up the rails. There was one man posted in some rocks over to the flank, and when he saw the 50 going past him, instead of running to his horse, which was also under cover, and making off, he opened as rapid a fire as possible on the enemy. Taken by surprise and thinking they had stumbled into another position, the fifty Boers wheeled round and rode off as hard as they could go, abandoning their object. I was speaking to some of Botha's men, who fought in all the battles down Natal way. They were particularly intelligent men, and they bore the strongest possible testimony to the bravery of the British soldiers, especially the infantry, but they spoke with regret rather than admiration at the manner in which they threw away their lives. "They would come walking towards us when they were ordered to advance against a position we held," said a keen-looking chap, with gold eye-glasses, "and we just shot them down as quick as we could load and fire. It was a battue. We often spoke among ourselves how sorry we were to kill brave men like that. But what could we do? We always shot the officers in preference to the men the officers in preference to the men. They were brave, too, but foolish. Why did they bring their men up like that?"

SUICIDED ON HIS MARRIAGE MORN

And His Bride Fainted at the Altar When Told of it.

Halifax, N. S., Nov. 14.—Battery Sergt.-Major Edwards, of the Royal Artillery, shot himself this morning. He was to have been married this morning. When the carriage arrived at the door of the quarters to take him to church he was found dead, having shot himself through the heart.

The girl was handsome, and two sought her hand. The young lady is Miss Cassie Allan. She was waiting at the altar of Trinity Church for Edwards when the news by special messenger came that he had committed suicide in the Citadel barracks, The bride-to-be fainted in the clergyman's arms. The cause soon reached the ears of the large number present, and an exciting scene ensued.

Last evening the news of Edwards' intended marriage was read at the mess by another sergeant, and the others laughed, whereupon Edwards struck the other sergeant, knocking him down, and the officer in charge was called in.

Edwards came here from Bermuda five years ago, and it is reported that he has a wife and family there.

WAR ON HYDROPHOBIA.

New York Will Take Special Measures to Stamp it Out.

New York, Nov. 14.—Hydrophobia has reaped so large a harvest of human lives in this city during the last year that the Board of Health will take drastic measures to stamp it out. The Pasteur treatment will be given without charge to sufferers from dog bites. Experts will do their best to quell the evil.

Dr. John B. Cosby, a commissioner of the Board of Health, yesterday morning gave out this statement:

"The Department of Health desires to call the attention of physicians and others to the occurence of a number of cases of rabies among dogs throughout the city, and would request that wherever persons are bitten by strange dogs, or stray dogs, they immediately consult a physician and have their wounds cauterized and if then, there is any question as to the existence of rabies in the animal, communicate at once with the Department of Health."

President Murphy said yesterday that the Board of Health, at an executive session recently, decided to take under its control th esuppression of this class of disease. He believed that there could be no more useful work for the experts employed by the department than the study and treatment of patients afflicted with the rabies. As a precautionary measure he desired it made public that any person bitten should have the wound couterized at once and then notify the Board of Health.

There will be a special laboratory in the Willard Parker Hospital. President Murphy said that he believed deaths from hydrophobia was due in some cases to the fact that many persons were unable or did not care to pay for the preventative system of treatment at a private hospital. It is planned that the Pasteur treatment by the city shall be free to all residents of Greater New York.

Dr. Herman Biggs, the bacteriologist of the Board of Health, said yesterday: "There have been eight or nine deaths from hydrophobia during the last year. This number is far out of proportion to other years. Usually we have two or three deaths annually from the disease. The city plans to give, gratis, a preventative treatment to victims of dogs believed to have the rabies.'

TERMS OF BOTHA'S SURRENDER

London, Nov. 15.—Commandant Gen. Botha, according to a despatch to the Daily Mail from Pretoria has sent to Lord Roberts a statement of the terms on which he will surrender.

GERMAN EMPEROR TALKS OF CHINA

Says the Allies are Standing Shoulder to Shoulder

ASSASSINATION OF UMBERTO

Kaiser Speaks Well of the Late King of Italy.

Tien Tsin, Nov. 14.—It is reported that an Imperial edict has been issued, announcing that Emperor Kwang Su and the Empress Dowager will return to Pekin.

A Russian column of 330 men, with four guns, which left here Nov. 6th, returned Nov. 9th, having engaged the Chinese at Hsia Tsung. The Russians fought 1,000 Chinese troops, dispersing them and killing 200. The Russians had no casualities.

The population of the city of Tien Tsin now reaches 600,000 Chinese, and the allies are strengthening the garrison against a possible surprise. It is supposed that one-third of the inhabitants are Boxers.

Berlin, Nov. 14.—The Reichstag re-assembled to-day. The speech from the throne dealt with considerable length on the events in China which have excited such deep emotion among civilized people, saying:

"The fanatical hate and dark superstition, incited by the unscrupulous advisers of the court, have driven misguided masses of Chinese to acts of atrocity against the outposts of western civilization and Christian worship dwelling peacefully in their midst.

"My Minister died at the hands of an assassin, in a courageous attempt to overcome the rising peril. The foreigners at the capital saw themselves threatened, life and limb. These things of horror united the civilized community, where otherwise there was a divergence. All nations against which the unparalleled onslaught was directed drew closer. Their sons fought with one mind, shoulder to shoulder, even as yonder standards float side by side. So the Governments show themselves in council, united with the sole wish to restore speedily an order in the state of things, and after the punishment of the chief culprits, avert a recurrence in the future of such a disturbance of the peace of the world."

In announcing that the relations of Germany with all the powers are good, the speech recalls his Majesty's sorrow at the assassination of King Humbert of Italy, saying he was "My ally and dear friend, who fell a victim to a dammable outrage."

The speech then proceeds:

HASTE WAS NEEDED.

"I would sooner have consulted the Reichstag on the measures in China, but for the necessity of prompt action and the difficulty of furnishing reliable information. Whenever the Reichstag could form decisions or estimate the expenditure required the Government felt confident that the representatives would not refuse their subsequent sanction to the necessary expenditure."

Turning to domestic matters, his Majesty said that in consequence of the natural growth of the revenue and the increased taxation voted last session, more abundant funds were available in almost every branch of life in the empire, especially for measures for the benefit of workers and for the defence of the country. A customs tarrif, he added, would probably be laid before the Bundesrath during the present session.

The speech concluded by announcing various bills which would be introduced.

The ceremony of opening the Reichstag occurred at night in the Knights Hall of the Schloss, in the presence of the Emperor.

At the conclusion of the speech from the Throne, Emperor William was warmly cheered, and Count Von Buelow, the Imperial Chancellor, formally declared the session opened.

THREATENED WITH RUIN.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 14.—The Rossiya declares that the Chinese troubles "threaten to ruin the Russian Empire. If the powers," it is added, "continue their present policy China will be unable to pay a money indemnity and, consequently, the powers will demand and secure mining, railroad and commercial concessions which will result ultimately in the partition of China, in spite of the assurances of the powers to the contrary. The Chinese, indignant, will emigrate to Siberia, and the yellow horde will again precipitate towards European Russia, which will sink to the position of a second rank power."

PROTRACTED CONFERENCE.

Pekin, Nov. 12, via Shanghai, Nov. 14. —A protracted conference of the foreign Ministers was held to-day, at the conclusion of which there was a general expression of gratification at the progress made towards reaching a settlement. It was stated that most of the minor points had been disposed of, and that an agreement had been reached on several essential questions. The meeting disclosed fewer differences over important points that had been expected, largely due to the fact that the Ministers had received definite instructions from their home Governments. Minister Conger said he was encouraged to believe that propositions would be ready to be submitted to the Chinese plenipotentiaries at an earlier date than heretofore he had hoped. The Ministers will meet again to-morrow.

Reliable information from Niu Chwang indicates a disturbed condition of affairs there. Robbers and pirates are harrying the region and [illegible] commerce. The Russians are [illegible] to suppress the trouble [illegible] along the railway.

The weather is becoming colder, with nightly frosts, but the supply of fuel is good and the troops are not suffering.

ATTACKED THE EMPRESS.

Yokohama, Nov. 2, via Victoria, B.C. Nov. 14.—The chief sensation of the week has been an attack by a lunatic upon the carriage of the Empress of Japan as the latter was being escorted through the streets of Tokio. The incident was notable only from the extraordinary character of the weapons used. The crazy assailant having brooded over the lowly birth until he imagined himself of Imperial lineage, had applied in vain at the Imperial household to have his claims recognized. Determined to attract public attention in some way, he first threw [illegible] and then his wooden clogs at the passing procession.

Morning Times

PETERBOROUGH, NOVEMBER 15, 1900

UNITED STATES CENSUS

The official announcement of the total population of the United States for 1900 is 76,295,220.

The total population in 1890 with which the aggregate population of the present census should be compared was 63,069,756.

Taking the 1890 population as a basis, there has been a gain population of 13,225,464 during the past ten years, representing an increase of nearly 21 per cent.

New York has gained 1,270,146 inhabitants—the largest actual addition made to the population of any of the forty-five states. New York's per cent. of increase, however, is only a little above the average for the whole country. Pennsylvania has gained 30 per cent., adding 1,043,251 to its population; Illinois 26 per cent., adding not quite 1,000,000 to its numbers, and Ohio only 13 per cent., adding 485,229 to its total count. And these four states still lead the Union in point of population.

Of the more popular states Texas shows the fastest rate of growth since 1890—37 per cent. It is the banner state of the south, having added 813,395 to its population in the ten years.

Of all the eastern states New Jersey's percentage of growth in the last decade is the highest. She has increased her number from 1,444,933 in 1890 to 1,883,669 in 1900—a 30 per cent. gain. Of the six New England States Massachusetts alone shows any large increase of population; she now numbers 2,238,943 at the last census. This is a gain of 566,403, which is a 25 per cent. rate of growth. Rhode Island and Connecticut have gained respectively 150,000 and 162,000 over their population figures of ten years ago. Vermont, New Hampshire and Maine have gained so little that they may be fairly called stationary states.

Illustrating the tendency to mislead of the percentage method of comparison when applied to small figures, it may be noted that the highest per cents of growth are found in the far western states. Idaho has grown 93 per cent., Montana 84 per cent. and North Dakota 75 per cent. since 1890. But the total increase in the actual population of all these three states put together is only 325,000. There is, in fact, no longer any marked movement of population towards the far west. Moreover, the middle west shows very surprising small gains. Illinois, it is true, has scored a 26 per cent. gain, a little faster than New York's pace, but Ohio, Indiana and Iowa all show a rate of growth below the average for the whole country. Colorado and South Dakota score gains of only 21 and 22 per cent., while Kansas has only three per cent. more population than in 1890, and Nebraska only 1 per cent.

Cannon Fire Crackers

There was a big fuss raised because Peterborough people used explosives in celebrating the African victories last winter and spring. In Toronto they look at it differently. At a recent meeting of the council the matter came up for discussion. Ald. Cox was of the opinion that there can be no public enthusiasm without firecrackers, and he is even willing to take chances with the cannon variety. Ald. Urquhart condemned the cannon cracker as a dangerous explosive, and urged the passage of a by-law prohibiting their use. Ald. Cox said accidents would happen in the best regulated municipalities, and he didn't believe that any by-law would prevent a few casualties when the people were patriotically celebrating. Ald. Cox had his way.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Trent Valley Canal did not influence any riding in favor of the Government along its entire route, only one constituency sending a supporter. That was East Peterboro', which would elect John Lang, canal or no canal.

Railway campaign trains were a feature of the recent electoral campaign in Canada. Sir Wilfrid Laurier and party on the one hand, and Sir Mackenzie Bowell and aides des camps on the other, chartered special trains a couple of days before the elections to run between Montreal and Toronto. The trains stopped for twenty or thirty minutes at the principal stations, and the free and independent electors, who had been previously notified to be on hand, were harangued from the station platform—a platform which, unlike some political platforms—there were no rotten planks. Which side made the most by the arrangement it is impossible to say, but it seems to keep up the excitement and incidentally to give the railways a little more patronage.

OMEMEE.

Snow has fallen sufficiently to cause very good sleighing and many sleighs are out.

There have been a number of cases of typhoid, but none have proved fatal yet.

Sergt. J. McCrea's reception on last Tuesday was an affair long to be remembered. The village looked its best with decorations from Turner's and Kingscote's, Peterboro'. A grand array of military, speeches, and music by the Citizens' Band, and fireworks at night. Sergt. never looked so well.

The elections passed off quietly until evening, when the reports of George McHugh's defeat—and the discouragement, and of the government being so strongly sustained, caused the 100 tories to give the 41 grits a lively time, shouting, calling names, etc. This was carried on to such an extent that the right-thinking were disgusted.

Lindsay citizens of all shades of political opinion are now sorry Honest Geo. McHugh has not been returned, since the government is so strongly sustained, there not being a shadow of a chance for a grant for the county for the next four years.

Our two Peterboro' hotel men—Graham and Clancey—are conducting A1 hotels, and no one need ever be dry or hungry.

"LOST AND FOUND"

Carelessness in New York Department Stores.

The carelessness of the shopping public is marvellous. You begin to feel after awhile that people who are so thoughtless don't deserve to have anything. We never receive handkerchiefs at the "Lost and Found" desk unless a very handsome one is brought to us and we accept it under protest. Neither do our customers often inquire for them, possibly because they think they dropped them in the street.

Umbrellas are among the articles most frequently lost. Sometimes on a rainy day the desk looks like a bargain counter of umbrellas.

Strange as it may seem, pocketbooks are third in the list of articles most often lost. There is never a day in which from one to eight pocketbooks do not either find their way to the desk or are reported as lost in the store.

A woman came the other day to say that she had given the baby her purse to play with and he had opened it and dropped out two $10 bills, for which she wished us to make search. It is seldom that a purse is picked up that does not contain one or two rings and some other small pieces of jewelry.

Many capes, jackets and furs are dropped. A customer once reported that she was afraid of pickpockets and so had taken off her handsome diamond watch and was carrying it in her hand. Unfortunately she had laid it down somewhere and couldn't find it.

Gloves and veils are frequently picked up and parcels innumerable. Garters seem to have a fashion of getting away from the wearers, and sometimes a stray bustle finds its way to the desk. Customers when they miss something usually go to the counter where they think they left it. If they don't find it there they are prone to insinuate that the girl behind the counter got it.

Now, it is an astonishing fact that customers seldom find anything. The superintendent is surprised when an article is brought to the desk by a shopper. It is the clerks and the little cash girls who turn over anything that they may find. It is my experience that our girls, who have small salaries, are constantly exposed to temptation and every day see pretty things they would like and cannot have are almost invariably honest.

Conscience plays strange pranks sometimes. Only last week we received through the mail a box of jewelry. There were trinkets of every kind in it, rings, breastpins, chains, bracelets, lockets, in all enough to stock a country store. Every piece had been removed from its card, and there was no name or message. It was recognized as belonging to our jewelry department, but how so much got away without being missed remains a mystery. Such a quantity could hardly have been taken by a regular shoplifter. One theory is that some one in the department took it and afterward acknowledged the theft at confession and the priest ordered the jewelry returned to us. We have had several cases of that kind.

On another occasion we received a box of expensive handkerchiefs. Within was a card. It read: "I am afraid the innocent will suffer, so I send these back to you, although I know you don't need them and I do."

Whenever any one asks at the desk for any article they have lost in the store we ask for a description. It would be amusing if it were not annoying to see how indignant the average woman gets at this question. She considers it an imputation that she is not honest, and she often resents it in the most energetic manner.

Altogether the life of the man in charge of the "Lost and Found" desk is by no means pleasant.

Salt rheum, with its burning, stinging sensation, is due to poor blood and is cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier.

YOUR BODIES ARE TEMPLES

You believe that statement. But you only realize in part the obligations implied by it. Do you keep that temple of the body clean? If not, the defilement attaches to every service of the temple. Disease of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, affects the mind as well as the body. The dull mind stupified by poisonous gasses, enters on its service without desire, and accomplishes it without delight. A healthy body and a clear mind result from the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It removes the clogging and poisonous impurities from the stomach, stimulates the flow of the juices necessary to digestion and increases the blood supply in quality and quantity. The "Discovery" is strictly a temperance medicine and contains no alcohol or whisky, neither opium, cocaine, nor other narcotic.

"I had suffered from indigestion and only those who have suffered from it know what it really is," writes Mrs. M. J. Fagan, of 1613 East Genesee Street, Syracuse, N. Y. "I had had severe attacks of headache and dizziness with cold hands and feet; everything I ate distressed me, bowels were constipated and I was growing very thin and nervous. I cannot half express the bad feelings I had when I commenced taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I took nine bottles of the 'Discovery.' I commenced feeling better with the first bottle and kept on improving. Now I am so greatly improved in health my friends often speak of it."

ATTACK of ROYAL CANADIANS at Paardeberg

The present is a time when war pictures are in greater demand than ever. The conduct of the British soldiers on the battlefield has won the plaudits of admiring nations. We have at great expense published four large, beautiful pictures size 20x24, on heavy, superfine calendered paper. A picture that will commend itself and send a thrill to the heart of every true Canadian is the one called Attack of Royal Canadians at Paardeberg, there are literally hundreds of figures on this picture, the mountains or kopjes stretching out into the distance are swarming with men, while here and there a prostrate figure speaks only too well of the Boer riflemen. It was on this battlefield the gallant Major Arnold met death unflinchingly. Indeed, it is only too true that many of those gallant hearts that beat so high when the cheering thousands bade them Godspeed as they sailed from Canada's shores now lie still forever in lonely graves on the other side of the world under African skies. To every Canadian home, to every Canadian heart, the deeds of their brave soldier boys speak with an irresistible thrill of patriotism and pride. Gordon Highlanders at the Battle of Belmont, Charging the Boer Guns at Elandslaagte and the Charge of Gen. French's Cavalry on the Retreating Gen. Cronje's Army. These are all stirring pictures and cannot fail to commend themselves to anyone who will examine them. They are RED HOT SELLERS! Agents coin money. Big profits. Enormous success. One agent sold 60 in one day. Sample and terms 25 cts (none free); four for 90 cts; $1.75 per dozen; 25 for $3.25; 50 for $6.00; 100 for $11.00. Write to day for a dozen and make money. A NOVEL.

my hair on the evening Ulmont asked me to be his wife; he was going abroad on the morrow.

"'Give me that lily, Loraine,' he said, 'and I shall wear it over my heart; whenever I gaze upon it I shall remember my Loraine's golden curls have rested against its white petals and its golden cup.' That is the reason that faded flower is beyond all price to me," she said, softly.

At last the fichu was found. As Izetta shook out its filmy folds, something dropped into her lap, hitting the wedding ring she wore with a clear, musical sound. Carelessly she stretched forth her hands to clasp it.

Loraine never forgot the wild, terrified cry that broke from Izetta's lips as she held up at arm's length a pearl portrait of a woman's face upon the petal of a graceful lily, her drooping curls wound round the stem and mingling with its golden calyx.

One sharp, jagged end had pierced her tender hand in falling, the hand which wore the marriage ring.

"My husband painted that portrait," said Loraine, proudly.

"Alderic, Alderic," moaned Izetta, faintly; the next moment she lay at Loraine Ulvesford's feet.

Kind hands bore Izetta to her chamber, placing her on the couch beside little Ulmont, who gazed in baby wonder at the still, white face of her who was wont to caress him.

Loraine had left the room in charge of a nurse an hour before. And the good old nurse wondered why the dark eyes bore such an expression of agony in their depths.

"Can I do anything for you, Mrs. Ross?" she inquired, and the answer came in a pitiful wail:

"Yes; leave me alone; it is the greatest kindness you can do me," and the beautiful face was turned toward the wall.

Still the attendant was loth to leave her alone; all the years of her life she had been used to seeing sickness and sorrow, but she had never seen such terrible woe in a human face before. A sudden fear crossed her mind.

"If I leave you alone," she said, 'promise me you will do nothing rash. I do not know what great sorrow has come to you, but try to remember, for your baby's sake that you must bear up bravely. Have you forgotten your little baby in your sorrow, lady?"

"No," exclaimed Izetta, "it was of him I was thinking most; God help him; I shall go mad if I think of my poor little child," she cried.

Once more she was shut out from the gaze of mortal eyes — she was alone; had not little Ulmont been there, whom she loved, to claim her attention, her reason must certainly have left her.

Loraine Ulvesford's voice still rang in her ears, saying: "My husband painted that portrait."

Izetta leaned far out into the summer night, gazing up into the starry heavens.

"It was Alderic, my husband, who painted that portrait," she cried, wildly.

Her thoughts flashed through her brain like lightning.

How came Loraine Ulvesford with that portrait? Was she dreaming? Ah! the face of the portrait, where had she seen one like it?

Merciful Heaven; it was the smiling face of Loraine which she had seen in the hand of Alderic, her husband; which Alderic, her husband, had worn on his breast.

Izetta's breath came quick and hot; the blood leaped through her veins like molten lead; the very air seemed seething with all-consuming fire, bathing her very soul in its fiery caldron.

There could be no mistake; was not the very jagged corner proof positive? Izetta held the portrait tightly clenched in her hand when she had swooned, and they had not taken it from her.

She saw the portrait like a mocking, jeering falsehood coolly confronting her upon the table. She thought of that jagged edge of pearl she had so carefully treasured.

In another instant she held them in her hand; would those rough edges meet? God pity her, in another instant she would know.

CHAPTER XXXII.
Which Was His Wife?

Oh, [illegible] of cruel evidence, the jagged edges fitted each other exactly; this was no dream, but a terrible reality forced upon her.

The face, the form, the voice of Ulmont Ulvesford were so like Alderic, the husband who had abandoned her to the cold mercies of the pitiless world, the husband who had cast her adrift, with a smile on his lips and the blackest of falsehoods in his heart. The very breeze seemed whispering the startling thought.

Ulmont Ulvesford and Alderic, her husband could not be one and the same.

"This one has fair hair; Alderic's was dark," she cried; "and brother or other kindred he had none; he was the last of his race."

The very enormity of the terrible discovery which was dawning upon her almost drove her mad.

If Loraine's husband was Alderic, did he not know her? If he was her husband, how could he be the husband of Loraine?

"If this is Alderic," she cried, "great Heaven! which of us is his wife?"

The low breathing of little Ulmont aroused her; the thought of the baby was the keenest thrust of all.

"For baby's sake," she whispered, "I must probe this mystery to the very bottom.

Izetta drew herself up proudly to her full height; she forgot the wild, passionate love she had borne her husband in the face of the foul wrong that had been done the deserted wife.

"This cannot be Alderic," she wailed, "the husband of another — for am not I his wife before God and man? The very heaven that bends above us, and the listening angels can bear witness to my marriage. I would have flung myself into the stormy ocean [illegible] I would have lent myself to even a shadow of wrong in thought or action. I have always held my honor stainless. I shall not believe it sullied now. Heaven could not have been so cruel. I could not hope to meet my angel mother above if a stain lay on my soul."

She flung herself down on the couch, her long, dark hair falling around her like a veil, moaning out:

"Alderic, Alderic! oh, cruel love, better I had died in infancy upon my mother's breast than live to suffer this!"

All the long summer night Izetta paced the floor, love, horror, and bitterest despair struggling in her heart for supremacy. Scenes such as that have made gentle, loving woman, the bitterest, most revengeful of foes.

"Hell hath no fury like a woman scorned."

It was strange her overcharged young heart did not burst then and there. How strange life should cling to her so tenaciously, when she wanted so much to die; she told herself she had not strength to live.

"My poor little Ulmont," she said, laying her hot cheek against baby's; "'tis well you are a boy; I could not have left an innocent little girl to have been thrown out on the mercies of relentless fate. Which would have been the worst crime, to have taken her with me in her innocent, spotless babyhood, or to have realized she would be buffeted about by adversity; and, if too weak to cling to life and hope, would not some cruel, blighting hand have struck her down like a reed in the storm? Thank Heaven, you are a boy, my sweet little one," she murmured. "I am very grateful for that boon. There is but one course left us, baby," she whispered. "We must leave this place at once; we will utter no word of the terrible wrong that has been done us!"

Izetta had read deep, tragic sorrows that had come to the lives of women, but she never remembered to have read of one as pitiful as her own.

How dared he gaze upon her face or the face of her child if he be Alderic, who had pledged himself so solemnly to the dying to protect her?

If she could only settle the question of the fair hair to her satisfaction, she would go forth with her child upon her arm and confront him, flinging out her wrongs that the whole wide world might know, crying out:

"See! this is the man who married me but to forsake me in my greatest need—and, lo! I find him the husband of another!"

Ah, this was why each caress he had given Loraine entered her heart like a dagger thrust.

She remembered, with a burning flush, how he had pressed his false, fair, smiling lips to Loraine's, but yester-noon at parting, while she, his wife, stood by.

She had heard of the daring treachery of men, but this exceeded her wildest imagination; all other crimes paled before this.

Izetta knew Loraine would soon come, or send to see if she were better.

"She would never be better now," she told herself, "until she died."

How could she look into Loraine's fair face, knowing she had stolen her husband's love from her, the love which had been her very life?

God help these two fair proud women; 'twas hard to judge between them; who could tell which breast would feel the deadly arrow's stroke the keenest?

If this indeed by Alderic, Izetta could but pity poor, deceived Loraine; she had not forgotten that 'twas she who sheltered her that night from the pitiless storm. She wished devoutly she had perished out in the cold and the snow.

At that moment she heard Loraine's step in the corridor; she knew full well the dainty tapping of the little slippered feet.

"May I come in, Izetta, please?"

"Yes," answered Izetta, and she was startled at the hoarseness and hollowness of her own voice.

Loraine tripped lightly across the room to where she sat; the very room seemed brighter for her presence there.

"You are better this morning, are you not, Izetta? I had hardly expected to find you up and dressed so early."

Loraine drew back with a startled cry at the white, haggard face raised up to her own.

Izetta did not tell her she had not laid her weary head upon the pillow all the long night through.

"I was frightened about you last night; but I am still more frightened about you this morning. All the bloom has left your face; you look like a rose suddenly withered by an unexpected frost. If you have a secret sorrow, Izetta, tell me, could I lighten it in any way for you?"

A sudden impulse seized Izetta to unburden the terrible secret to Loraine, but it was instantly abandoned. She could not bear that the fair face of the only being who had been kind and gentle toward her should turn from her in horror and amazement at the accusations she would bring against her husband's honor.

"No, no, not yet," Izetta told herself; "she must think first what would be best."

A sudden thought occurred to her; she would speak to Loraine about her husband's hair; the suspense of the terrible mystery was killing her.

"Did you tell me, Mrs. Ulvesford, your husband painted that portrait?" asked Izetta, pointing toward the table on which it lay.

"Yes," answered Loraine, always pleased to speak of her husband. "He painted it while he was abroad in Italy, I believe, and quite from memory, too."

There was no mistaking the face; any one could see Loraine was certainly the original.

"How strange it seems, Mrs. Ulvesford," said Izetta, in a low voice, striving to appear calm, "that you should have preferred a—a husband with fair hair so like your own."

Loraine laughed a little, jolly laugh, replying:

"That is quite the amusing part of our romance. I always tell Ulmont I could never have fallen in love with a fair-haired suitor. Why, when we were first engaged, his hair was brown, a dark, glossy, nut-brown."

Loraine did not notice that the white, drooping face turned away from her was pale as death.

"I have a pretty portrait of my husband, the way he used to look; it is quite amusing to see the two pictures together, curiously alike, and yet so unlike. Come to my room, you shall see them."

Izetta followed her, like one in a dream.

"There," said Loraine, drawing aside the heavy silken curtains, "here they are side by side."

Izetta raised her eyes to the fatal picture. No word or cry escaped her; she seemed as if turned to stone.

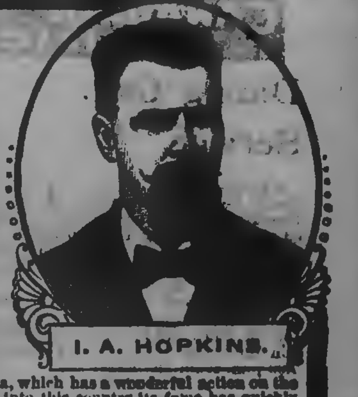
A WONDERFUL
KIDNEY and Bladder CURE

The Honorable Chairman of the Board of County Commissioners, Ellsworth, Kansas, tells how ALKAVIS cured him after Doctors and all other Remedies had Failed.



I. A. HOPKINS.

BRIGHT'S DISEASE, GRAVEL, DROPSY,
And Rheumatism Mastered at Last.

One of the most remarkable medical discoveries of the century is the Kava-Kava Shrub, found on the Ganges River, East India, which has a wonderful action on the kidneys and bladder. Since its introduction into this country its fame has quickly spread, because of its seemingly impossible cures. Prominent men and women have testified to its great curative powers, and hospital tests prove its infallibility even in advanced stages of Bright's Disease. Among the more recent recoveries is that of Hon. I. A. Hopkins, Chairman Board of County Commissioners, Ellsworth, Kansas, who says:

GENTLEMEN:—I will say that I believe and know that I owe my life to Alkavis. I had been troubled with Kidney and Bladder Trouble for years. Two years ago I was taken down with Malarial Fever which left me in a bad condition. My limbs were swollen with Rheumatism so that I could hardly walk; I was troubled with Indigestion from taking Medicine for my Urinary troubles which had become very much worse. I had to get up every hour of the night to urinate. I passed great quantities of blood on account of hemorrhage of the Kidneys and Bladder. I tried and had been trying everything in the shape of Medicine for Kidney Trouble that I could think of or that the Doctors recommended, but nothing helped me, [illegible] getting worse. I suffered great pain continually in my Kidneys. I made up my mind unless I could get relief that I only had a short time to live. About this time my attention was called to an advertisement of Alkavis. As a drowning man will grasp at a straw, I was ready to try anything for relief. I sent to you for three bottles. I began to take it, and before I had taken it one week I began to feel the good effects of Alkavis. My Kidney Trouble and Rheumatism were soon gone, my digestion became all right. I found myself in better health than for ten years and I am in good health now. I know that Alkavis saved my life. What more can anyone say for a medicine? Unlike most medicines it is good for indigestion. It gives the person taking it a good appetite. I have recommended Alkavis to a great many people and all have been benefited by its use. I am 58 years of age, and am very grateful for what Alkavis has done for me.

Respectfully yours, I. A. HOPKINS.

Rev. W. B. Moore, D. D., Washington, D. C., Editor Religious World, writes that after trying all known medicines for kidney and rheumatic diseases he was permanently cured by Alkavis. Mrs. Wm. H. Hardy, East Rush, Pa., writes that Alkavis cured her after six doctors failed. Rev. J. W. Hickman, Collyer, Trego Co., Kansas, cured of liver, kidney and bladder trouble, of many years' standing, from which he could only get temporary relief and had given up all hope of a cure. Thus the grand work goes on. A new book, entitled "A Thousand Living Witnesses," sent with the free case of medicine, tells of the wonderful cures performed in every state.

Not only does this great discovery—Alkavis (the Kava-Kava Compound)—cure all forms of kidney and bladder diseases, but by expelling from the blood all poisonous deposits, excess of lime, uric acid, urates and lithates, it banishes gravel, torpid liver, rheumatism, pains in back, difficult and too frequent urination, etc. The cure is complete. No phase is neglected, and the stomach, heart and nerves are toned and invigorated. No other medicine in the world will perform the work of Alkavis. To enable sufferers to get well and spread the glad tidings we have arranged to send a Large Case of Alkavis FREE by mail to all who write us. The case goes entirely FREE.

If you are a sufferer, write to-day and secure at once a Free Case of Alkavis and Book of "A Thousand Living Witnesses." Address The Church Kidney Cure Co., No. [illegible] Fourth Ave., New York. Please mention this paper.

THE COLORADO COPPER MINING COMPANY

LOCATION OF OUR MINES

THE COLORADO COPPER MINING COMPANY is fortunate in being the possessor of five splendid showing properties in the great Salida copper belt, the principal copper producing region of this portion of the rockies. All of our claims have been more or less developed and it is our purpose to put the same on a paying basis at once.

Our Company owns, clear of incumbrances the following claims:—The Sedalia Extension, the Sedalia Extension No. 2, which property adjoins the great Sedalia mine, which has been a big producer for upwards of seventeen years; the Copper King of Colorado, which immediately adjoins the above; the Copper Queen of Salida, a very promising property, only a few steps from the depot in Salida. This claim occupies an imposing position on a mountain just north of the city; and last, but by no means least, the Sunshine, located two miles east of Salida at Cleora station, on the main Trunk line of the great Denver and Rio Grande Railroad, also on the Arkansas river, which in length is one of America's greatest streams.

JOE MATTHAWS' WELCOME.

The Gallant Soldier is Remembered Here by His many Friends.

Mr. A. J. Matthews, youngest son of Mr. George Matthews, Lindsay, and a brother of Messrs. Frank and George Matthews, Peterborough, after receiving royal welcomes at Ottawa, Lindsay and elsewhere, passed through Peterborough on his way to Ottawa on Tuesday, and was greeted by his many friends here. Taking advantage of his presence here, the employees assembled in the packing room, and Mr. A. P. McLean read an address which was accompanied by a handsome diamond ring. The address, which speaks for the men of the works here, read as follows:—

Peterborough, Nov. 13, '00.

Mr. A. J. Matthews, veteran of South Africa, and late member of the first Canadian Contingent:—

Dear Sir,—Without any preliminary skirmishing, we come to the charge, and give you a thousand welcomes home. We welcome you with pleasure and with pride. It is a source of the highest pleasure to us that you have escaped the perils, privations and hardships of the campaign, and return to us the same sound, sturdy, stalwart Canadian of old, ready to take your place and do your duty in the ranks of civil life, and you have nobly done it in the tented field.

We welcome you with pride, for you have been one of the foremost in the ranks of the colonial forces, which have done such conspicuous work for the Empire as to reflect credit upon Canada's share in adding to the lustre of British arms, and to win the highest praise of high military chiefs and our beloved Queen.

We are especially proud that you were one of the few members of that first contingent that answered every roll call, and consequently, participated in all the brilliant marches and battles that the gallant Canadians have placed on record.

Permit us again to heartily welcome you home, and to ask your acceptance of this souvenir, as a token that those with whom you have been associated in business have the highest appreciation of your splendid services to Canada and the Empire, and that their good wishes for future prosperity and happiness do and will always follow you.

Signed on behalf of employees,

W. GREEN,
WM. ATCHESON,
A. P. McLEAN.

Mr. Matthews made a suitable acknowledgement in perfect language, after which hearty cheers were given for him when the gathering broke up.

MISS MAGEE'S DEATH

Coroners Jury Decided That the Affair Was Purely Accidental.

Three more witnesses were examined by Coroner Greig at the continuation of the inquest on the body of Miss Eliza A. Magee at No. 3 police station in Toronto last night. Miss Magee, an old lady visiting in the city, was run down at Jarvis and Gerrard streets on the afternoon of the big parade, and fatally hurt. Mrs. McClure and Miss Torpey, who were in the rig which ran down Miss Magee, told their versions of the affair, which were identical with that told by Mr. McClure. Mrs. Littleford, who saw the old lady carried from the road to the doctor's house, also gave unimportant evidence, and the jury returned a verdict of accidental death.

A private letter from Rev. Mr. Shorey, received by Mr. Robertson, of the Times, stated that the deceased had been a member of Mr. Shorey's family for about 14 years, and was greatly beloved by them all. She had gone to Toronto to visit a sister, when the poor old lady was knocked down. She was identified by a letter in her pocket from Miss Gussie Shorey.

WOMEN'S AUXILIARY

[illegible] Opened [illegible] [illegible] Friday

Yesterday evening the semi-annual meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary to Missions of the Diocese of Toronto, took place in St. [illegible] school house, and will be continued to-day.

A very interesting address was delivered by Rev. T. [illegible], who has just returned from [illegible]. There was a large attendance.

The following is the programme for today:

10 a.m.—Holy Communion.

11 a.m. Meeting—Reports of officers. Address of welcome.

2.30 p.m.—Conference on "Woman's Work."

Paper—"The Auxiliary Woman. Her Responsibilities."—Mrs. Carry, followed by two minute addresses and general discussion.

4 to 5.30 p.m.—Paper, "The Auxiliary Girl. Her Possibilities," followed by two minute addresses and general discussion.

8 p.m.—Missionary meeting. Address by Miss Jennie Smith, returned missionary from Japan, with limelight views.

Rev. J. C. Davidson on Temiscamingue.

A HARD WORKER.

One of the "Kings" of the Coast.

Mrs. L. S. King, of Concord, Cal., is state organiser and lecturer for the W. C. T. U. of California. She had been carrying on her work without using proper food to sustain her body, and says: "Before I found Grape-Nuts food I was suffering seriously with indigestion and my mind had become sluggish and dull, the memory being very much impaired.

"Hearing of Grape-Nuts as a food for rebuilding and strengthening the brain and nerve centers, I began its use. In two months I have gained four pounds in weight, never felt better in my life, and find a most remarkable improvement in my memory and mental activity. I never stood the pressure of work as well as I do now. A short time ago I went to a new county, worked twenty-two days, almost day and night, without rest, and came home feeling fine. You may be sure I take Grape-Nuts food with me so that I may depend upon having it."

PETERBOROUGH CHEESE BOARD

Factories Board Their Stock of October and November

The final meeting of the season of the Peterborough Cheese Board was held yesterday, the following buyers being present: Messrs. Craighead, Moore, Cluxton, Kerr, Fitzgerald Cook, Whiten, Rollins, Wrighton, Bailey.

On account of the close of the season, the factories boarded their entire stock, which in some cases consisted of October and November cheese, as the following list will show.

	Oct	Nov.

Mr. Whitten's was the highest bid and he called for Keene, Shearer, Villiers, Westwood, Indian River, Fraserville, Bensfort, Lang, Ormonde, Warsaw, Lakefield, Pine Grove, and was accepted.

At 10 1-4, Mr. Robbins secured Warminister, North Smith, Oakdale, Daisy D., Maple Leaf, Young's Point, North Dummer, Cedardale, Stony Lake and Trewern.

Mr. Bailey's offer of 10 1-4 was accepted by Peterborough, Otonabee Union, East Emily, Missing Link, Mount Pleasant, Fleetwood and Oak Leaf.

The ruling price was offered Cavanville, Central Smith and Myrtle by Mr. Cook, and was accepted.

Mr. Whitten gathered in at 10 1-4 Brickley and Ballyduff, the latter to be subject to Bellville inspection.

RACIAL CLASH IN B. C.

Vancouver, B.C., Nov. 13.—Bitter racial feeling between French-Canadians and Britishers culminated in a flag incident at New Westminister yesterday, and serious consequences were averted only by the prompt action of the authorities.

On the new postoffice building, which is in process of construction, are employed a number of French-Canadians, brought thither for that work from Quebec. They were given a Saturday half-holiday, and hoisted the Union Jack and the French tri-color on the same pole. The British flag was removed surreptitiously, and when the French ensign was discovered floating alone over the government building a crowd of Englishmen gathered to pull it down.

The French-Canadians defended their flag and a conflict followed. The authorities stopped the fight by pulling down the offending flag. The occurrence has caused intense feeling between the representatives of the two nationalities.

SHOT HIS NEPHEW AND THEN KILLED HIMSELF

Victoria, B. C. Nov. 13.— William Ashley Gardiner, working for his aunt, Mrs. Connell, at Esquimalt, was shot last night by his uncle, Thos Connell. He died immediately. Connell threatened during the day to kill the whole family. He had had trouble with his wife. The murderer has not yet been caught.

LATER.

Victoria, B. C., Nov. 13—Thos. Connell, who shot and killed W. Ashley at Esquimalt on Monday evening, shot himself this morning as an officer was about to arrest him. He fired three shots at the officer, but missed. He will die.

THE TIMBER SUPPLY.

The Outlook Not at all Satisfactory to the Lumber Trade

St. Paul, Nov. 14.—The State of Minnesota is selling to-day an immense tract of lumber. The sale is in consequence of the probable early stagnation of the lumber trade on account of the great reduction in the price of iron and steel, and the increased value of cement for building. These are crowding lumber out of the market.

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 14.—Timber dealers are studying the conditions of the forests very closely now, and are looking ahead into the future with forebodings. The cut is now about twenty-five thousand million feet board measure annually, while the whole estimated supply at present untouched is 1,290,000,000,000 feet board measure. The present stand will supply the demand for about 50 years or two generations. The black walnut and white pine are already very nearly exhausted.

WARSHIPS DESTROY CANNIBAL TOWNS

Eighty Were Shelled and a Number of Natives Captured.

San Francisco, Nov. 15.—The schooner Mascotte, which has arrived here from the South Seas, brings tales of cannibalism and the massacre of blacks on the Savage Islands. For the past two years the Mascotte has been trading between the Solomon Islands, New Guinea, and New Zealand. Its decks, rails, and sails bear the marks of cannibals' spears and bullets.

The schooner arrived at Komali, in the Admiralty group, just after the murder of Herman Matzke, the trading agent there. This was on August 29. Captain Macco and a boat crew went ashore and found the Copra house had been looted, and the trader's home was a wreck. In the yard of the latter a big pot was still sizzling over the dying embers of a fire, and in the pot were found some of the bones of the trader.

The cannibals had not gone far. They had found in the agent's house fifteen guns and with these they suddenly appeared and opened fire on Captain Macco and his crew. A hasty retreat was made to the schooner. The bullets from the islanders riddled the rails and the foresail. Captain Macco brought into play a small gun, and its noise, more than effectiveness, scared the cannibals off. The Mascotte, which is an auxiliary schooner in the Carolines, notified the officers of the German sloop of war Zeadler of the murder.

Both schooner and war ship returned to Komali and the native villages were shelled. Eighty villages were destroyed by fire, sixteen natives were killed and twenty were taken prisoners.

In June, the Mascotte put into Matty Island, in the Solomon group, and two traders went ashore with the super-cargo. A great crowd of natives, scenting a big feast, made for them and filled the air with spears. Captain Macco and his men killed four of the cannibals with rifles. The rest took to the woods.

A COUNT ARRESTED.

New York, Nov. 15.—La Champagne, of the French Line, which was sent to China as a troopship, made her first appearance in these waters to-day since July. On her trip from Havre she was struck by the heavy gales.

La Champagne had 300 passengers. Two detectives were waiting on the pier to arrest Count Herman Hartzheim, a British subject, of Winnipeg, who was accused by C. T. Morehouse, of the Birmingham Manufacturing Company, of appropriating 1,600 francs at the Paris Exposition.

"I have worked very hard for the Birmingham Company all summer," said the count to the newspaper man, "and this is the 'rough deal' I am getting. I took my commission at 5 per cent. out of sales to make sure of my compensation. My

TRAGEDIES OF THE STAGE.

Large Number of Those Killed or Wounded in Playing Their Parts.

In the Grenelle Theatre in Paris the other day an actor came near killing his talented professional friend with a stage dagger whose spring got out of order. The victim yelled so naturally and the blood flowed so freely that the audience was delighted and never realized the realism until the curtain dropped. The accident prompted a Parisian scribe to hunt up the record of things somewhat similar upon the stage. According to his story Mme. Rencin at Prague in a suicide scene stabbed herself seriously.

William Moritz killed his associate, Temple Crozier, in the Novelties Theatre of London.

In the play of "The Indian Emperor" the English actor, Farquhar, playing the part of Guyomar, dangerously wounded another player who unfortunately, had to take the part of a Spanish General, after which Farquhar wisely bade farewell to the stage.

Macready in "Macbeth" at one time came so near scoring a victory at Dunsinane that poor Macduff had to be taken to the hospital, where he remained for six weeks.

Garrick in "Othello" half choked more than a dozen Desdemonas.

In the banquet scene of "Macbeth" Charles Kemble flung away his wine cup with such violence that it smashed a chandelier, and the pieces of broken glass flew almost into the face of Mrs. Siddons who was playing Lady Macbeth, but she never moved a muscle.

Sarah Bernhardt, playing the "Dame aux Camelias," with Darmont in the role of Armand Duval, turned many heads temporarily during the play and provoked some astounding and ridiculous interruptions.

But it will be hard to beat the record of the old-time "Passion Play" performed a few hundred years ago before King John II. of Sweden. A fatal blunder on the part of the actor in the role of Longus the Centurian caused the death of two artists. Enraged, the King bounded upon the stage sword in hand and with a first-claim right hand swing that made the blade whistle decapitated poor Longus. The audience rose in a fury and literally tore his Majesty to pieces.

This last story needs confirmation, but it holds good with the gallery, in the light of the historic fact that a French ambassador to Spain, Gaubier de Brenault, witnessing a representation of the battle of Pavia, in which the Spaniard got largely the better of a Frenchman, killed the unfortunate actor who played the Spaniard. All of which goes to show that there is only one step between the stage and stage stuck.

NEW MEN FOR THE COUNTY COUNCIL

Stiff Contests in Several Divisions Likely to Take Place

Warden Forster Retires, But all the Old members Offer Themselves for Re-election.

There is likely to be some hot contests for places at the County Council at the elections in January.

In the First Division comprising Otonabee and Ashburnham, Messrs. Wm. Anderson and E. A. Peck will offer themselves for re-election. It is not probable that there will be any opposition. Both gentlemen are careful and wise legislators, and should be re-elected.

In the Second Division, comprising North Monaghan, Smith and Ennismore, there will be a stiff contest. The present members are Messrs. Geo. W. Fitzgerald and Joseph Forster, (the latter gentleman being the Warden.) Mr. Fitzgerald will again be a candidate, but Mr. Forster, who now lives in town, will in consequence be debarred from running. Mr. Fitzgerald has been a good representative, and will be re-elected. The new men will be Messrs. T. M. Hunter, Reeve of North Monaghan, Mr. Armstrong, Reeve of Smith, and P. Costello, Reeve of Ennismore.

In the Third Division, comprising the townships of Harvey, Galway, Cavendish, Burleigh, Anstruther and Chandos, the present members, Messrs. T. G. Eastland and Robert Shaw will probably be elected by acclamation. Both these gentlemen have proved themselves to be careful and prudent members. They should and will be returned.

In the Fourth Division, consisting of Belmont, Bethuen, Asphodel, Norwood and Havelock, there will be a contest. The present members, Messrs. W. T. Buck and J. B. Pearce, will seek re-election. Mr. John Brown, an old and tried veteran in municipal experience, is out, and will doubtless be elected. Mr. J. A. Sexsmith, the late Conservative candidate, is also spoken of. He is a coming man, and his friends believe that experience at the County Council will better fit him for the higher duties as member of Parliament which position he is sure to assume some time in the future.

In the Fifth Division comprising Douro, Dummer and Lakefield, the present members, Messrs. E. Hawthorne and Richard Crowe will again run. Mr. W. H. Casement, of Lakefield, who is likely to be a candidate, was a credit to the County Council when he sat at the board in years gone by. He has experience, ability and is always on the alert to further the interests of the County. Mr. Wm. Garbutt has had considerable municipal experience, is very popular, and will doubtless be elected, should he consent to run.

MR. FOSTER FOR WEST PETERBORO

Will the Riding be Opened for Him?

FOR A STRONG OPPOSITION

Many Liberals Would Support Him to Maintain One.

The matter of providing a seat for Hon. George E. Foster in Ontario is engaging the attention of the Conservative leaders just now. Mr. Osler, of Toronto, will probably be chosen leader, the belief existing that he already has the call, with Mr. Foster as second in command.

Several prominent Liberals have already signified their intention by supporting Mr. Foster, and his election here would practically be assured.

Mr. Kendry, however, will no doubt consult his friends and supporters before coming to a conclusion in the matter. He has no ambition to sit in the "cool shades" for another term, but his well known loyalty to his native town would cause him to make almost any sacrifice. His hosts of friends, too, would dislike to have him retire, but would no doubt reconcile themselves in their loss from the fact that West Peterborough, represented by a man like Mr. Foster, would be a good thing.

RAW FOOD IS BEST.

New York, Nov. 14.—Professor B. Tyler believes that cooked food is humanity's greatest curse and thus enforces his views as an advocate of the use of raw food:

As a result of my own experience and of tests made by other persons at my direction and under my observation, I am firmly convinced that cooked food is the greatest curse of humanity. I hold that cooked food is responsible for nearly all the great pestilences, contagious diseases and other bodily ills; that it shortens life generally; that it causes crimes and makes people moral degenerates as well as physical degenates, and that it heaps untold misery upon the world by so greatly increasing the cost of living as to bring hunger and want into the land and cause millions to toil their lives away for the mere sake of eking out an existence.

I will wager all the success I expect to obtain in saving mankind from the disastrous effects of taking dead cells into their systems on the assertion that any person who for ninety days will give raw food a test will at the end of that time declare that he never felt better in his life; that he is a happier disposition; that his mind is clearer and that he is improved in all respects.

A child rasied on uncooked food will be a giant, physically and intellectually. There is no doubt that the ancients lived longer than we and that the average life of man is growing shorter all the time from no other cause than the continuous injurious effects being wrought by cooked food on the human race.

COOKED FOOD DESTROYED.

It was never intended that any living thing should derive substantial sustenance from that which has been destroyed. Food when cooked is destroyed. It is the mission of fire to destroy.

We take into our body dead cells to replace the worn out cells cast off from the body. Man with his superior intelligence should live much longer in the time that it takes him to develop than any other animal. Instead, there is nothing that breaths that doesn't live five times as long as man, proportionately. By eating natural food, health, as with the lower animals, would be the rule and ill health the exception.

I had reached fifty years of age. My height was 6 feet 3 inches; my weight 232 pounds. I had been afflicted with kidney trouble from youth. I contracted eczema from vaccination.

I suffered from sciatic rheumatism in my left hip and thigh. My head was always full of dandruff; my finger nails were short and brittle.

With these afflictions I was looked upon by most people as a healthy man. I myself did not realize in what a terrible condition I was until I had tasted the joys of perfect health. In two years raw food diet has reduced me to moral weight.

I now tip the scales at 153 pounds, and can race up three flights of stares with any boys in Chicago. My kidney complaint vanished the moment I removed the continuing cause and commenced to live on raw diet.

Within six days after beginning my new diet, my rest was the most refreshing it has been in seven years. The dandruff disappeared from my head, the eczema was speedily cured, the rhumatism remained with me for ninety days, but finally sucumbed to the great natural tonic. My finger nails grew out more sharply so that they now reach the end of my fingers. They look tougher and harder. The half moon shows on each nail and I am proud of their beautiful pink color.

TEETH FIRM AND HARD.

My teeth have became remarkably firm and hard. I imagine that what has taken place to bring about these effects in my teeth and nails has been felt thoroughout my body, in my joints and bones. The calcareous deposits throughout my whole system have been loosened up and carried away by the pure water I have taken into my system, either in eating the diet of raw food or absorbed from the atmosphere.

I don't drink one-forth the amount of water I did under the old system of eating. Now, at the age of fifty-two, I am enjoying perfect health. I am just as active and just as supple as at the age of twenty-five.

Since knowing of my own personal experience these remarkable blessings from eating raw food I have made it my mission in life to endeavor, with what means and energy I possess, to convert the world into my practice. All I ask of any person is to give it a test.

As to what kind of raw food you eat it doesn't make much difference unless suffering from some especial ailment. Any thing that is good cooked is better raw. By giving the diet a test you will find in a short time that you enjoy your meals more than you ever did before. Almost any disease may be cured by eating the proper kind of raw foods.

A person living on uncooked diet need have no fear of coming in contact with contagious diseases. He may go where there is pestilence, but his constitution has become so healthful that it will cast off all disease germs. Man may be made just as free from smallpox, yellow fever or bubonic plague as a horse. He can travel in any country without fear of affliction from the climate.

In cooking food all the acids and gases so necessary for the conservation and preservation of ideal health escape with the steam, and the food retains a greater supply of ash, lime and other rauch substances than nature requires for the amount of food taken into the system.

COOKING A NOTION.

Cooking is all a notion, and a very bad one for the human race. It began somewhere back in the prehistoric ages as a fad, and has continued to work havoc with humanity ever since. It is more disastrous than the tobacco habit.

I would suggest as a daily diet plenty of fruit for breakfast and supper. Cereals and nuts are the meat, though I have no objection to dried beef for the diet of a well person.

There are millions of things a person can eat without cooking. All vegetables are better raw than cooked. Onions, radishes, tomatoes, turnips, carrots, lettuce, cucumbers, mustard and numerous other garden products could be mentioned.

Then amoung the fruits there are pine-apples, peaches, pears, grapes, berries, bananas, cherries and numerous others that are healthy and relishable. The melons are all well recommended. Dried prunes should be eaten for breakfast and luncheon. Salt should be taken into the system only when nature calls for it.

MURDER THE CHARGE.

Sensational Case will be Brought to Trial Tuesday.

Van Wert, Ohio, Nov. 15.—There will be a woman at the bar of the Court of Common Pleas on Tuesday to answer for the killing of another woman with vitriol. The defendant is Mrs. Emma Van Liew, wife of the cashier of the Van Wert National Bank and one of the social leaders of the town. She says she is innocent.

The pretty girl whom she is accused of killing is Miss Alice Hammell, a belle. The victim lingered five weeks in terrible agony. Her eyeballs, nose, cheeks and lips slowly sloughed away. The crime was committed September 12 last.

"Mrs. Van Liew did it," gasped the girl, falling in at the kitchen door and at her mother's feet. Just why Mrs. Van Liew should attack pretty Miss Hammell is a mystery. The trial will be hard fought.

ELECTRIC ROAD TO TORONTO.

Toronto to Reach out in Every Direction with Railways.

When the Toronto and Central Ontario Railway Company announced their intention of a system of radial railways some time ago, it was not mere sentiment but an actual business movement. The Company are now seeking incorporation with a capital stock of five millions of dollars, and as soon as three hundred thousand of this is subscribed they will begin their work. The radial system means the extension of an electric service into the country west, north and east, having Toronto as the terminal point. It is proposed to run as far east as Peterborough, and having reached that place, we see no reason why the Company may not be induced to still further the extension. Construction of these railways will commence one year from the passing of the act of incorporation, and not less than one hundred miles is to be constructed annually thereafter.

Cousin of a Leading Boer Commandant Dies From Wounds.

London. Nov. 15.—"Special." —Lord Roberts cables from Johannesburg that sixty Boers were captured while trying to cross from Portuguese territory to Namubach, where the Boers are endeavouring to get ammunition into the Transvaal. He reports that Lord Methuen has captured a pompom from the Boers; that Piet Lemner, a cousin of the commandant of the same name, has died of wounds received recently, and that the police captured Field Cornet Duplessis at Vryburg.

Two prisoners who were accused of treachery, October 25, were tried by court-martial at Pochefstroom and acquitted. Their relatives were astonished and impressed by the justice shown by the British.

CHINESE DROVE THEM LIKE CATTLE

A Missionary Tells of a Journey of Suffering and Privation.

A. R. Saunders sends to the London Times an account of a journey a party was compelled to take from the northern province of Shan-Si, through Ho Nan and Hu Peh to Hankow. Among other things he says:—

We did not anticipate much trouble in Shan Si from the Boxers till we heard that Yu Hsien, the degraded Governor of Shan Tung, had been appointed to fill a similar office in Shan A. The first indication of their presence in the province was the appearance in several cites of a poster which informed the people that the present drought was due to the presence of the Protestant and Roman Catholic missionaries, who taught the people to leave idolatry and the worship of ancestors, and that before long the armies of Heaven were to make war against, and exterminate the propagators of these religions, and calling on all to aid in carrying this out. Immediately after this poster appeared, the house of an elder in the Hong Tong church was attacked and looted, and the elder badly injured.

All went well with us till Tuesday 26th June, when our place was attacked and looted, and we, with our four children, had to escape to Yamen. The attack was sudden and unexpected, and there are perhaps two causes for the precipitation of events.

First—A high official returning to the south of the province from paying a visit to the new Governor, was passing through Ping Yao, and seeing the proclamation that had been issued by the local magistrate, advised him to withdraw it as such would not be favored by the new Governor. On Monday, 25th June, the proclamation was washed off the walls by order of the magistrate, and the next night we were attacked.

JOINED THE BOXERS.

Second—A communication was received by the magistrate from the new Governor stating that China was at war with foreign nations and the Imperial troops had joined the Boxers in their efforts to drive the foreigners out of China, and called on the people to aid them. A private communication was also received instructing the magistrate to withdraw all protection from the foreigners.

Our street chapel inside the city was first attacked. The doors, windows, furniture and books were all piled on the street and burned. They came to our mission compound in the west suburb, and after burning down a portion of the the wall they looted the place. We took our four children from their comfortable beds, and without even dressing them, we carried them to Yamen. On arrival there we were told that the officials could give us no protection, and it would be best for us to leave Ping Yao at once for quieter parts.

After some further talk it was thought best that we should go under official escort to Tai Yuen Fu, and a start was made at daylight. In the villages we passed through en route, the youthful recruits of the Boxer society were practising their mysterious art quite openly on the street, but we passed on without molestation.

ATTACKED THREE TIMES.

On Thursday afternoon, 28th June, we were within seven miles of Tai Yuen Fu, when we met a convert who told us that we had better not go there as the large compound of the Sheo Yang mission had been burned the night before. In the face of such a fact it would have been madness for us to have gone on to Tai Yuen Fu, so we turned southward again and set our faces toward Lu Chang Hsien, a city in the Lu An Fu district, 133 miles southeast from Ping Yao. We experienced great difficulty in reaching that city, having lost the escort that had been given us for Tai Yuen Fu; only in one village, at the entrance to the hills, we were attacked three times in the inn where we were staying, by a band of Boxers. We had to pay a sum of 15 to the man in charge of the Imperial courier stables at that place to escort us safely out and on to the next stage, and in this way we had to buy protection nearly all the way to Lu Chang Hsien. We asked the magistrate at Lu Chang Hsien to give us an official document entitling us to an escort from city to city, right through to Hankow, but the same reply was given us as at Ping Yao (orders received to withdraw all protection from foreigners) and we had to start on our long journey of nearly 700 miles, through what in the past few weeks had become an enemy's country, without an escort. Our party consisted of 14 persons, including children. The youngest of the children was 18 months, the oldest 7 1-2 years.

LEFT IN THE NIGHT.

We had to leave secretly at midnight, and we walked all night, carrying on our backs the younger of the children. Our baggage was all carried on two donkeys, one of which we never saw again after leaving Lu Chang Hsien. Soon after daylight on Sunday morning we reached a village, where we hired donkeys on which the ladies and children were to ride four miles, but when we had gone about half that distance we were met by a band of nearly 300 men, who had come out from the village just ahead of us, and who robbed us of all we had, donkeys, silver and goods, taking even the clothes we were wearing. Most of us were left with only a pair of Chinese trousers on, the upper part of our bodies and our heads being entirely unprotected from the awful burning of a July sun. We trudged on as best we could, carrying the smaller children, the others walking, and all of us exposed to the full blaze of a semi-trophical sun.

All that day and the two following days, through village after village, we were exposed to the crullest treatment, till we reached the nearest city, Chang Hsien, where we hoped to get official help and protection. Although we were now almost naked, without even shoes or stockings, the people would not believe that we had no silver secreted about us, and we were beaten most unmercifully in the hope that such treatment would bring some confession as to where the silver was secreted. The people of one village would follow us to the boundary of the next, stoning us and throwing hard lumps of clay, beating us on the back and head with sticks and bricks, and this was kept up almost incessantly from village to village for the whole of those three days.

BRAVE RESCUE BY SMALL BOY

Extinguishes Flames That Envelop a Mother and Saves one Child.

Toronto, Nov. 15.—Last evening shortly before six o'clock, two-year-old Edith Hayman pulled the table cloth on the floor of the residence of John Hayman, 49 St. Nicholas street, and dragged the lamp with it. The lamp fell into the lap of her thirteen-month-old brother, Clarence, who sat in a high chair beside the table. When it overturned it exploded, and in a second the babe was covered with flames.

Edith screamed and ran for her mother. Mrs. Hayman had heard the explosion while at work in the kitchen. The flames shot out their tongues and licked up the oil that had saturated the child's clothes, and the mother caught it to herself in a mad endeavor to save it. In a moment Mrs. Hayman, too, was aflame, and dropping the babe, she ran into the street ablaze. Here she rolled in the snow but the fire around her body burned fiercely.

COOL-HEADED BOY.

Frank Brown, a ten-year-old lad who lives next door to the Haymen residence, saw the flames, saw the agonized woman, in fact, saw everything in a glance, ran out, tore away the burning clothes and threw snow upon her. Then Mrs. Hayman forgot her awful burns and ran into the house crying for her children. But the brave boy, Brown, had quickly anticipated her and had run into the house, picked Edith from the burning room and carried her safely to the street.

THE BABE DEAD.

Edith was not burned, and the mother ran past for the babe. But it was dead, and the body was charring in the midst of the flames. Burning afresh, Mrs. Hayman turned for the street, and, crazed with pain and mental anguish, tried to run into the house again, when young Brown rolled her upon the ground and put out the flames with snow.

After accomplishing this, the lad called for help, and the workmen in W. F. Petry's carriage establishment came to the rescue and carried the sufferers into the home of Mr. J. W. Congdon near by. The firemen came, and with them Police Constable Wilby. They extinguished the flames, and found the charred body of the babe.

WOMAN BADLY BURNED.

Dr. E. M. Cook and Dr. William Britton came, and Mrs. Hayman is in Grace Hospital, burned on the hands, burned terribly from the waist down, and suffering from shock. Her recovery is doubtful. As Mrs. Hayman was being carried into the neighbor's place, her husband arrived home from work.

The brave action of Frank Brown will be brought before the Humane Society.

WEATHER NOTES.

Probs. To-day—Strong northwest winds and a little colder.

The cold has become more pronounced in Manitoba and the Northwest Territories, and from present indications the cold weather will continue for several days in Ontario and Quebec before a change to milder occurs. The temperature has also fallen considerably in the Maritime Provinces, but it is improbable that the cold wave will there be as pronounced as further west. Ten below zero was registered yesterday morning at Prince Albert and Qu'Appelle, and 2 below at Winnipeg.

CUT NO FIGURE.

Fighting in the Philippines goes on the Same as Ever.

Manilla, Nov. 15.—The results of the elections in the United States have been quietly received here.

So far as the Filipinos are concerned no noticeable change in the situation has ensued, nor is likely to occur. They are for the greater part non-committal.

Last week's scouting resulted in several minor engagements with what the official reports describe as "small casualties," namely, four Americans killed and ten wounded.

BUBONIC PLAGUE.

Cape Town, Nov. 15.—An outbreak of bubonic pledge is reported among the natives of Szingoka, near Kingwilliamstown, precautions are being taken to prevent the spreading of the disease among the whites.

THE POWERS' NOTE READY FOR CHINA

Very Few Things Yet to be Agreed Upon.

LOOTING OF THE TOMBS.

The Desecration of Tombs Generally Condemned at Pekin.

Berlin, Nov. 15.—An official version of the recent affray between German and British soldiers at Shanghai, says two Germans had a row with the landlord of a tea house, and a British police patrol arrested the Germans. At the guard house the Germans resisted. One of them was shot in the shoulder and the other was otherwise wounded. It is admitted that the conduct of the Germans caused the affray, but that the British exceeded their power.

The British authorities have suspended a sergeant and are dealing with the matter, in a spirit of fairness.

London, Nov. 15.—Dr. Morrison, wiring to the Times from Pekin Monday and referring to the German expedition to the tombs of the Ming dynasty and Kalgan says:

"Opinion here condemns the looting of tombs, although no punishment could be excessive for the cruelties recently revealed. One English missionary had his eyes burned in their sockets with incense sticks. He survived his agonies for thirty-six hours.

"A loyal Chinaman to-day discussed with me the probability of General Tung Fu Hsiang raising a rebellion among the discontented Moslems in Western China."

A Pekin despatch says: The note of the Powers for the Chinese plenipotentiaries will probably be ready to submit within the next ten days. It is understood that all points under discussion have been practically agreed upon except minor phases of several of the most important questions. Concerning these points the Ministers have cabled for instructions.

THE GERMAN EMPEROR'S SPEECH.

London, Nov. 15.—The German Emperor's speech at the opening of the Reichstag is generally commended as a moderate and judicious summary of the Chinese question. It is not vaingiorious nor sharply resentful. It minimized, like Lord Salisbury's Guild Hall speech, the force of the Anglo-German agreement, and emphasizes the common interests and harmonious action of the foreign powers. It forshadowe the restoration of order in China, the punishment of the chief murderers among the mandarins, and the prevention of Boxer outrages in the future. It does not explain how the surrender and beheading of the guilty princes can be sanctioned by the Empress, whose orders were obeyed in Pekin, nor does it forecast the amount of indemnity which will be satisfactory to the powers, but it leaves China free to work out its own salvation.

PRINCE TUAN'S SON.

Pekin, Nov. 14.—One feature of the Chinese case now attracting attention is that the heir-apparent to the throne is a son of Prince Tuan, the head and front of the anti-foreign movement and one of the exalted Chinese whose head has been demanded by the allies. Under the Chinese law the disgrace of the father is visited on the son, and beheading is the most disgraceful of all deaths. The question, therefore, arises, can the son maintain his standing with the people if the execution of his father is permitted?

LET FALL THE MASK.

Berlin, Nov. 15.— The Foreign Office publishes reports from the German Legation at Pekin, dated from May 31 to August 24. The late Baron Von Ketteler's despatches described exhaustively the progress of the Boxer movement, demonstrating the guilt of the Chinese Government.

Secretary of the Legation Von Buelow, dealing with the disturbances at Pekin from June 12 to June 30, says that with the appointment of Prince Tuan to the President of the Tsung Li Yamen, notification of which was given June 10 to the Foreign Ministers, the Chinese Government "let fall the mask." He adds that it was equivalent to a declaration of war.

A dragoman of the German Legation narrates in these reports the murder of Baron Von Ketteler. He says it was a carefully-planned act of vengeance on the part of certain high representatives of the Chinese Government, whom Von Ketteler had repeatedly accused, even to their face, of double dealing.

RUSSIA IS RESTLESS.

Course of Germans and British in China is Displeasing.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 15.—Russia is becoming increasingly restless on account of the strict course of the allies, particularly the Germans and British, toward the Chinese.

"Russians" says the Bourse Gazette, "will reap the hatred of foreigners which the Germans and British are sowing."

Official circles in St. Petersburg do not conceal their dissatisfaction over the recent executions of Pao-Ting-Fu officials.

SEES ANGLO-FRANCO WAR

St. Petersburg, Nov. 15.—Discussing Lord Salisbury's speech at the Lord Mayor's banquet in London on Friday evening, the Rossija and the Novosti appear to be discontented over the prospective adjournment of the Chinese question. The Rossija declares that the "ostrich policy" will be ruinous, for Russia will gain by her demands by independent action.

The Novosti discovers in the speech indications of a future conflict between Great Britain and France, and asserts that they owe it to themselves and to Europe to prepare accordingly.

PETERBOROUGH, NOVEMBER 16, 1900

THE NEW BRITISH SOLDIER

According to the Daily Mail a scheme of army reform of a very sweeping character will come into operation early next year. "The scheme," says the Daily Mail, "will make the British private a trained soldier. Instead of a system giving the recruit mainly a housemaid's work and allowing no more than six weeks of military training, he will in future get ten months of scientific drilling, all fatigue and orderly duties being performed by a special corps of time expired men. The first four months will be devoted to company training, including scouting, entrenching, bridging and taking cover. The second four months will be used in battalion manoeuvers, attacking and defending positions and field firing. Two months will be given to grand manoeuvres on a war scale. The remaining two months of the first year will be occupied by furloughs. The greatest attention will be devoted to marksmanship and the allowance of ammunition will be greatly increased. Artillery training will also be improved. The War Office is now acquiring control of large tracts of land in various parts of the country for training grounds.

LOCAL NEWS-LETTERS.

KING'S WHARF, EMILY.

Mr. Dorgan's sale was a decided success, which his many friends will be pleased to hear owing to his great loss by fire.

We are glad to see Dan. O'Neill about again.

Miss Lucy Corbett, forelady of the Electric Works, Peterboro', paid her sister, Mrs. Dorgan, a flying visit on Monday last.

KEENE.

Mr. C. Lang left last Monday for his home in New York after spending a few months with friends here.

The boys were home from college to vote.

Mrs. Burgess and son have left their home here to reside at Zion on Mr. Drummond's farm.

Mr. Hope is recovering from his illness, which his friends will be glad to hear.

Mr. P. Robertson met with an accident on Wednesday. While in the loft of the barn he missed his footing and fell striking his back on a log.

The delegates of the Brockville convention gave their reports on Sunday evening instead of the regular service. The service was opened by Rev. Mr. McCauley in the usual way, followed by a duet from Messrs. W. D. Edwards and J. McFarlane. The delegates, Mrs. Wood, Keene S.S.; Miss L. Howson, twp.; and Miss L. Bennett, Peterboro'; each gave an interesting and helpful report. The Keene people feel highly honored in having the pleasure of listening to them.

GORE'S LANDING.

Miss Hore and her nephew, Mr. F. Harris, were guests of Mrs. Kennedy, Bewdley, on Saturday.

Mrs. Snelgrove and children, and Miss Amy Waldon, Camborne, spent Sunday with Mrs. W. C. Harris.

There was no service in St. George's church on Thursday owing to the illness of Rev. G. A. Field, while on a visit to Toronto.

On Saturday last the steamer Beaver ran the last of her weekly trips to Peterborough. In spite of the coldness of the weather she carried quite a number of passengers.

Mr. F. W. Pratt is engaged this week in adding a wing to his residence.

Mr. and Mrs. Robinson, Coldsprings, were guests of Mrs. F. Aitchison, on Sunday.

Mrs. Harald is spending some days with her sister, Mrs. W. T. Borradaile, at Peterborough, owing to the death of the latter's husband. Mr. Borradaile was for a number of years a much respected resident of the village, and the family have many friends here.

BENSFORT.

The Bensfort cheese factory has closed down after a most successful season. We understand that Mr. P. Rutherford has sold the factory to Mr. John Greer, jr., of Bailieboro.

Quite recently Mr. George McClelland trapped eleven skunks at one hole, one of which was a pure black. Black skunks are quite uncommon in these parts. Coon hunters report skunks very numerous this fall.

Mr. William Buckham and Mr. Jack Wedlock are taking a week's duck hunting on the lake.

Mr. T. Armstrong and Mr. William Thompson intend going duck hunting soon and we are looking for some big bags being taken.

Miss Oreba has resigned her position as teacher here. Mr. Manning is taking her place.

MOUNT PLEASANT.

The frame store that stood on the corner in Mount Pleasant for 52 years past, was destroyed by fire on the night of the 9th inst. At the time it was burning, the wind was blowing a fearful gale that endangered the other buildings in the village.

Two buildings were destroyed by fire at Ida on the 20th of October, 1900. They were insured in the Lancashire Insurance Co. by their agent, James McLean and the company promptly issued their cheques for the payment on the 3rd November, 1900.

Dr. Thompson of Omemee continues to visit Mount Pleasant.

Dr. Deen made a flying visit here on the 3rd inst.

There was very little excitement here on the 7th inst., many of the electors in this ward did not come out to vote.

Farmers are very busy threshing and are delighted with the yield of grain, good markets for what they have to sell, and that under Providence, our beloved Queen and good government, Canada will be one of the brightest gems in her Majesty's crown.

Mrs. George Jamison who has been at the Hospital in Peterborough for some time, is rapidly improving and is expected to return to her home very soon.

The butter factory here is booming. Mr. S. Casey is ready to make the farmers No. 1 butter, providing they furnish him with good milk. Now is the time to have your butter made when prices are high.

Samuel G. Best, Esq., of Magnetawan, is visiting his mother at Mrs. C. Argue's home where she resides, the old lady being over 95 years old, and quite smart.

Mr. L. Best, of Peterborough, and A. P. McLean made a visit to the home of G. McLean, Esq., on Sunday.

The bridge at Best's mill is unsafe for travel.

James McLean, J.P., agent for the Barnardo Homes, is doing good work in placing the homeless children in the best of homes.

Miss Aggie McLean is improving under the skilful treatment of Dr. Thompson, of Omemee.

TRAINING A HUSBAND.

How the Boy Grows Into the Man. Selecting a Dress for Mother.

It was a large store in New York where a sale of a special fashionable article of dress was taking place. The father and son, a boy of perhaps thirteen or fourteen, were customers. The boy was the purchaser, and was left free to select the garment, evidently intended as a gift for his mother. Hundreds of these articles were piled in confusion on the counter. At last a choice was made, when the father said, in a slow, contemplative tone,—

"I never saw mamma wear plaid."

The boy looked up.

"Don't you think she ought to?" he asked.

"Well, I do not know about 'ought;' she never seems to choose it," was the response.

The boy said in a determined tone,—

"I like plaid."

"Oh, yes," interrupted the father, "but you want her to enjoy wearing it, not wear it just to please you."

"Why, of course," and the boy put down the garment of his choice and selected a dainty pink, saying, in a soft loving voice. "That looks like mamma more than the other, even if the other is pretty."

The father nodded, and the perfect love that surrounded one woman in this work-a-day world was evident to the chance observer, as was the fact that one boy was being trained to appreciate the clothes worn in his home and by those he loved. The ideal husband is not the man who provides, but the one who provides money with a warm, intelligent interest in the way it is expended, and notices and comments on the results obtained by the money expended.

CONDENSED DESPATCHES

Lord Strathcona leaves Montreal Saturday for England to resume his duties as Canadian High Commissioner.

Fred Yeanling, wanted in Rossland, B.C., for alleged fraud, is under examination at New York for extradition.

"Death from shots fired by parties unknown" is the verdict of the coroner's jury in the Huggard case at Calgary.

A Ray of Light

For woman's guidance is found in the fact that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures female weakness and the diseases of the delicate womanly organs which darken the lives of so many women with suffering and sorrow. That ray of light has penetrated many darkened chambers where women moaned in misery, and has guided them out to health and happiness. "Favorite Prescription" is not a tonic, not a palliative, but a positive cure for the diseases which are peculiar to women. It gives vigor and vitality. It banishes nervousness, headache, and all the aches which come from a diseased condition of the womanly organs. A temperance medicine, it contains neither alcohol nor narcotics.

"I was troubled for three years with ulceration and female weakness and my doctor gave me but little relief," writes Mrs. Lulu Hunter, of Alleston, St. Louis Co., Mo. "I saw an advertisement in the paper of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I began the use of it about a year ago. I took five bottles of it, and one bottle of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and my health is better now than it was for years. I have also recommended these medicines to some of my friends, who suffered from female weakness, and good results have followed."

ATTACK of ROYAL CANADIANS at Paardeberg

The present is a time when war pictures are in greater demand than ever. The conduct of the British soldiers on the battlefield has won the plaudits of admiring nations. We have at great expense published four large, beautiful pictures size 22x28, on heavy, superfine calendered paper. A picture that will commend itself and send a thrill to the heart of every true Canadian is the one called Attack of Royal Canadians at Paardeberg, there are literally hundreds of figures on this picture, the mountains or kopjes stretching out into the distance are swarming with men, while here and there a prostrate figure speaks only too well of the Boer rifleman. It was on this battlefield the gallant Major Arnold met death unflinchingly. Indeed, it is only too true that many of these gallant hearts that beat so high when the cheering thousands bade them God-speed as they sailed from Canada's shores now lie still forever in lonely graves on the other side of the world under African skies. To every Canadian hear, to every Canadian home, the deeds of their brave soldier boys speak with an irresistible thrill of patriotism and pride. Gordon Highlanders at the Battle of Belmont, Charging the Boer Guns at Elandslaagte and the Charge of Gen. French's Cavalry on the Retreating Gen. Cronje's Army, here are all stirring pictures and cannot fail to command themselves to anyone who will examine them. They are RED HOT SELLERS! Agents coin money. Big profits. Enormous success. One agent sold 60 in one day. Sample and terms 25 cts (none free); four for 50 cts; $1.75 per dozen; 50 for $6.50; 100 for $12.00. Write to day for a dozen and make money. Rome Novelty Mfg. This opinion from critics who are by no means easy to please should be very satisfactory to you, and it gives me pleasure to congratulate you upon it. Yours faithfully,

Varicocele and Stricture.

VARICOCELE:—If you are tired of being experimented upon, you will find our Latest Method Treatment is a guaranteed cure for varicocele without use of knife or loss of time. It absorbs the wormy condition, festoons the parts, thereby bringing back lost power; if you take our treatment, you pay when cured.

STRICTURE:—Thousands of you have stricture and do not know it: if you have been ill-treated, or improperly treated, or notice a smarting sensation, unnatural discharge, weak organs, or back, nervous debility, or if you are not the man you should be, it may be the cause of stricture. If you are in doubt, call and see us, as we will examine you free of charge; our Latest Method Treatment absorbs the stricture, thereby making cutting or stretching unnecessary, and you pay when cured.

Kidneys and Bladder.

Don't neglect these important organs, as you will regret it: Have you a dull feeling or pain in the back, frequent desire to urinate, deposits in urine? Our Latest Method Treatment is a guaranteed cure for such conditions.

The original sworn affidavits or testimonials can be seen at our offices, $500.00 reward for any we cannot show: at request of patients we publish only the initials.

Your Latest Method Treatment acted the way you said it would; my strictures are cured, and the varicocele entirely disappeared, and I feel stronger than ever; my bladder and kidneys do not trouble me any, I can stoop all day, do a hard day's work without my kidneys troubling me as before I took your Latest Method Treatment; it has cured me after others have failed; if I had consulted you sooner, I would have saved a great deal of money which I wasted on other doctors; I am your grateful patient. Love Won - and - Lost.

A NOVEL.

No mustache concealed the proud mouth, whose every curve she remembered so well, and the dark- brown hair clustered about the brow of Alderic.

She had hoped against hope, prayed blindly to heaven that this might be a mere coincidence; all hope lay crushed; the last straw was broken. She was face to face with the terrible truth. Ulmont, Loraine's husband, and Alderic were one.

In that critical ordeal the promise she had given blind Marguirette came back to her.

"If ever you meet the one whom you have called husband, promise me that you will do nothing, say nothing, on the impulse of the moment."

Isetta knew that hour had now come to her; she would not break the promise she had given.

"You look so white and wretched I beg you to go back to your room and lie down again; you are not yet rested. I can get on nicely without you. I am expecting mother to drive from Lorrimer Hall to-day, and Ulmont will return by dusk. I shall fill in the time very nicely," urged Loraine.

Glad of escaping to her own room again, Isetta consented to rest. She wanted time to think.

"I will take my child away at once," she said, bitterly. "He shall never again look upon the face of the child he has so cruelly wronged."

How his words taunted her.

"I should not like to part with the little child," he had said. "Indeed, I think him the handsomest little fellow I have ever seen."

She concluded to take little Ulmont to blind Marguirette's cottage that very night; then she would come back and confront her guilty husband.

A terrible idea occurred to her in her bewilderment and agony; she was rendered desperate by the thought of the cruel wrongs that had been done her.

"Heaven help me!" she cried out bitterly. "Whatever happens, I cannot hold myself accountable for my actions; my very sufferings cry out to heaven for vengeance!"

CHAPTER XXXIII.

For Her Child's Sake.

Had it not been for her child, Isetta would have crept silently away from the home which should have been hers and little Ulmont's in the dead of night.

"For my child's sake I must act differently," she told herself. A strong fear was upon her that he might attempt to keep her child.

No! she must guard against that, at all events. She would take the child at once to Silvernook. She hastily wrapped a thick, dark shawl around him and bore him from the room.

If she met any one, she could say she was taking baby for an airing in the grounds. No one would question her except Loraine; she must certainly avoid meeting her.

Isetta took the path that led by the carriage drive. She would certainly meet no one there, she told herself.

She had scarcely proceeded a dozen rods ere she came face to face with Mrs. Lorrimer, who was leisurely driving her pony- phaeton along the highway.

A dark frown crossed the lady's face as her glance fell upon the child; she inclined her stately head in a cold formal bow in Isetta's direction, touched her pony lightly with her whip, and was soon lost to sight beyond the lime trees.

She was greatly fatigued when she reached Silvernook, which was about dusk; and her arms ached with Ulmont's weight.

It had been long months since she had trodden those grassy lanes; how much suffering she had passed through since then!

Isetta crept softly up the walk that led to the flute- maker's door. A cheerful, home-like picture met her gaze.

Marguirette sat at the spinning-wheel and Abel sat near her, puffing great wreaths of smoke from his stumpy pipe. Her keen ear had detected cautious, approaching footsteps.

"There is some one at the door, Abel," she said; "see who it is."

Isetta stole softly in, as Amy had done— the poor, Amy, whom the blind, patient mother so sadly mourned.

"Mrs. Moore," she said, softly, "I have come back to you, but I am not alone. I have brought my little child."

Isetta never forgot the cheery welcome she received at that humble cottage, a welcome that came from the very depths of their hearts, and, like a weary child, she sobbed out her sorrows on faithful Marguirette's honest breast.

She told her of her wanderings and of her persecution; how she had lost her way in the terrible storm while on her journey to Silvernook, and had found shelter at Ulvesford Mansion, but a few miles distant; but she could not bring herself to divulge the terrible discovery she had made; she could not tell them that at Ulvesford Manor she had found her husband. Ah, no; she could not tell them that!

"What is the little one's name?" asked Marguirette, patting the little curly head; "what do you call him?"

"Ulmont," said Isetta, in a voice she strove vainly to steady.

"Is he named after the master of Ulvesford Mansion?" questioned Marguirette.

"His wife gave him that name," answered Isetta, in a low, quivering voice, deep flushes burning her pale face at the startling truth.

Strange, she had not thought of it before.

"Will you keep little Ulmont here for a few days, Mrs. Moore? I will pay you well for it. I must return to the manor to-night."

"To-night!" echoed both Abel and Marguirette, in astonishment.

"Yes," she replied, firmly, "to-night."

"Bless the dear little fellow," said Marguirette, crying softly over him; "of course, I will keep him for you, Isetta; but do not speak of money; poor as we are, I could not take it; the happiness of having this little form resting against my lonely breast, if but for a day or an hour, is all I ask."

It was with the greatest difficulty Isetta induced the aged couple to accept the money of which they stood in such need.

"I shall not remain there longer than to-night," she said, hesitatingly; "then I will tell you what course I have decided upon for little Ulmont's future and my own."

Isetta resolved to take the stage back to Boston; by so doing she could reach there a little after dark; she was nerving herself bravely for the ordeal of seeing Ulmont Ulvesford and confronting him with his crime, of which she had been the innocent dupe, that very night.

The old flute- maker accompanied her to the crossroads, where they found the Boston and Silvernook stage in waiting.

"I shall be sure to come to-morrow evening," said Isetta, leaning out of the doorway to shake Abel's outstretched hand; "perhaps a little latter, and alone; yet I will be sure to come."

The lumbering stage- coach was barely lost to sight in the distance, ere a man emerged from the dense copse-wood that skirted the roadside.

There was none near to hear him. He laughed a low, mocking laugh.

"Ah, coquettish dame fate," he cried, "now you are kind. You goad us on to madness by your frowns, but when you smile—ah! how you smile upon us mortals! How little did I think when I rowed my boat to this sequestered spot that I should meet my pretty little runaway beauty. My sweet Isetta will come here, alone, at dusk to-morrow eve, eh?"

He laughed again, long and loud.

"But she shall not leave it alone, for I will bear her company!"

Heath Hampton, for it was he, gazed at the foot of the alder bushes where he had secreted his golden treasures.

There was naught but the night winds to hear his plans, he told himself, why should he not speak out?

"Ah! why indeed!" whispered the fickle winds.

"I will have my boat and a thick, dark cloak in waiting to-morrow eve," he soliloquised; "I will wrap it quickly about her; struggle then, my sweet, as much as you like, 'twill be in vain. I will be as deaf to your prayers and entreaties as you were to mine. There was a time I might have been kind; but when you scorned my love you awoke a slumbering demon who will make you his wife, curb your proud spirit, tame your pride, bend your will to subjection, though it breaks your heart. Ay, and a thousand hearts as well. By the time the sun shall break upon another morrow, we shall be far away from the shores of America, my bonny jewel. I risk much by loitering a single hour upon American soil. There do I peril my very liberty for you, my sweet, thankless Izetta!"

Flattering himself that his plans were laid well and deeply, Heath Hampton quickly re-entered his boat, and with long, sweeping, energetic strokes pushed out in the direction of Hampton Place.

As the solemn darkness shut him out of sight, Vatal, the dwarf, crept from his place of concealment.

Not a word or a motion had escaped his attention. He deftly commenced the search for the hidden treasure; long and patiently he worked; the moon rose, its friendly rays piercing the dense gloom.

At last his hand came in contact with the coveted prize; quickly he removed it, heaping the earth back into its place.

He grasped the box firmly under his arm, wiping the perspiration from his damp brow as he stooped down, untied his own boat, and clambered hastily into it.

"Farewell, cold, heartless woman," he cried, shaking his finger in the direction of Hampton Court. "farewell, thou meanest and most dastardly of sons—I have been your dupe too long; your sins shall recoil on your own reckless heads!"

He rested his arms thoughtfully a moment on his oars. A beautiful, innocent, pleading face rose up before him.

"Miss Rienzi was the only one who was ever kind to me," he muttered.

Suddenly he put his hand up to his brow.

"I have not the courage to do it," he whispered to himself; "I dare not!"

He devoutly wished in his heart that the dastardly plan of Heath Hampton might be frustrated on the morrow; then he struck out down the stream in quite an opposite direction from Hampton Place.

Loraine Ulvesford stood on the veranda, which opened out upon a broad view of that self-same river, watching the gleaming stars as they mirrored themselves in the bosom of the rippling water, the hours were drawing on; dusk had settled into darkness, she was still waiting for her husband.

She saw a dark shadow flit quickly down the stream with the tide. She little knew 'twas an evil omen crossing her life.

It was the boat of Vatal, the dwarf.

CHAPTER XXXIV.

Guilty Or Innocent.

It wanted a quarter to eight as Isetta noiselessly re-entered her room.

No baby Ulmont was there to welcome her, yet she felt she had done wisely in secreting him.

She knew it was Ulmont Ulvesford's custom to repair to the smoking-room immediately after dining; if not there she could with safety leave a note there for him.

Isetta hastily tore a leaf from her memorandum, writing hastily the following lines:

"Mr. Ulmont Ulvesford— have the courtesy to meet me to-night in the lilac grove that borders the park. I have the right to demand this interview, which I could have forced upon you without warning had I so chosen, but scorned to do. I shall await you there immediately upon your receipt of this, which will probably be between eight and nine.

"IZETTA ROSS."

God pity her! how many times she had gone over in her mind what her meeting with Alderic would be like; how she should tell him of her deep, deathless love which had clung to him through all; how she would lay her tired head upon his shoulder and whisper to him of another who claimed his love, her precious little Ulmont— their child!

All that bright dream was over now; its ruins lay scattered at her feet. She could breathe no word of the "[illegible]

NO CURE—NO PAY

THE NEW METHOD TREATMENT, original with Drs. K. & K., will positively cure forever any form of Blood or Sexual disease. It is the result of 30 years' experience in the treatment of these diseases.

WE CURE SYPHILIS

This terrible Blood Poison, the terror of mankind, yields readily to our NEW TREATMENT. Beware of Mercury, Potash, etc. They may ruin your system. If you have sores in the mouth or tongue, pains in the joints, sore throat, hair or eyebrows falling out, pimples or blotches, stomach derangement, sore eyes, headaches, etc., you have the secondary stage of this Blood Poison. We solicit the most obstinate cases, and challenge the world for a case we accept for treatment and cannot cure. By our treatment the ulcers heal, the hair grows again, pains disappear, the skin becomes healthy, and marriage is possible and safe.

A WONDERFUL

KIDNEY and Bladder CURE

The Honorable Chairman of the Board of County Commissioners, Ellsworth, Kansas, tells how ALKAVIS cured him after Doctors and all other Remedies had Failed.

I. A. HOPKINS.

BRIGHT'S DISEASE, GRAVEL, DROPSY,

And Rheumatism Mastered at Last.

One of the most remarkable medical discoveries of the century is the Kava-Kava Shrub, found on the Ganges River, East India, which has a wonderful action on the kidneys and bladder. Since its introduction into this country its fame has quickly spread, because of its seemingly impossible cures. Prominent men and women have testified to its great curative powers, and hospital tests prove its infallibility even in advanced stages of Bright's Disease. Among the more recent recoveries is that of Hon. I. A. Hopkins, Chairman Board of County Commissioners, Ellsworth, Kansas, who says:

GENTLEMEN:—I will say that I believe and know that I owe my life to Alkavis. I had been troubled with Kidney and Bladder Trouble for years. Two years ago I was sick for six weeks with Malarial Fever which left me in a bad condition. My limbs were swollen with Rheumatism so that I could hardly walk; I was troubled with Indigestion from taking Medicine for my Urinary troubles which had become very much worse. I had to get up every hour of the night to urinate. I passed great quantities of blood on account of hemorrhage of the Kidneys and Bladder. I tried and had been trying everything in the shape of Medicine for Kidney Trouble that I could think of or that the Doctors recommended, but nothing helped me for I kept getting worse. I suffered great pain continually in my Kidneys. I made up my mind unless I could get relief that I only had a short time to live. About this time my attention was called to an advertisement of Alkavis. As a drowning man will grasp at a straw, I was ready to try anything for relief. I sent to you for three bottles. I began to take it, and before I had taken it one week I began to feel the good effects of Alkavis. My Kidney Trouble and Rheumatism were soon gone, my digestion became all right, I found myself in better health than for ten years and I am in good health now. I know that Alkavis saved my life. What more can anyone say for a medicine? Unlike most medicines it is good for indigestion. It gives the person taking it a good appetite. I have recommended Alkavis to a great many people and all have been benefited by its use. I am 58 years of age, and am very grateful for what Alkavis has done for me.

Respectfully yours, I. A. HOPKINS.

Rev. W. B. Moore, D. D., Washington, D. C., Editor Religious World, writes that after trying all known medicines for kidney and rheumatic diseases he was permanently cured by Alkavis. Mrs. Wm. H. Hardy, East Rush, Pa., writes that Alkavis cured her after six doctors failed. Rev. J. W. Hickman, Collyer, Trego Co., Kansas, cured of liver, kidney and bladder trouble, of many years' standing, from which he could only get temporary relief and had given up all hope of a cure. Thus the grand work goes on. A new book, entitled "A Thousand Living Witnesses," sent with the free case of medicine, tells of the wonderful cures performed in every state.

Not only does this great discovery—Alkavis (the Kava-Kava Compound)—cure all forms of kidney and bladder diseases, but by expelling from the blood all poisonous deposits, growths of lime, uric acid, urates and lithiates, it banishes gravel, torpid liver, rheumatism, pains in back, difficult and too frequent urination, etc. The cure is complete. No phase is neglected, and the stomach, heart and nerves are toned and invigorated. No other medicine in the world will perform the work of Alkavis. To enable sufferers to get well and spread the glad tidings we have arranged to send a Large Case of Alkavis FREE by mail to all who write us. The case goes entirely FREE.

If you are a sufferer, write to-day and secure at once a Free Case of Alkavis and Book of "A Thousand Living Witnesses." Address The Church Kidney Cure Co., No. 108 Fourth Ave., New York. Please mention this paper.

THE COLORADO COPPER MINING COMPANY

LOCATION OF OUR MINES

THE COLORADO COPPER MINING COMPANY is fortunate in being the possessor of five splendid showing properties in the great Salida copper belt, the principal copper producing region of this portion of the rockies. All of our claims have been more or less developed and it is our purpose to put the same on a paying basis at once.

Our Company owns, clear of incumbrances the following claims,—The Sedalia Extension, the Sedalia Extension No. 1, which property adjoins the great Sedalia mine, which has been a big producer for upwards of seventeen years; the Copper King of Colorado, which immediately adjoins the above; the Copper Queen of Salida, a very promising property, only a few steps from the depot in Salida. This claim occupies an imposing position on a mountain just north of the city; and last, but by no means least, the Sunshine, located two miles east of Salida at Cleora station, on the main Trunk line of the great Denver and Rio Grande Railroad, also on the Arkansas river, which in length is one of America's greatest streams.

PRICES AND TERMS

PRESENT PRICES—We are now selling our fully paid and non-assessable TREASURY SHARES at 5 cents per share, in blocks of 100 shares and more; 100 shares, $5; 1,000 shares, $50; 5,000 shares, $250; or 10,000 shares or more at the same rate. Send your order right NOW, before the next advance, as you will soon pay a higher price. Investors are rapidly investing with us.

The company fully prepays all government revenue, postage, etc. Send also for our handsomely illustrated prospectus, which contains much valuable information. It is free for the asking.

All communications of every nature concerning this company should be plainly addressed to

Morning Times

PETERBOROUGH, NOVEMBER 16, 1900

TOWN AND COUNTY NEWS

Brazil's Anniversary.

Rio Janeiro, Nov. 15.—Brazil to-day is celebrating the eleventh anniversary of the proclaiming of the Republic. There was a military parade and a naval review; the residents held a reception of the diplomatic corps and ministers, and to-night there will be balls and other public entertainments.

Another Lindsay Senator.

The Toronto Telegram says—The first vacancy in the Irish Catholic representation from Ontario in the Senate is likely to be filled by George McHugh, late M.P. for South Victoria, who, though he met defeat at the polls, is a strong man and would bring ability and energy to the Upper Chamber.

The Successful Man

When a man wants the public to know that he has something to sell, or services to render, systematic and persistent advertising in the newspapers will do more toward achieving his purpose than any other means of publicity. In every community the most successful merchants are those who use the newspapers. Everybody reads the Times.

The Ash Case.

At Toronto on Tuesday the Court of Appeal dismissed the appeal of Rev. J. C. Ash in his suit against the Methodist church. The Bay of Quinte Conference had refused to give Mr. Ash a charge and this incidentally deprived him of his right to participate in the superannuation fund. The case has gone through all the church and lay courts and the Court of Appeal now refuses to interfere with the discipline of the church.

Grand Moose Hunting.

Quebec, Nov. 15.—Hunting is now at its height throughout Canada, Quebec—next to Alaska—is the best moose country in the world. A number of very fine shots have been reported. This is the first time in four years that it was allowed to kill moose, and they have increased very finely. The caribou season has opened splendidly all over the province of Quebec. Hunters have flocked here from New York, Boston, Philadelphia, and indeed from all of the large cities of the United States, and they pronounce the sport magnificent.

A Popular Evangelist

The London Free Press says:—Evangelist H. D. Kennedy, of Peterborough, Ont., who labored in Colborne Street Methodist Church, of this city, last winter, is at present in the midst of a very gracious revival at Cobden, Ontario, Montreal Conference. Mr. Kennedy expects to begin services in two weeks in a town not far from this city. Mr. John M. Whyte, Canada's sweet gospel singer, who assisted Mr. Kennedy last winter at Dorchester and Shedden, is assisting him this season also. The many friends of these brethren in London and western Ontario will be glad to learn of their continued success and intended visit again to this part of the country.

The Case Settled

At the County Police Court yesterday morning, Robert Alexander, of Belmont, was charged with forgery, obtaining money under false pretences and theft. On the first two charges Magistrate Edmison found the evidence insufficient to convict, but found defendant guilty of stealing $38 from Mr. Hogan, hotel-keeper, of Ashburnham. It was further shown, however, that Alexander, who had spent the money in a spree, had returned the amount since and made full reparation. The Magistrate, therefore, entered a conviction of 11 days against the prisoner, who had already spent that time in jail, and discharged him upon suspended sentence.

Will Receive Land Grants

Hon. G. W. Ross has made the announcement that the Ontario Government intends giving 160 acres of the public lands of New Ontario to every soldier from this province who served in South Africa. The land so granted shall be relieved of all settlement duties and provincial and municipal taxation, except for school purposes, for a period of ten years. If the land be transferred to any other person within the period of ten years, the laws governing taxation shall then apply. The heirs or administrators of any person enrolled who died while on service shall also receive land. All claims must be filed within two years from the first of January next.

AUXILIARY MISSIONS.

Semi-Annual Meeting of the Women's Auxiliary at St. John's

The semi-annual meeting of the Womens' Auxiliary to missions of the Diocese of Toronto was held yesterday at St. John's school building. A business session, which opened the proceedings, was preceded by Holy Communion in St. John's church, when a large number of ladies were present.

There was a large number of delegates present. The various branches throughout the diocese were nearly all represented, and a large number of delegates from Toronto includes the Diocesan officers, who are the president, Mrs. Williamson; secretary, Miss Tomlinson, treasurer; Mrs. Webster; treasurer of juniors, Mrs. E. F. Blake; P. M. C. treasurer, Mrs. Hoskin; Dorcas treasurer, Mrs. Banks; convener of literature, Mrs. Davidson and Mrs. Merrick, Miss Wilson and Miss Osler. Owing to the death of Mrs. Strachan, daughter-in-law of the late Bishop Strachan, a number of Toronto members remained in order to officially pay a last tribute to the deceased lady, who, for many years had been actively identified with the work of the Auxiliary.

At the morning's meeting St. John's branch was represented by over sixty ladies. Other branches were well represented. The delegates present from other branches are:—

Toronto branch, Cavan—Mrs. Carry, Miss D. Wood, Mrs. W. H. Wood, Miss Aiken and Mrs. R. Fallis.

St. Thomas' church, Millbrook — Mrs. (Rev.) W. C. Allen, Mrs. Wood, Miss Kells, Miss A. Kells, Mrs. Mulligan.

Bailieboro Church—Mrs. Smithson, Miss Waterman, Mrs. Bonus, Miss Brown, the eMisses Fair.

St. John's, Ida—Mrs. H. Sisson and Mrs. Brent.

Norwood—Mrs. McClelland, Mrs. Grover Mrs. Baker and Mrs. White.

Omemee—Miss Currie, Miss Johnston and Miss Annie Stevenson.

Lindsay—Mrs. Soanes. Others expected.

Cobourg—Mrs. Ketchum.

Emily—Mrs. Best.

Lakefield—Mrs. Warren, Miss Lillicrap and Mrs. Traill.

Other branches throughout the diocese, while not having been represented at the meeting, sent in reports.

The morning meeting opened at 11 o'clock, the President, Mrs. Williamson, in the chair. An address of welcome was read by Mrs. (Rev.) H. Symonds, and responded to by the president.

The secretary's report was responded to by Miss Tominson, and showed an increase of four branches during the half year, the total number being 144. Six life members had been added during that time, increasing the total to 129.

The treasurer, Mrs. Webster, also presented a very satisfactory report. The extent of the financial outlay of the diocesan missionary work was shown to have been $4,066.92 A number of channels of expenditure are worthy of reference and are eloquent testimony to the commendable operations carried on by the Women's Auxiliary. To diocesan missions was paid $339.24; Algoma, $117.78; Northwest, $948.18; India, $2,183, mostly for the famine fund; 66 bales were sent out during the half year by the Dorcas department to Algoma and the Northwest. Parochial missionary collections amounted to $1,761.13.

Informal reports were presented by ladies from Ashburnham, Bailieboro, Cavan, Cobourg, Lakefield, Norwood, Port Hope and other places.

The afternoon session opened at 2.30, the following being the programme:—

Address of welcome.

2.30-4 p.m.—Conference on "Woman's Work.

Paper—"The Auxiliary Woman, Her Responsibilities."—Mrs. Carry, followed by two minute addresses and general discussion.

4 to 5.30 p.m.—Paper, "The Auxiliary Girl, Her Possibilities," followed by two minute addresses and general discussion.

8 p.m.—Missionary meeting. Address by Miss Jennie Smith, returned missionary from Japan, with limelight views.

FOR THE OLD FOLKS.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—For the benefit of some of our most progressive churches, I ask you to publish a novel idea, the particulars of which came to me in a letter from my former home near Rochester. The letter goes on to say: "This morning an "Old Folks" service was held in the Methodist Church here, and the edifice was crowded. The aged people of the town were conveyed to and from church in cabs.

"The pastor, preached a special sermon to the people. The choir was composed of old people, and their music was selected in accordance with their age. Peter Brewer, aged 88 years, made an interesting address suitable to the occasion.

"There were many in the congregation whose ages ranged from 70 to 80 years, and the oldest person present was Captain Amos. Keiter, 92 years of age."

Now, Mr. Editor, would this not be worthy of imitation in Peterborough? As so many read The Times, I concluded to make the suggestion through its columns.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, I am, &c.

The Chicago Tribune

is a newspaper for bright and intelligent people. It is made up to attract people who think.

Is not neutral or colorless, constantly trimming in an endeavor to please both sides, but it is independent in the best sense of the word.

It has pronounced opinions and is fearless in expressing them, but it is always fair to its opponents.

Matters of national or vital public interest get more space in THE TRIBUNE than in any other paper in the West.

For these reasons it is the newspaper you should read during the forthcoming political campaign.

THE TRIBUNE'S financial columns never mislead the public.

Its facilities for gathering news, both local and foreign, are far superior to those of any other newspaper in the West.

It presents the news in as fair a way as possible, and lets its readers form their opinions.

While it publishes the most comprehensive articles on all news features, if you are busy the "Summary of THE DAILY TRIBUNE" published daily on the first page gives you briefly all the news of the day within one column.

RUSSIA HOLDS PEKIN RAILWAY

She Boldly Justifies Her Occupation of British Lines in China.

WON'T DO THE WORK WITHOUT RECOMPENSE.

Having Repaired the Line, the Czar's Troops Intend Holding It Until Paid for Their Trouble

New York, Nov. 16.—A despatch to The Herald from Yalta says: The British Government having called the attention of Count Lamsdorf to the manner in which the Russian troops are holding British railroads in China, and the English papers having made attacks upon Russia, which, if founded on truth, would place this country entirely to the wrong, the following statement has been made by a Russian official:

"Russia," he says, "was the first to arrive on the scene after the outbreak in the neighborhood of Pekin. She found the railraod destroyed and abandoned. It was a question about which there was no time to waste or to go and ask advice of the English, who showed no anxiety to come and guard their road.

"We proceeded forthwith, using the utmost speed, to make repairs, manned it and placed it in running order.

"Did the English expect that after we had expended an extraordinary amount of labor, and after large expenditure, we are going to hand back the railway at their request? Would anyone expect that?

"We had and have no intention of keeping the line, but certainly we did not purpose spending our energy and money for the benefit of the English.

"We, therefore, held and are holding the sections until an estimate of cost has been made out. As fast as this is done such sections, wit estimates, will be turned over to Marshal Count Von Waldersee for him to deal with. That is our plan, and it is a very simple one."

PRINCE TUAN'S SON DISQUALIFIED.

London, Nov. 16.—A news agency despatch from Shanghai, referring to the alleged new imperial edict depriving Princes Tuan and Chang of all rank and offices and handing them over to the Imperial clan court for close confinement pending further punishment, says the punishment of Prince Tuan means that his son, the heir apparent, can never be Emperor.

The edict also makes the early opening of formal peace negotiations probable.

CENSURED BY THE DOWAGER.

London, Nov. 16.—Dr. Morrison wiring to The Times from Pekin Tuesday, says:

"The Tartar general commanding in the Province of Sze Chuan has been nominated Governor-General of Manchuria, in deference to Russia's invitation to China to resume the Government of that territory under Russian protection.

"The Chinese peace commissioners have received a telegram from the Empress Dowager, dated Nov. 10, censuring their failure to prevent the despatch of foreign punitive expeditions into the interior. The Empress Dowager continues to issue decrees appointing officials to office. She is unable to realise her position, and has even appointed literary chancellors to conduct examinations in the Provinces.

"Trustworthy despatches from Niu Chwang assert that despite their assurances that they will not loot the railway, the Russians are transferring material from the Shan Hai Kwan line across the river at Niu Chwang to the Russian Manchurian railways."

TO SECURE LOOT.

Pekin, Nov. 16.—The officers at Field Marshal Count von Waldersee's headquarters are outspoken in declaring that more expeditions similar to the one despatched on Sunday will be sent north. The only apparent object of these expeditions is to secure loot, though their ostensible purpose is to rescue native Catholics.

The French soldiers are acting like the Germans. Complaints are being received daily from the towns in the neighborhood of the posts of these armies that expeditions are looting and killing. The worst feature is that the victims are mostly aged persons, who are perfectly harmless.

There is no doubt that the despatching of these expeditions has made hopeless the effort to induce the court to return, saying that the resumption of business and the restoration of order are hopeless without the presence of the Board of Revenue.

Another memorial has been forwarded to the Empress asking how the officials and pensioners in Pekin are to obtain their money during the absence of the court. There are large numbers of these petty officials and pensioners here, and they are a proverty-stricken condition. They must obtain the money due them or their sufferings will be greater than hitherto.

A NOBLE VICEROY.

London, Nov. 16.—The Rev. Evan Morgan, the last foreigner to leave Sianfu, has arrived here. His life and and the lives of the other missionaries in Shensi Province were saved by Governor Tuan, a kinsman of the notorious Prince Tuan. Governor Tuan, when he received a decree from Pekin to kill all foreigners, warned Mr. Morgan and his coleagues, and gave them an escort. Mr. Morgan describes the Governor as "a brave friendly and noble man, who at risk of his life, saved us. The only foreigners left in Shensi are twenty priests, mostly Italians, and twelve nuns, who are occupying a sort of fort near Sianfu, defended by machine guns.

It is thought probable that Father Hugh, of London, is in the fort, and possibly it is to relieve this party that Field Marshal Count Von Waldersee's expedition, under Col. Count Von Wartenberg, has gone from Pekin. The German move towards Kalgan and the combined march down the Grand Canal indicate, the Rev. Mr. Morgan says, a movement of the allied troops on Sianfu.

POWERS WASTING TIME.

Paris, Nov. 16.—The Matin publishes an interview with Yu Keng, the Chinese Minister, in the course of which he says: "The Princes will never be executed. The representatives of the powers are wasting time and strength. They ought to bring back the Emperor to Pekin, and, if necessary, to use force to deliver him forever from the influence of the Empress, in whom the China of the past is incarnated."

RUSSIANS ABANDON A LINE.

Paris, Nov. 16.—A despatch received here from Pekin says the Russians are abandoning surveillance of the railroad from Taku to Yang Tsun, and, that Field Marshal Count Von Waldersee has telegraphed direct to the Russian Minister of War, complaining strongly of this measure, of which he had not been previoulsy notified.

HIGH COMMISSION WILL RESUME WORK

Alaskan Boundary Question to be Omitted

PREVENT DISAGREEMEMT.

The Stumbling Block of Last Session Will be Thus Removed.

Washington, Nov. 16.—Steps have been taken for resuming the important work of the Anglo-American commission, made up of representatives of the United States, Great Britain and Canada, and consideration of the subject now in progress probably will determine within a few days what course will be pursued. It is understood the American commissioners desire to remove the possibility of such ineffectual results as occurred at their last sitting. The indications are that this can be done through the co-operation of the State Department by omitting the Alaskan boundary question from those to be considered, thus removing the chief obstacle to progress. On the Alaskan question the commission was practically deadlocked, and it made no report on the other matters because of inability to include this question. Since then, however, a modus vivendi on the Alaskan question has been agreed upon, and while this lacks permancy, it is felt the question can be best left to direct negotiations between the two Governments, thus permitting the commission to proceed with the many other important questions involved.

PURPOSE OF COMMISSION.

The purpose of the commission is to frame a new treaty between the United States and Great Britain, covering the various questions arising along the Canadian border, and thus disposing of a wide range of controversy. The questions before the commission are of long standing, and include the establishment of the boundary between Alaska and British Columbia, the issues over Behring Sea and the catch of fur seals, the unmarked boundary between Canada and the United States near Passamaquoddy Bay, in Maine, and at points between Wisconsin and Minnesota and Canada; the northeast fisheries question, involving the rights of fishing in the North Atlantic off Newfoundland, and other points; the regulation of the fishing rights on the great lakes; alien labor immigration across the Canadian-American border; commercial reciprocity between the two countries; the regulation of the bonding system, by which goods are carried in bond across the frontier, and also the regulation of traffic by international railways and canals of the two countries; reciprocal mining privileges in the Klondike, British North America and other points; wreckage and salvage on the ocean and great lakes coasting waters; the modification of the treaty arrangement under which only one war vessel can be maintained on the great lakes, with a view to allowing warships to be built on the lakes and then floated out to the ocean. Progress has been made on some of these questions, and a practical agreement reached on several of them, but in each case the settlement was dependent on a disposal of all of them. With the prospects of omitting Alaska from the points involved, the chances of reaching a treaty agreement on the other points will be materially improved.

THREW AN AXE AT THE KAISER

A Woman Attempts to Kill the Emperor at Breslau.

Breslau, Nov. 16.—Emperor William was the object of an attempted outrage this morning, which, however, failed. As he was driving in an open carriage to the Cuirasser barracks accompanied by the hereditary Prince of Saxe-Meiningen, a woman in the crowd hurled an axe at the carriage. The rapidity with which the vehicle was passing saved its occupants.

The missile, it developed later, was a short hand-chopper. The woman is believed to be insane. Her name is Selma Schnapka. She occupied a space in the front rank of the spectators, on the side furthest from the Emperor. The chopper was so well aimed it was afterwards said, that it actually struck the carriage. A crowd of people who witnessed the outrage threw themselves on his Majesty's assailant, but the prompt intervention of the police saved the woman from injury.

LEM'S BEAR STORY

Mr Felcher Tells a Remarkable Bear Story That Savors of Fiction

Toronto News: A Peterborough bear had an experience with Lem Felcher on Tuesday last, and there was a mix-up, in which the bear became dead. Mr. Felcher has been staying in Peterborough for some time, but he was actually on his way to Toronto when he made the acquaintance of the bear. The pair of them, the bear and Lem, will reach Toronto at 8.30 this evening. Lem is riding first-class, with the bear on ahead in the baggage car.

The encounter is described by Mr. Felcher in a graphic account that would do credit to a war correspondent. "I was gradually nearing Toronto," says Lem, in his letter, "but was delayed by a wrestle I had with a bear. As I was driving through Bolties Swamp, about fifteen miles from Peterborough, by my lonely, my horses began to prick up their ears and seemed very nervous. Finally they almost stopped and I had to force them along with the whip. Then they became unmanageable, took the bits in their teeth, and nearly ran away from me.

"As I came out of the swamp, not more than seventy yards from the road I saw the cause of the trouble. Here was a Mr. Bear in pursuit of a yearling steer.

"I drove quickly to a farm house and borrowed an old army rifle and succeeded in laying out this monster of the forest. Then I had a war dance around his carcass. When I met the bear I repeated that prayer: 'Great Heaven, if you won't help me, don't help the bear, and you'll see a swell fight.' But I tackled the bear and landed liftingly on his solar plexus, upper cut him, and he went down and out. I took him into Peterborough in the carriage."

SOLDIERS WILL KEEP THE RIFLES

The men will also be Permitted to Bring Home Their Horses

Ottawa, Nov. 16.—It is understood that the Minister of Militia intends to present to each soldier who has returned from South Africa the rifle which he used in the campaign. Dr. Borden will talk the matter over with his colleagues, and they will no doubt agree to this. When the soldiers arrived at Halifax they were very anxious to retain their rifles. They expressed their views to Col. Pinault, the Deputy Minister of Militia, who was present, making necessary arrangements for receiving and paying off the men. The Colonel, however, had no power to agree to their request, although he strongly favored it. What he did was to permit the soldiers to retain their rifles temporarily, on the understanding that if they were asked by the captains to be returned this would be done. The arrangement was satisfactory to them, and Dr. Borden is said to have approved of what has been done, and is now arranging to present the soldiers with the rifles, which they all prize so highly. As an Order-in-Council will be necessary for this, it may be some time before the men are officially notified of the action of the department. Meantime they have their rifles, and are not likely to be ever called upon to give them up.

A cable has been received from the War Office asking if any of the Canadian troops would be permitted to take their horses from South Africa to Canada. The Departemnt of Militia has replied that there will be no objection, providing the animals undergo the necessary quarantine.

RETURN OF THE HUNTERS

Many Hunting Parties Return From the North Yesterday

Yesterday there was a large number of hunters returned to town.

The members of the Gold Lake Hunting Club reached town last night, having left camp on Thursday evening at five o'clock, travelling all night. They brought home 13 deer.

Another party consisting of Messrs. C. Westlake, Geo. Fitzgerald, C. Gunsolus, R. Sheahey, J. Goselin, J. Cottingham, W. Cremer, C. James, R. Livey, F. Pearson, H. Evans and W. White, returned Thursday with ten fine antlers.

The Winch party also reached home last night after a very successful hunt, each member of the party killing a deer. The party secured a dozen fine animals.

Messrs. R. B. Rogers and John Belcher were out back of Bobcaygeon, and returned last night. We did not learn how many deer were secured by these famous sportsmen, but presume they got the limit—two each.

Lakefield hunters were also successful, R. J. Lennox, who was camped at Deer Bay Creek secured one deer.

Messrs. L. Payne, J. Payne and R. Payne, who were camped near the depot in Burleigh brought six deer down with them as a result of 8 days hunt. They did not use dogs.

Messrs. Tom Kennedy and Conroy who were also camped at the depot, knocked down three very fine bucks, their average weight being 200 pounds. Mr. Conroy was coming home to the camp one day when he came across two big bucks fighting. He immediately plugged two shots into one, but the other managed to escape, but not for long, as he made direct for the camp, and Tommy succeeded in bringing him down. Another morning Tommy came out of camp and espied a big buck near by. He also fell a victim to his rifle.

Messrs. C. A. Bell of Osgoode Hall, Toronto, Chas. Bell and Norman Bell returned on Tuesday after a few days hunt at Stony and Lovesick Lakes for ducks. They were not very successful, only securing a few.

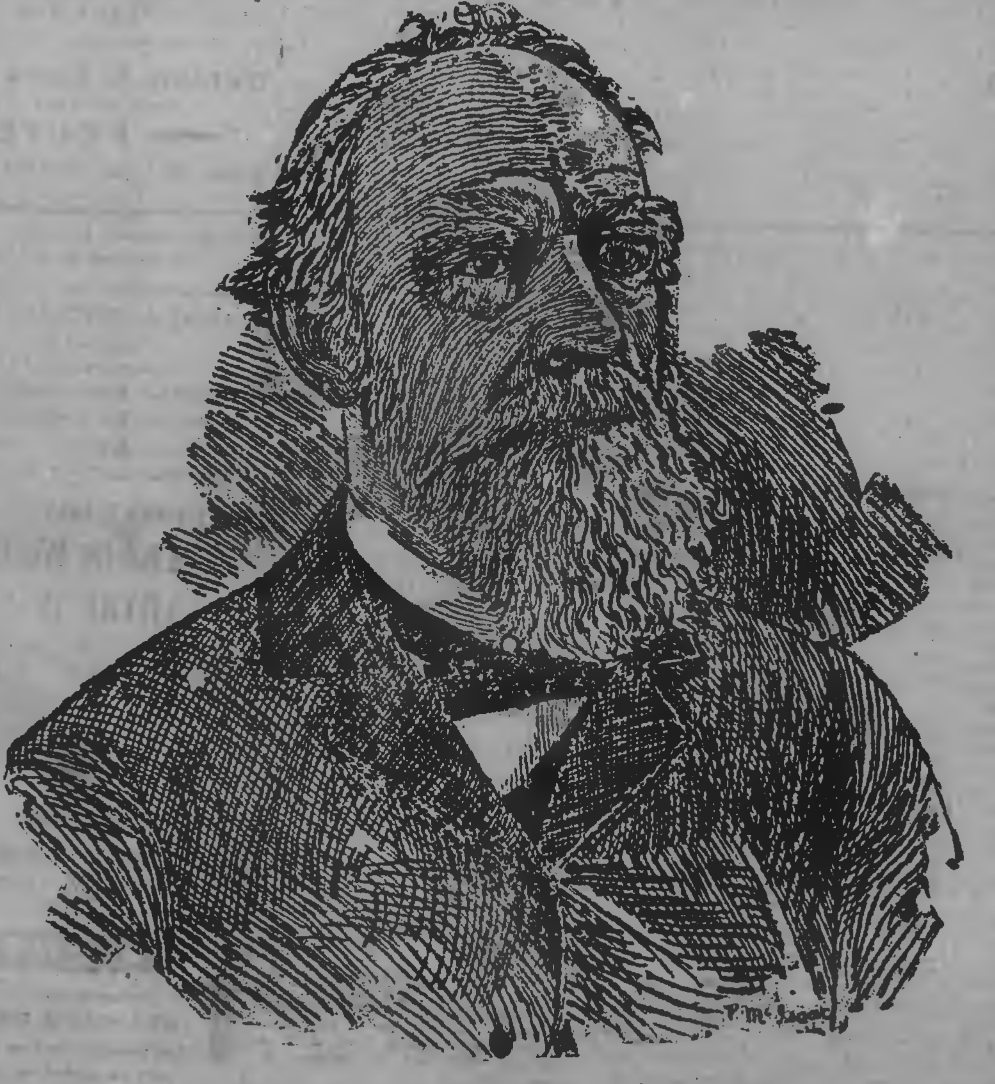
DID THE CHINESE DISCOVER AMERICA?

Ancient Records Unearthed in Pekin by American Officers.

Monterey, Mexico, Nov. 16.—The report that American officers have unearthed ancient records in Pekin showing that the Chinese discovered America 1,500 years ago, and erected temples in Mexico, has aroused the greatest interest among the scientific men of Monterey and throughout the country. The Chinese temples alluded to are in the State of Sonora, on the Pacific coast. The ruins of one of the temples were discovered near the town of Urea, in that state, about two years ago. One of the large stone tablets found in the ruins was covered with carved Chinese characters, which were partly deciphered by a learned Chinaman who visited the ruins at the request of the Mexican Government. This Chinaman made the assertion at that time that the ruins were those of a temple which had been erected many centuries ago by Chinese, but his statement was not received with credence. It has been claimed long that the Indians of the State of Sonora are descendants of these early Chinese settlers. They possess many traditions and characteristics of the Chinese. If the report of the finding of the records in Pekin shall be verified, an expedition will go from here to explore further the ancient temples of Sonora.

American Warships For Australia.

Sydney, N.S.W., Nov. 16.—The great desire prevailing here among the American and Norwegian residents to see the American warships has resulted in a request to the Consuls in Australia to ask the United States Government to send a squad on here to participate in the inauguration of the Commonwealth of Australia on January 1, 1901. If the ships go those Yankee tars will have the best time of their lives.



THE RIGHT HON. LORD STRATHCONA AND MOUNT ROYAL

WHO SAILS FOR ENGLAND TO-DAY

A SHAKE UP ORDERED

Many Changes in the Provincial License Department Decided Upon.

Hon. J. R. Stratton, Provincial Secretary, has determined upon a shakeup in the Provincial License Department, and the officers in at least twenty branches will be, or have already been notified that their services will not be required after Dec. 31st. Among these are a number of active men who will be again taken into service; but the object of the change is to retire those whose age has unfitted them for arduous work.

The Toronto branch was the first to be notified, Chief Inspector Dexter and Mr. Wilson are on the list for retirement, but Inspector Hastings will remain and may be promoted.

A Mothers' Meeting

A Mothers' Meeting in connection with the W.C.T.U. will be held on Monday afternoon next, Nov. 19, in the Y.M.C.A. hall at 3.30 p.m. This meeting will be of a practical and interesting character to mothers and all who are interested in the care and culture of children. Practical talks will be given by Dr. Jessie Birnie and Mrs. Wallis. There will also be recitations, reading and good music. All present will be invited to take part in discussing the subjects brought before the meeting. An urgent invitation is extended to mothers especially. Do not say "It is wash day and I cannot go," "I pray thee have me excused," etc. Mrs. James Kendry, Convener.

The Rockland House

There has been a change in proprietors at the Rockland House, Bobcaygeon. Mr. H. Thompson who has been in the business for the last thirty years, retired on Monday, and on Tuesday Mr. John Kenny, of Brampton, took possession. Mr. Thompson removes his personal furniture to his residence on William street, and all the hotel furniture and belongings were valued by J. H. Lennox, and a gentleman from Toronto. Mr. Kenny, is thoroughly experienced in the business, and will no doubt conduct the House to the satisfaction of his guests.

BIG FIRE IN CAMPBELLFORD

One of the Principal Business Blocks of the Town Burned

Campbellford, Nov. 16.—A very disastrous conflagration took place here this morning, when one of the leading blocks of the town was destroyed, comprising a number of stores.

The branch store belonging to Messrs. H. LeBruin & Co., of Peterborough, was totally destroyed. The loss will exceed $30,000.

Mr. Kelly Entertained.

Mr. P. J. Kelly entertained the members of the Lacrosse Club to an oyster supper at the residence of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Kelly, on Thursday evening. Mr. Kelly has entered the Grand Seminary, Montreal, to continue his studies for the Priesthood, and thus practically retires from active participation in the battles and victories of the Vatican Lacrosse team. The local team took advantage of the occasion to present "Teck" with a token of their esteem of him personally and a tribute to his ability as a player. The gift was a handsome Congo oak walking stick with sterling silver head bearing the inscription:

"To P. J. Kelly,
From the V. L. C.
Nov. 15th, 1900."

Mr. Kelly has reason to be proud of this well deserved recognition. He carries with him the earnest good will of many Peterborough friends.

Death of Mrs. Hanrahan.

Mrs. Michael Hanrahan passed away at St. Joseph's Hospital on Thursday last. The deceased lady was taken ill only a short time ago and was removed to the Hospital, where an operation was performed. It was thought that she would quickly recover, but without warning a turn for the worse set in and in twenty minutes she passed away. Mrs. Hanrahan was but 37 years of age. She had charge of the Golf Club House during the summer, her husband being caretaker of the grounds. Of a kindly disposition, she was beloved and esteemed by her friends. The funeral takes place from the residence of her brother-in-law, Mr. Addison Davidson, No. 139 Antrim street, tomorrow at 3 p.m.

WEATHER NOTES.

Probs: To-day — Increasingly easterly winds, fair, stationary or a little higher temperature.

Weather of a decidedly winter type prevails throughout the Dominion, and the ground is almost everywhere covered with snow. The lowest temperatures reported yesterday were 2 below at Edmonton, Battleford and Winnipeg, and zero at Minnedosa and White River.

Salvation Army Colony Work.

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 17.—Colonel William Brewer of the Salvation Army, who has been in this city in the interest of the army's colony plan arranged for meeting here this month in furtherance of the project of establishing a colony in Minnesota. The colony at Fort Amity Colony is doing well, by relieving the congested condition of the East and also adding to the wealth of the West. The Salvation Army will ask an appropriation from Congress of $100,000.

An Enormous Steamer.

New York, Nov. 17.—The White Star line has contracted for a steamer for an ordinary speed cargo carrier that will be larger even than the enormous steamer Oceanic of the same line. It will carry 3,000 tons more than that steamer, being 7 feet quarter beam 75 feet beam, 49 feet in depth, 700 feet in length. She will have comfortable accommodations for passengers, but freight will be her specialty, the cargo capacity being enormous. She will be called the Celtic.

TO SETTLE IN UNITED STATES

Many of the Boers to Take up New Land.

SIXTY BOERS CAPTURED.

Caught While Trying to Return From Portuguese Territory

London, Nov. 17.—The Boers, according to the Cape Town correspondent of the Daily Mail, have broken the railway in twenty places between Bloemfontein and the Orange River, and the line was cut yesterday between Kimberley and Belmont.

New York, Nov 16.—On board the liner Fuerst Bismark, which arrived at Hoboken last night, were 44 men of the Irish brigade and eight American scouts who fought under Colonel Blake with the Boers in South Africa. The Irish soldiers are part of a detachment that came out of South Africa by way of Delagoa Bay, and reached Hamburg by way of Trieste.

The Irish brigade took part in the campaign around Ladysmith, "Long Tom," the Boer gun of history, they said, had been manned from their brigade.

New York, Nov. 16.—The North German Lloyd steamer Trave which arrived this morning had on board thirty four of the Chicago Irish ambulance corps who fought in the Transvaal. The returned Irishmen are all in good health and spirits. Their soft broad-brimmed felt hats were decorated with buttons and other insignia of the Boers.

TREK TO KANKAKEE VALLEY.

Chicago, Nov. 16.—The Record to-day says that the Indiana counties of Lake, Porter, Stark and La Porte within the next year or so will become the permanent trekking grounds of many Transvaalers and Free States seems probable. The owners of land in Kankakee Valley are reported to have combined for the purpose of sending agents to South Africa and Holland to encourage settlement of their lands. Some of the railroads, it is said, are showing a marked interest in the scheme to colonise the Kankakee Valley.

PREPARING TO RECEIVE KRUGER.

Paris, Nov. 16.—The efforts of Minister of Foreign Affairs Delcasse to please both the English and the French render the question of the arrival and reception of President Kruger daily more difficult. The French preparations for popular demonstration in honor of the ex-President of the Boer Republic are daily becoming more elaborate. At Marseilles 280,00000 persons have signed the French Boer Committee's appeal to all patriots to meet Kruger. The president of the committee, M. Violle, estimates that 100,000 people will be at the dock on the arrival of the Dutch cruiser Gelderland.

The perfect of Marseilles had received Government orders to consider the arrival of Kruger as that of a chief of State travelling incognito. As this implies certain official recognition, contrary to what was previously intimated the perfect should not give, he telegraphed to Paris for further instructions. In a personal interview with the perfect's chief clerk, the latter said: "Our reply as to what ceremonies should accompany the reception to a chief of State travelling incognito was that we should treat him as a guest of high mark. This, we feel is still more ambiguous, and we again asked the Government for instructions, which have not been received."

From the conversation it is gathered that the Government is warming up at Kruger's near approach, pushed on by public opinion, which is overwhelmingly in favor of the Boers.

Mme. Eloff, Kruger's granddaughter, who has been the object of a sympathetic demonstration at Marseilles, was practically sequestered to-day by order of the French Boer Committee, who claim to have instructions to that effect from Paris. Orders were given at the hotel that no one should be allowed to approach her, and she was advised to stay in her own apartment. The secretary of the Boer Committee says numerous intrigues are already forming around Kruger's granddaughter, who, it is feared, will tell too many things about the Transvaal.

SIXTY BOERS CAPTURED.

London, Nov. 16. — Lord Roberts cables from Johannesburg that 60 Boers were captured while trying to cross from Portugese territory to Namabach, where the Boers are endeavoring to get ammunition into the Transvaal. He reports that Lord Methuen has captured a pompom from the Boers; that Piet Lemmer, a cousin of the commandant of the same name, has died of wounds received recently, and that the police captured Field Cornet Deplessis at Vryburg.

COULD HAVE WON THE SPANISH WAR.

General Weyler Says he Could Have Defeated the Yankees.

New York, Nov. 16.—General Weyler, according to a Paris despatch to the Herald, has granted the correspondent of the Figaro a long interview, in course of which he is quoted as saying:

"If I had been able to gather together a strong conservative party after the death of Canovas I should have prevented the loss of Cuba. At the head of the Spanish troops, which were then in the island, I should have driven the Americans into the sea. The hasty levies of the Americans would never have been able to cope with the Spaniards. I should never have asked for a fleet to be sent to me. My resources down there (in Cuba) were quite ample."

Morning Times

PETERBOROUGH, NOVEMBER 17, 1900

HUGH JOHN AND PROHIBITION.

The Hon. Hugh John Macdonald is apparently done with the Prohibition vote. He is reported as saying that it is nothing more than a myth, and that the recent election is a set back to Prohibition from which it will not recover for a number of years. And he then proceeds to diagnose the case, his opinion being in brief, that the Licensed Victuallers and others interested in the trade will not sacrifice their interests to any party. They will vote against the candidate who represents prohibition. The avowed Prohibitionists however, vote with the political party when it comes to a test. The Hon. Hugh John, therefore, holds that the Prohibitionists have themselves to thank if neither of the great political parties will in the future take up their cause. There is a great deal of force in this opinion. Too many leaders have found the Temperance Vote, as it is called, to be a very uncertain quantity, while the Opposite Vote is an extremely certain quantity. The reason is obvious. These persons engaged in the business are fighting for their means of livlihood for their bread and butter. Their opponents are not; Prohibition with them, is not a matter of the support of wife and children; it is an aside, as it were, very important in its way, but still not touching their daily bread. Of course, with the paid advocates of Prohibition it is different. We are not speaking of them, but of the rank and file. Then also the hotel-keeper feels that he has been unjustly treated. He has paid for his license, he has invested money in the business, he has fitted up premises, he provides accommodation to the public; all this under the sanction of law. And yet this sword of Damocles is always hanging over his head, and the advocate of Prohibition stands ever ready to cut the hair and let it fall. The hotel-keeper resents this and feels that if he is carrying on a legalized business, he ought not to be subjected to what he considers abuse and irritating attack. He therefore fights, actuated not only by self-interest, but by a desire to punish those who in his opinion are continually worrying him, without being any nearer their goal after all. He fights, therefore, with an intense determination to gain a victory; and he generally succeeds. In view of everything then would it not be better for Prohibitionists to recognize the facts of the case, and devote their efforts to seeing that the existing laws are rigidly enforced and that the rougher and more lawless element in the business is driven out? We are confident that in such efforts they would be aided by the better class of hotel men. The latter are just as much opposed to unlicensed liquor-selling and to what are called "dives" as are Prohibitionists. It is all very well to say that no compromise shall be had with the evil thing, and so on. But facts must be faced; and until it is shown that Prohibition can be carried; and when carried, enforced, it is only beating the air to wage a Prohibition crusade.

We regret to learn of the illness of Mr. Isaac Wilson, the editor and proprietor of the Cobourg Sentinel-Star who is suffering from an attack of typhoid fever.

** * **

The Laurier administration does not appear to have suffered from the Prohibition vote. Hugh John Macdonald does not seem to have profited by it. The Prohibitionists had better put up their political shutters.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Mr. Foster must be got a seat in the House of Commons. The opposition fighting will be almost absurd without him.

** * **

In South Victoria, Dr. Vrooman, Tory, had a majority over Geo. McHugh of 152. Lindsay, which gave Hugh 41 majority in 1896, turned around and gave Vrooman, who is now a resident of that town, 23 majority. Mariposa which was expected to increase its majority for McHugh, failed to do so, but the Liberal nominee only got 6 majority, where he had 59 five years before. It is claimed the drop was due to the canvas against Mr. McHugh on account of his religion. In Emily and Verulam Mr. McHugh made a remarkable showing, decreasing Vrooman's majority in Emily from 60 to 2, and getting a plurality of 2 in Verulam, where formerly his opponent had 22. Omemee village really elected Dr. Vrooman, as it gave him 118 votes out of 132 cast.

An interesting event was the re-interment, on Oct. 1st, in the cemetery at Haiden Pasha, of the remains of the English soldiers and sailors who died during the Crimean war and were buried in the cemeteries on the Dardanelles. The ceremony, which was an imposing one, was performed in the presence of the secretary and staff of the British Embassy, the British consul at Constantinople and a large number of Turkish officials. A company of Turkish infantry, with band, rendered military honors, playing God Save the Queen at the beginning and again at the conclusion of the service, while a detachment of Turkish soldiers fired the usual salutes. A number of the members of the English colony, including General Blunt Pasha, and the Commander and officers and some blue-jackets from H.M.S. Salmander were also present. The chaplain of the British Embassy officiated.

Rain or Shine,

The station agent is on duty. On his exact communication of train orders depends thousands of lives, and millions of dollars in property, each day. In his haste he runs out in the rain or the snow hatless and unprotected. Then comes the sequel — bronchitis, or some other disease of the respiratory organs. The most effective remedy for bronchial or pulmonary disease is Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Almost all remedies prescribed for such diseases contain opium or some narcotic which soothes by stupefaction. "Golden Medical Discovery" contains neither narcotics nor alcohol. It stops coughs by curing their cause. It heals weak lungs, builds up wasted tissues, and promotes the health of every organ of the body.

"I am a railroad agent," writes I. B. Staples, Esq., of Barclay, Osage County, Kans., "and four years ago my work keeping me in a warm room and stepping out frequently into the cold air gave me bronchitis, which became chronic and deep-seated. Doctors failed to reach my case and advised me to try a higher air, but, fortunately for me, a friend advised me to try Dr. Pierce's medicines. I commenced taking your 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and by the time I had taken the first bottle I was better, and after taking four bottles my cough was entirely gone. I have found no necessity for seeking another climate."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate the stomach, liver and bowels.

ATTACK of ROYAL CANADIANS at Paardeberg

The present is a time when war pictures are in greater demand than ever. The conduct of the British soldiers on the battlefield has won the plaudits of admiring nations. We have at great expense published four large, beautiful pictures size 20x24, on heavy, superfine calendered paper. A picture that will commend itself and send a thrill to the heart of every true Canadian is the one called Attack of Royal Canadians at Paardeberg, there are literally hundreds of figures on this picture, the mountains or kopjes stretching out into the distance are swarming with men, while here and there a prostrate figure speaks only too well of the Boer rifleman. It was on this battlefield the gallant Major Arnold met death unflinchingly. Indeed, it is only too true that many of those gallant hearts that beat so high when the cheering thousands bade them Godspeed as they sailed from Canada's shores now lie still forever in lonely graves on the other side of the world under African skies. To every Canadian heart, to every Canadian home, the deeds of their brave soldier boys speak with an irresistible thrill of patriotism and pride. Gordon Highlanders at the Battle of Belmont, Charging the Boer Guns at Magersfontein and the Charge of Gen. French's Cavalry on the Retreating Gen. Cronje's Army. These are all stirring pictures and cannot fail to commend themselves to anyone who will examine them. They are RED HOT SELLERS! Agents coin money. Big profits Enormous success. One agent sold 60 in one day. Sample and terms 25 cts (some free); four for 80 cts; $1.25 per dozen; 25 for $2.25; 50 for $4.00; 100 for $7.00. Write to day for a dozen and make money. Bevely Mfg. MESSRS. J. S. HAMILTON & CO., Brantford, Ont., Canada:

Dear Sirs,—In accordance with your wishes I have had both the red and white wines and the champagne tested by several connoisseurs, French and English. All of these expressed surprise that an article of such merit was produced in Canada, and even manufacturers admit that the brand "L'Empereur" is of excellent quality.

This opinion from critics who are by no means easy to please should be very satisfactory to you, and it gives me pleasure to congratulate you upon it. Yours faithfully,

If you have this awful disease you are in danger until completely cured; the various symptoms you notice should be a warning to take immediate treatment. Don't put it off until too late, as it continually gets worse. If you have sore throat, patches on tongue or mouth, swollen glands, hair falling out, blotches on body, itching skin, or other signs of this awful disease, call on us. We give you a written guarantee to cure you by our LATEST METHOD TREATMENT without Mercury or Potassium, and You Pay When Cured. Each time you call you see Dr. Goldberg personally, who has 18 Diplomas, certificates and licenses received from the various colleges, hospitals and States, which testify to his standing and abilities

The original testimonials can be seen at our office; $500.00 reward for any we cannot show; at request of patients we publish only the initials.

I am improving every day. I notice if I cut or scratch myself the sore will heal up. I hope you will not stop treating me as long as there is a sign of that terrible disease. I am more afraid of it than death. I believe you have the right medicine for the disease. I feel so thankful to you for the good you have done me; I was a perfect wreck when I came to you, and was on the verge of suicide. To make a sure thing I would like to continue a while longer, so that it will not return. Very respectfully yours, Mrs. L. S.

Love Won - and - Lost.

A NOVEL.

love which consumed her. She must hear his voice and know another claimed him.

It was strange that through all she still clung to the belief that her marriage was legal.

"If not, I shall hear it from his own lips," she whispered, falteringly.

If so great a wrong had been done her, she believed her heart would break then and there.

It did not matter much what happened after that; she could not rest nor breathe while even the faintest shadow hovered over the fair name of her innocent child. She forgot all else in the dark sorrows of the outraged wife and mother.

The lights were not lit in either library or smoking-room; the long, French windows were thrown wide open, and the flickering moonbeams bathed each room in its pale, white light.

Izetta nervously entered the library, her dark eyes scanning the deep, shadowy corners with a hurried glance.

It seemed quite deserted save by her own presence.

She could hear Ulmont and Loraine's laughter out on the lawn; he was evidently not in the smoking room.

She glided down the long drawing-room with a beating heart. So intense was her excitement her dress brushed the low, cushioned rocker in which Mrs. Lorrimer was reclining; but Izetta did not see her. The lady turned her head slightly.

"Ah!" she muttered, quite under her breath; "Mrs. Ross again!"

She bit her lip with vexation, as she wished devoutly that the mother and child were away from Ulvesford Manor with their dark, sparkling, foreign faces.

"This is the creature Loraine tells me is lying dangerously ill in her room, when I have just met her stealing stealthily down the carriage drive; all the long day she does not make her appearance, and now in the darkness of night she steals down to the library. What does she here, I wonder?"

She fairly held her breath upon seeing Izetta proceed directly toward the smoking-room. The door stood open and she fearlessly entered.

From the reflection in an opposite mirror Mrs. Lorrimer saw her draw from her bosom a white envelope which she placed beside the match-safe on the mantel, then turned with the fleetness of a startled deer, disappearing through the long open window and down the lilac path in the moonlight.

A strange light gleamed in Mrs. Lorrimer's eyes.

"I must breathe no word of this to my poor Loraine," she thought; "I must act upon my own judgment."

Mrs. Lorrimer was a proud conscientious lady, who would have scorned to do a mean act; yet for the sake of her idolized Loraine she told herself she must know the contents of the letter which had been secretly conveyed to her daughter's husband under cover of night; she felt fully justified in acquainting herself with its contents.

There are women who would have raged and stormed had they read the contents of that note; she did nothing of the kind; for an instant she held it over the gas jet.

"No," she said, crushing the letter in her hand, "I will not do that. I will go myself and confront her. I will wring from her lips the secret she holds, force her to tell by what right she dares demand an interview with the husband of Loraine."

She threw a dark shawl quickly over her head, crushing the letter in her tight grasp as though it were the life of the hapless girl whom she was going forth to meet.

At each step she took her fierce fury fanned itself into new flame. There was little mercy in the mother's heart when she thought of her trusting Loraine.

As Izetta heard the hurried footsteps, her heart beat cruelly; they stopped suddenly before her.

Izetta stood quite still, with clasped hands and eyes downcast, the tall lilac bushes tossing their fragrant, purple plumes above her dark, flowing hair.

She had hoped Alderic, as she still called him in her thoughts, would break the torturous, embarrassing silence.

Slowly she raised her dark eyes, not to the face of Alderic, but to the stormy, wrathful face of Mrs. Lorrimer.

The faint cry died away on her lips, making no sound.

"I flatter myself I have disturbed what you intended to be a very charming tete-a-tete, Mrs. Ross. Perhaps it will surprise you to learn that I saw you place this letter in the smoking-room. We will waive all questions as to my actions in regard to it and come to the point at once. I demand to know by what right you solicit this secret interview with Ulmont Ulvesford. I have said to Loraine, beware lest the serpent, whom you have warmed and fed, does not turn upon the hand that gave it shelter. She gave you life, and you, false-hearted woman, would stab her heart with a blow worse than death itself!"

For a moment, deep, crimson flushes came and went over Izetta's fair face; then she drew herself up proudly to her full height.

"I cannot tell you, madam —I dare not," she replied.

"Cannot and dare not! Those are strong words," retorted Mrs. Lorrimer, ironically. "I shall know what secret intrigue you are attempting, vile woman, if I have to wring it from your false lips!"

"Spare me, oh, spare me your reproaches, madam," murmured Izetta, tearfully, her white hands working convulsively; "I beseech you, by the love you bear Loraine, do not torture the terrible secret from me!"

"Do you know what I fully intend to do? I shall have you prosecuted to the full extent of the law for your vile scheme!"

Izetta raised her hand supplicatingly.

"Mercy, madam," she whispered, "I beg of you to spare me!"

"Mercy," sneered the irate mother; "what mercy would you show my poor Loraine, were it in your power? You are a scheming adventuress; cunningly you laid your plans to gain an entrance into this home!"

"As Heaven is my judge, madam, I——"

"Stop," commanded Mrs. Lorrimer, sternly; "it is not for such as you to call upon Heaven to hear you."

"Madam," responded Izetta, sadly, "believe me, had I known what I now know, I should have flung myself into the depths of yonder silent river rather than cross this threshold."

The cold, taunting laugh of Mrs Lorrimer stung her almost to madness as she continued:

"Why did you not add —you did not dream Ulmont Ulvesford had such a charming young wife?"

"God help me, no, I did not know that," moaned Izetta.

"Yet, with your false arts, you would seek to win him from her," cried Mrs. Lorrimer, hoarsely.

"No," answered Izetta, "I never did that, madam, I— I——"

"Well?" questioned her companion, grimly.

"I avoided him," responded Izetta.

Again Mrs. Lorrimer laughed, that peculiar, taunting laugh, pointing grimly to the note she held crushed in her hand.

"This certainly looks like it," she said.

"I wanted to look upon his face just once, madam," she said, brokenly; "then I would be content to go away, breathing no word, and die."

The woful agony in the young voice did not reach the heart of the impassioned mother.

"Speak, girl!" cried Mrs. Lorrimer, grasping Izetta firmly, cruelly, by both shoulders. "What is Ulmont Ulvesford to you?"

"I cannot tell you —I must not, for Loraine's sake."

"Do not mention my pure Loraine!" shrieked the irate mother; "don't dare to mention her, I say. Once again I ask you to divulge this secret."

"And I repeat I cannot," said Izetta, in a low, trembling voice.

The sorrow of that beautiful, drooping face was lost in the intense anger of Mrs. Lorrimer's heart.

"I say I shall know what all this means, Miss or Mrs. —Heaven best knows which of the two names you have the right to bear."

"Yes!" cried Izetta, drawing herself up proudly, and answered in clear, ringing tones. "Heaven does know! I am an honorable wife!"

"A precious example of an honorable wife, forsooth, making appointments with other ladies' husbands!"

"Madam!" cried Izetta, hoarsely, "if you will hear, if you will goad me on to madness, know, then, why I have sought this interview with Ulmont Ulvesford." Her voice rang out in a sharp, agonizing cry. "Hear me, Mrs. Lorrimer!" she cried, "and may God in heaven judge if I speak falsely! Ulmont Ulvesford is my husband."

CHAPTER XXXV.

Am a Lawful Wife.

"Are you mad!" cried Mrs. Lorrimer, recoiling as though a sudden blow had been struck her.

"No", answered Izetta, solemnly, "I am not mad, I have spoken the solemn truth; I am Ulmont Ulvesford's lawful wife."

"'Tis false!" shrieked Mrs. Lorrimer. "If an angel cried it, trumpet-tongued, I would not believe it. You have forgotten, girl, that you are speaking of —my daughter's husband."

"Hear me, Mrs. Lorrimer," said Izetta, in a clear, calm voice. "A year ago Ulmont Ulvesford and I crossed from Italy in the same steamer, the White Cresson. One midnight as we neared the American port, my grandfather fell back in my arms in the throes of death. A young man stood near us on the deck leaning over the rails; poor grandfather beckoned him to us and whispered that he was dying. 'I will soon be gone,' he cried, 'and my child will be alone. I cannot die and leave her unprotected; will you protect my little orphan child?' The young man promised. That man was Ulmont Ulvesford. My grandfather died that night, and I was left alone —alone but for Ulmont Ulvesford, or Alderic Ross, as he falsely called himself."

Like one fascinated, Mrs. Lorrimer's intense gaze never left her face during the brief recital; the very power of speech seemed to leave her.

"I cannot tell you what impulse prompted him; he said I should marry him, and on the evening of the 10th of May an aged pastor married us on the silent ocean, in the moonlight, beneath the gaze of the glimmering stars and listening angels, married Ulmont Ulvesford, or Alderic Ross and me."

"The 10th of May," whispered Mrs Lorrimer, in an awful voice; for one brief instant she was tempted to believe her, there was a world of truth in the clear, noble voice, and the pale calm face turned unflinchingly toward her own in the moonlight; the next instant she had recovered herself

"To say I am amazed at your mad audacity in concocting such a wild tale, but faintly expresses my indignation," cried the exasperated mother, never losing her tight hold on the girl's arm. "I wonder I do not strike you down at my feet."

"Had it not been for my child's sake I would never have spoken; I would have held the bitter secret all my whole life through," cried Izetta vehemently.

"You are a daring woman," replied Mrs. Lorrimer, stormily. "Do you think the world would credit even for an instant your fanciful story? Do you see that path?" she added; "take it and begone; never cross this threshold again, or I will have you thrown into prison! It is worse than folly to repeat this wild tale elsewhere," she continued, mockingly. "The world would ask you to furnish proofs. Could you furnish the slightest proofs to substantiate such a base fabrication?"

Izetta staggered back against the lilac branches with a low cry, which went up to heaven from her white lips.

"Where are your proofs?" demanded Loraine's mother, exultantly.

Heaven help her, she had none. It was one of the cruelest sights which could have been imagined upon which the great stars pityingly gazed; the white, startled face of the wronged young wife, and the haughty, experienced, worldly woman who held her at bay, turning her own weapon of safeguard against her.

"Proof!" Izetta had never once given it a thought.

"You have certainly lost your reason," continued Mrs. Lorrimer, grimly, "in supposing for an instant that a man would be so insane as to bring two wives under one roof. Why, he never saw you before that stormy Christmas Eve when you found shelter here. You were strangers. Had he been what you claim, you would

A WONDERFUL
KIDNEY and Bladder CURE

The Honorable Chairman of the Board of County Commissioners, Ellsworth, Kansas, tells how ALKAVIS cured him after Doctors and all other Remedies had Failed.

BRIGHT'S DISEASE,
GRAVEL, DROPSY,
And Rheumatism Mastered at Last.

One of the most remarkable medical discoveries of the century is the Kava-Kava Shrub, found on the Ganges River, East India, which has a wonderful action on the kidneys and bladder. Since its introduction into this country its fame has quickly spread, because of its seemingly impossible cures. Prominent men and women have testified to its great curative powers, and hospital tests prove its infallibility even in advanced stages of Bright's Disease. Among the more recent recoveries is that of Hon. I. A. Hopkins, Chairman Board of County Commissioners, Ellsworth, Kansas, who says:

GENTLEMEN:—I will say that I believe and know that I owe my life to Alkavis. I had been troubled with Kidney and Bladder Trouble for years. Two years ago I was sick for six weeks with Malarial Fever which left me in a bad condition. My limbs were swollen with Rheumatism so that I could hardly walk; I was troubled with Indigestion from taking Medicine for my Urinary troubles which had become very much worse. I had to get up every hour of the night to urinate. I passed great quantities of blood on account of hemorrhage of the Kidneys and Bladder. I tried and had been trying everything in the shape of Medicine for Kidney Trouble that I could think of or that the Doctors recommended, but nothing helped me for I kept getting worse. I suffered great pain continually in my Kidneys. I made up my mind [illegible] I could get relief that I only had a short time to live. About this time my [illegible] to an advertisement of Alkavis. As a drowning man will grasp at a straw, I [illegible] anything for relief. I sent to you for three bottles. I began to take it, and before I had taken it one week I began to feel the good effects of Alkavis. My Kidney Trouble and Rheumatism were soon gone, my digestion became all right, I found myself in better health than for ten years and I am in good health now. I know that Alkavis saved my life. What more can anyone say for a medicine? Unlike most medicines it is good for indigestion. It gives the people taking it a good appetite. I have recommended Alkavis to a great many people and all have been benefited by its use. I am 63 years of age, and am very grateful for what Alkavis has done for me.
Respectfully yours, I. A. HOPKINS.

Rev. W. B. Moore, D. D., Washington, D. C., Editor Religious World, writes that after trying all known medicines for kidney and rheumatic diseases he was permanently cured by Alkavis. Mrs. Wm. H. Hardy, East Rush, Pa., writes that Alkavis cured her after six doctors failed. Rev. J. W. Hickman, Collyer, Trego Co., Kansas, cured of liver, kidney and bladder trouble, of many years' standing, from which he could only get temporary relief and had given up all hope of a cure. Thus the grand work goes on. A new book, entitled "A Thousand Living Witnesses," sent with the free case of medicine, tells of the wonderful cures performed in every state.

Not only does this great discovery—Alkavis (the Kava-Kava Compound)—cure all forms of kidney and bladder diseases, but by expelling from the blood all poisonous deposits, excess of lime, uric acid, urates and lithiates, it banishes gravel, torpid liver, rheumatism, pains in back, difficult and too frequent urination, etc. The cure is complete. No phase is neglected, and the stomach, heart and nerves are toned and invigorated. No other medicine in the world will perform the work of Alkavis. To enable sufferers to get well and spread the glad tidings we have arranged to send a Large Case of Alkavis FREE by mail to all who write us. The case goes entirely FREE.

If you are a sufferer, write to-day and secure at once a Free Case of Alkavis and Book of "A Thousand Living Witnesses." Address The Church Kidney Cure Co., No. 508 Fourth Ave., New York. Please mention this paper.

THE COLORADO COPPER MINING COMPANY
LOCATION OF OUR MINES

THE COLORADO COPPER MINING COMPANY is fortunate in being the possessor of five splendid showing properties in the great Salida copper belt, the principal copper producing region of this portion of the rockies. All of our claims have been more or less developed and it is our purpose to put the same on a paying basis at once.

Our Company owns, clear of incumbrances the following claims:—The Sedalia Extension, the Sedalia Extension No. 2, which property adjoins the great Sedalia mine, which has been a big producer for upwards of seventeen years; the Copper King of Colorado, which immediately adjoins the above; the Copper Queen of Salida, a very promising property, only a few steps from the depot in Salida. This claim occupies an imposing position on a mountain just north of the city; and last, but by no means least, the Sunshine, located two miles east of Salida at Cleora station, on the main Trunk line of the great Denver and Rio Grande Railroad, also on the Arkansas river, which in length is one of America's greatest streams.

PETERBOROUGH, NOVEMBER 17, 1900

TOWN AND COUNTY NEWS

St Andrews Society

The attempt to re-organize the St. Andrew's Society is not meeting with much encouragement. At the meeting on Thursday night there was a small attendance, and after discussing the prospects, an adjournment was made without doing anything.

S. S. Teachers Union.

At the meeting of the Sunday School Teachers' Union, held in St. Paul's School Room last night, Rev. W. W. Wagg gave an address on "The Ideal Teacher and the Teacher's Ideal," and Rev. J. G. Potter gave a report of the Provincial Sunday School convention, recently held in Brockville. There was a fair attendance and much interest displayed.

Last Night's Recital.

The recital in St. John's church last night was liberally patronized, the spacious building being well filled. Miss Mansfield, vocalist, of New York, gave a number of selections of a very high order, while Miss Archer, violinist, contributed materially to the evening's enjoyment. Mr. C. J. Rodgers presided at the organ.

The Granolithic Walks.

A citizen complained yesterday morning that the granolithic walk on Hunter street was in certain parts in a dangerous condition and should be attended to. He thought the town engineer should have sand thrown on the places where ice was on the walk. He had seen a citizen have a nasty fall on the north side of Hunter street, near the post office, this morning, and on his way to ask the engineer to attend to the walks.

Bobcaygeon Pontypool Railway.

Mr. H. J. Wickham, secretary of the Lindsay, Bobcaygeon & Pontypool R. R. board of provisional directors, was in town to-day, says the Lindsay Post. He drove in from Dunsford Landing with Surveyor McDougall and his staff, who have been marking out a second line along the lake shore. We understand that two very favorable routes have been located and the directors will meet shortly to make a choice. If the weather moderates somewhat the survey of the line between Lindsay and Pontypool will be proceeded with.

Mr. McClellan's Popularity.

The Toronto Telegram says—J. H. McClellan, the unsuccessful Liberal candidate in West Peterboro', is back at business, and he spent yesterday in Toronto, greeting his friends just as cheerfully as though he was M.P. Mr. McClellan put up a remarkably good fight in this riding, keeping the majority within the limit and decreasing the Tory lead in the town of Peterboro For the first time in a Dominion election for many years, the Liberals got a majority in the township of Ennismore. Considering the Tory sweep in the Midland district, Mr. McClellan is not in the least discouraged.

Chattel Mortgages.

The Ontario Bureau of Industries has published its annual report, and among other interesting statistics gives the amount of chattel mortgages in the Province. In the County of Peterborough there were 306 mortgages of the value of $446,808. In Victoria 289 mortgages of the value of $365,154. In Haliburton 71 Mortgages of the value of $249,248. These mortgages, it must be observed, are all chattel mortgages. The value of all the chattel mortgages in Ontario as, in the year 1890, $8,121,314. This amount steadily increased until 1896, when the amount reached $13,180,205. Then the amount began to fall, and in 1899 it was only $11,067,864. At the present date it does not much exceed $10,000,000.

JOTTINGS ABOUT TOWN.

—Letters to Santa Claus are in order.

—H. A. Ward's majority in East Durham is 211.

—Lindsay is putting in an electric fire alarm system.

—Division Court was held yesterday before Judge Weller.

—A Young Liberal Club is to be organized at Port Hope.

—The Field & Devoe Company played to a good house last night.

—Liberal candidates are already being selected for the Ontario Legislature.

Rheumatism in all its forms is promptly and permanently cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla which neutralizes acidity of the blood.

—Lockmaster Collins told The Times yesterday that he expected the Eclipse up to-day with her usual quota of freight and passengers.

—The icy condition of the walks have made walking quite treacherous. A lady had a bad fall yesterday on the steps at the post office.

—The non-coms of the 57th will give a smoking concert to their friends on Thursday evening next. A good programme has been arranged.

—A suitably inscribed stone has been placed over the grave of Dan Spence in South Africa by the Oddfellows belonging to the Canadian force there.

—In the Police Court yesterday morning a hotel-keeper was found not guilty of selling Liquor on Sunday October 28th, and was discharged.

—A rough cast house belonging to Mr. Robert Bradburn, near the corner of Aylmer and Dublin streets, was destroyed by fire yesterday morning.

—Grand Trunk Railway System—Earnings 1st to 7th November, 1900, $463,664; 1899, $461,131; increase. $2,533. Chicago and Grand Trunk earnings omitted.

—Major Guillett, the defeated Conservative candidate in West Northumberland, is collecting material upon which to protest the election of Mr. J. S. McColl.

—A meeting of the Granite Curling Club will be held at the rink on Monday evening, Nov. 19th, at 8 o'clock. All members, or those intending to join, are invited to be present.

—It is said that a general organization is in course of formation whereby hotel keepers, brewers, distillers, wholesale liquor sellers and shopkeepers will be united in one body.

—Lindsay's road commissioner has made granolithic pavements at 9c. per square foot. The lowest tender received by Lindsay was 14 1-2 cents. Contractors charge 50c and 60c per foot for curbs, and the Commissioner builds them for 25c and 30c.

—The idea of a summer hotel at Sturgeon Point is not yet dead. The remarkable revival of tourist trade in the Kawartha region has caused it to take a deeper hold than ever on the minds of local capitalists. There is talk of local joint stock company that will buy the land adjacent to the cedar spring and put up a big hotel.

—Municipal politics are coming in for a good share of attention these days. One aspirant for the Mayor's chair is already feeling his way quietly. Probably in a week or so he will be, in the words of the old chestnut, "In the hands of his friends." It is a healthy sign to see some interest taken in the matter, anyhow.

—The village council of Hastings have entered into a contract with H. W. Fowlds & Co., to furnish the village with twelve arc lights, for five years, for the sum of $500 per annum, the plant, including the power house, poles, etc., to be free from taxation—$41.66 2-3 per light. Colborne's with a similar exemption, being at the rate of $37.50.

—We hear the lumber camp of M. Boyd Co., near Kinmount, has broken up, on account of its being found to be in a very unhealthy place. Several men left the camp with typhoid fever. One fine young man 18 years of age named Edward Allan, of Swamp lake went home, and four days after, death ended his earthly career. His parents have the sincere sympathy of all who knew him. There are other cases, and it is believed to have arisen from using swamp water.

Lakefield Cement Works.

A big change is taking place in the appearance of the Cement Co.'s works Lakefield, says the News. As the work on the main building progresses an idea can be had of the immense size of the works. When the works are completed the appearance of that part of the village will be completely changed, and where before all was quietness, now will be bustling with activity and business. The elevated tracks for dumping the clay and marl are being built and the rails laid on the track to Buckley's Lake. A large number of carpenters and masons are employed and every day sees a big advance towards the completion of the works.

MIND AND FOOD.

Kind of food that affects the Mind.

"One of the most remarkable effects of the food Grape-Nuts is the effect on the mind; it makes one feel buoyant, hopeful and cheerful," says Alice L. Giunt, of 2422 Broad St., Altoona, Pa. She continues: "As result of prolonged mental work, I was stricken with paralysis of the right side about two years and a half ago. For about two years I was treated constantly with powerful drugs to stimulate the nerve centers, with only partial success.

"About six months ago, I was threatened with nervous prostration again, when a friend advised me to eat Grape-Nuts food. I was entirely skeptical concerning any beneficial results, but finding the food very palatable, I bought package after package, and since beginning the use of Grape-Nuts have taken no medicine or nerve tonics of any kind, and the effect of this perfect food on my health is something very remarkable. All headaches, insomnia, and a disagreeable cough, and my symptoms of paralysis have disappeared.

"I am satisfied that all the ills that I have suffered were due to the fact that I lived just as thousands of others who think they are well fed, but are in a state of semi-starvation, owing to imperfect assimilation of food. The nerve centers cannot be properly nourished and rebuilt except by good food and food that can be digested and assimilated. Grape-Nuts food is the most perfect food I have ever seen, and I know of its value from practical results."

This is another evidence of the fact that Grape-Nuts food contains the phosphate of potash which unites with albumen to make the gray matter in the nerve centers and brain. Any brain worker who values health, strength and vigor, should pay heed to the character of the food he uses.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

—Miss Alice Isbister was visiting friends in Lakefield this week.

—Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Daubuz and the Misses Daubuz, of Lakefield, have taken up their residence in Peterborough.

—Mrs. (Hon.) Hamilton and Miss Daisy Hamilton will spend the winter in Italy and have already started on their journey.

—We were pleased to have a call yesterday from an old friend, Mr. John Whyte, of Campbellford, who is spending a few days visiting friends in town.

—Mr. and Mrs. Tremble, of Toronto, have returned home after spending a few days in Peterborough, with her mother, Mrs. G. A. Woods, 123 Stewart-st.

—Mr. Perby Pearson, of W. J. Pearson & Son, the enterprising horse buyers, was in town on Wednesday, a guest at the White House. Mr. Pearson secured some good stock while here.

—Mr. C. McGill, the popular General Manager of the Ontario Bank, was elected a member of the Executive Committee at the annual meeting of the Canadian Bankers Association, held at Toronto on Thursday.

—The Times was favored with a call from Dr. Chestnut, of Seattle, Wash, and Mr. R. O. Matchett, Millbrook, who are in town in connection with their large enterprise in British Columbia.

—Mr. W. A. Brodie, of Hespeler, who formerly conducted a large woollen manufacturing business in Peterborough, has resigned from the management of the Hespeler Woollen Co., and removed to Peterborough.

—The Times extends its hearty congratulations to Mr. Lional King on the attainment of the degree of M D. at Trinity University. Dr. King, it is said will go to the United States to practice. He will be greatly missed by his many friends in Peterborough.

—We clip the following from the Insurance Press. Mr. V. G. Bell, who is a son of Dr. A. Bell of this place, has been engaged as agent for the Prudential Insurance Co., of America, in Boston, Mass., and has met with such success that he has been appointed Asst. Supt. in Forest Hill, Mass:—"Agent V. G. Bell in nine weeks has placed his name as No. 12 among thousands of Prudential Agents. His record shows what can be done when one has pluck and is willing to work. There is not a single evening that Mr. Bell does not have from one to three back-calls which he must look after, and he never fail to look after him."

A GOOD FRIEND.

THOS. ARNOLD OF LINDSAY PRAISES

Powley's Liquified Ozone

IT CURED HIM OF KIDNEY DISEASE.

The wonderful way that Powley's Liquified Ozone is making cures, stamps it at once as a most wonderful preparation. You should not continue the old-fashioned medicine method. You should take a treatment which kills the germs of your disease. That treatment is Powley's Liquified Ozone. Thos. Arnold, Esq., is a well-known citizen of Lindsay, Ont. If you doubt this testimonial you should write to him. He will answer your questions cheerfully. "Some time ago I strained myself; cold set in and very soon I had disease of the bladder which gave me great pain. I was operated upon and pronounced incurable. You recommended your remedy, "Ozone," which I at once tried. Ozone acted at once in a vigorous manner on all my urinary organs and I soon received benefit. I am glad to say I am now about cured, as all my former symptoms are nearly gone. I am free from pain and can work easily and feel physically like a new man. We use your remedy for all ills to any of our family. We feel we would lose a good friend if we could not have your remedy in our house all the time. Very respectfully yours,

THOS. ARNOLD, Lindsay, Ont.

Powley's Liquified Ozone is $1.00 a large bottle, 50c. small size. All druggists, or from the laboratories of the Ozone Co., Toronto, Limited, 48 Colborne St., Toronto, or by Wm. Madill.

Manly Strength and Womanly Beauty depend on purity of the blood, and much of that purity depends on perfect kidney filtering. If these organs are diseased and will not perform their functions, man will seek in vain for strength and woman for beauty. South American Kidney Cure drives out all impurities through the body's "filterers"—repairs weak spots.—46

"Evil Dispositions Are Early Shown."

Just so evil in the blood comes out in shape of scrofula, pimples, etc., in children and young people. Taken in time it can be eradicated by using Hood's Sarsaparilla. In older people, the aftermath of irregular living shows itself in billious conditions, a heavy head, a foul mouth, a general bad feeling.

It is the blood, the impure blood, friends, which is the real cause. Purify that with Hood's Sarsaparilla and happiness will reign in your family.

Blood Poison—"I lived in a bed of fire for years owing to blood poisoning that followed small pox. It broke out all over my body, itching intensely. Tried doctors and hospitals in vain. I tried Hood's Sarsaparilla. It helped. I kept at it and was entirely cured. I could go on the housetops and shout about it." MRS. J. T. WILLIAMS, Carbondale, Pa.

Scrofula Sores—"My baby at two months had scrofula sores on cheek and arm. Local applications and physicians' medicine did little or no good. Hood's Sarsaparilla cured him permanently. He is now four, with smooth fair skin." MRS. S. S. WROTEN, Farmington, Del.

A Dishonest Farmer

A supposedly respectable farmer was detected stealing butter in a cellar of one of the Uxbridge stores recently. His peculations had been going on all summer and his plan was to take his own butter down cellar, place it on a table, loiter around until a favorable opportunity occurred, then fill his keg with other butter, cover it, carry it out the back way to his rig and afterward to proceed to another store to sell the stolen rolls. A watch was set for the gentleman and he was caught slick and clean. When, after filling his basket, he proceeded upstairs to collect for the butter he had brought in, a voice through the speaking tube warned the man at the cash desk and payment was withheld. The young farmer owned up and admitted having taken about $40 worth during the past few months.

A New Society.

At a meeting held in the rooms of the Y.W.C.A. Thursday evening a number of the members met to discuss the organization of a society, to be known as a branch of the International Sunshine Society which is being successfully carried on in many places, the headquarters being at 96 Fifth Avenue, New York. The work carried on by this society will be familiar to readers of the Ladies Home Magazine, and for those who are not familiar with it, a brief history is given below: There is no fee to become a member. Headquarters will be at the Y.W.C.A. rooms, Brock street, where the names of volunteers will be received and badges obtained, and where it is proposed to hold entertainments for which there will be a small admission charged, the proceeds of which will be devoted to some worthy object. The members ask any one who knows of homes or individuals who may be made happier by receiving some gift from the Sunshine Society to send in names to the General-President Girls young and old, women, men and boys, the latter to become honorary members, are invited to enter the Society and wear a badge which can be obtained at headquarters, and then proceed to do some act of kindness to someone—do something that he or she can report to the President-General of the Society. Now is the time to unite with the society, as Christmas is near at hand, and much can be done at this season of the year.

THE BOERS TRYING TO MOVE SOUTHWARD

General Delaney Effectually Checked by Col. Plumer--Stirring Scenes in London.

RECONCENTRADO PLAN ADOPTED BY BRITISH

Kitchener will imitate the Action of the Spanish in Cuba, but with Greater Success—Remarkable Increase in British Mobility.

London, Nov. 17.—The senseless and hopeless resistance of the remnant of the Boer forces to British arms still continues despite the active and vigorous measures of Roberts and Kitchener. Strange to relate the greatest activity from those quarters of the conquerer, but not pacified, republics which formed the scene of the early operations of the war. If reports are to believed the railway which connects Bloemfontein with Cape Colony via the Norval's Pont bridge and Bethulie is a mere wreck, having been interrupted in twenty places, a fact which indicates that large numbers of Boers are still in the field in the southern part of the Orange River Colony, and that these are gifted with an obstinacy which is unreasoning. More over, the line between Belmont, the old camping ground of the first Canadian contingent, and Kimberley is broken, so that communication between the sea and the Orange River Colony and the Transvaal is interrupted except by way of Pietermaritzburg and Ladysmith, through the neck of Natal. This route is also threatened, for the Boers are in force around Vryheid, forty miles over the boarder, which is besieged, and there is a possibility that they may make an incursion with the object of cutting the railway and thus severing Lord Roberts totally from the sea. The interruption in any case would, of course, only be temporary, for the British are in sufficient force to quickly reopen the railways. Still the fact that the enemy is able at this late stage of the war to strike effectively at vital points in the British armor is to be lamented, for it is a clear indication that their spirit is by no means broken and that the end of the campaign is still afar off. The most interesting feature these late war days is the extraordinary increase in mobility on the part of the British, who on numerous occasions recently have done what they repeatedly failed to do several months ago—come to close quarters with the foe. Official despatches now frequently record surprises of bodies of Boers and their signal defeat by mobile infantry, and in no case are the burghers able to stand up in a hand-to-hand conflict, another confirmation of the statement that the British soldier retains his pristine valor. However, it may mean many months of this hammer and tongs work before peace is finally restored.

THE RECONCENTRADO PLAN.

Durban, Nov. 17.—The Natal Mercury reports that among the measures to be adopted in order to pacify the Boers is the reconcentrado plan of Lord Roberts. Lord Kitchener has decided to take this step owing to the difficulty of dealing with the armed Boers while hampered by the civilian population in the outlying small towns.

BOERS BADLY DEFEATED.

Bloemfontein, Nov. 17.—The Boers heavily attacked the railroad at Edenburg, Nov. 15, "Thursday." It is reported that the Boers were completely cut up. One report has it that 75 of the party were killed or wounded.

Ottawa, Nov. 16.—The list of casualties in the Canadian Dragoons at the battle of Belfast on Nov. 6, has at last come to hand. A message was received by the Department of Militia this afternoon from Sir Alfred Milner, giving the names of two Canadians killed and twelve wounded in repulsing the determined attack of 200 mounted Boers.

LORD ROBERTS DESPATCH.

Lord Roberts, in his despatch of November 6 reporting the affair, after describing the gallantry of the Royal Canadian Dragoons and Mounted Rifles and Royal Canadian Artillery, said: "In the afternoon an event unprecedented in this war occurred, when some 200 mounted Boers suddenly charged the rear guard to within seventy yeards, when they were suddenly stopped by the Canadian Dragoons. During the fight sixteen of the Canadians fell into the hands of enemy, who treated them kindly, and released them after removing their own dead and wounded, during which operation the Canadians were compelled to lie on their faces in order that they might not see how heavily the Boers had suffered. Our casualties were two killed and twelve wounded."

HEART-STIRRING SCENES.

London, Nov. 17.—The scene at the reception of the colonial troops by the Quaan in Windsor Castle yesterday was a heart-stirring one. The men, who marched into St. George's Hall, where her Majesty was seated, came from places very far asunder, geographically, but they represented the unity of the British Empire. Many of them limped, and all were invalids, yet they looked an exceedingly serviceable body of men. They included members of the Canadian contingent. The Queen asked after the welfare of the men witht rue womanly interest, and every word of her graceful little speech was distinctly heard throughout the fine hall in which Emperors and Kings have been repeatedly entertained.

VRYHEID IS BESIEGED.

London Nov. 17.— "The Vryheid garrison is practically besieged," says the Pietermaritzburg correspondent of The Daily Telegraph, wiring Thursday, "and the town is evacuated. A position has been taken upon the hills commanding, and notices have been posted in the vicinity, Warning the Boers that if they attempt to re-occupy the town it will be blown to pieces."

BOER MARAUDERS ACTIVE.

Cape Town, Nov. 17.—It is reported here that the Boers have broken the railroad in twnety places between Bloemfontein and the Orange River. They have also cut the line between Kimberley and Belmont.

BAGS AWAIT CLAIMANTS.

Ottawa, Nov. 17.— A number of kit bags belonging to invalided soldiers who arrived at Quebec are at the militia stores, Ottawa, awaiting claimants. Many of these kit bags canno the identified, as they bear private marks only. The owners will be good enough to apply.

BOERS TRY TO MOVE SOUTH.

Pretoria, Nov. 16.— Two strong Boer commandoes with herds of cattle have arrived near Balmoral, one on each side of the Wilge river. They have been trekking from the bush veldt, where it is impossible for the cattle to live in the summer. The object of the move appears to be to reach good pasturage for the cattle. Gen. Delarey appears to be trying to move south for the same purpose, but has been checked by Gen. Plumer in the Magaliesberg passes, which are now firmly held by the British.

A JOLLY PARTY

The famous Morrow—Wince hunting party returned from their annual hunt on Friday night, as already announced in these columns. The party secured five deer, the smallest ever brought down by these hunters.

The members of the party were:—Messrs. R. A. Morrow, H. C. Winch, T. E. Bradburn, A Stevenson, T. H. G. Denne, Peter Campbell, R. Kingan, J. D. Collins, R. Neill, W. D. Parker, D. Walker, H. Ritchie, D. W. Dumble and W. H. Hill. The party encamped at the mouth of Battle creek, comfortably installing themselves in one of the Dickson Co.'s shanties. Mr. Alex. Simpson, of Rock Cross, who has for 25 years acted as guide to this party, was again to the fore. Mr. Harry Winch, who is an enthusiastic hunter, as well as a songster of note, was the life of the party. On dull days, when the hunters were weary, tired and dispirited, Harry would enliven the proceedings in some way by his original humor and good nature. He sang the Marseillese in such a way that warmed the heart of the party, and made it impossible for anyone to look dull or unhappy.

Shortly after the arrival of the party at camp, the following rules were adopted for the guidance of the members.

1.—When hunting in the woods after dark each hunter will be required to carry a lantern, under penalty of being fined or committed for misdemeanor.

2.—Each hunter will be required to carry a bell, which must be rung at intervals of no longer than 20 seconds. A cowbell hung around the neck, and of sufficient size to be heard half a mile, will answer the purpose and prevent him from being mistaken for a black bear.

3.—The color of the hunter's clothes will also be a subject for consideration under this safeguarding law. He will be required to wear clothes of the golf pattern, which speak for themselves.

4.— A red coat can be seen a long way off, and loud checks will announce to his fellow sportsmen that a man is approaching and not a moose.

5.—The law will not excuse a hunter for shooting a man, clothed according to statute, on the plea of self-defence. If you don't bag any game with these clothes on you had better buy it at the market price from Tom Eastwood.

6.—It would be advisable to make as much noise as possible to warn other hunters of your approach. Whistle some rag-time air, sing out some popular song, shout and yell at the top of your voice, or, to make assurance doubly sure, fire a few salutes in the air.

7.—Some near-sighted sportsmen will still insist that you are a fine buck and make ready to bag you. Under these circumstances make haste to convince him that you are not a deer by handing him your card. This may save him from fine and imprisonment. This idea was suggested by Mr. Dumble, without charge.

8.—It is a good idea to use a very fine judgment in hunting. Even if you think it is a deer, and feel sure of it, still you are cautioned to go up to it and feel it all over. Ask questions if necessary.

9.—Don't be rash and get in jail. Carry a zoology with you. ; it may help you out at times so that you can tell exactly what you are shooting at—a Cervus virginarious or Homo sapiens.

10.—Don't shoot first and then go home and look in the Times to see who is missing.

11.—If you see an object in the bushes you think is a bear, walk up to it, push the brush aside, and prod it with the butt of your gun; make it stand up and show itself.

ARRESTED FOR PERJURY

Mrs Wm O'brien Charged with a Very Serious Offence

On Saturday afternoon Mrs. Wm. O'Brien, who lives on Downie street, was taken into custody charged with perjury.

It appears that when Mr. John Clancy was charged at the police court with a violation of the liquor license law, last week, Mrs. O'Brien was a witness for the prosecution. Her evidence was so strong that the prosecution rested its case. Other witnesses for the defence contradicted the statements of Mrs. O'Brien point plank, and the magistrate had no alternative but to dismiss the case. Somebody evidently was lying, and on the matter being reported to the County Crown Attorney, a warrant for the arrest was made out. The matter will be disposed of at the police court this morning.

TAKEN BY SUPRISE.

QUEBEC TORIES VERY MUCH SURPISED AT DISSOLUTION.

They Talk of Making no Opposition--Unique Political Situation in the Province

Quebec, Nov. 18.—Prior to leaving for Montreal Saturday afternoon, Hon. E. J. Flynn, the provincial leader of the Conservative Opposition, preferred to make no statement for publication as to the fight to be made in the provincial elections. Quebec Conservatives anxiously await news from the party leaders in Montreal and from Mr. Flynn, after his interviews with them to-day and to-morrow. Though more or less disheartened with the result of the late Federal struggle, and considerably fatigued with their recent electoral campaign, many of them are still ready at the word of command from the party leaders to enter loyally upon another fight though they realize fully that the Government has permitted no time for a proper political campaign by the Opposition, hoping, doubtless, to snatch a snap verdict from the electors.

The Chronicle says that among the Conservatives there is a strong opinion that the elections have been brought on in such a way and at such a season and on such brief notice as to render anything like a real contest out of the question. There are some, nevertheless, who think that the Government should be opposed in order that the people may have an opportunity to pass judgment on the methods adopted now to ensure its return. The Chronicle adds that in this district the course generally favored is not to oppose the Government at all, but to allow it a walk over.

A UNIQUE SITUATION.

It gives the following opinion, expressed by a leading Quebec Conservative yesterday—

"The political situation in the province of Quebec is unique. The Liberals have swept the province from end to end in the Federal campaign, only seven seats out of sixty-five going to the Opposition. Now they have sprung a dissolution on the province, giving the Conservatives only two weeks to get candidates in the field. It is absolutely impossible to reach some part of the province at this time. The roads are bad and navigation is at an end. Will the Conservatives contest the province? I scarcely think they will. They will not shirk a fair fight, but this is scarcely one of that nature."

L'EVENEMENT'S VIEW.

L'Evenement (Cons.) says the Parent Government evidently wishes to profit by the recent success of the Liberal party in this province, and to maintain itself in power with as little difficulty as possible. After all, who can blame it? It is true that it would have had as much in its favour fifteen or eighteen months from now, but we understand its hurry to profit not only by the provincial concentration of last week, but also by the disorganization of the Conservative party. It is very probable that there will be no Conservative opposition in the next legislature. If certain rumours are to be believed, the Conservative party in this district will take no part in the fight, leaving the ministerialists absolute masters of the situation. Thus would be an unprecedented fact in a country with a popular constitution. On the other side the absence of a serious Opposition in the legislature will be very regretable. All well-thinking men will admit that it would be injurious to the general interests of the province."

SOME OTHER OPINIONS.

The Telegraph says that the dissolution had taken nobody by surprise, and that consequently it cannot be said that the Government has sprung a mine upon the public.

The Soleil, enlarging upon its alleged motive for dissolution, says that the traditions of the Liberal party favour the endorsement by the people themselves of the Crown's choice of a Premier. "The Liberal party has never had a prime minister, a man who had not been deputed by the people. Mr. Mackenzie, Mr. Laurier, Mr. Joly, Mr. Mercier, Mr. Marchand, all have been premiers with the assent of the people as well as of the Crown. We differ on this point from the Conservatives, who have had successively imposed upon the people by the Crown. Hon. Mr. DeBoucherville, Hon. Dr. Ross and Sir Mackenzie Bowell, who had never succeeded in being elected by the people."

The "Courier du Canada" says—"It is only to obtain a party advantage that the Government has elections now. The only true reason is this which they do not give. Have at least the courage of your convictions, gentlemen, and do not present so ridiculous a spectacle when your game is apparent to everybody."

THREE MEN LOST MID ARTIC SNOWS

Duke of Abruzzi will go North Again to Try to Rescue Followers Missing on His Last Journey.

London, Nov. 17. — It was announced last week that the Duke of the Abruzzi would return to Franz Josef Land next spring in the hope that he might succeed in rescuing the three men from his expedition who were lost during his recent sojourn in that far northern land. In the brief reports of his discoveries, and of the remarkable sledge journey of one of his parties which atteined the highest latitude ever reached, nothing was said of the great misfortune which befell the expedition. The facts have been made known only since the expedition returned to Italy. It will be remembered that the first sledge party which the Duke sent north from his vessel, the Stella Polare, when she was frozen in the ice in latitude 81 degrees 55 minutes, was a failure, owing to the frightful cold, the temparature failling to 53 degrees Celsius. It was late in February last when the expedition returned to the ship. On March 11 a fresh attampt was made. Ten men and many dogs started northward. After ten days' march Lieut. Guarini of the Italian Navy, the Norweigan machinist Stocken, and the Italian Alpine guide Ulie, declined to go any further, and were sent back to the ship with the sledge and ten dogs.

They neve rreturned to the ship and no trace of them could be found. All the othe rmembers of the party, with the ship's doctor as leader, advanced for twenty days to beyond the eighty-third parallel and returned safe and sound to the ship. It was the third expedition that later made the highest northing.

SEARCHED IN VAIN.

Searching expeditions were sent out for the lost men, but all in vain. Two depots of supplies were left for them at places which it was thought they might reach if they were alive. After the return of the expedition to Italy an official marine enquiry was held as to the disappearance of the three men. Seven members of the expedition were examined. None except the Duke of Abruzzi thought the men could possibly be alive. Dr. Cavalli, who was with the party when the unfortunate men turned back, testified that the ice was weak in many places and covered with new snow, and he believed the party had fallen in and were drowned. There was no danger' he said, of their losing their course on their way back to the ship, for they knew perfectly the route to steer. A rescue expedition would be impossible in the dark season. Other witnesses expressed their belief that the men had either succumbed to snow-storms or had fallen through the ice.

The Duke of the Abruzzi alone said he believed that there was hope that the men had reached one of the supply stations, or, at least, had found refuge on some Island where they might be able to live, as Nansen did in the same region, upon the game they killed. He at once hired another vessel, the Stella Polare being too badly used up for further Arctic work, and in the spring he will make his way with a new crew across Barents Sea to the archipelago where he spent last winter. He will lead a forlorn hope, but he has nobly determined to undergo all the hardships necessary to ascertain whether his lost comrades are still alive in the frightful Arctic waste where they were sawllowed up.

Bishop Made an Indian

Deseronto, Ons., Nov. 17.— At a reception held at the rectory, Tyendinaga Reserve, this afternoon, Bishop Mills, coadjutor of Ontario, was initiated as a ful member of the Mahawk tribe of Indians. His Indian name is "Sha-rih-h-wa-neh," or "the man with large words; the bearer of an importent message." The communion service used at Christ church on this occasion was one presented to the tribe by Queen Anne. Dr. Oronhyatekha came down from Toronto to be present at the ceremony.

SCOURGE SWEEPS OFF ALASKAN NATIVES

Disease and Starvation Decimating the Exquimaux as Never Before.

St. Michael, Alaska, Nov. 17.—A scourge of sickness and death such as never before was known in Alaska has attacked the Esquimaux population throughout the western and centeal parts of the territory this year. Tales incredible to one who has not been a personal witness could be told o fthe awful havoc wrought by disease during the past summer. The white man, of whom these never were so many before in Alaska, has escaped, and even the congested and exposed settlement at Nome, where thousands of miners and adventurers were congergated, was miraculously saved from an epidemic. But the native, who is always the friend of the whites, for whom he has suffered in a variety of ways since civilization approached his shores, has been stricken as never before. In some native villages one-half of the population has died of disease and starvation. Those who escaped death did so only after severe illness and privation. Being sick, the natives have been unable to engage in their summer occupation of fishing, and the outlook for the winter is as gloomy as the long Arctic night.

INCREDIBLE STORIES.

All the Government officers in Alaska and all the captains of merchant and tramp vessels that have called at this port since spring have told almost incredible stories of the suffering among the Esquimaux. The worst was up the Yukon, among the river natives. Captain Cantwell, commanding the revenue cutter Nunivak, which wintered in the Dall River, a northern branch of the main stream just below the Arctic circle, and has been patrolling the Yukon all summer, took on board here early in the season twenty-one tons of relief supplies, and these were distributed among the sick and starving natives at the villages on the river. The twenty tons formed only a drop in the bucket. The necessity was far greater than the Government realized.

ALL HAD LEFT.

The Esquimaux in other parts of Alaska suffered severely. The epidemic extended throughout the western peninsula along the coast as far north as Cape Lisburne in the Arctic Ocean, and attacked the natives in the islands of Behring Sea and even on the coast of Siberia, opposite the Seward Peninsula. At King's Island, St. Lawrence Island and the few points on the Siberian coast visited by ships this summer the sickness among the natives differed only in extent. The worst conditions were found at Little King's Island, a rock rising suddently out of the middle of Behring Sea, and darmed as the house of the only cliffdwelling people in this part of the world. On the occasion of our visit all the natives, including the sick, had left the island temporarily, with the evident purpose of trading with white men on the mainland. Only two or three of their little walrus-skin kyaks and their dogs remained behind.

THIRTY-EIGHT DEAD.

The whole population of King's Island is something like two hundred. Yet we found the bodies of thirty-eight men, women and children lying about the doors and on the roofs of the cliff houses. Apparently there were not enough well persons in the community to carry the dead to the burying ground that could be seen a hundred feet higher upon the cliff. It need not be considered singular that the surviving inhabitants, even those who were sick, had gone or been carried away to the mainland in their boats, for an Esquimau is notoriously careless of his physical well-being. The well wished to go to the mainland to trade, so the sick were taken along with them and this incident is thoroughly characteristic of the customs of the Esquimaux.

Attempts have been made to convey the idea that the natives of Alaska have been suffering his year from a mysterious malady. There is nothing mysterious about it. Pneumonia and modified forms of the disease resembling very closely what is known in the United States as grip are responsible fo rthe greater number of the deaths by which the native population has been awfully decimated. Measles has caused many fatilities. In some instances dysentery and typhoid fever have been found, and in most clases the later disease proved fatal.

Chief Surgeon R. G. Ebert, U. S. A., states. "As the summer is the time when the natives should lay by his winter stores, and as this epidemic extends to Cape York, as I have seen by personal observation, and am reliably informed, also down to the cost of the Kuskoquim and up the Yukon for more than 300 miles, it is evident that no native will remain alive by next spring unless immediate measures are taken to feed, clothe and care for these people for the next six months.

Lionizing Kruger.

Marseilles, Nov. 17.—Preparations for the reception of President Kruger have been actively carried on for a week. He is expected to land here to-day. The city is in such a fiercely jubilant mood that it might well be taken for the "Marseillaise Hymn" in prepria persona. The French Cabinet cannot take official action to receive Kruger as president, for fear Great Britain will be offended, so it will receive him today as the Chief of State travelling incognito—meaning that the French authorities, including President Loubet, will show every consideration to the distinguished visitor, but that there will be no military honors paid, no official festivities provided. The prefect of Marseilles has given the popular sympathy free play, according to his instructions, but has vigorously prevented the display of flags, transparencies, luminous signs. Additional police are here from Lyons and other southern cities to help the Marseilles police enforce the order. A large number of prominent Frenchmen are here to do President Kruger honor, and forty society woman will present to him an address in the name of the French Dames Committee for the Independence of the Boers. One hundred and eighty-five cities, towns and villages have sent delegations to Marseilles. Military organizations secret societies, guilds and confederations of all sorts from every part of the country are represented with bands, uniforms and flags in the procession. It is estimated that three million persons are present.

THE NEW G. T. R. GEMERAL MANAGER

The Former General Traffic Manager Succeeds Mr Hays as General Manager.

Montreal, Nov. 17.— "Special"— It is officially announced this morning that George Bell Reeve, formerly general traffic manager of the Grand Trunk Railway, who retired from the service last April to devote the remainder of his life to fruit farming in California, has been appointed general manager of that company in succession to Charles M. Hays, who has accepted the presidency of the Southern Pacific.

Mr. Reeve was traffic manager of the Chicago and Grand Trunk before coming to this city as general traffic manager, under the new management in 1896. He filled minor official positions on the Grand Trunk at various points in Canada before going to the Chicago and Grand Trunk. He is an Englishman by birth.

Mr. Reeve's name has been what might be considered a dark house, not a word having leaked out that would have indicated his appointment until the official announcement.

Mr. Kruger Given the Freedom of Dublin.

Dublin, Nov. 19.—Mr. Michael Davit's address, which it is proposed to present to the ex-President Kruger, is in Irish and will be first read to him in that tongue, and afterwards translated into Dutch. One paragraph states—"We have followed the long contest in South Africa with absorbing interest. Seldom in history has a nobler stand for political liberty been made by small band of free men against an overwhelming horde of mercenaries in the pay of those who coveted land and gold and hated independence. The names of the mountains and plains of your Republica take their place in history beside those of Marathon and Sempach and Bunker's Hill, incentives to strivings for human liberty. Overwhelming numbers, the resources of one of the richest empires upon earth, without conscience remorse where her own supposed interests and pride are concerned have prevailed. Here is the shame, yours is the honor. Time must bring reversal of such gigantic wrong."

Large Addition to the Navy.

Washington, Nov. 19.—As finally adopted the United States naval increase contemplated for 1901 involves the construction of 32 vessels of 6,600 tons displacement, more than double that laid down in any preceeding year. Congress will be asked to authorize three 15,000-ton battleships, two 13,000-ton armored cruisers, six 2,000,000-ton gunboats, three 16,000 ton colliers, one 77,000-ton repair ship, and one 7,00-0-ton marine transport. The five fighting ships proposed are more formidable than any of the same category yet designed. With the 17 now building or authorized, and with the six battleships and two armored cruisers already in commission, they will give an offensive force of 30 ships. The three colliers are designed to deliver on a single voyage from Norfolk 15,000 tons of coal at Manila, Guma, Pago, or Hawaii. They will have sufficient speed to accompany a fleet of battleships on a long cruise.

Vigorous Attacks Being Made on the British Government

Joseph Chamberlain Censured for Making Profits From His Position While Preventing Subordinates Doing Likewise and the Ministers Generally Attacted for Holding Directorates.

London, Nov. 17.—Minimum news and maximum rain were the distinguishing features of the week. Such gloomy, wet days as experienced here recently are unusual, even for London. Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, that central filure in British politics, can congratulate himself for more reasons than one upon his absence from murky London. He is sojourning on the sunny Mediterranean, and is temporarily safe from the vigorous personal attacks which continue to be made upon him by the Liberals from Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman down.

The latest and most important of these is a statement made by the Morning Leader showing Mr. Chamberlain holds £7,000 (shares) in the Colombo Commerical Company, which is receiving large contracts for housing Boer prisoners in Ceylon. What makes the case still more dam anding is that the fact that Mr. Chamberlain sanctioned as Colonial Secretary, a regulation laid down by the Governot of Ceylon strictly prohibiting any officer of the Local Government from interesting himself or his family in private business. In other words, Mr. Chamberlain forbids his subordinates, under pain of severe penalty, to do what he himself is doing on a large scale. It now seems impossible for Mr. Chamberlain to avoid explanation, for which he will undoubtedly be asked when Parliament reassembles.

Another feature in the same connection of which the Liberals are making no little capital, is the extraordinary number od directorships in private companies held by Government officers. Of the twenty Cabinet Ministers thirteen are directors, while between all the thirty-six Ministers twenty-seven directorships are held. The first commences with Lord Salisbury, who assists in the management of an insurance company, and includes Lord Selborne, who is both First Lord of the Admiralty and a director of the Peninsula and Oriental Steamship Company; Mr. Gerald Balfour, who unites a directorship in an aluminum company, with the presidency of the Board of Trade, and many other incongruous associations, several of the companies being financially discredited.

With such flagrantly weak spots in the armor of the new Cabinet, it is no wonder the Liberals are imploring Lord Rosebery to lead the party. Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman's appeal to the ex-Premier only voices the feeling of the majority of the party, but it was accomplished by such bitter denunciations of the so-called Imperialists that it can scarcely be expected to produce such results.

PETERBOROUGH, NOVEMBER 19, 1900

OUTRAGE IN WEST DURHAM.

A marked cheque was accepted in West Durham as the equivalent of "legal tender" for a $200 deposit; the names of both candidates appeared on the ballot paper; the election was held, and C. J. Thornton, the independent candidate, secured a majority of the votes.

After the election is completed, up to the point of virtually declaring the refuse to give effect to the will of the through D. Burke Simpson, Q.C., insist that the returning officer shall go back on his own procedure, question the validity of the $200 deposit, and refuse to give effect to the will of the people.

The antics of the West Durham partisans indicate the reasons for the downfall of Liberalism in that historic riding. Just as the Conservative party was disgraced by the behaviour of John R. Dunn in Queen's County, N.B., the Ontario Liberal party must be injured by a quibbling and unprovoked attack on the well established rights of C. J. Thornton in West Durham.

WHAT CONSTITUTES NEPOTISM?

The complaints making in England and comment heard in this country because Lord Salisbury is appointing his relatives to office, is over no serious matter. If a Prime Minister or any person having authority has good relatives, why shouldn't he give them places in preference to anybody else? He would be a singular man, indeed, if he did not.

The offence on nepotism is that it carries with it a presumption of unfitness in the persons selected, and a prejudice in their favor by the person who selects them. There is no reason that Austen Chamberlain, the son of Joseph Chamberlain, should not be Parliamentary and Financial Secretary to the Exchequer if he is fit. Certainly being the son of his father is no objection, even though the young man would not have reached the office if his father had not put him there. If he is found to be incompetent he will be moved out; if otherwise not successful in the administration of it, it will be taken from him.

The most marked instance of nepotism is that which exists in the family of the Queen, where more than a hundred persons not subjects of Great Britain but relatives to Victoria hold places of honor, profit and idleness. As to Salisbury's relatives his family have enjoyed favor from its head since William Cecil, Elizabeth's Secretary, put his own son in office, who, becoming the first Lord Burleigh, was also in time one of the greatest Prime Ministers of England, down to our esteemed townsman, Mr. Wm. Salisbury, who for many years held the important position of secretary of the Stratton Conservative Association. When the Earl of Chatham named William Pitt, his son, for a pocket borough in Parliament and put him in a place from which he rose to greater distinction than even his father, it was nepotism, but not offensive nepotism.

Naturally, nepotism is opposed to the spirit of our Canadian government, but it prevails without the name among merchants where the title "& Son" or "Sons" is almost as common as "& Co." In England it is the order of things and as natural as the law of primogeniture so that any indignation over Lord Salisbury's acts is simply wasted.

HISTORICAL NOTES.

A Wisconsin clergyman is out with the declaration that a man has a right to go fishing on Sunday if his business keeps him from doing so on the other six days of the week. This is probably the most startling fish story since the days of Jonah and the whale.

* * *

A wonderful surgical operation is reported from Toronto. A man had what is known as spreading gangrene in his lower limbs, and the doctors decided that the only way to save his life was to take his legs off at the hips. This was successfully performed, and the patient is actually getting along well. Here is a man who can't kick and say there are no clever doctors in Toronto.

* * *

As to the Prince of Wales taking to eye-glasses it's quite natural that at 60 a man looks out on the world differently than at 20.

* * *

Ontario Conservatives are gradually working out their line of campaign. Next month they propose to hold a convention in Toronto, consisting of four or five delegates, with proper credentials, from each constituency, to definitely formulate a modus operandi and possibly make a suggestion as to leadership. Sir Charles Tupper will likely be present. He will be tendered a banquet, when perhaps he will formally relinquish the leadership, if he has not previously done so. It is rumored that Mr. W. F. Maclean will support Mr. N. Clarke Wallace for leader and be willing to accept the chief whip-ship for himself.

FUN AND SENTIMENT.

"I don't think that Mr. Eatington ever declines an invitation to dinner." "Oh, no! He's a sort of social lion seeking what he may devour."—Puck.

"I see it is becoming the fad to have your wedding cinematographed." "But a feller doesn't have to have his courtship cinematographed, thank heaven!"

"Pa, what is a lineal descendant?" "A lineal descendant is a person who has to fall back on some praiseworthy ancestor for his own importance."—Detroit Free Press.

"As to the emperor," said the empress dowager, "the silly boy hardly knows whether he is dead or alive." "From which," remarked Li Hung Chang, "I infer that he reads the papers."—Puck.

Visitor—"What is the meaning of this large and enthusiastic demonstration? Is there a peace jubilee being held?" Boy—"Naw, sir. De local football club wiped de earth up wid der rivals."—Norristown Herald.

Book Canvasser—Pardon me, madame, but are you interested in the study of prehistoric man? Miss Antique—No indeed! It keeps me busy trying to get the man of to-day interested in me.—Chicago News.

"Young Populare is the most self-possessed man I ever saw. He never gets the least bit rattled under any circumstances." "Why, in what exigency did you ever see him tried, to have such confidence in him?" "I saw him exhibiting his first baby to half a dozen women at once, and answering every question rationally."

A Tart Old Lady.

Out in Indiana a good many years ago a certain old lady, summoned as a witness, came into court wearing a large poke bonnet, such as was then much affected by rural folks. Her answers to the questions put to her being rather indistinct, the court requested her to speak louder, though without much success.

"The court cannot hear a word you say, my good woman," said the judge. "Please to take off that huge bonnet of yours."

"Sir," she said composedly and distinctly enough this time, "the court has a perfect right to bid a gentleman take off his hat, but it has no right to make a woman remove her bonnet."

"Madam," replied the judge, "you seem so well acquainted with the law that I think you had better come up and take a seat with us on the bench."

"I thank your honor kindly," she responded, dropping a low courtesy to the court, "but there are old women enough there already."—Law Notes.

Mistakes in Telegraph Messages.

Two funny telegraph stories are printed by the Pittsburg Dispatch on the authority of a former employe of the Western Union company.

He was receiving a dispatch from Albany, in which the sender was not overcareful in spacing his letters. Lawton took the address as follows:

"Dr. A. Wing, room car agent, Central depot, New York."

The dispatch came back with the marginal report that there was no such person at the address named. The operator at Albany was called up and explanations followed, in consequence of which the address was changed to "drawing room car agent, central depot."

A still more absurd mistake was once made in the same office when a telegram was received for "James W. Giles, pie clerk, Brooklyn nasty yard." This was afterward amended to read "James W. Gillespie, clerk, Brooklyn navy yard."

A Happy Mother

Frolicking with her baby makes one of the prettiest spectacles ever seen in the home. But nothing is sadder to see than the unhappy mother, weak and nervous, striving in vain to hush the cries of her weak and nervous babe. There can be no happiness for either mother or child without health. Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription "has done wonders" for many a woman, by restoring her health and opening for her the way to happy motherhood. This really wonderful medicine is not a cure-all. It is a preparation specially designed to cure diseases peculiar to women. It dries debilitating drains, heals inflammation and ulceration, cures female weakness, and removes the causes which generally make women nervous and sleepless.

There is no alcohol in "Favorite Prescription" and it contains no opium, cocaine or other narcotic.

Mrs. James W. Blacker, of 609 Catherine Street, Syracuse, N. Y., writes: "Your medicines have done wonders for me. For years my health was very poor; I had four miscarriages, but since taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and 'Golden Medical Discovery,' I have much better health, and now I have a fine healthy baby."

ATTACK of ROYAL CANADIANS at Paardeberg
The present is a time when war pictures are in greater demand than ever. The conduct of the British soldiers on the battlefield has won the plaudits of admiring nations. We have at great expense published four large, beautiful pictures size 20x24, on heavy, superfine calendered paper. A picture that will commend itself and send a thrill to the heart of every true Canadian is the one called Attack of Royal Canadians at Paardeberg, there are literally hundreds of figures on this picture, the mountains or kopjes stretching out into the distance are swarming with men, while here and there a prostrate figure speaks only too well of the Boer riflemen. It was on this battlefield the gallant Major Arnold met death unflinchingly. Indeed, it is only too true that many of those gallant hearts that beat so high when the cheering thousands bade them Godspeed as they sailed from Canada's shores now lie still forever in lonely graves on the other side of the world under African skies. To every Canadian heart, to every Canadian home, the deeds of their brave soldier boys speak with an irresistible thrill of patriotism and pride. Gordon Highlanders at the Battle of Belmont, Charging the Boer Guns at Elandslaagte and the Charge of Gen. French's Cavalry on the Retreating Gen Cronje's Army. These are all stirring pictures and cannot fail to commend themselves to anyone who will examine them. They are RED HOT SELLERS! Agents coin money. Big profits Enormous success. One agent sold 65 in one day. Sample and terms 25 cts (none free); four for 90 cts; $1.75 per dozen; 25 for $3.25; 50 for $6.00; 100 for $11.00. Write to day for a dozen and make money. MESSRS. J. S. HAMILTON & Co., Brantford, Ont., Canada:

Dear Sirs,—In accordance with your wishes I have had both the red and white wines and the champagne tested by several connoisseurs, French and English. All of these expressed surprise that an article of such merit was produced in Canada, and even manufacturers admit that the brand "L'Empereur" is of excellent quality.

This opinion from critics who are by no means easy to please should be very satisfactory to you, and it gives me pleasure to congratulate you upon it. Yours faithfully, have cried out, 'So, this is the husband who deserted me!' You did nothing of the kind; you wound yourself into the wife's heart, to learn more of the husband!"

"I—I—did not know Alde— Mr. Ulvesford, then," gasped Isetta.

"You do not adhere to your story. First you claim him as your husband, now you admit you did not know him," said Mrs. Lorrimer, sarcastically, eyeing the young girl crouching before her, half leaning against the lilac bushes, stunned by her cruel words.

"Alderic's— Mr. Ulvesford's hair was dark then, and he wore no mustache," faltered Isetta.

Had a thunderbolt suddenly fallen from a clear sky, Mrs. Lorrimer could not have been more astounded; the blood receded from her face, leaving it deadly pale.

With the rapidity of lightning something akin to the truth flashed upon her.

She remembered the dark- brown curls had been shorn at the time of the almost fatal accident, and the fair hair changed him wonderfully; then, most pitiful of all, she remembered that that accident had left a blank in the mind of Ulmont Ulvesford; the incidents of that past he had so fruitlessly endeavored to recall.

"Great God!" she muttered, "can this be the missing link? No," she cried vehemently, "Heaven is not so unkind to my poor Loraine."

A great spasm of pain shot through her as she turned to Isetta in her woe. She forgot her anger, pride, everything in her agonized fear for Loraine; she only remembered she was a mother standing by, hearing her darling Loraine's honor called in jeopardy.

There was solemn truth depicted in Isetta's face; yet how could she believe her? it was beyond human nature.

She put out her hands in a groping way, and would have fallen had Isetta not caught her in her arms.

Isetta knew she was her most bitter foe, yet she felt the deepest pity for the mother's woe.

That mother was blindly praying that Loraine might not be sacrificed; come what might, she would do valiant battle for the sake of her child.

"No one would believe you," she cried out sharply. "The whole world would say it was false; you have no proofs. I will compromise with you. Leave America with your child at once, and I will give you half my wealth. I will provide handsomely for your little child; when I die he shall be the heir of the Lorrimer estates. I will gladly, freely, give it; only go away. If you breathe one word of this you will break Loraine's heart. She has been little less than an angel to you; 'twas she who rescued you from the storm in which you would have perished but for her. I am a proud old woman," she cried; "but see, I kneel in the dust at your feet, I kiss the hem of your garment, I beg you to leave Loraine in peace!"

Isetta's face was white as marble as she raised the kneeling, trembling, sorrow- stricken mother to her feet.

"If it was but for my own sake I would not hesitate for an instant, Mrs. Lorrimer," she said. "I would sooner die than breathe one word of this terrible secret. My little child's honor, alone, demands that I should speak."

"God would bless and time immortalize you if you would make a sacrifice for her who succored you in your sorest need. You are a noble woman—will you make it?" groaned the unhappy mother. "Your child is a boy, his life is all before him. My child is a fair, proud woman, in the zenith of her beauty, her love, and all that makes life worth the living. No stain ever crossed her fair name; her honor is a pearl beyond price. Oh, think, Mrs. Rose, with a man the world holds life in a different light; think, Isetta, think, while I kneel and implore you in the dust at your feet."

They could hear Loraine's silvery laughter in the distance.

"See how happy my child is," cried the frenzied mother. "Could you strike a dagger into her heart while she gazed into your eyes with her gay, happy smile? It would be kinder far to do that than to question her right to her husband's love; he is her very life!"

"Yet he is my husband," cried Isetta.

"Let God judge between you in heaven," cried the unhappy mother. "Leave him in peace to Loraine on earth!"

A deep, bitter groan broke the terrible silence that fell between them; the drooping lilac branches were parted slowly asunder, and Ulmont Ulvesford, with a face pale as marble, on which the veins stood out like knotted cords, hurriedly stepped between them.

CHAPTER XXXVI.

"She Has No Proof."

"Ulmont!" cried Mrs. Lorrimer, spring forward, "tell me who is this woman," pointing to Isetta.

"Mother," he cried, "rise from your knees, I——"

As she looked up into his haggard face she read something there that made her cry out with the sharpest agony.

In an awful silence that seemed the length of eternity. Ulmont Ulvesford turned to Isetta, and for one brief instant their eyes met. He spoke no word to Isetta; he addressed himself to the hapless, prostrate mother, his head fell on his breast and in his averted eyes the poor mother read her child's doom, ere the white lips answered, slowly:

"May God help my poor Loraine, she speaks the truth!"

"You dare not tell me you are married to this woman?" shrieked Mrs. Lorrimer, pointing to Isetta, who stood up proudly before them, calm as a marble statue.

Ulmont Ulvesford bowed his head, he could find no words in which to answer her.

"It is not true!" she cried, wildly; "it is a cruel jest; you are Loraine's husband, my pretty, innocent darling."

Ulmont bared his head to the cool winds of heaven, great drops of perspiration rolled down his cheeks, the veins twitched convulsively.

"Hear but a word in my defense," he cried. "God knows I was innocent. My God! I remember all but too plainly now. I have found the missing link. Stop," he commanded, "hear me out, I married her on the impulse of the moment; a mad vow urged by the dying to protect her but one way occurred to me. I married her, I sent my wi—, I sent her to my old nurse in Silvernook when I received the telegram that my mother was dying. I intended to crave Loraine's pardon; I knew she would forgive my rashness, you know the rest; the accident drove that past entirely from my memory. I never knew, God help me, when I led your daughter to the altar, that I had a living wife, but swiftly as memory fled it returned when I heard the accusation in a voice that pierced the dimness of the past crying out. 'Ulmont Ulvesford is my husband!' I gave the name of Alderic Rose in bitter sport. I meant when we reached Boston to tell her I was Ulmont Ulvesford; the consequences have recoiled upon my own head. Although innocent, I am guilty of a crime most horrible." He spoke the words rapidly, vehemently, never once turning toward the silent figure at his right, his arms folded across his breast like one awaiting his doom.

"Ulmont!" cried the mother, clinging to the last hope, crouching at his feet, and covering his hands with passionate tears, "this girl has no proof of this, no proof whatever; for Loraine's sake, your golden- haired young wife, who loves you so, deny it, say that she is mad, 'tis a scheming plot to ruin you. Loraine will never know; the bitter truth would kill her. You might say she died of a broken heart, but the angels in heaven would cry out you murdered her!

"Ulmont, listen to my prayer," she wailed; "send this woman away —we will bury the terrible secret, the world shall never know— defy her to do her worst, remember she is powerless, she has no proof!"

Ulmont Ulvesford raised his eyes to Isetta's face; a bitter war was raging in his soul, such as words are powerless to express.

"I have asked no mercy for myself," said Isetta, in a clear, ringing voice—"but for the honor of our child."

Those words cut him keenly; he did not turn to his wronged young wife, and hold out his hands to her; he turned from her with a bitter groan, the name Loraine on his lips.

Loraine— his sweet, haughty, beautiful Loraine, who loved him so well, whose life he had so cruelly blighted by one rash act. Never did mortal man waver between such conflicting doubts.

Isetta had no proofs of that fatal marriage; the rector was dead who married them. Should he cry out it was all false, and with Loraine clinging to his breast defy her to the bitter end?

"Choose between them," cried the frantic mother.

Like a beautiful marble statue Isetta stood before him, yet she spoke no word.

"My God!" he groaned, "how can I ever again feel the clinging arm of Loraine about my neck, her golden head upon my breast, hear her whisper, 'my husband,' and know she is not my lawful wife, before God and man! Heaven knows I meant well, but fate has conspired against me. Was ever man placed in such a terrible position?" he groaned, "I know not which way to turn."

"Turn to Loraine, she will never know," sobbed the wretched mother.

"It would be a sin, now," he cried out, sharply, "you have forgotten she is not my wife."

His honor was his shield.

"Yet I cannot tell my pure Loraine of the great wrong I have unconsciously done her," he cried out, "she would die then and there at my feet. Give me time to think," he cried, hoarsely.

"Go to Loraine," pleaded the mother. She knew if he were to go to Loraine just then he would clasp her to his heart and defy the whole world to part them.

"No, no," he groaned, "I cannot, honor forbids, it would unman me. I need all my strength."

Then he turned to Isetta, avoiding her clear, calm eyes as he spoke.

"Please leave me to myself awhile. I must have time to consider."

With a haughty bow she turned from him.

"I have one favor to ask," he said, "will you send our little child to me here?"

"No; a thousand times no!" cried Isetta, passionately; "the father who could spurn from him the wronged wife and mother, shall not look upon the innocent face of her child. I shall not enter your door again, nor break your bread. I am going to the home of Abel Moore, the flute- maker of Silvernook; send me word there what you intend to do."

She turned with the imperial grace of a queen; turned from the husband whom she so madly loved even yet, and glided swiftly down the lilac-bordered path in the moonlight out of their sight, leaving Ulmont Ulvesford and the mother of Loraine with a nameless anguish on their faces, gazing into each other's eyes under the star-spangled heavens as they listened to the merry laughter of Loraine as it floated out to them from the rose-bordered porch.

Loraine, or Isetta and her child.

God help him to choose between them.

CHAPTER XXXVII.

Swiss Officers.

All that long night Ulmont Ulvesford paced the library fighting with honor, love, truth and loyalty, the fiercest battle mortal had ever been called upon to face.

There were no words to express the horror with which he gazed upon the bitter fruit of that fatal wooing; unconsciously he had blighted the lives of two women— one he loved with all his soul, sweet, trusting Loraine; the other was his wronged young wife, whom he had sworn to the dying to protect. How could he choose between them?

That night many a silver thread found its way into his fair, clustering hair. Twice Loraine had sent for him.

"Say I am busy with important letters, Zack," he said to the servant who delivered the message.

The man looked in wonder at the haggard face of his young master, as he closed the door softly after him.

Ulmont Ulvesford resumed his walk face to face with the horrible crime which shadowed his life. Again the servant tapped gently as the door.

"If you please, sir, Mrs. Ulvesford

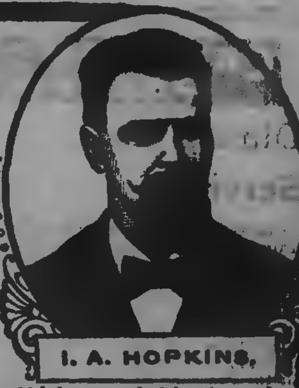
A WONDERFUL

KIDNEY and Bladder CURE

The Honorable Chairman of the Board of County Commissioners, Ellsworth, Kansas, tells how ALKAVIS cured him after Doctors and all other Remedies had Failed.



I. A. HOPKINS.

BRIGHT'S DISEASE, GRAVEL, DROPSY,

And Rheumatism Mastered at Last.

One of the most remarkable medical discoveries of the century is the Kava-Kava Shrub, found on the Ganges River, East India, which has a wonderful action on the kidneys and bladder. Since its introduction into this country its fame has quickly spread, because of its seemingly impossible cures. Prominent men and women have testified to its great curative powers, and hospital tests prove its infallibility even in advanced stages of Bright's Disease. Among the more recent recoveries is that of Hon. I. A. Hopkins, Chairman Board of County Commissioners, Ellsworth, Kansas, who says:

GENTLEMEN:—I will say that I believe and know that I owe my life to Alkavis. I had been troubled with Kidney and Bladder Trouble for years. Two years ago I was sick for six weeks with Malarial Fever which left me in a bad condition. My limbs were swollen with Rheumatism so that I could hardly walk; I was troubled with Indigestion from taking medicine for my Urinary troubles which had become very much worse. I had to get up every hour during the night to urinate. I passed great quantities of blood on account of hemorrhage of the Kidneys and Bladder. I tried and had been trying everything in the shape of Medicine for Kidney Trouble that I could think of or that the Doctors recommended, but nothing helped me for I kept getting worse. I suffered great pain continually in my Kidneys. I made up my mind unless I could get relief that I only had a short time to live. About this time my attention was called to an advertisement of Alkavis. As a drowning man will grasp at a straw, I was ready to try anything for relief. I sent to you for three bottles. I began to take it, and before I had taken it one week I began to feel the good effects of Alkavis. My Kidney Trouble and Rheumatism were soon gone, my digestion became all right, I found myself in better health than for ten years and I am in good health now. I know that Alkavis saved my life. What more can anyone say for a medicine? Unlike most medicines it is good for indigestion. It gives the person taking it a good appetite. I have recommended Alkavis to a great many people and all have been benefited by its use. I am 63 years of age, and am very grateful for what Alkavis has done for me.

Respectfully yours, I. A. HOPKINS.

Rev. W. B. Moore, D. D., Washington, D. C., Editor Religious World, writes that after trying all known medicines for kidney and rheumatic diseases he was permanently cured by Alkavis. Mrs. Wm. H. Hardy, East Rush, Pa., writes that Alkavis cured her after six doctors failed. Rev. J. W. Hickman, Collyer, Trego Co., Kansas, cured of liver, kidney and bladder trouble, of many years' standing, from which he could only get temporary relief and had given up all hope of a cure. Thus the grand work goes on. A new book, entitled "A Thousand Living Witnesses," sent with the free case of medicine, tells of the wonderful cures performed in every state.

Not only does this great discovery—Alkavis (the Kava-Kava Compound)—cure all forms of kidney and bladder diseases, but by expelling from the blood all poisonous deposits, excess of lime, uric acid, urates and lithiates, it banishes gravel, torpid liver, rheumatism, pains in back, difficult and too frequent urination, etc. The cure is complete. No phase is neglected, and the stomach, heart and nerves are toned and invigorated. No other medicine in the world will perform the work of Alkavis. To enable sufferers to get well and spread the glad tidings we have arranged to send a Large Case of Alkavis FREE by mail to all who write us. The case goes entirely FREE.

If you are a sufferer, write to-day and secure at once a Free Case of Alkavis and Book of "A Thousand Living Witnesses." Address The Church Kidney Cure Co., No. 308 Fourth Ave., New York. Please mention this paper.

THE COLORADO COPPER MINING COMPANY

LOCATION OF OUR MINES

THE COLORADO COPPER MINING COMPANY is fortunate in being the possessor of five splendid showing properties in the great Salida copper belt, the principal copper producing region of this portion of the rockies. All of our claims have been more or less developed and it is our purpose to put the same on a paying basis at once.

Our Company owns, clear of incumbrances the following claims,—The Sedalia Extension, the Sedalia Extension No. 2, which property adjoins the great Sedalia mine, which has been a big producer for upwards of seventeen years; the Copper King of Colorado, which immediately adjoins the above; the Copper Queen of Salida, a very promising property, only a few steps from the depot in Salida. This claim occupies an imposing position on a mountain just north of the city; and last, but by no means least, the Sunshine, located two miles east of Salida at Cleora station, on the main Trunk line of the great Denver and Rio Grande Railroad, also on the Arkansas river, which in length is one of America's greatest streams.

PRICES AND TERMS

PRESENT PRICES—We are now selling our fully paid and non-assessable TREASURY SHARES at 5 cents per share, in blocks of 100 shares and more; 100 shares, $5; 1,000 shares, $50; 5,000 shares, $250; or 10,000 shares or more at the same rate. Send your order right NOW, before the next advance, as you will soon pay a higher price. Investors are rapidly investing with us.

The company fully prepays all government revenue, postage, etc. Send also for our handsomely illustrated prospectus, which contains much valuable information. It is free for the asking.

All communications of every nature concerning this company should be plainly addressed to

TOWN AND COUNTY NEWS

Dogs Poisoned

The Eastwood party, who were camped at Squaw River, off Ball Lake, lost seven dogs by poisoning. The party picked up 14 pages of poison, scattered through the woods, while out. The poison was placed between a couple of slices of bread, and dropped along the runways, where the dogs would be most likely to get it.

A Mother's Meeting

The mothers' meeting, in connection with the W.C.T.U., which is to take place at the Y.M.C.A. hall at 3.30 this afternoon, will be addressed by Mrs. Dr. Birnie, on "The care of the infant," and by Mrs. Wallis on "The rights of the child." An urgent invitation is extended to mothers especially to be present.

New Pulpit

A handsome new pulpit has been placed in All Saints' church, and yesterday at the evening service was dedicated by Rev. Mr. Armitage. It is a much needed addition and will also greatly improve the appearance of the church. A very powerful sermon on "Preaching," was given by Mr. Armitage.

Missionary from Japan

Miss Jennie C. Smith, medical missionary in Japan, addressed the nurses in the Nichols hospital Saturday afternoon. Sunday afternoon she attended, and spoke to St. John's Woman's Bible class. After the evening service Miss Smith also spoke in All Saint's church. This evening she will give an address at the Woman's Auxiliary meeting in St. John's school house, to which all women are invited, and members of sister societies.

Death of Alfred W Cowan

A sad death occurred yesterday in the person of Mr. Alfred W. Cowan, at the residence of his mother, Inverlea park. Mr. Cowan will be remembered in connection with the drug business of Mr. J. D. Tully, where he served his apprenticeship. After graduating he went to New York, where he contracted that dread disease, consumption, returning home in August last. He was about 26 years of age. The widowed mother and family have the sympathy of a large circle of friends and acquaintances.

Dan Spence Council.

Dan. Spence Council, No. 24, Royal Templars of Temperance, held a special meeting on Friday night to transact important business and to arrange for a winter's campaign. Concerts will be held at regular intervals during the winter months, and a cake and coffee social will be held shortly, of which an announcement will be made later. Twenty-one members were added to the strength on Friday night, with 10 propositions for next meeting, on Friday, Nov. 23rd. The Council is named after the late Dan. Spence, a member of the order, who was killed in action at Bronkspruit, South Africa, on Sept. 23rd, as our readers all know. The Royal Templars have started the ball rolling in Peterborough in so naming the Council, and perpetuating the name of this Royal Templar hero.

MR. LANG'S SEAT

A Protest Entered Against His Election on Account of Some Trifling Informality

A protest was entered on Saturday against the election of Mr. John Lang in East Peterborough, by Mr. George J. Sherry, of Norwood, on behalf of Mr. Sexsmith. The grounds of the protest are that Mr. Lang's deposit on the day of nomination was made by check, and not a legal tender, as required by law.

It is hardly likely that Mr. Sexsmith will claim the seat. In the case of Mr. Thornton in West Durham, whose election is protested on exactly similar grounds, the defeated candidate, Mr. Beith, disclaimed all intention of accepting the seat, even if it were given him. He took the manly course, and would not claim a position to which a majority of the electors held he was not entitled.

A prominent local Conservative told the Times on Saturday that the matter would probably result in a saw-off between West Durham and East Peterborough.

Since writing the above the Times has been assured that there is nothing in the check story. The necessary money was in the hands of the returning officer in ten dollar bills two days prior to nomination.

JOTTINGS ABOUT TOWN.

—The Town Council will meet on Monday evening.

Considerable venison is being offered for sale by the local butchers.

—There was a good market on Saturday, with abundance of fowl.

—Are you one of the unfortunates who haven't got their double windows up yet?

—Trooper Loosemore, who is reported wounded in South Africa, is a cousin of Rev. J. C. Davidson.

—A volunteer company of youths from 14 to 18 years of age will be formed at Orillia.

—A girl with good education wanted to assist in store and do office work. Apply at Times office. 6dy.

—Returning Officer Morrow will open East Peterborough ballot boxes at eleven o'clock this morning.

—There will probably be some lively handsprings at the Council board between now and election day.

—The second monthly concert to be given by the 57th band is billed for next Friday, Nov. 23rd, at the market hall.

—John Fowler, one of the original promoters of the old Peterborough and Cobourg railway, died at Headingly, Man.

—"I am glad to see that one paper in Peterborough has the courage to speak out on the way our civic affairs—particularly our streets—have been mismanaged," said Mr. J. P. Metheral, in the Clerk's office at a committee meeting the other day. Mr. M referred to the Times, as everybody who was present knows.

—Mr. Carlton, the travelling secretary of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew in England, who is home on a visit to Toronto, called on the Brotherhood here on Saturday evening and had a very interesting talk with them on the work of the Society. Yesterday morning at All Saints' church and last evening at St. John's he gave very interesting addresses, principally to the laymen of the church. This evening he addresses the men of All Saints' church.

The President a Slave to Catarrh.—D. T. Sample, president of Sample's Instalment Company, Washington, Pa., writes: "For years I was afflicted with Chronic Catarrh. Remedies and treatment by specialists only gave me temporary relief until I was induced to use Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder. It gave almost instant relief. 50 cents.—49

Sold by Ormond & Walsh.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

—Mr. John Craig, Lakefield, was in town Saturday attending market.

—Mr. John Lang, M.P., was in town Saturday, receiving the congratulations of his friends.

—Mr. Thomas Blezard, M.P.P., "the father of the Ontario Legislature," was in town on Saturday.

—Miss Ettie Cox, Lakefield, was the guest yesterday of her sister, Miss Ada Cox, and the Misses Wade, London-st.

—Rev. Father Keilty, rector of St. Joseph's, Douro, visited Montreal last week and had a very pleasing interview with Lord Strathcona while there.

—Mr. Macdonald, manager of the London Mutual Life Assurance Co., has returned to the Craig House, Lakefield, for the winter. Mr. Macdonald's health has been poorly since his return home after summering in Lakefield. We hope, under the hospitable care of Mr. Craig, to be able to report a speedy return to perfect health.

RICE LAKE FROZEN OVER

Peculiar Phenomena Witnessed by Many on Friday

Capt. Charlie Calcutt came up from Rice Lake on Friday night and reports the lake frozen over. He was at Muskrat Landing on the Eclipse on Friday morning. The ice began forming at eleven o'clock, on the lee shore, and he at once put out, so as not to be frozen in. It formed almost as fast as the steamer travelled, the whole lake being covered in an hour after the ice started to form. On Friday evening about four o'clock Jack and Dan McAllister crossed on the ice from Gore's Landing to Jubilee, dragging a canoe with them on a handsleigh. Several others have crossed since.

The steamer Eclipse has not completed her season's work yet, two scow loads of wheat and two of live stock are yet at Harwood, billed for Peterborough. Capt. Calcutt hopes that the lake will open again before finally freezing up. He left for Jubilee Saturday.

The Steamer Rainbow is frozen in at Muskrat Landing.

Lord Minto and Party

Lord Minto and party passed through Peterborough on Friday morning en route for Ottawa from the St. Clair flats, where they have spent the last two weeks shooting. While here the Governor-General stepped out of the car and walked up and down the platform with his aide-de-com. To a Times representative he said he enjoyed his shooting trip immensely.

BAD DREAMS.

Caused by Coffee.

"I have been a coffee drinker, more or less, ever since I can remember, until a few months ago I became more and more nervous and irritable, and finally I could not sleep at night for I was horribly disturbed by dreams of all sorts and a species of distressing nightmare.

"Finally, after hearing the experience of numbers of friends who had quit coffee and gone to drinking Postum Food Coffee, and learning of the great benefits they had derived, I concluded coffee must be the cause of my trouble, so I got some Postum Food Coffee and had it made strictly according to directions.

"I was astonished at the flavor and taste. It entirely took the place of coffee, and to my very great satisfaction, I began to sleep peacefully and sweetly. My nerves improved, and I wish I could warn every man, woman and child from the unwholesome drug, ordinary coffee.

"People really do not appreciate or realize what a powerful drug it is and what terrible effect it has on the human system. If they did, hardly a pound of it would be sold. I would never think of going back to coffee again. I would almost as soon think of putting my hand in a fire after I had once been burned.

"A young lady friend of ours, Miss Emily Pierson, had stomach trouble for a long time and could not get well as long as she used coffee. She finally quit coffee and began the use of Postum Food Coffee and is now perfectly well. Yours for health. Don't publish my name." —— Herington, Kan. Name given by Postum Cereal Co., Ltd., Battle Creek, Mich.

FORTNIGHTLY CLUB

A Meeting of the Executive Committee—Distinguished Canadian Men will Lecture

A meeting at the Executive Committee of the Fortnightly Club was held in the Y.M.C.A. parlor Friday afternoon. Those present were Sheriff Hall, president; Rev Mr. Symonds, Mr. Jeffries, Mrs. F. J. Rogers, Mrs. Macfarlane wilson, Miss Fife, and Mrs. Davidson.

Arrangements were made for a series of lectures, to be given by several distinguished Canadian men, whose names insure the success of the Fortnightly Club of the coming season.

The first lecture will be given by William Wilfrid Campbell, on Turaday evening next, Nov. 20th, in the Y.M.C.A. hall, Subject, "Our National Inheritance." It is hoped that a very large audience may avil themselves of the privilege of hearing Mr. Campbell, as well as to do honor to one who, by his talent, has done so much for Canadian literature.

It was decided to make the membership fee 25c a year, as usual.

In order to meet the expenses incurred in engaging outside lecturers it was found necessary to charge an admission fee of 25 cents to their lectures which fee will also intitle them to a card of membership with free admission to all subsequent meetings of the club.

His Trouble

He never bet on politics.
  He never rocked a boat;
He never walked on hands and knees
  Before a William goat;
He never aimed an empty gun
  At any person's head;
He hardly ever said a thing
  He wished he hadn't said.

He never signed his name to things
  That might bring future shame,
He never put up money on Another fellow's game;
He never ran to catch a car
  And lost his peace of mind,
And not got flustered—when the next
  Was just a block behind.

But through the night he often tossed
  Upon a sleepless bed,
And in his aching head was doubt,
  And in his heart was dread;
He worried as he thought about
  Old Jonah and the whale,
And wondered if one might be saved
  Who disbelieved the tale.

—S. E. Kiser in Chicago Times-Herald.

A Scotch Story

A recent address by Ian Maclaren contained many Scotch stories, told with admirable skill—skill so admirable that it would be shameful to atempt a repetition. One story, however, may be told, because it seemed to have a real touch of Shakesparian humor. In a dull Scotch village on a dull morning one neighbor called upon another. He was met at the door by his friend's wife, and the conversation went thus:

"Cauld?"

"Ay."

"Gaen to be weety (rainy), I think."

"Ay."

"Is John in?"

"Oh ay, he's in."

"Can I see him?"

"Na."

"But a wined to see him."

"Ay, but you canna see him. John's died."

"Died?"

"Ay."

"Sudden?"

"Ay."

"Very sudden?"

"Very sudden"

"Did he say onything about a pot of green paint before he deed?"

Eulogizes
Powley's Liquified Ozone

The new treatment of disease is making many miraculous cures. The best known and respected citizens do not hesitate to give it praise, because they feel that Powley's Liquified Ozone is the only true way—the only safe way to treat their ills.

Mr. James Proctor, who was appointed official Arbitrator of Ontario, by special act of Parliament, says: "I am more than pleased to bear testimony to the fact that your Ozone has been of great benefit to me. I was troubled with indigestion and heart burn, followed with headache and languor. Various remedies had been tried only giving temporary relief. Being advised to take Ozone, and from the time I began to take it I perceived good results and am glad now to say I am entirely free from the complaints mentioned. I have only taken about one bottle in all. Some of my friends to whom I have recommended it have also experienced good results. It gives me much pleasure to bear this testimony and to say that Ozone has been a great boon to me.

Yours truly, JAS. A. PROCTOR,

"Better Be Wise Than Rich."

Wise people are also rich when they know a perfect remedy for all annoying diseases of the blood, kidneys, liver and bowels. It is Hood's Sarsaparilla, which is perfect in its action. It so regulates the entire system as to bring vigorous health. It never disappoints.

Goitre—"For 42 years I had goitre, or swellings on my neck, which was discouraging and troublesome. Rheumatism also annoyed me. Hood's Sarsaparilla cured me completely and the swelling has entirely disappeard. A lady in Michigan saw my previous testimonial and used Hood's and was entirely cured of the same trouble. She thanked me for recommending it." MRS. ANNA SUTHERLAND, 406 Lovel Street, Kalamazoo, Mich.

Poor Health—"Had poor health for years, pains in shoulders, back and hips, with constant headache, nervousness and no appetite. Used Hood's Sarsaparilla, gained strength and can work hard all day; eat heartily and sleep well. I took it because it helped my husband." MRS. ELIZABETH J. GIFFELS, Moose Lake, Minn.

Makes Weak Strong—"I would give $5 a bottle for Hood's Sarsaparilla if I could not get it for less. It is the best spring medicine. It makes the weak strong." ALBERT A. JAGNOW, Douglastown, N. Y.

COMMUNICATIONS, REPORTS

And a Long List of Accounts—Council Asked to Advertise the Town.

Ald. Clinkscale Introduces a Resolution re the Participation in Elections by Governmental Officers and Civil Employees.

The Town Council met in regular session last night, when there were present Mayor Kendrey and Aldermen Weir, Dawson, Clinkscale, Robertson, Denne and Corbery.

The minutes of the three preceding meetings were read and confirmed.

COMMUNICATIONS.

From Times Printing Co. as follows:—In July last your Board of Works Committee instructed the Town Engineer to get certain specifications printed at the office that quoted the lowest price. After putting us to the trouble of preparing a tender the Engineer gave the work to another firm at nearly double the price we quoted. We therefore ask the Council to take such action in the matter as will prevent the Engineer again exercising his peculiar methods to our injury—Received.

From Thos. Mahony, seeking position as deputy-returning officer for the next mayoralty elections—Committee on appointments.

From W. E. McCall, complaining of an error in his assessment.—Court of Revision.

From Peter Hamilton, complaining of being billed for taxes on a lot which does not exist.—Court of Revision.

From M. T. Jory, asking that the $5 paid this year for an eating house license under the jurisdiction of the Jory Women's Christian Association, be refunded as in former years.—This request was granted.

From owners of real estate on London and Rubidge streets asking that a pipe sewer be constructed from Division-st, westward to Reid-st, and on Rubidge-st from London-st north to Dublin-st.—Board of Works.

From F. R. J. McPherson, seeking remission of taxes on the Catholic library.

From John Hayman, Toronto, re Colonial Souvenir Medal for Canadian volunteers to South Africa.—Received.

From Edmison & Dickson, notifying Council that they are instructed by Thos. Patterson to demand $50 for damages resulting from his accident on the night of Saturday, September 15th last, and in case prompt settlement is not made action will be entered to recoved damages.—Referred to Town Solicitor.

From Town Solicitor Edwards, endorsing account of Mr. Geo. H. Watson, barrister, of Toronto, for counsel fees in the Sharwood vs. Peterborough action.—Received.

A communication from Mr. Geo. H. Watson, of Toronto, was also read, in which Mr. Watson gave credit to the town solicitor for the admirable manner in which he had prepared the case for trial.—Received.

From Hatton and Bradburn, plaintiff's solicitors, stating their agreement to the extension of time for granting the award in the case of Morrow vs. Peterborough, until June 30th, 1900, in order to enable the town to proceed with the construction of certain sidewalks, provided a temporary sidewalk is constructed pending raising the granolithic one to its original height.—Received.

From Walter Turner, for the Stanley Piano Co., Limited, enclosing a bill for $200.40 damages sustained by them at their premises on George street.

From Greene Bros., drawing attention to the bad condition of Charlotte-st road, from Park-st to Reid-st.—Board of Works.

FINANCE REPORT.

Ald Denne presented the following report:—

Gentlemen,—Your Finance Committee beg leave to report and recommend as follows:—

1. That the payment of $110.00 to G. H. Wason, Q. C., and of $81.25 for disbursements to E. B. Edwards, Q. C., in the case of Sharwood V. Peterborough be approved, and that $3.05 be paid to Mr. Edwards for additional disbursements.

2. That $30.00 be paid to the selectors of Jurors in accordance with the certificate of the Clerk of the Peace.

3. That a grant of $25.00 be made to the Peterborough Poultry Association towards the expenses of their exhibition.

4. That $30.00 be allowed W. J. English on account of the market tolls at the end of his present term provided he furnishes wood for the band concerts this season and for the Poultry Association.

5 That the following accounts be paid:—

6. Your Committee arranged with Geo. H. Graham to provide breakfast at the Oriental for the volunteers returning from South Africa who were in Peterborough on the morning of Nov. 5th; also with J. J. Turner & Son to decorate George street for the occasion.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

The report was adopted as read.

COURT OF REVISION REPORT.

Ald. Corbery submitted the following: Gentlemen,—Your Court of Revision beg leave to report and recommend as follows:

1. That Mary O'Brien be refunded one-half of her taxes for this year, namely, $3.50.

2. That the Executors of the Chamberlen estate be refunded $5.00 of the taxes paid on lots 23 and 24 plan 47 this year, as the lots were assessed twice, and also that they be paid $10.32 for taxes paid in error on lot 13 plan 47.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

The report was adopted as read.

COMMITTEE ON APPOINTMENTS.

Ald. Weir submitted the following:

Gentlemen,—Your Committee on appointments and Licenses beg to report that they awarded the contract for four suits for the police force to Peter Simons & Son at $24.00 each, and four overcoats at $20 each.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

The report was adopted as read.

GENERAL BUSINESS.

Mr. James Stevenson asked that the arrears of taxes on his property on Simcoe street, amounting to $30 and interest, be struck off. He explained that he had paid out of his own pocket half of the cost of laying the sample piece of granolithic pavement at the Bank of Toronto Corner, on George street, in 1893. The town had never contributed a cent for this work, and he thought he was entitled to some little consideration for his action in the matter. Hence his request.

In this connection, on motion of Ald. Weir, the Town Treasurer was authorized to write off the arrears of taxes on pt. lot 7, west of George and north of Simcoe streets, being the property alluded to by Mr. J. Stevenson.

Ald. Dawson here thought the town should pay its share of the cost of the sample pavement above referred to, and wanted a resolution passed to that effect. Ald. Denne explained that the company which did the work is now defunct, and the matter was shouldered on to the Finance Committee for consideration.

Ald. Weir complained that our shade trees are being shamefully destroyed by live wires when wiring the town, and asked that steps be taken to stop such practice.

On motion of Ald. Clinkscale, seconded by Ald. Weir this matter was referred to the Board of Works.

On motion of Ald. Clinkscale the Property Committee were empowered to purchase double windows for the Council Chamber and Clerk's Office.

AN ADVERTISING MATTER.

Mr. Wilson, representing the Lake Ontario and Bay of Quinte Steamboat Company, addressed Council with a view to securing a purchase by the town of certain space in the Company's handsomely illustrated book, "Scenic and Sporting Tours," in which to advertise the many advantages of Peterborough and the surrounding country as a summer resort. The Mayor, while pointing out that the town was mainly interested in securing the location of manufacturing industries, promised that Council should fully consider the scheme, and, by resolution, the matter was referred to the Finance Committee.

A POLITICAL MATTER.

Ald. Clinkscale moved, seconded by Ald. Robertson,—That whereas the Provincial Legislature, by resolution, has forbidden officers of the Government, or civil servants, or permanent employees, from actively participating in Provincial or municipal elections: This Council desires the Town Clerk of Peterborough to write to the Premier of this Province requesting that the will of the people, as expressed by the unanimous resolution and approval of the people's representatives in Parliament, be carried out; and that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the Hon. the Provincial Secretary.

"That this House is of opinion that officers or clerks of the civil or public service of the Province, or permanent employees who solely or for the most part obtain their livlihood in the public service, should not actively participate in the Provincial election campaigns: and that officers or clerks of the civil service should not become candidates for municipal councils."

MAY BE A MURDER CASE

Joseph Hazelton in the Hands of the Police on a Serious Charge

Toronto, Nov. 19.—Jos. Hazelton, the well known Yonge street druggist, is again in the hands of the police on the of administering noxious drugs to a woman.

"I would like that this man be not asked to either plead or elect," said the Crown Attorney. "The woman is in a critical condition in a hospital, and I am instructed by the doctors that it is quite impossible for her to live. I want a remand until the 22nd, and I think before that time that she will be dead."

The woman in question is married and has a family. Her ante-mortem statement has been taken. If she dies Hazelton will be charged with murder.

MULOCK TO GO TO AUSTRALIA

He will Represent Canada at the Proceedings upon the Inauguration of the New Commonwealth

Ottawa, Nov. 19.—The Government will not send troops to Australia, but will send representatives to the union proceedings there. It is stated that Hon. Wm. Mulock will go, the honor going to him because of his inauguration of imperial postage. Lord Strathcona cannot go, nor Sir Wilfrid Laurier, for he could not be back in time for Parliament. Hon. Wm. MMullock will leave within two weeks.

SHOT IN CHICAGO.

An Ontario Physician Kills Himself in the Windy City.

Chicago, Nov. 19.—Apparently stranded in a strange city, with only 22 cents in his pocket, Dr. George K. Crosthwaite of Hamilton, Ont., shot himself to death in the washroom of the Railroad Men's Christian Association Hotel, 180 Plymouth Place.

Crosthwaite walked into the hotel shortly after 8 o'clock Wednesday evening and requested Assistant Secretary McLean to direct him to the washroom. As McLean complied he noticed that the stranger appeared to ne under the influence of liquor or some drug. The secretary became engrossed in a game of chess and at 2 o'clock remembered that the stranger had not appeared. McLean hurried to the wash room and discovered the physician's body in a chair. The head, which was pierced by a bullet, rested on one hand. Near by was found a revolver with one chamber empty.

When the police arrived the dead man's pockets were searched, and a calling card found bearing the inscription, "Dr. G. Kent Crosthwaite." There was no address. At the Polk Street Depot the police found the physician's trunk, which contained several sets of surgical instruments, a number of business cards bearing the doctor's name and address, as well as a diploma of the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons of Edinburg. George Green 35 Justin street, identified the body as that of Dr. Crosthwaite, who two years ago was one of the most prosperous physicians of Hamilton.

SEES STRIFE IN CENTURY'S DAWN

Cardinal Vaughan Draws a Gloomy Picture.

GREAT UNREST EXISTING

Declares Rival Nations are Provoking Each Other to Conflict—Only Hope is in Holy See

London, Nov. 20. — In the opinion of Cardinal Vaughan the twentieth century will dawn on a world badly out of joint and sick unto death. This ments form the major part of an adments from the major part of an address issued by the Cardinal yesterday in reference to the pilgrimage to Rome next month. The Cardinal declares:

"In the present condition of society the temporal sovereignty of the Holy See is absolutely necessary for good government of the church and men's souls. The sense of uncertainty and unrest is universal. Races are exasperated against races. Rival nations have provoked each other to strife by gibes and insults, and men are asking whose influence is to dominate mankind when Asia is armed like ourselves? Will the heathen races prevail against Christian?

GREED OF THE NATIONS.

"Envy, jealousy, hatred, desire for revenge, avarice, greed of power and influence have broken out among the nations like a plague of vices that threaten to destroy them. Remedies have been applied, but remedies are worthless.

"The nations called a conference for peace, but excluded the Pope. They have forged weapons of destruction, established compulsory education without religion, preached the gospel of commerce, of the 'open door,' and 'spheres of influence,' and then dispatched armies to fight the people.

"They have dug passionately into the bowels of the earth for more and more of the precious metals, yet taxation is increased and wants multiplied, and there is a chaos of conflicting cries, but no common agreement."

ANOTHER CHAMBERLAIN STORY.

Still another theory, less sensational than most of the others, but perhaps nearer the truth, is now advanced to explain the sudden visit of Joseph Chamberlain to the Mediterranean. Lord Salisbury, tired of Liberal insinuations that he is under the thumb of the Colonial Secretary, and disgusted with the practically empty defence made by the Chamberlains to the accusation that they had been using their official positions for the furtherance of the business interests of Chamberlain pere, proposed to prove who is the real premier. His first move was the making up of the new ministry without consulting the Colonial Secretary's wishes. His second was the shifting of Chamberlain's son Austin to an office where he has less chance to divert the profits of government contracts to his own pockets.

It was a hard pill for the man who confidently expects to succeed to the Premier-ship to swallow, so he took to the sea.

Austin Chamberlain's new office, a financial Secretary of the Treasury, pays $10,000 a year, a salary twice the satipend of the civil Lord of the Admiralty, but it leaves him without influence in government contracts.

HONORS FOR ROBERTS.

Gossips say the latest slate for war honors gives Lord Roberts a dukedom, Sir Redvers Buller a peerage, Lord Kitchener a G. C. B., and Baden-Powell a K. C. B. These recommendations, it is asserted, have been decided upon for submission to the Queen.

THE PRICE OF COAL

It is $5.50 in Many Places, but $6.50 Here

Once more the coal question.

The northerly blasts, which wafted over the Laurentian hills last night, suggested coal and lots of it.

North winds and six-and-a-half dollar coal are sufficient to give the ordinary family man the double shivers.

Is coal too dear in Peterborough? The coal dealers think not, but the people are against them. Vox populi, vox dei.

Coal is $5.50 in Prescott, $5.50 in Kingston, $6.00 in Brockville, between $5.50 and $6.00 in toowns and cities west of Toronto, and—whisper it low—$6.50 a ton in Peterborough.

HAVELOCK & BRIGHTON R. R.

A Number of Public Meetings to be Held at Once

Havelock Standard:—Mr. Geo. Harden, engineer of the Brighton & Havelock Electric Railway, and his financier, Mr. Barbour, were in town on Wednesday and called at the Standard office. These gentlemen are going over the proposed route of the railway for the purpose of investigating the amount of traffic and business that will be done over the road when completed.

On their return trip they will hold meetings in Brighton, Warkworth, Campbellford and Havelock, on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday of next week respectively. Mr. Harden and Mr. Barbour were very enthusiastic over the probability of extending the line from Havelock so as to tap the Belmont Gold Mine, and all the iron mines in this district. Mr. Barbour felt assured that he could induce a large company in the United States to erect works for extracting the sulphur from the iron ore, a product which is in great demand at present. These works could be situated near Havelock and would cause a monster boom in the mining of iron ore.

EXPORT OF WIVES.

A Flourishing Commerce with British and German Colonies.

London, Nov. 19.—The export of wives for colonial settlers still continues to prosper both here and in Germany.

In a paper just published by the German Colonial Society it is announced that sixty young women have emigrated to South-West Africa under the auspices and at the expense of the society.

Of these a part are serving girls, the rest being the finances, wives, and other relatives of settlers. The journey to South-West Africa is only undertaken on the express condition that the Germans Government will provide the immigrants with the means of obtaining a livelihood. With hardly an exception the young girls who have left the Fatherland for Africa have become engaged or are already married.

In Great Britain the Women's Emigration Society is also thriving. Though there is not in England, said Miss Lefroy, the secretary, to a newspaper representative, any organized State-aided movement of the kind carried on in Germany, many young women are helped to find employment and—incidentally—husbands in our possessions across the sea. They are not sent out free of charge or landed haphazard in different colonies but are advised, trained, and sent out to good situations. Money lent for travelling and other expenses has to be paid back by instalments.

During 1899 the society sent out to Canada, Australia and Africa 240 single women, as nurses, teachers, governesses, helps, and domestic servants. Every one bore an excellent character and was well trained, and most of them were in addition well educated.

GENUINE PATRIOTISM.

Ladies of Canada:

While statesmen and politicians argue the Zollverein and differential trade within the Empire (which they will do while jaw displaces common sense), settle the matter for yourselves.

Your brother colonists of Ceylon and India are growers of pure teas, Black and Green. Canadian and United States importers supply you with 11,000,000 pounds annually of Japan teas, yet they know Japans are artificially colored and adulterated. Let the knowledge of these facts and the sentiment of patriotic sisterhood move you to help the British planter.

British-grown Black Teas hold the Canadian market. Drinkers of Japan tea should try the Greens now coming on the market, and your dainty palates will approve them. Yes, we hear your grocer's excuses; but insist. Ladies can always get what they want. Remember how you ran your husband to—well, do they still think it Paradise? They certainly will if you give them Ceylon and India green tea. Blue Ribbon, Monsoon and Salada packets are now obtainable.

Colonist.

TWENTY-THREE THOUSAND CHINESE WILL OPPOSE EXPEDITION TO SIAN FU

Three Chinese Generals With this Force of Troops Will Oppose Allied Advance to the West—Besieged Catholic Priests Rescued by the French.

London, Nov. 19.—That extraordinary woman the Empress Dowager of China, and that most wily diplomatist Li Hung Chang, still stave off the evil day of China. After months of neotiations the powers of Europe have not yet decided upon the demands they are to submit to the Chinese Government, though the final note may be excepted to be ready by any moment. It is not certain, however, that this will have any effect when presented, and campaign against Sian Fu, the interior town where the Dowager has set up her capital, is already being talked of. In anticipation of some such step three Chinese generals with 23,000 troops are moving to take up a strategic position from which they could oppose a westward march by the allies, so that the situation contains all the elements of a possible renewal of the struggal; for the Chinese evidently do not known when the are beaten. It seems that the Imperial troops are last making a bona fide effort to suppress the Boxers, the only interference they have met with being from the allies themselves, a strange fact to relate. Li Hung Chang's attemt to save the lives of the implicated Chinese officials has so far been attended with success, and it seems as if the Ministers at Pekin are on the point of agreeing to a less severe punishment than death, which practically means freedom for the culprits after the present crisis has blown over.

AN ARMY OF 23,000.

Shanghai, Saturday, Nov. 17.—It is reported that General Ma, with 10,000 men, General Fang, with 8,000, and Gen. Yu, with 5,000, are marching towards the borders of the Province of Chi Li check the advance of the allies westward.

Li Hung Chang and the Yang Tse viceroys, it is said, have guaranteed the Empress Dowager's personal safety if she will return to Pekin, but she believes that they are in league with the allies to capture her.

The French force which went to the relief of the Catholic priests besieged at Chen Ting, in Chi Li Province, succeed in rescuing them.

EXPEDITION TO SIAN FU.

London, Nov. 19.—"It is rumored," says the Pekin correspondent of The Morning Post, wiring Saturday, that a spring expedition to Sian Fu is already being discussed, as the outcome of the probable failure of the peace negotiations. Even if Prince Tuan and Prince Chwang are absent from the present seat of the Chinese court, Emperor Kwang Su is still helpless, as he lacks the aid of a strong and progressive adviser, all such officials having been beheaded.

"Gen. Tung Fuh Hsiang, Master of the Military forces, is dreaded even by the Empress Dowager. The new Cabinet Minister, Lu Chuan Lin, is reputed to be another Kang Yi. There is danger, therefore, that terms accepted by the Chinese commisioners in Pekin will be rejected at Sian Fu.

"Should the court prepare for further resistance it would be necessary for the allies to declare war, but to discriminate between the court and China. The United States and Russia will probably refuse to take part in such measures.

"Since the occupation of Pekin the German commander has shot more than a hundred guilty Boxers. Gen. Chaffee's orders do not provide for dealing with cases of crimes committed before the relief of the legations. The American plan is to leave such matters to the Chinese, which means nothing.

MINISTERS ARE WEAKENING.

London, Nov. 19.—Dr. Morrison, wiring to The Times from Pekin under date of November 15, says.

"The Foreign Envoys have reopened the discussion of the death penalty for the Princes and other high officials. It is evident that the Ministers are weakening, as they have reduced their proposal from execution to the severest punishment provided by Chinese law, forgetting that Princes lie beyond the reach of Chinese common law."

CHINESE DECREES

Paris, Nov. 19.—The following advices have been received from Pekin, dated November 17.

"M. Pichon, French Minister in Pekin, visited Li Hung Chang, who handed to him Imperial decrees depriving Prince Tuan and Prince Chwang of their titles of nobility and directing that they be imprisoned at Mukden until death. The decrees assert that Prince Ying has already been degraded and imprisoned, that Prince Lien has been ordered not to leave his palace, that Duke Lan and Ying Nien, president of the Censorate, and others have been degraded and that Yu Hsien has been exiled.

"Another decree says it is impossible to arrest General Tung Fu Hsiang at present because he is in possession of the troops, but that he will be punished later."

MEMORIAL TO D. M. SPENCE

Mayor Kendrey Calls a Public Meeting to Consider the Matter

Dear Sir:—Will you kindly permit me to call attention through your columns to the public meeting called to consider the subject of erecting a suitable memorial to commemorate the death of Daniel M. Spence in South Africa. Several letters have appeared in the town papers on the subject, and these have been supported by yourself and your contemporaies, while in public addresses and in private conversations it has been urged that a memorial should be erected, and it has been suggested that I should take the initative in the matter. This I have done, and I believe the people of Peterborough will heartily unite in the moment. The young soldier who gave his life in the service of his country is worthy of all that can be accomplished to perpetuate his memory, and the lessons taught us by his life and impressed by his death should never be forgotten. We owe it to ourselves and to our country—to those who will come after us—to perpetuate the memory of the heroic deeds of the Canadians in this war, and we will all, I know, be pleased to have an opportunity to assist in establishing a memorial of our young townsman, whose death is so deeply and generally lamented.

On Thursday evening next a public meeting will be held in the Town Council Chamber to consider the matter. And permit me in calling the meeting to say that ladies will be welcome. Our ladies have taken a deep interest in the welfare of the soldiers. They have cheered them as they departed to cross the seas, grieved over their hardships, rejoiced over their victories, mourned over their deaths, and joined in the rejoicings of the reception back of those who have returned. In our patriotic feelings we are not a divided house, and the assistance of the ladies will be welcome. The meeting, then, will be a public one—open to all, and I hope that all who feel an interest in this matter will show it by their presence.

What from the memorial will take—for it may be assumed that there will be one—will be a matter for careful consideration, that the most suitable may be adopted, and it would be well for any who have an idea to develop it as far as possible, for in having different ideas presented—as in a multiplicity of counsel—there may be wisdom.

Will the citizens, therefore, bear in mind the date of the meeting and make a point of being present, that the movement may be one of force from the beginning.

Yours truly,
JAS. KENDREY,
Mayor.

STOLEN FROM GRAVES.

Nine Coffins Broken Open in Cemetery Near Kalamazoo, Mich.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Nov. 19.—A wholesale robbery of Springbrook Cemetery, in Newaygo County was discovered to day. The work was evidently done several days ago, as the earth taken away from the graves was frozen and the opened graves are nearly filled with snow. Nine bodies were stolen, all but one being those of persons who had died within the last year. One body, supposed to have been that of Mrs. Henry Knowles, although so badly decomposed as to be unrecognizable, was found in a hedge a quarter of a mile from the cemetery.

The cemetery is in an isolated spot, and up to Tuesday there had not been a burial there for nearly three weeks. When Isaac Dunton, the sexton, went to dig the grave on Tuesday morning the discovery was made. The boards of the caskets, which seemed to have been knocked apart with an axe, were strewn about the graveyard. A pickaxe, shovel and hatchet were found near by, and these offer the only clue.

Snow has been on the ground for several days, and as there were no tracks visible around the robbed graves it is believed the work was done at least a week ago.

All Religions Worship.

New York, Nov. 20.—The New York State Conference of Religion met to-day for a three days' session. It is called to demonstrate that a common worship may be shared by religious men widely differing in theological doctrine and ritual forms. A sub-committee, consisting of Dr. Newton of All Souls' Episcopal church, Dr. Gottheil, of Temple Emmanuel, and Rev. Thomas R. Slicer, of the Souls' Unitarian Church, has prepared a manual of common worship.

Outbreak of Fever.

Fenelon Falls Gazette—There has not only been a serious outbreak of typhoid fever at Coboconk; but (if what we hear be true) four men from Boyd's camp near Irondale have recently died of it in the Peterborough hospital, to which they were taken for treatment Mr. Cresswell, boss of the camp, Garfield Graham, clerk, and William Pardue, one of the hands, were all smitten with the fever and have gone to their respective homes; and it is said that a man was sent out last Saturday to burn the shanty in which the men lived, and which had been used for several years. The fever broke out about three weeks ago, and is attributed, in part, to the swamp water that had to be used.

Treaty with Spain.

Madrid, Nov. 20.—The session of the Spanish Cortes begins to-day. Americans are specially interested in the gathering this year because the extraditions, consular and general treaty with the United States that has been prepared to replace the treaties of 1876 and 1877 comes up for consideration. Mr. Bellamy Storer United States Minister expects that he Spanish government will have no difficulty in persuading the Cortes to approve, and it is believed the treaty will be ratified before Christmas. Several protests against custom house fines on American vessels and some settlement of the questions arising out of the treaty of 1898, are still under negotiation. The Spanish Cabinet manifests a conciliatory spirit.

Lord Roberts to Sail To-Day.

London, Nov. 20.—Lord "Bobs" is definitely expected to set sail for home at Capetown to-day, and a rousing welcome is in store for him. There is some fighting of a desultory character still going on, which another general can be trusted to take care of. Lord Roberts would have had the Boers entirely disorganized long ere this had not his military policy been modified to accord with Sir Alfred Milner's political ideas. The Governor of Cape Colony advanced the idea that as Boers and English would have to live together in that land it is necessary that the military operations should provoke as little resentment as possible. Gen. Kitchener is at present in command, but as he has got along best when left entirely to himself it is probable that a general will be found for the command who can get along with Sir Alfred Milner more cordially than the hero of the Soudan can be expected to do.

TENDERS FOR SUPPLIES, 1901

The undersigned will receive tenders up to noon on TUESDAY, 4TH DECEMBER PROX., for supplies of butchers' meat, creamery butter, flour, oatmeal, potatoes, cordwood, etc. etc., for the following institutions during the year 1901, viz.:—At the Asylums for the Insane in Toronto, London, Kingston, Hamilton, Mimico, Brockville and Orillia; the Central Prison and Mercer Reformatory, Toronto; the Reformatory for Boys, Penetanguishene; the Institutions for Deaf and Dumb Belleville, and the Blind at Brantford, Exception — Tenders are not required for the supply of meat to the asylums in Toronto, London, Kingston, Hamilton and Mimico, nor for the Central Prison and Mercer Reformatory, Toronto. PETERBOROUGH, NOVEMBER 20, 1900

BEST IN THE WORLD.

During his recent inspection trip over the western lines of the Canadian Pacific Railway, Mr. T. G. Shaughnessy, the indefatigable President of the road, in an interview, among other things said:—"I think that the Government ownership theory, and the benefits to be derived therefrom in the matter of railways, which is entertained by but few people in this country, receives a most complete denial in the working of the Canadian Pacific railway. I would like the Manitoba premier or any one else to point to any system in the world which carries traffic at rates so low as ours and pays wages on the same scale. A reference to the reports of any of the railroad systems owned by governments will prove this. Not only are our rates lower, but our wages are very much higher."

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Uncle Sam finds it hard to keep his fleet manned. Last year 2,452 of the men of the fleet deserted, and it is not an easy matter to get recruits for it.

A lot of counterfeit Kruger money is now said to be in circulation. When you come to think of it that looks all right. The old man himself was about the biggest counterfeit of modern times.

Of the old Tory Ministers Jack Haggart is the only one left. When a hand is only Jack high, according to all reports, it doesn't stand much show of winning the pot.

Why should the people of France wish to do honor to old man Kruger? Why should anybody do him honor? His avowed object to "drive the British into the sea" was not in itself praise-worthy, but he failed in that and ran away. Take him any way you like, he is not the stuff out of which heroes are made. History do justice to Cronje and Joubert as brave men who accepted the fortunes of war, but Kruger is a sanctimonious, miserly old humbug.

WILHEMINA'S WOOING.

How the Queen of Holland Met and Won Her Fiance.

Some interesting particulars of Queen Wilhelmina's courtship and betrothal are supplied by our Paris correspondent. Although the Queen of the Netherlands made the acquaintance of the Grand Ducal family at Cannes, she did not it appears, see her betrothed until she went last year to Berlin. She had heard a good deal about him from his sister-in-law, the Princess John, nee Saxe-Weimar, and daughter of the late Princess Pauline of the Netherlands, Duchess of Saxe-Weimar. The moment the Queen and Prince Henry saw each other they were mutually impressed, and so strongly that the Queen would hear of no other suitor. She pleaded "a cold" as excuse for not attending a dinner where she was to pass in review a number of aspirants. The Queen mother, seeing this, prudently curtailed the visit to Berlin. Inquiries were in due course set on foot about Prince Henry. All the reports received about him were favorable, and the Queen arranged to have opportunities to become better acquainted with him. Instead of coming to the Exposition she planned an excursion to Schwarzburg. Rooms were taken at an hotel in a picturesque site for the Queen, her mother and the Dowager Duchess, who was asked to be their guest.

Prince Henry was not disinclined to fall in with the little plan. He obtained a furlough to come to see her mother. He got up excursions to the show places in the principality and accompanied the two Queens in their walks, rides and drives. She was apparently happy in his company, and was sorry when it was time for the party to break up. As she was leaving she said to the Prince,—"What a happy hour! I never spent such a happy time in my life, and I feel I owe so much to you." Correspondence followed, and one fine morning the Prime Minister was summoned by the Queen to Loo. She lost no time in informing him that she was engaged, and to whom. She said she hoped the Council would give its consent to the marriage she had decided upon. The Prince of Mecklenburg belonged to the oldest house in Germany, its international situation was high, it played a part in European politics, his career had been highly honorable, and he was beloved in his family circle. "When you see him," added the Queen, "you will, I am sure, be of opinion that I could not make a better choice, whether for myself or my people."

OLD FORT HAYS

Famous Frontier Post and Its Exciting History.

The most famous military post in the Kansas frontier has, by the passage of the Fort Haye bill by Congress, been wiped out of existence. This fort, which was for many years the central point of the army operations against the redskins, has for years been deserted. Its 7,000 acres have been leased to cattlemen and the splendid timber that is unequaled in Western Kansas has been furnishing the settlers with fuel. Nineteen big frame cottages, the officers' homes, the barracks and training quarters, have been unoccupied, and it will be a great delight to the people of this section to see them filled with students of the State normal school and the State agricultural school, both of which are under the bill to have branches there.

This fort was the barrier against the Indian raids that marked the last attempts of the redskins to frighten the people of the State. When the Cheyennes came down from the Northwest the soldiers of Hays, with the assistance of those from Wallace and Harker, met them and drove them back, saving the lives of thousands of settlers. Gen. George Forsythe followed Roman Nose into the Upper Republican country, and there, with his band of 100 soldiers, was surrounded by fully 1,000 of the redskins. For three days they were held there, and then were rescued by succor brought by two scouts who escaped and went back to the fort. It was found that the imprisoned soldiers had been more than victors, for they had killed more than a dozen for every one of their own number that fell. Roman Nose himself was among the killed.

There was another scare in the latter 70's, when the people as far east as Topeka felt uneasy, but the Indians did not come so far as on the earlier occasion. It then became apparent that there was no further need of the maintenance of the post, and it was abandoned a few years after. All this time the buildings have stood empty, and the caretaker has had the lonesome task of looking after them.

Fort Hays has had an eventful history. It was originally called Fort Fletcher, and was located fourteen miles south of here on the Big Muddy. One day the creek was swelled by a storm and the waters drove the soldiers out of the fort. Several colored soldiers who were too slow were drowned, and Gen. Pope ordered the location changed to the present site. The buildings were then erected and improvements made.

The town of Hays City, which was then founded a short distance to the north, was a rough place, being filled with cowboys and frontiersmen who followed the building of the railroad. The City Council granted thirty-seven saloon licenses the first day that it met. There were "killers" without number, and on the slopes of a little hill were laid the victims of their prowess. It was called Boot Hill, and there lie forty-five of the distinguished gentry who died with their boots on, some being known by their real names and some not. It will never be known who really were laid to rest in the unceremonious fashion of the frontier days, for now it is too late to find out.

"Wild Bill" was Marshal of the town for a while, until one day he shot three soldiers on the street, and then it was healthier for him to go hence. He went, and was next heard of at Abilene, where he was again Marshal, with a predilection for killing.
